LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

Varicose veins are veins overdistended with blood. At first they are merely distended veins become tortuous and thickened as well as permanently dilated. The same thing occurs whether the veins involved are those of the leg or thigh or abdomen or rectum (piles, hemerrhoids) or inguinal region (varicocele).

Among the contributing causes of varicosity of the veins the following are most important:

1. Shallow breathing habit. The bellows action of the chest in breathing is an important factor in the return circulation of blood through the veins.

2. Faulty posture. High heels (heels more than half an inch high, or in fact heels higher than the thickness of the soles of the shoes- not only cause strain of the foot and leg muscles, but throw the whole body out of balance and predispose to weakened conditions such as ptosis or sagging of abdominal and pelvic organs and to varicose veins.

3. Prolonged standing in a faulty or relaxed posture. This cause concerns (a) high heels, (b) the corset habit, and (c) neglect of physical education. High heels and corsets destroy normal body poise or balance and induce faulty posture; physical ignorance (a kind of ignorance surprisingly prevalent among people who imagine they have a good education) favors stasis or stagnation of blood in the veins of the body.

4. Tight garters around the leg impede the return circulation through the veins without noticeably obstructing the flow of the arterial blood into the leg, because the veins lie superficially and the arteries are more deeply imbedded in the fleshy structure of the leg.

5. Tight belts or waistbands and skirts supported from the waist or hips rather than from the shoulders by suspenders are direct causes of varicose veins.

6. Senility or old age, which is chiefly too much dignity, predisposes of varicosity. Too many of us never get our legs in the air at all, at all, but keep them anchored to the ground. Shake a leg occasionally; shake both legs.

When a young girl puts on corsets for the first time she does so because

(a) Other girls wear them.

(b) Her mother wishes to "mold her figure."

(c) The girl has no physical education.

(d) The girl is vain.

Thus vanity, dignity and ignorance are the real causes of varicose veins.

In Temiskaming, 800 cows produced 272,834 pounds of cream, which made 45 tons of butter, and earned for their 222 owners, $34,000.

MUNICIPALITIES ASKED TO AID IN REPATRIATION WORK

All Should Take a Personal Interest in the Welfare of the Men They Helped to Send Overseas.

Repatriation has become a household word in Canada, heard upon the lips of someone wherever you go—a word of wide meaning, and while in a general way those outside of the actual work understand its application there are few who can entirely appreciate the many avenues and departments of public service with which this work of readjusting and rebuilding is directly concerned.

One of the most valuable of such departments is that which links up the patriotic work of all municipalities to cooperate with the great repatriation movement for the more effective and speedy return of all machinery, both human and material, to the best footing for peace time progress.

The Director of this department, Mr. Harry Bragg of Montreal, is one of the first men in Canada with regard to municipal affairs. As founder, editor, and latterly managing director of the Canadian Municipal Journal, which position he has resigned in order to devote his whole time to the work of repatriation, Mr Bragg has had over fourteen years of experience of municipal affairs in every part of the Dominion. This knowledge has not been gained entirely while seated at an editorial desk, but through personal visits to municipalities, a close study of the various problems and needs of many individual cities, and through personal experiences as chairman at conventions both in Canada and the United States.

The aim of the Municipal Department in the work of repatriation is to secure the coordination in every municipality of all public activities to the one end. Canadian municipalities, during the war, took a fair share in the work of recruiting and speeding the boys on their way overseas.

What is proposed to each municipality is that such personal interest in the boys commenced in war time as a patriotic measure should be continued for the rebuilding of industrial and social relationships during the days of reconstruction.

In Great Britain municipal direction is in a sense overruled by the Government, each municipality being answerable to the state through the local Government Board. Nevertheless during the war the British Government utilized the municipalities far more than they were entitled to under ordinary circumstances. In Canada each municipality is self-governed and is therefore free to advise for or against any proposal made by other municipalities.

An example of the value of municipal co-operation throughout Canada upon matters of far-reaching public interest is shown in the many local reforms achieved by the formation

CLOTHING TO REMAIN HIGH.

Demand Is Much Larger Than the Supply.

"The indications are that for some time to come, and probably all during this year, the price of woollen goods and of cloth will be not much, if at all, reduced," said an authority in the clothing trade in Toronto recently. Indeed, reports have appeared in the newspapers that an increase in the price of woollen goods might be looked for, but there does not seem to be any real reason why any such increase should take place.

"Conditions are as yet so unsettled and indefinite that it is very difficult to make any exact prediction as to the course of the clothing business, which depends entirely on the condition in the market for textile woollens. This market is, for all practical purposes, dominated by the English market, both for raw wool and for textile woollens.

"The current supplies of raw wool in England are very low, but in Australia and the Argentina, which produces the great bulk of the raw wool, supplies are quite large, it is believed. Owing to shipping conditions, they could not be transported to England for the last three or four years. This condition will be shortly overcome, to a very large extent. The conditions of the market for textile woollens or cloths is the important thing in reality, and the supply of these goods is unprecedently low. Not only this, but the clothing of most of the European nations is in what might be termed a threadbare condition.

"No military uniforms to any considerable quantity will be required now, but the men who have been wearing uniforms up to now will have to be refitted with civilian clothing. All these demands will obviously make a very heavy drain upon the capacities of the woollen mills, not only in England and Scotland, but every other country which has them.

"In so far as in both the textile woollen or cloths and the garments made from them are concerned, it is to be remembered that there is no likelihood at any time of a return to the prices which prevailed before the war. Wages in England have doubled, or more than doubled, and the indications are that the workers will not tolerate a return to the scale which prevailed in ante-bellum days.

"In regard to the garment workers who convert the cloth into clothing in this country the situation is nearly the same. Of course, the wages in England before the war were relatively much lower than on this continent, and the increase has been correspondingly greater there. But in neither the European countries nor on this continent will there be a return to the scale which governed. As wages form over 60 per cent. of the cost of these lots and of the completed garments it will be seen that whilst a reduction in present prices may be expected after a time they will not bring prices to anything like those of pre-war times. Personally, I think this is a very desirable feature of the situation, not only in the interests of the workers, but also of the whole community."

A Possible Sea Tale.

What a theme for a novelist is suggested by these three words, "The Last Submarine!" Jules Verne's deathless tale of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and the ocean stories of Jack London and Morgan Robertson—all these thrilling narratives—would pale their "uneffectual fires before a grand conception such as might well be furnished by "The Last Submarine!"

Imagine some fierce scadog of Germany—some viking of the underwaves—leading a sturdy crew, and imagine that scadog and his submarine, giving no heed to the terms of the armistice, vanishing quietly from view, and carried on the Wilhelmshaven books as "missing" forever after. Think of this one submarine prowling through the vasty deep, replenishing supplies and munitions from the silent, secret bases that the Germans founded on lone islands here and there, and waiting, waiting till springtime came and the new rush of transatlantic travel. Think of the crime it could commit, the piracies it could achieve; the ships that could be sunk traceless and unreckoned; the wealth that the marauders could pile upon uncharted reefs—and the tremendous hunt by all the navies of the world. For years, perhaps, the raider could keep up its deadly work, till one by one, all the lost bases were found and stripped of their supplies and until some armed ship, camouflaged as a helpless merchantman, should send a shell through the thin plates of the submarine.

The plot is there, and is of wondrous fascination. What writer will be first to see its beauties.

Dead In the War.

With the issue of the official figures of the French losses in the war it is possible to arrive at the approximate estimate of the appalling toll of life. The dead, so far, number 5,936,504. The individual national losses in dead thus far announced are:

British	706,726
French	1,071,300
American	58,478
Russian	1,700,000
Austrian	800,000
German	1,600,000

The total German casualties are given by the Berlin Vorwaerts as 6,330,000, and the Austrian total was placed at 4,000,000. Serbia is killed, wounded and prisoners lost 320,000 men.

Sweet Grass Scarce.

Richard Bishop, an Oldtown Indian, who has spent his summers at Old Orchard Beach for 32 years, has probably manufactured more sweet grass articles than any other one person in Maine has done in the same time. He says he uses 300 pounds of grass a year, so that in 32 years he must have used about 10,000 pounds. Sweet grass now, he says, is very scarce, because so much of it is pulled up by the roots.

The Romance of Rubber

IT will be news to almost every person not connected with the rubber trade that in the present year 83 per cent. of the entire rubber production will come from rubber plantations. For many years it has been well known that the enormous growth in the demand for rubber has led to the cultivation of rubber producing plants in order to supplement the limited supply that comes from the wild forests. Just to what extent these experiments has gone and with what success they had met were matters of which the general public had meagre knowledge. The knowledge has not been exactly inaccessible, but it has not been often set before the public in a readable way.

In an article on the rubber trade's phenomenal growth, prepared by the statistical department of the National Bank of Commerce of New York, we are told that up to 1873 the world's total supply of rubber came from the "wild." In that year seeds from the native Brazilian trees were successfully planted in experimental gardens at Kew, England. Ceylon, the Federated Malay States, the Dutch West Indies, Borneo and the Pacific islands are the centre of the plantation rubber industry, although there are some such plantations in India, Singapore, Penang, Batavia and Colombo are the chief rubber ports of the world. Brasil, which as lately as 1911 supplied us with two-fifths of our rubber, now supplies us with one-ninth. This shift is due largely to the change from wild to cultivated sources of supply.

We are informed by this Bank of Commerce article that over 400 years ago Columbus found American Indians wearing waterproof shoes of rubber. Here we have the earliest form of those modern pedal ornaments that are variously known as gumshoes, overshoes and rubbers. Though the waterproof quality of rubber was known to the Indians hundreds of years ago, yet that remarkable material did not become an article of commercial importance until less than 60 years ago. Since then the growth in its use has been phenomenal. To-day, American export of rubber footwear totals 2,800,000 pairs a year, worth nearly $6,000,000, while the world's annual consumption of the raw product has mounted to 290,000 tons.

British capital controls about 90 per cent. of the plantations, and most of the remainder of the capital invested in the industry is Dutch. But the U. S. is now going in. Prospects of developing rubber growing in the Philippine Islands is already attracting the attention of experts and capital. Climate and soil are reported to be admirably adapted, and the labor supply abundant, for the development of plantations there. More than 50,000 pounds of the best rubber were produced on the Island of Basilan in 1917. There are thousands of trees on that island and on the island of Mindanao that have not yet come into bearing. A most promising start has been made. From the bank circular which contains the facts above related we take this interesting summary of the history of rubber:

Columbus and the Spanish and Portuguese missionaries who followed him, found the American Indians using crude rubber for balls, for ornaments and for certain articles of clothing, among them shoes which were proof against the wet. Yet not until 1862 was rubber deemed of sufficient moment to be reported in American import statistics.

To Europeans rubber had been known as a curiosity for 200 years before any serious scientific interest was taken in it or effort made to utilize it in an industrial way. The French were pioneers in this virgin field. In the first half of the eighteenth century, the French naturalist, La Condamine, discovered the native gum in the Cordilleras of the Andes. The natives called it "caucho." From this came the French word for rubber — caoutchoue, which is practically the universal name for the material outside English-speaking countries. French scientists became interested, and soon the study of rubber was also taken up in England and the United States.

Joseph Priestly, the English chemist, discovered that rubber would erase pencil marks, and so came its English name, derived from this property. Many names are interwoven with the growing story of rubber's romance: that of Macintosh, who perfected a method of waterproofing fabric in 1825; Charles Goodyear, Nathaniel Haywood and Thomas Hancock, who were successful in discovering the secret of vulcanising. The use of rubber tires was first suggested by Hancock in a book published in 1856, but the pneumatic tire was not patented by Dunlop until 1888. So, from these comparatively recent discoveries have multiplied the various uses which rubber has come to fill.

Both domestic and export demand for rubber goods has increased enormously since the war began, but it is believed that American manufacturers have secured so substantial a footing in the world's rubber trade that they will be able to hold their own after the war demand has ceased. There have been some doubts as to the ability of the world to consume the increased supplies of rubber, now that the end of the war has stopped the military demand for it. On the whole, however, it is believed that except for temporary depressions there will be a continuous demand for all the rubber produced. New uses for it are constantly being found.

The pay offered harvesters by the Holdernerr, England, Agricultural Club last autumn was $16.80 a week, with beer and tea.

Famous Admirals.

Admiral Keys, of the Dover Patrol, who landed at Ostend not long ago, was present at the siege of Pekin in 1900. He was then a lieutenant and naval A.D.C. to Gen. Sir Alfred Gaselee, commandant of the British force, and in that capacity took part in the famous march to the relief of the Legations. The British were the first to effect an entrance to the Chinese capital, which they did by the watergate under the city walls. Besides Admiral Keyes, there were present two naval officers whose names have become famous during the war just ended —Admirals Jellicoe and Beatty.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous mebrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

Fear Not Cowardice.

An English observer calls attention to the fact that our world war has destroyed the fear of being afraid. Heretofore, even to quite distant antiquity, the one quality insisted on in the soldier was that he should be fearless and the more callously so the better. The faintest tremor of timidity was a black mark against the most resplendent knight as well as the lowliest bowman or halbardier and the schooling for war was an utter defiance of the personal risk.

The Germans, if we are to accept reports, induce an apparent bravery, but a counterfear—the terror of a discipline disobeyed — yet doubtless even among the enemy there are many deeds of the heroism of resolution and certainly among the Allies this quality has reached its highest developments. The men of Verdun admit to ghastly fears, but they gave no backward step.

And That Gets Him Nothing.

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE

MRS. HARRINGTON FEELS LIKE GOING OUT AND TELLING EVERYBODY ABOUT TANLAC.

"I would just like to go from house to house and tell the people about Tanlac," said Mrs. Mollie Harrington, of 111 Third Street, Peoria, in a recent statement which she requested published for the benefit of others.

"My health gave way years ago," Mrs. Harrington continued, "and I had long since despaired of ever getting any better. I was very weak and pale—hardly had the color of blood in my face—suffered terribly from stomach trouble and was extremely nervous. I was really in a broken down condition, and being past fifty-eight years of age, which I thought was against me, I had no hope of getting well and nothing to look forward to but the end, which I often felt was drawing near.

"Then I got to reading about the wonderful results others were getting from Tanlac and yet I could not make up my mind at first to try it, as I had little idea that it could help a person of my age, especially one in such a low state of health. But some how I was influenced to buy a bottle, and that was about the luckiest day of my life, for when I finished taking it there was a wonderful improvement in my condition.

"Then I had something to look forward to—hope of complete recovery—so I bought a few more bottles of Tanlac, and now I don't have to tell my friends I am well again, for they can see that from my looks, and often speak of it. I am more thankful to Tanlac than I can express for now I am enjoying life and good health, which I never expected to enjoy any more, and I want this testimonial published in all the papers of Illinois that everybody may know what Tanlac will do, for I feel that I ought to tell all suffering people about this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. H. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Bowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

PETERBORO HAS MADE NO MOVE

TO SECURE ANY OF PROVINCIAL GRANT FOR HOUSE BUILDING.

Several municipalities of the province have signified their intention of taking advantage of the provincial government's housing scheme and there is but little doubt that they will await themselves of government aid in a fairly large way in providing cheap houses for workmen. They are the following: Windsor, Sudbury, Ottawa, New Toronto, Kitchener, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Catharines, Collingwood, Port Credit and Leaside. In addition a large number of other places have given the matter careful consideration, but have not gone so far as to declare their intention. They include Oshawa, Orillia, Galt, Ford City, Parkdale, Westboro', Weston, Scarboro Township, Niagara Falls, Listowel, Stratford, Sarnia, Etobicoke, London, Fort Erie, Welland, York Township, Dundas, Lindsay, Walkerville, Sandwich, Barton Township, Charlton and Keeling Township.

According to the housing plan, the government will advance loans to be used in the erection of a type of construction which shall not exceed $2,500, or a total value of land and building of $3,000, thereby limiting the maximum value of the land to $500. "The desire of the government," said Sir William Hearst yesterday, "is to make the scheme elastic enough to meet all cases as far as possible. Of course, we cannot allow the construction of such expensive properties as to destroy the scheme we have in view, of providing cheap homes for workingmen."

It was pointed out that if the plan were strictly adhered to and the maximum value of land placed at $500, the workman would be forced to the outskirts of the city, where he could produce land within the value set by the government. Sir William replied that this matter had received consideration, and a simple and effective method would be provided for the expropriation of land where necessary.

The goodness of people is exceedingly tiresome.

MASS MEETING OF LABOR MEN LAST NIGHT IN T. A. S. HALL

Speakers From Toronto and Montreal Urge Workingmen to Organize to Prevent Unemployment and Reduction in Wages.

Under the auspices of the newly-organized Independent Labor party a mass meeting was held last night in the T. A. S. Hall with Mr. Peter MacArthur in the chair and with about two hundred interested listeners for an audience. The meeting is one of a chain of such gatherings which it is proposed to hold throughout the province, and another will be advertised in this city at an early date. The object in view is to increase organization in all departments of industry, to resist the threatened reduction in wages and to prevent unemployment as far as possible by securing a reduction in the hours of work.

The speakers last night were Messrs. H. W. Harper of Toronto, general organizer for the Machinists' Union, and whose activities have been marked in the local field especially during the past year; W. G. Powlesland, of Toronto, president of the Blacksmiths' Union; J. A. McClelland, of Montreal, vice-president of the Machinists' Union, and John W. Bruce, Toronto, general organizer for the Union of Plumbers and Steam Fitters.

Mr. Harper has been frequently heard in this city, and Mr. McClelland spoke at the Labor meeting on Thursday night at which the new party was organized. The other speakers were new to the audience, and Mr. Bruce, especially, displayed rare gifts as an orator. All the speeches were free from anything suggestive of the bolshevism that is frequently associated in the public mind with such gatherings. All that was advocated was that the Government take necessary steps to prevent unemployment and that the present rate of wages be maintained. The speakers were given a hearty vote of thanks, and Mr. Bruce received a cordial invitation to visit the city again.

MUNICIPALITIES ASKED TO AID

of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, which was formed seventeen years ago for the purpose of securing uniform legislation for the protection of individual localities from impositions of exploiting railways, etc. Before such legislation came into effect railroad, telephone company, etc., could locate in the choicest spot or cut through any centre without troubling to ask permission of the authorities. Today the municipality has first say in all such matters.

Applying the value of such co-operative measures to the work of repatriation it is estimated that if each municipality can be encouraged to broaden out its patriotic efforts commenced in war time, to meet the important needs of peace and to add to these the spurring on of all public works and other agencies, which would help create new avenues of employment, there would in a short time be a uniformity of repatriation effort all over Canada.

The first procedure of the Municipal Department was to send a questionaire to every Municipality in Canada, which ran into 3,690 copies. These figures give a small idea of the number of municipalities in the work involved. This questionnaire was calculated to immediately link up every town, rural community and city over the whole of Canada, with the work of repatriation. In effect it would practically assure the presence in every community of a working committee of influential citizens stamped with the approval of the municipality and extending every effort to the work of repatriation. Through such a scheme the Repatriation Board are multiplying their efforts a thousandfold by simply utilizing public machinery that is already set up, the only need being to get this machinery working along the right lines, and once this is done who can say in after years what broad avenues of social service and public welfare this movement may not continue to be to the last benefit of future generations.

The difference in municipal conditions is very marked in the various provinces. British Columbia, for instance has no towns or villages, whereas the province of Quebec is divided into cities, towns and villages, counties, townships or cantons or parishes, each having its own municipal government.

The following message is addressed to the Mayor or Reeve of each district:—

"The urban and rural municipalities can play a great and important part in the problems of the demobilization period, in giving a "Welcome Home" to the returning soldiers and his family in helping the soldier to secure employment, and generally in assisting him to re-establish himself in civil life.

In every municipality that has sent soldiers overseas there should be an Honorary Committee of citizens, composed of both men and women who will assume a measure of responsibility in this important work. There may possibly be such a committee already in existence in your municipality. If so we would like to know. If not, I would respectfully urge on behalf of this Committee that one should be formed at once. The functions of a "Welcome Home" Committee should be as follows:

(1) To welcome all returned soldiers and take steps on their arrival in your locality.

(2) To receive any complaints from returned soldiers and to forward them to the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, Ottawa, for investigation.

(3) To help the returned soldiers to find employment.

(4) If at any time employment cannot be found in your locality for a returned soldier, to report particulars to the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

(5) If positions exist in your locality for which returned soldiers are suitable, to notify the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment so that men can be sent them from the nearest demobilization centre to occupy them.

(6) To co-operate with voluntary organizations.

(7) To keep a general oversight over the interests of returned soldiers and their families."

In addition all municipalities were asked to reply upon a postcard, marked and enclosed for the purpose, to the query—"Have you a Committee formed to welcome returned soldiers. If so, give the title, with name of Chairman and Secretary." If there is no committee the municipality is asked to form such a one and communicate all particulars to the Repatriation centre.

A second questionnaire follows upon public works, asking what plans are proposed for the present year and what further works could be added for the sake of providing employment. Municipalities will be asked to state clearly how far they are prepared to go in the work of aiding returned men through every possible avenue of employment. Rural districts will be asked what improvements in highways, new roads etc, can be taken in addition to any buildings contemplated. At the present time replies are pouring in to the Municipal Department of the Repatriation Board in hundreds from all over Canada and it is hoped that the results will be encouraged to both social and industrial progress.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

WHEN CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system and you have a well playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is harmless, children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Free Artificial Appliances for Disabled Soldiers

EVERY returned soldier, who is an amputation case, is provided by the Government with an artificial limb. He can have that limb repaired, and if necessary, replaced, without expense.

This is one of the many services rendered by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment to the returned soldier.

This department also supplies free "orthopaedic" appliances to correct as far as possible injuries to the feet, legs and arms; also special boots, splints, braces, etc. To those who need them, it also gives free surgical appliances such as trusses, spectacles, spinal supports, glass eyes, abdominal supports.

A Government factory has been established at Toronto to make artificial limbs. Here standard patterns, embodying the best ideas known, are manufactured.

In this work expert advice is given by surgeons who have seen overseas service, and who are in constant touch with similar work in other countries.

An experimental department is maintained for developing practical applications of new ideas, and for testing out all new appliances that become available in Canada or foreign countries.

Repair parts for standard patterns are kept in stock at fitting depots in the following centres: Halifax, Fredericton, St. John, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria.

At these depots there are experienced fitters who make repairs and adjustments under the supervision of surgeons. They also fit to individual patients appliances received in the rough from the factory.

These depots are so located that those requiring renewals, repairs or adjustments can get them free without travelling long distances. If there is no fitting depot in the patient's town, he is instructed by the Department's Medical Officer to travel to the nearest depot. He is furnished with free first class railway tickets, an allowance to cover meals and other expense, and an allowance to apply against loss of time from his work. If he must remain there for longer than a week he is maintained at the Department's expense, and he and his dependents receive the same allowances as if he were in hospital.

Artificial limbs, orthopaedic and surgical appliances are furnished free only when their issue is authorized by a Medical Officer of the Department. These representatives are listed alongside.

PTE. E. WEBER'S CASE

Fate of Son of Neustadt Reeve is With Ottawa

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—The decision of the General Court-Martial which tried Pte. Weber, son of Reeve Weber of Neustadt, has not been announced, as the evidence is still being considered by the authorities at Ottawa in accordance with the usual practice. Pte. Weber was charged with desertion, and it was also alleged at the trial that he had made several unpatriotic statements, and that, in common with other members of the family, he had determined to evade service under the Military Service Act. There is now an added interest in the case, in that the father of the accused soldier was arrested at Owen Sound a couple of days ago on the charge of making seditious utterances was let out on bail and was driven out or Owen Sound by returned soldiers.

COOKED HAMS

Owing to the lack of demand for fuel wood, resulting from mild weather, Newmarket has been driven to offering the municipal supply at a price considerably lower than cost.

It is the things that are made to look at that cost the most.

THE WEATHER

The month of January had but five zero days, as far as Peterboro was concerned. The lowest temperature was on the 12th with 19 degrees below zero. January of last year had 20 zero days. The most marked feature of the month was the long spell of mild weather, from the 13th to the end of the month. The rainfall and snowfall was light. Combined, they amounted to but 1.23 of an inch.

The coldest weath of last winter was during the first week of February. On the 5th, the thermometer went down to 29 below. This was the lowest of a cold winter. W.P.

"PARIS ITCH" IS LATEST

Skin Irritation Brought by Soldiers From Front.

Paris, Feb. 1.—The newest irritation to arise at the peace conference is what the French call "gale" and what is known elsewhere as "the French itch." It is an annoying but not a dangerous ailment of the skin and is something like "the seven-year itch," which is indigenous in almost every country under local names.

The itch is particularly in evidence in Paris nowadays, having been brought here by soldiers from the delegates to the peace conference battle front. If any of the Americans have contracted it, diplomacy forbids betrayel of the fact, but the parasite is rampant at the headquarters of the American mission. Many attaches who have now animated recollections of Mark Twain's one-armed paperhanged with the hives, are regular patients at the American army hospital which specializes in treatment of affections of the skin.

The pest, for it scarcely be called a disease exceeds influenza in the suddenness of its appearance, but it yields to simple treatment.

A dog has more privileges than a liberty, declared a J.P. in western living creature, unless the corporation provides laws curtailing his Ontario.

RUB NEURALGIA AWAY! END PAIN

Instant Relief From Nerve, Torture and Misery with Old "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Get a small trial bottle!

Rub this soothing, penetrating liniment right into the sore, inflamed nerves, and like magic—neuralgia disappears. "St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It is a harmless neuralgia relief which doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Don't suffer! It's so needless. Get a small trial bottle from any drug store and gently rub the "aching nerves" and in just a moment you will be absolutely free from pain, ache and suffering, but what will please you more is, that the misery will not come back.

No difference whether your pain or neuralgia misery is in the face, head or any part of the body, you get instant relief and without injury.

Exercise Made Easy

An officer on board a warship was drilling his men. "I want every man to lie on his back, put his legs in the air and move the limbs if he were riding a bicycle," he explained. "Now commence." After a short effort one of the men stopped. "Why have you stopped, Murphy?" asked the officer. "If you please, sir," was the answer, "I'm not reading."

REVIVAL IN OUR SOCIAL LIFE

CANADIANS CAN AND DO DANCE NOW THAT THE WORLD IS NO LONGER ON FIRE.

(By Estelle Cuffe.)

During the period of warfare, we have often been forced to think of the change that the war was making in our mode of living and in our nature. It taught many of us that we were never really busy before; for to the events of a pre-war-time busy day, we have added more and more, until we found the days all too short for the fulfilment of our desires. We have learned to really thrive on war meals and were able to smile at Madame Food Storage, because we had become close friends with Dame Economy. The beauty of sacrifice and the virtue of unselfishness has been firmly imprinted on minds where hitherto these virtues were unknown quantities; it has taught us to love and to hate.

And all during this costly lesson we couldn't but think of and long for that fairy time "before the war." True, at the time we thought it anything but fairy; in fact stern realities cropped up to make us think that it was quite literally real. But when that terrible load was pressing on each one of us, we contrasted the one time with the other, and how absolutely care-free the sunny pre-war life seemed, compared to a dark war time existence, while war-clouds hovered dark and ominously! From this, very thought, comes another great lesson, delivered by the war—it has taught us the blessing of peace and happiness—and now that those blessings are ours, we appreciate them, and want to glean the very best from them.

After the long dreary period of warfare then, people realize that peace and such wonderful happiness are both theirs. From the day of the signing of the armistice affairs have assumed a new aspect. Amusement and pleasure have taken their old place, spreading pell-mell, unhampered by the restrant of waring with galaty of every sport. Old and young alike show in their looks words and actions that they are revelling in the joy of living in a world of peace.

Dancing, during the war, seemed comparatively speaking, to have lost its place in social life. It seemed a sin to be so giddily happy when the world was steeped in turmoil, and anyway, the boys were away, and the dance is one place where men are an absolute necessity. But with the coming of peace, the dance seems to be the natural medium for the demonstration of happiness, and "everybody's dancing." Not only young people, but middle aged and even old people have become dancing bugs. We are told that soldiers, particularly, are very anxious to take up the art where they left it. The manager of one dancing hall in Toronto maintains that one is the first place a lot of the boys visit on their return home. Everyone seems to throw off the yoke of the seious for the higher one of unalloyed pleasure.

New York is bubbling over with all sorts of new steps and devices, and our cities are full of those of all ages, "crazy to learn the new ones." An instructor who has gone to New York and become an adept at the novelties in tripping the light fantastic, is storme dby an anxious mob, who yearn for the luition. The pupils are not all the young and foolish either. Staid old granddfathers are seen diligently labouring through the mazes of the latest "fox", while women who at one time merely tolerated dancing, now consider the "syncopated dip", an accomplishment worth attaining. As for the soldiers, they glory in dancing and those who have had the opportunity of indulging in this pleasure in England, painstakingly instruct their Canadian friends in the whirly English way of waltzing—the old-fashioned way—which is nevertheless the way now.

In our own city the citizens of all ages were not slow to take the leap, to a gayer life, and social life is passing through the re-construction period. Married people, single folks and even bachelors, who one time thought social events somewhat of a bore, are breaking into the revived world of amusement with vim and with pleasure. And Peterborough is only one of hundreds of cities. The people are bubbling over with happiness, and they must show it and spend the talent energy of four years past.

This is just one of the things war has pointed out to us—it has shown us by contrast—the ecstacy of a peaceful world. Society is demonstrating how much it appreciates it.

THE TREASURE OF GOOD HEALTH

EASILY MAINTAINED THROUGH THE USE OF DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

There is not a nook or corner in Canada, in the cities, the towns, the villages, on the farms and in the mines and lumber camps, where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not been used, and from one end of the country to the other they have brought back to bread-winners, their wives and families the splendid treasure of new health and strength.

You have only to ask your neighbors, and they can tell you of some rheumatic or nerve-shattered man, some suffering woman, ailing youth or anaemic girl who owes present health and strength to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For more than a quarter of a century these pills have been known not only in Canada, but throughout all the world, as a reliable tonic, blood-making medicine.

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go right to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich and red strengthen every organ and every nerve, thus driving out disease and pain, and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and mostly highly esteemed men in Lunenburg county, N.S., says:—"I am a Provincial Land Surveyor, and an exposed for the greater part of the year to very hard work travelling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions, I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them, and I lose no opportunity in recommending them to weak people whom I meet."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in every home, and their occasional use will keep the blood pure and ward off illness. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Frank Evans and John King, of Port Dover, were badly scorched and a horse was singed almost bare, when a tractor they were driving broke a gas main and the gas escaping, took fire from the firebox.

Liberty.

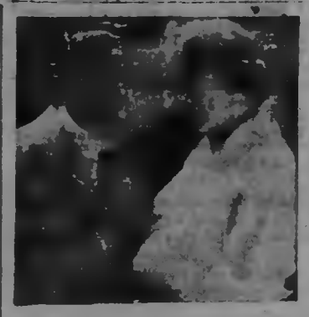
Two lovers were sitting side by side in Battery park, New York, one evening. "I wonder," he whispered as he glanced out across the beautiful bay and saw the Statue of Liberty in the shadowy gloom, "why they have its light so small." "Perhaps," replied the girl as she blushed and tried to slip from his embrace, "the smaller the light the greater the liberty."

Much adoo About O.

A little book with the title of "The Vest Pocket Argument Settler" has been observed at a book store. Now who in the world ever had such an argument about a vest pocket as to try to write a book about it? Maybe the book wasn't about vest pockets, after all.

Kipling's Choice.

Alexander Smith, ramshoud in a Skye bothy, found on a shelf two volumes of the Monthly Review. The advertisements were to him more amusing reading than the critical articles. "Depend upon it," wrote Smith over 50 years ago, "in the reader of the next century the advertisements (about of a magazine) will be more interesting than the poetry, or the essays or the stories." Mr. Kipling it is said, when he was unhappy in the United States would buy magazines, tear out the pages of advertisements and throw the rest away.—Boston Herald.



Anna Q. Nilsson and Franklyn Farnum in "In Judgment Of."

A GIRL AND A JUDGE IN BATTLE OF WITS

A powerful mental battle between a young and beautiful girl and a learned judge is one of the gripping and dramatic scenes in the Metro presentation, "In Judgement Of," which will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House for three days, commencing Monday, Feb. 3.

In the court room, presiding over the trial of a young doctor accused of murder, sits the judge (played by Herbert Standing). Among the spectators in the room is the girl, Mary Manners, (Anna Q. Nilsson, who is in love with John O'Neal (Franklyn Farnum) the doctor. All the evidence is overwhelmingly against the man she loves and yet Mary is thoroughly convinced of his innocence. With compelling insistence she keeps her eyes on the fact of the judge who, in turn, cannot escape from her accusing look and is held as in a trance by some supernatural power. When the verdict of "guilty" is rendered by the jury the judge can stand it no longer and confesses that he is the real offender. The scene is intense to the extreme and is acted in a superb manner by the all-star cast of players seen in the various roles.

BOSTON RED SOX STRONG BOTH IN FIELD AND AT BAT

Manager Barrow Has Formidable List of Ball Players From Which to Choose His Regular Team.

(By George S. Robbins.)

Even the most ardent supporters of Boston must admit that the schedule of 1918 offered no fair test of strength, yet the Red Sox, who captured the world's championship, will be hear to eliminate this year. The return of players in the army and navy and the acquisition of Oscar Vitt, Slim Caldwel and Al Walters gives the present champions the greatest defensive organization in baseball. The Red Sox infield should present a stone wall defense similar to that of the Americans at the Marne.

The White Sox may have more of a punch at bat, but the Sox of the crimson hue should outshine them in fielding and battery work, when the doughboys have all returned.

Has Great String of Pitchers.

Manager Barrow probably will lead the greatest string of pitchers assembled in a decade. Caldwell secured from the New York Yankees in recent swap, will have trouble breaking into the select circle of regular flingers on the Hub aggregation, although Slim is a heavy hitter and a capable pitcher.

It is improbable that Manager Barrow will decide to use Babe Ruth exclusively as a pitcher. This big fellow is needed in the Red Sox outfield more this season than last, when the club, early in the year, had Duffy Lewis, Ruth is a clean-up hitter and led the team at bat in 1918. This brawny dinger is a physical giant capable in the outfield when needed against the stronger clubs.

May Use Ruth in Field.

With Babe Ruth, Bullet Joe Bush, Cald Mays, Sam Jones and Slim Caldwell on his roster Barrow has a wonderful slab quintet and if Caldwell starts off in winning fashion Rush can be used in left field against right handed pitching. With a defense such as the Red ox Swill give him Caldwell may take rank among the ablest flingers in the American league.

Has Strong Infield.

The return of Jack Barry from the navy yards and the acquisition of Oscar Vitt gives Boston a world beating defensive infield. There isn't a greater fielding first sacker in the game than Stuffy McInnis, who is at the height of his fame as a player. Jack Barry, automobile dealer and garage proprietor, former manager and resourceful fielder at second base, has announced he will come back to the Red Sox and Jack should have a successful year. It wouldn't be surprising if Barry set the pace for all second sackers this season.

Everett Scott, shortstop, made fans marvel at his hair raising plays in the recent world's series. Despite the feats of the rising young Hollocher, Scott outplayed his youthful rival and proved that he is all he was cracked up to be as a phenomenal fielding entity on the world's champions.

Vitt was underestimated, but not by some of the wisest managers in the game who tried to land him. Former Manager Rowland of the White Sox said he considered Vitt one of the ablest infielders in the game. He has a habit of pelting the ball to safety with players on the sacks. Vitt gifes Boston a bullet proof infield and it will be difficult to hammer through this wonderful defense, especially with such an array of pitching talent as Barrow possesses.

Walters Will Do Catching.

The acquisition of Walters, rival of Ray Schalk behind the plate, assures Boston a strong defense for the receiving end of the game. The club also has Schang, Agnew and Mayerly. Barrow has three of the greatest

If Ruth is saved to pitch regular-hitters in the game on his bench is Schang, Caldwell and Ruth to send up in the pinches. The club has impressive reserve stength in Hoblitzel, Shean, Whiteman, Gilhooley, Miller and Smith.

Manager Barrow can trade several of his players for ont outfielder and add an extra punch to his attack. A deal may be put over on its spring training trip. Bobby Roth, the Cleveland slugger, is on the market and may go to the Hub.

CHASE'S FATE IS STILL IN BALANCE

MASS OF EVIDENCE IS PLACED BEFORE NATIONAL LEAGUE PRESIDENT.

New York, Jan. 31. — No decision will be given for probably two weeks in the case of Hal Chase, Cincinnati first baseman, charged by officials of that club with attempting to influence the results of the games last season, it was announced by President John A. Heydler at the close of a five-hour trial at National League headquarters.

Declaring that voluminious notes of evidence would not be in proper form before Monday, Mr. Heydler said:

"I have taken the case under advisement and intend to give it the most thorough and careful consideration. I cannot say how long it will take me to go over this mass of evidence, but I will announce my finding as early as possible."

The charges made against Chase are brought under section 40 of the constitution of the National League which reads as follows:—

"Any person who shall be proven guilty of offering, agreeing, conspiring or attempting to cause any game of ball to result otherwise than on its merits under the playing rules, shall be forever disqualified by the President of the National League from acting as umpire, manager or player or in any other capacity in any game of ball participated in by a league club."

Chase was present and two lawyers acted as counsel for him. No officer of the Cincinnati was on hand. [illegible] lawyer looked after the league's interests and cross-examined some of the witnesses. Manager Christy Mathewson of the Cincinnati club, who is now in the United States service in France, and Pitcher Perritt of the New York Giants were [illegible] but submitted affidavits which were accepted as evidence.

Several witnesses were called, among those examined being Manager John J. McGraw of the New York club, Players A. S. ("Dode") Neals and J. Ring and Michael J. Regan of the Cincinnati Club, while I. O. Rogers, L. P. Rich and "Sid" Mercer all of New York, gave testimony [illegible] in behalf of Chase.

NEW YORK WANTS SUNDAY GAMES

SENATOR WALKER INTRODUCES NEW BILL IN STATE LEGISLATURE.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31. Senator James J. Walker of New York has introduced a bill in the Senate to legalize Sunday baseball. At the same time Assembly man Owen Kiernan introduced a similar bill in the Assembly. The bill if passed will provide that baseball games may be played after 2 o'clock p.m. on Sundays, whether or not an admission fee were charged, providing that an ordinance were passed permitting such games.

A bill to legalize Sunday baseball was introduced last year by Senator Lawton. It was passed by the Senate, but was buried by the Rules Committee in the Assembly. One of the most enthusiastic champions of Sunday baseball is Magistrate Francis X. McQuade, now Treasurer of the New York Giants. He did all in his power to further the interests of the Lawton bill. The late Colonel Roosevelt was another who expressed himself in favor of general recreation on Sunday.

It is known that Governor Smith is in favor of all forms of Sunday recreation, and it is known, too, that the Sunday baseball bill is supported by organized labor. If the bill should be passed by the Legislature there is no doubt that the Governor will affix his signature. He has been quoted on numerous occasions as being in favor of Sunday sports, but he insists that this baseball bill must be non-partisan.

THE CLAIMS OF GREECE.

The black portions of the map show those districts in the Near East which are inhabited by a majority of Greeks. The striped area shows those districts in which the population is about equally divided between Greeks and Musulmans. The proposed boundary of Greece, as it will be urged by Venizelos at the Peace Congress, begins on the Adriatic below Avlona and runs across in the Black Sea. In Asia Minor the line begins at Bosporus on the Black Sea and ends at the Bay of Mayri near the Island of Rhodes. This would give Greece a population of over 2,500,000 Greeks and 2,000,000 of other nationalities.

SPORT NOTES

George Gibson, of London, Ont., formerly of the Pittsburg and New York National League clubs, last night signed a contract to manage the Toronto team next season.

Lieut. "Bob" Dibble announces that he will row again at the English Henley, and may also participate in the Knights of Columbus regatta on the Seine at Paris.

VITAL STATISTICS

The vital statistics as compiled in the office of the city clerk show that for the month of January, 1919, there were 38 deaths, 43 birth, and 11 marriages. In January of 1918, there were 29 deaths, 38 birth and 20 marriages.

EXEMPLARY LIFE ENDS SUDDENLY

DEATH OF JOSEPH R. LUCAS, PIONEER OF DOWNEYVILLE.

The death of Joseph R. Lucas, which occurred on Jan. 27, has caused widespread regret. He had not been in good health for the last four months, but recently it was thought by his friends that he had completely recovered from his illness. His sudden death, therefore, came as a shock to the community where he was so well and so favorably known. As soon as the sad news was flashed around, large numbers from all parts of the township flocked to his residence to pay their tribute of respect to him, and to sympathize with the family in their bereavement. He filled a large part in the life of the community, with which he had been so long identified. His genial disposition and his sound judgment made him a prominent man amongest men, although he never courted popularity. Perfectly straight-forward and honest in his business dealings, he enjoyed in the fullest degree the confidence of those who knew him. He was a most successful and prosperous farmer, and left his widow and nine sons well provided for.

In church affairs, he was always preminent and active. He was a devout member of St. Luke's Roman Catholic congregation, and had served a number of years on the Church Committee. He was a life-long total abstainer and was most exemplary in the discharge of his religious duties.

His funeral took place on Wednesday, Jan. 29. Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Father Galvin, assisted by Father P. J. McGuire as Deacon, and Father McAuley as Sub-Deacon. Rev. Father O'Leary, of Lindsay, performed the duties of Master of Ceremonies. At the conclusion of the Mass, Rev. Father McGuire preached an impressive sermon, during the course of which he referred briefly to the exemplary life of the deceased. He bade the relatives be comforted, for, although he was suddenly stricken down, his life had been an excellent preparation for a good Christian death. At the conclusion of the sermon, the remains of the deceased were borne to the cemetery by six of his sons, there to await a final summons when Christ will come to judge the world. May his soul rest in peace.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved family. Their affliction is rendered all the more acute on account of the serious illness of his beloved wife. Two weeks before her husband's death Mrs. Lucas suffered a stroke of paralysis. For several days her recovery was despaired of, but now, although her condition is still critical, hopes for improvement are brighter than they had been. All hope that she may be spared to her family, and that God may comfort her and her sons in their great affliction.

MUNICIPALITIES EAST OF CITY

He informed the meeting that the County Council had at its meeting yesterday afternoon passed a resolution appointing six of its members to go before the Hydro Commission to assist in presenting the case, if the city decided to participate in the deputation.

Reeve Squire of Norwood spoke for the municipality he represented, stating that the people of Norwood would welcome such power, which, as Mr. Lancaster had said, was at their doors.

Mr. Squire was sure that if this city would add its voice and influence to the appeal for the construction of a line which would serve itself in cases of emergency as well as the smaller towns and villages which were within connecting distance, there would be no trouble about the matter. In support of this assertion he stated that when in touch with the Commission some time ago in regard to the chances of having such a transmission line constructed, he had been informed that if Peterborough demanded it the request would be complied with; otherwise they did not see their way clear to carry out such a project while the war was in progress.

"Now that the war is over," concluded Mr. Squire, "Mr. Lancaster has undertaken the task of organizing a deputation to go before the Hydro Commission, and I feel that Peterborough, in its own interests, as well as those of its neighboring municipalities, should use its influence towards having the Commission construct the line."

Hastings in Same Position.

Reeve Hess of Hastings summed up the case concisely when he said that the little municipalites could not put up a strong enough case without the support of their big neighbor. Hastings is in need of hydro power and will be ready to take her share of it if given an opportunity to connect at Norwood with a trunk line such as the one proposed.

Farmers Want Power.

Reeve Griffith of Belmont voiced the opinion that what was good for Havelock would benefit his township. The farmers will use the power and the Cordova Smelter Company and the Rock Plant will no doubt avail themselves of it also. He expressed himself as being heartily in support of the scheme.

Plant at Lakefield.

Reeve Moore of Lakefield explained the position of his village in regard to power. He stated that there was a plant there at present owned by the Dickson Company which he felt the Hydro would find no difficulty in acquiring should they so desire. He was heartily in favor of the proposed plan and expressed the hope that Lakefield might solve its power problem by linking up with it.

Mayor Promises Consideration.

Mayor Duncan expressed sympathy with the movement and promised that it would be considered at the meeting of the Council Monday night, and he expected that a deputation would be appointed to act in conjunction with those appointed by other interested places.

City Clerk Armstrong explained some matters concerning the Hydro Electric and the local situation having a direct bearing upon the project under discussion. He took the stand that the prosperity of the neighboring municipalities would indirectly benefit this city and expressed the opinion that an auxiliary line from Healey Falls might prove of great value to the city if the one already in use should ever fail.

Aldermen Turner, Phelan, Murray, Edgar and Hamilton were heartily in accord with the movement and promised their personal support in any way that would prove effective.

During the meeting Warden McIntosh arrived and was given a seat beside the Mayor, after being congratulated upon his recent appointment.

Details regarding the organization of the deputation were informally discussed at the close of the meeting, and it was decided to wire Sir Adam Beck without the loss of time in order to obtain an appointment.

It was estimated that Havelock would use 150 horse power according to present requirements; Hastings could handle another 150, and Norwood would take care of from 100 to 150 horse power. The demand for energy would be supplemented by the farmers along the line and by the two plants in Belmont which Reeve Griffth referred to in his address.

BERNARD DALY, the famous Irish tenor, in "SWEET INNISFALLEN," at the Grand next Friday, February the 7th.

Bernard Daly, the famed Irish singer who will make his appearance at the Grand Theatre next Friday, February 7, matinee and night, in "Sweet Innisfallen," has a very pleasing voice and great charm of manner. The story of the play is a series of complications caused by the villainy of Squire Carlton. He tries to force Grace Moore to marry him by claiming it was her own brother who killed Lord Ashton, when in reality he died by an accidental discharge of his own pistol, which is developed in the last act by a witness to his death, Myles Regan.

It has been said of Mr. Daly's singing that, in rendering such noted selections as "Sweet Innisfallen," "Mavis," "Song of the Wind," "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Hide and Seek," that he captivates the hearts of his audience almost as soon as he sets foot on the stage. The cast of artists accompanying Mr. Daly have been engaged with special care and no expense has been spared to make this production one of the most notable that has ever visited.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

PIMPLES ARE IMPURITIES SEEKING AN OUTLET THROUGH SKIN PORES.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

MOTHER BELIEVES SONS ARE LIVING

MOTHER OF FORMER CZAR REFUSES TO THINK HIM DEAD.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 3.—The Dowager Empress Marie Feodorovna of Russia has clung so firmly to her belief that her son, the former Russian Emperor and the Grand Duke Michael are not dead that many of her friends have been won over to that view and rumors in the European press concerning Nicholas Romanoff's alleged whereabouts are attracting much attention.

The aged Empress resolutely refused to leave Russia until she learned positively of the fate of her son.

She continues to live simply at Yalta, Crimea, declining an invitation to visit the King and Queen of Rumania and even her sister Queen Mother Alexandria of Great Britain.

Col. J. W. Boyle, formerly of the Canadian Militia who was commissioned by King Ferdinand of Rumania to visit Yalta with a ship to induce the Dowager Empress to seek safety in umania, recently arrived in Paris and told the Associated Press that the Dowager Empress's declination was most affecting.

TEN THOUSAND TROOPS ON STRIKE DUTY IN GLASGOW

Cabinet Has Situation in that City Well in Hand But Trouble Appears to be Spreading in Belfast—Shipyard Workers May Resume Work

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 3.—The Cabinet has the strike situation always in mind, but the fact that Premier Lloyd George remains in Paris leads to the conclusion in many quarters that the Cabinet members do not consider the situation as serious as it looks on its face.

The presence of large bodies of troops in Glasgow is believed to insure a continuance of the present state of order there, but at Belfast the second week of the strike begins, according to reports received here, with increased uneasiness. For eight days Belfast has been using candles for lighting at night.

Had Quiet Sunday

There were no striking developments in the Labor troubles Sunday either on the Clyde or in Belfast. Quiet prevailed in both districts. In Belfast many of the churches were obliged to abandon the evening services owing to the lack of light. It is hoped that a number of the shipyard workers may be induced to resume work during the course of the week.

More troops have arrived in Glasgow, where it is now said there are 10,000. Soldiers are still mounted on the roofs of the buildings surrounding George square in Glasgow. The military display is provoking great resentment among the strikers.

The Strike Bulletin, the offices of which were raided yesterday by the police issued a strong attack against the government, which it accuses of acting illegally in employing troops and seeking a pretext to employ arms against the Clyde workers.

"The workers are not so foolish as to fall into such a trap," the newspaper says. ". . . The workers have advanced a practical scheme to avert unemployment, and, instead of discussing it the Government has made an attempt to crush its advocates by Czarist methods. The Government is clearly in league with the employers to burk discussion of the scheme which has been before them for years."

Three more arrests were made Sunday on charges of inciting to riot.

The Ukraine Government has been moved from Kiev to Winnatsa. To the southwest railway communication with Kiev is cut off at Kovel where there is a body of German troops attempting to keep order among the disorderly Germans who are retiring from Ukraine. This probably refers to refugees fleeing to Warsaw to escape from the advancing Bolshevists. The telegraph line and railways in the direction of Vienna were cut by the Czecho-Slovaks last Thursday.

SIXTY MILLIONS FOR THE C. N. R.

DIRECTORS' ESTIMATE OF SUM REQUIRED TO EQUIP THE ROAD.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—Estimates prepared by the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways for additions to rolling stocks, rails and equipment, and for the completion of certain branch lines in Western Canada to act as feeders to the main lines, total approximately sixty million dollars.

In addition to the Grand Trunk Railway, whose acquisition is imperaperative if the Government expects the first decade of Government railway history to pass without deficits, the Government is faced with demands that the St. John Valley Railway, already operated as a Government railway; the Alberta & Great Waterways Railway, now controlled by the provincial government; the Edmonton & Dunvegan Railway, and the Pacific & Great Eastern Railway of British Columbia should be included in the Federal system.

MINISTER DOHERTY FAVORS NEW INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Member of Canadian Cabinet Suggests to Peace Conference a Plan to Prevent War for All Time—Would Settle Disputes that Cause War

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 3—Charles J. Doherty, Canadian Minister of Justice who has proposed to the peace conference that an international people's House of Representatives be established, said today in discussing the subject.

"The prevention of war is not the concern of governmental power alone. It is in the interest of humanity itself. A Sovereign state is not organized with a view to exerting and restraining influence over its own action toward other states. If war is to be prevented, or its likelihood of a power that will control, or at least influence, to restrain the adequate sovereignty of organized states in dealing with each other.

The most important function of the suggested representative body would be to exercise in times of peace a constant influence upon the states in their relations with others, tending to keep them from those differences which give rise to conflict and make war imminent. It would perform that work of investigation, discussion, deliberation and legislation which would take the form of the adoption of recommendations addressed to individual states."

Details of Plan.

Every nation in the world would be represented on this body and the delegates would be representatives of the peoples themselves. This plan is to be presented to the various delegations in the Peace Conference.

Mr. Doherty's view is that it would be a vital mistake to declare at this time the principle that the interests of humanity are to be confined only to sovereign states. He believes that the present time is opportune to interest the peoples of the world directly in methods for the prevention of war, and that the opportunity ought to be seized.

Executive Powers.

The plans thus far suggested provide for the constitution of judicial tribunals and for the exercise of executive powers by the governments, especially of the great powers. Mr. Doherty declares there would be greater assurance of a general determination of the peoples of all countries to maintain peaceful relations if a body, mainly legislative in function and composed of representatives directly elected by the nations, great and small, were added to supplement the work of these judicial and executive bodies.

In such an assembly the principal powers would be those of inquiry and legislation, taking the form of recommendations of sovereign states. The necessity so far insisted upon of equal representation would disappear, members assigned to each country conforming rather to such considerations as influenie the distribution of seats in any legislative assembly.

HON. C. J. DOHERTY

Minister of Justice, now at the Peace Conference, who proposes an international house of representatives to prevent war.

REEVE WEBER NOW HAS PNEUMONIA

CONTRACTED ILLNESS AS RESULT OF FLIGHT FROM OWEN SOUND.

Owen Sound, Feb. 3.—The mystery has been solved as to the sleeping place of Joseph Weber, the Neustadt reeve, who received such a hurried send-off Thursday night after being compelled to kiss the flag and sing God Save the King. Dr. Mearns of Hanover stated at the county council meeting that Reeve Weber walked the nine miles to Shallow Lake and spent the remainder of the night in a shed there, going home to Neustadt by the early morning train. It was also stated that Weber now has pneumonia as a result of his night out. It was almost 11 o'clock at night Thursday when Weber was escorted out of Owen Sound by a crowd of returned soldiers and civilians, and he apparently heeded the command to go and keep on going. He is to return here Wednesday for trial on five sedition charges.

NEW LABOR PARTY URGES ACTION BY PARLIAMENT

Addresses Communication to Capt. Burnham on the Non-Employment Problem and the Cost of Living.

Capt. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has received the following communication from the officers of the Independent Labor party:

J. H. Burnham, Esq., M.P.:

Sir,—At a public meeting of the Independent Labor party of Peterboro, Ont., the following resolution was carried unanimously:

"That this public meeting of the Independent Labor party, Peterboro, do respectfully call upon the Federal Government, to proceed at once with public works in this locality, as the present conditions of unemployment have already reached a very serious point owing to the factories dismissing men to go hungry, while their establishments are packed from floor to ceiling with foodstuffs and no market.

"Every week delay means more families on the point of starvation. Immediate action is necessary. The public patience will be greatly strained, to have to wait until Parliament meets, and general routine methods followed; immediate action is most essential, for the well-being of the community."

We wish also to draw your attention to the high cost of living, and the greatly reduced wage of the worker, which also calls for immediate action to help the toiler face the strenuous times under which we are now passing. We would suggest that a "Peace loan" be floated for Industrial Reconstruction and that a clause be provided for the larger industrial concerns who received war contracts, during the past four and a half years, to be able to subscribe to the loan, without interest on their money, as a patriotic endeavour to adjust the industrial situation.

This we respectfully submit on behalf of the meeting held January 30, 1919, Labor Hall, Peterborough.

PETER McARTHUR, President.
THOMAS TOOMS, Secretary.

Capt. Burnham's Reply.

In reply to the above, Capt. Burnham says:

I am, I think, largely in accord with this resolution forwarded to me this morning, at any rate, with the general drift of the sentiment expressed. Parliament should have been called for December 1st, not February 20th. The trouble in the return of peace is greatest at the beginning of peace, and that fact should have been comprehended accordingly. Our system of government is to blame. If the C.P.R. were handled, as governments are, it would be on the rocks in a week. Class Legislation and a failure to understand and abide by economic principles, will keep a country back like a late spring and unfortunately with the aftermath of a bad harvest. Things are worse than most people imagine. It is the fault of organization. When we consider that five times as much is produced as is necessary to feed and clothe the people of the entire world, one may well wonder what becomes of it. It, however, can be easily understood after we consider what would happen if a first-class chess player sat down to play a third-class one.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH"

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1919

POET AND PATRIOT.

WILSON MACDONALD, the clever artist who staged his own comic opera, "In Sunny France," in this city last week, is another author who is helping to dispel the illusion that nothing good in the way of literature can come out of Canada. For years Canadian authorship has enjoyed no prosperity either at home or abroad, and if this has been due to the mediocrity of production, then the success which has crowned the work of Mr. MacDonald, the reception given his poems in his own country and the favorable press notices they have received in the United States and Great Britain, are the best evidence of their superiority over that produced by other authors who have borne the cross without winning the crown of glory.

It was Ralph Connor who as a novelist first gave Canada an international reputation in the literary world. His novels, dealing exclusively with incidents in Canadian life, have received more favorable notice and have been more widely circulated in the United States and in Britain than in his own country, hearty as the appreciation of the people at home may have been.

Like Ralph Connor, Mr. MacDonald, in his book of poems just published, "The Song of the Prairie Land and Other Poems," has given prominence to the national characteristics of the country that has been the home of his family for four generations. All his works are filled with patriotism, with loyal service rendered by genius to all that is best in the national life. The bards of old were the inspiration of the people in all good works. The songs of a nation are the epitome of patriotism. As Burns has sanctified the life of the Scottish peasantry in "The Cotter's Saturday Night," and as Tennyson has immortalized the military prowess of England on land and sea, so has Mr. MacDonald in his poems given the Canadian people a new status in the civilized world. His poem on the signing of the armistice is likely to win a place among the classics of English literature.

NO TIME FOR FOLDEROL.

THE SOCIAL ELECT of Toronto, now that peace has been restored, insist that they shall again come into their own. It has already been announced that in obedience to the request of the Five Hundred the Legislature is to be opened with all the old-time pomp and show. There is to be the military display of former years, the vice-regal party guarded by armed men, the same old roar of toy cannon that has given prestige to this august event in the years that are gone. Society is to turn out in a blaze of jewels and a brave show of costly attire.

During the war this pomp and ceremony were dispensed with. This year is not auspicious for their renewal. Why contrast the condition of the rich with that of the unemployed so startlingly? When the Legislature opens, thousands of workingmen unable to secure employment, will march in procession to invoke the aid of the Legislature to preserve their dependents from hunger. Such a parade is just as justifiable, it will be no more an evidence of bolshevism among the masses, than was the procession of thousands of temperance workers a few years ago marching to the Legislature with dray loads of petitions asking for the enactment of war-time prohibition.

The situation is serious enough to give the Legislature pause. A gaudy show of wealth and the luxuries enjoyed by the rich will not tend to soothe the discontent of those who have either real or fancied grievances.

THE CASE OF JAPAN.

JAPAN is an insular empire, 160,000 square miles in extent and with a population of over 50,000,000, or something like three hundred to the square mile. Under such conditions it is no wonder that Japan is looking for a home for her surplus population, no country on earth being able to sustain such a number per square mile of territory. Emigration to civilized countries is practically denied to the Japanese, the United States putting up the bars against them, and the same policy being adopted by the British and other European powers, who insist on making their own countries homes for the white men only.

Japan waged a victorious war with China back in 1894, but was denied the fruits of her victory by the intervention of Russia, Germany and France. Instead of the cession of the Liao Tung peninsula, which she demanded, all she really got in the way of new territory was the islands of Formosa and the Pescadores Islands. Perseverance in the attempt to shut out Japan from the rest of the world was what caused the Russo-Japanese war.

As a result of her participation in the recent war on behalf of the Allies, Japan now claims the Marshall, Caroline and Mareone Islands in the Pacific, a claim which she declares is justified by a secret treaty made with England as a condition of and a reward for Japan's services.

Australia claims German New Guinea and the Bismarck Archipelago, and New Zealand the German Samoan Islands. The affairs of New Guinea have been administered by the Australians for the past four years, and the natives are apparently contented and prosperous under the new conditions.

The question of the disposition of the former German colonies has been complicated by the interference of President Wilson, who emphasizes his belief that no territory should be acquired by conquest. But Britain's colonial record is above reproach, especially when compared with that of Germany. New Zealand and Australia are to be trusted with the management of the territory which they claim as they are with the measures of self-government which they have enjoyed so long. Fortunately for Canada, the colonies in dispute are beyond her influence, but this country seems disposed to back up the position of her sister dominions on the other hemisphere.

The disposition of the lost German colonies is likely to cause serious dissention in the Peace Conference, if President Wilson insists upon what is really only a theory. Japan refuses to be deprived of the fruits of victory. The colonies in question are no more fitted for self-government than are the Hawaiian or the Philippine Islands that are still held in trust by the United States until such times as they have shown themselves capable of working out their own destiny. If these colonies are to be put under the jurisdiction of the League of Nations, they would be in no different position than that of any of the oversea possessions of France or England or of the self-governing countries of the world, all of whom, it seems, are to be subjected to the same international paternalism.

ONE KIND OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

HOUSEHOLDERS in the city have recently received from the local representative of the Hydro Commission of Ontario a circular of which the following is a copy:

Many householders desire that a gas meter be set to use at pleasure.

The Commission finds that the interest upon the investment for meters, connections and the service pipes amounts to quite a sum, in addition to the cost of the monthly examination of the meter and the keeping of the account upon the books of the commission.

It has been determined that this accommodation is to be paid for by those who wish to retain the meter when used but little or not at all.

Therefore beginning January 1, 1919, a bill will be rendered for each meter, whether gas is used or not. The minimum charge will be fifty (50) cents per month, and no bill will be rendered for less than this amount.

The street railway and the gas plant of the city have been under the ownership and the operation of the Hydro-Electric Commission for about two years, long enough to demonstrate that anything like lower rates are not to be hoped for. There has been an increase in the cost of operating the former, not serious, perhaps, but sufficient to indicate the general direction, and an increase, too, which involved the wreck of a labor union before it was finally accomplished. And now the cost of gas has followed the upward tendency of the cost of living, public ownership to the contrary notwithstanding.

Perhaps the ideals of public ownership are impossible of realization unless the municipality itself has control of public utilities. Those citizens who favor the purchase of the street railway and the gas plant by the city do not lack arguments of local application. The public utilities commission of this city have made steady and substantial improvements in the water service. They have never made the war an excuse for an increase in the rates, even though the improved service alone might have justified a raise. And this city is about the only municipality of importance in Canada that has not boosted the cost of the water supply during the war.

A commission that can show such a record of economy and efficiency could beyond a doubt make the same showing if entrusted with the management of such important utilities as the street railway and the gas plant.

That Two-Cent Letter Rate.

(Montreal Gazette.)

The Senate and House conferees in Washington have completed their preliminary review of the proposed Revenue bill by agreeing to restore the pre-war postage rates on first-class matter after July 1 next. The agreement on postal rates will mean a return to the use of the two-cent stamp for letter postage and the one-cent postal card rate. Is Canada to have its pre-war postal rates restored, or are we to be handicapped as compared with our rivals in the United States?

Bringing Back The Dependents

Enquiry has been made as to the reason why when soldiers are being brought home at the country's expense, why the wives and children of these soldiers should not share in the free transportation. The answer to this enquiry is given in the following pronouncement which may be accepted as authoritative.

In view of the many enquirees which you will doubtless receive I beg to advise that the Federal Government has decided to return all soldiers' dependents to Canada free, and at the public expense, from the United Kingdom, irrespective of whether or not such dependents were previously resident in Canada.

The term dependent being interpreted as covering a soldiers' wife, or a soldiers' child under the age of eighteen years.

Third class accommodation to import of embarkation in England, on board ship and by rail to destination in Canada will be furnished by the Dominion Government. Should commissioned or warrant ranks desire that their dependents should travel first or second class they will be required to pay the difference in cost of transportation. This arrangement is to take effect immediately.

A further question of interest that will open up with regard to the status of those who have already paid passage to Canada. In many cases those coming across pledged the separation allowance and assigned pay for one or more months to raise the funds for passage. It is not stated that the order as above is to be retroactive, but it would seem reasonable that if in the future the dependents are to travel free that those who have paid passage should be refunded the amounts.

MY CHART

(By Mrs. A. F. Calder.)

I journey over a desert wide,
Where never a footprint marks the way,
But wildering wastes on every side
Stretch trackless, far, dull, bleak and gray,
Through tracts unknown, where the crafty snare
And pitfall lurks 'neath starless dome,
O'er baren sands, sunscorched and bare;
But my Christ will guide me safely home.

I voyage, lone, on a surging tide
'Mid foaming billows where wild winds rave,
O'er sunken rocks, that treacherous lie
In ambush under the tranquil wave;
I know not if near or distant far
The longed-for haven of rest may be,
But steering straight by the bright Pole Star,
My Christ will guide safe over the sea.

If I onward press toward the goal,
Though gathering tempests chilling rise,
Nor doubts, nor fears dismay my soul
For yonder gleams the glorious prize.
So I keep right on with a fearless heart,
Tho' darksome clouds the sky o'ercast,
For the Gospel is the blessed Chart
That will guide me safe to port at last.

To Calculate War Service Gratuity

Question

Private John Jones joined the C.E.F., on March 13th, 1915, and was discharged in June, 1918, having been in the C.E.F., for more than three years. Part of his service was overseas. He was in France and was wounded. He served at the front in an actual theatre of war. How is his War Service Gratuity calculated?

Answer

He served for more than three years in the C. E. F., and is entitled to the benefits of three years' service, which are six months' War Service Gratuity. If, however, he has received his post discharge pay, that amount will be deducted from the total amount of his War Service Gratuity. His War Service Gratuity would be $70.00 a month for six months, or 420; if he has no dependents. If he has dependents it would be $100.00 a month or $600.00.

WIT AND WISDOM

Literature

Booth Tarkington tells of an old colored man who appeared as a witness before one of our committees. In the course of his examination these questions were put to the man:

"Whut is your name?"

"Canbcun Clay, sah."

"Can you sign your name?"

"Sah?"

"I I ask you; can you write your name."

"Well, no sah. Ah nebber writes ma name. Ah dictates it, sah."

One at a Time

Two Irishmen were on a dump barge. One day the waves ran high near shore. The tug's old towing cable parted. The barge rolled into the trough of the sea and the two Irishmen were washed overboard. One swam to the shore and after a short rest was about to start back toward the other man, who was still wrestling with the waves.

"Why, what are you going back into the water for Pat?" inquired a bystander.

"Why, Oi had to save meself first, said Pat, "and now O'm a goin' back to save Moike."

His Speeches

"You must devote a great deal of thought to your speeches."

"I do," replied Senator Sorghum. "Some of those to which I give the least thought before they are delivered make me think the hardest afterward."

Sort Against Sort

A wealthy Englishman on reaching home detected a strange and disagreeable odor pervading the place. He asked the footman whence it came.

"Well, you see, sir," said James, "today's a saint's day, and the bitler, 'e's 'igh church, and is burning hincense, and the cook, she's low church and is burning brown paper to hobviate the hincense, sir."

Family Pride

"If Muggerby," reflected Brown, "isn't the worst conceited, self- satisfied, self—"

"Yess," interrupted Wilkins. "I've heard you say something of that sort before. What started you off this time?"

"To-day's his birthday, and he's just gone out to send a telegram of congratulation off to his mother!"

I was on my way to the store for a pound of the best butter this afternoon, and all of a sudden I came to a little place with a sine in the window saying on it, Butterite, ony 25 sents a pound. it looks like butter smells like butter and taisth better than some butter.

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady)

"I am a boy 16 years old, belonging to a club of fifteen members," typewrites an intelligent reader. "We have all agreed to have the club monogram tattooed upon our arms. Several times I have been told that the arm swells from the tattooing. Please advise me if such report is true. I enclose a stamped addressed envelope and hope to receive an early reply. Your respectfully."

Boys will be boys, and if they were not boys they wouldn't be boys. Frederick.

Tattooing on the human skin is a sorry confession.

Recently I met a fine type of boy a handsome lad with a straightforward manner, in short, the type of boy it is a pleasure to know. But when he stripped for a physical examination I was shocked to see the shameful mutilation of his skin some ill-fated design tattooed on an otherwise perfect chest. I felt almost as sorry for that lad as I would feel if I saw him making a fool of himself in any other way by taking his first drink or betraying the faith of his mother.

It is great sport to be tattooed, if you are a bit defective in the history, Frederick. All boys are defective until they become old enough to require sense and many boys never become old enough for that.

Yes, the place does swell and you feel pretty sore for a time. But you won't mind that nearly so much as you will regret your foolishness later in life.

Tattooing is a shameful mutilation in every instance. It carries with it a stigma of degeneracy. You don't see self-respecting men so decorated. You might find that kind of art in the wilds of Africa or Tierra del Fuego.

It is easy to have the tattooing put in but very difficult, practically impossible to have it removed without leaving a hideous scar. However even a scar is preferable to the disgrace of tattooing.

Just between friends Frederick when a doctor notices tattooing on an individual he registers a very uncomplimentary impression on that individual's mental and moral caliber —with the emphasis on the moral.

What your club needs more than anything else, my boy is a raid by a few stern fathers.

And what the "professor" who does the tattooing needs is a long job breaking stone.

I recently passed a splendid examination for life insurance. In fact, if there is anything the matter with me I do not know what it is. What would you suggest? J.H.H."

TIGHT AT ANKLES LOOSE OVER HIPS

Hobble Skirt Plus the Japanese Toddle, Chief of Season's Developments.

FASHIONS BORN THIS AUTUMN

Elimination of Waistline; Simply Cut Shoulder and Back; Long Sleeve; Arabic Tunic; Cravat Girdle; No Bustle Effect.

New York.—The substitution of one idea for another is a form of regenerating, rejuvenating and re-arranging the human brain, is as old as psychology. It was practiced, avers a leading fashion critic, probably, long before the word was invented. It is one of the world's fundamental creeds, moral, physical and mental; and when some of the religionists got hold of it as a new doctrine, they were only exploiting what began before the Pyramids.

In the early part of the war, those who were not clever in the art, deplored the extraordinary skill of the Germans in being able to control the masses by deliberately substituting a new idea, covered up by a phrase and hammered in by reiteration. They are doing it today, and so far it has never failed them with their own people. They use the word "defensive" instead of "to conquer."

America is going through many phases today, probably the most powerful in her career, which have come about through the substitution in her composite brain of one national idea for another. And the work filters down through crevices until it seeps through the strata of underlying, and seemingly insignificant, by-products of our national life.

It is this seepage down to dress which is the point of this preface. One idea has been substituted for another. With all the critics against its success, the psychologists watch with interest the public playing into the hands of those who started the idea.

Today American labels are put into French gowns. This is not a wild statement. It is done at some of the best houses. Mannequins will come in wearing frocks which the public is told are the designs of the house itself, and these models are sold to shops and lesser dressmakers and pass throughout the country as the creations of an American designer. They were really made in France, brought to this country by importers, copied verbatim, and turned out as American creations.

That is not honest; but that is not exactly the point of this particular story. The extreme interest centers in the fact that the substitution of one idea for another in the national brain has compelled or persuaded the trade to offer to the public whatever it can that bears an American stamp.

Styles of the Hour.

We really are a very well-dressed continent today, and we have fewer women parading around in old clothes than we expected. Here and there we see a tendency to wild exaggeration, but there is no blatant immodesty. Indecency is left out of the scheme of apparel.

You all know by this time the facts which govern the season's clothes; the skirt which is tight at the ankles and full over the hips; the oriental elimination of the waistline; the slimly or shoulder and back; the long sleeve, or the absence of sleeve; the Arabic tunic; the cravat girdle which ties in front; and the elimination of the bustle effect.

It is more important that the silhouette has really changed since September. Don't throw up your hands and gasp at this and say that fashion never leaves one alone for a minute. It is really a change that was foreshadowed by those who watched clothes from the beginning of last March. No one should protest at this agreeable change from the silhouette of the planked shad for it carries grace with it.

This loosening up of the hips is a return to the skirt of a nearly season and a far off epoch. It is not adhered to in a strict manner. Remember that. If you want that plumb line from shoulder to knees, have it; but you will find that unless you adopt the straight chemise tunic of the French frocks, you will prefer more width at your hips than at your knees. It is one of the subtle changes in clothes that has caused women to stop think and reconsider.

Of Private Japanese Toddle.

The entrance of the hobble skirt plus the Japanese toddle is almost enough to take a woman's mind away from war work. There are strange twins of fashion to be born in this autumn of 1918; but women will overcome the handicap, adopt both of them, and, because immensely well pleased with themselves before Thanksgiving day arrives. That is the peculiar and mysterious quality with which women are endowed; adjusting themselves to a circumstance and seeming to fit into it in a few days.

The Japanese toddle has already become the talk of the moment among the mannequins. They caused immense amusement at the exhibitions of gowns, because they exaggerated it with none of the equally laughable majesty that the French mannequins have assumed for a decade.

We have no Margots or Andreys in this country, but we have our Dolores and Josephines of the immediate past and our Mabels and Madeline and Marguerites of the present; so we get all the gestures that go with the new gowns. It makes an exhibition of clothes quite worth while seeing. It is these mannequins who have introduced the Japanese toddle, and it is a necessity if one would walk in some of the wide, draped plaits that fall at the ankles.

Arabian-inspired street suit of black velours trimmed with gold braid and buttons. The bell-shaped tunic is edged with black caracul. The tight hem of skirt is finished with gold braid.

Callot makes evening gowns that have a tight jet strap across the back of the ankle to hobble the material. No matter what the nature of the gown above the ankles, it is narrow there to the irreducible minimum. Tunics and panels may float above it, minaret overskirts may swing outward with their bell-shaped hems, but the hem of the skirt has taken to itself the dimensions of a man's trousers.

Adds Turned-Up Cuff.

It has also added the turned-up cuff, and some of the really smart frocks that are turned out have this cuff when they are not draped. It breaks the line of the tube effect and is quite good. It is made of peltry or of a cloth different from that which makes the skirt, and it is often faced with a bit of brilliant blue that Callot combines with black.

Whatever else these skirts may do, they have made the skirt with the flare an impossible garment. Few women dare to wear it. If it is a pleated or a full skirt that hangs in straight lines, its hem is pulled into an extremely narrow strip of cloth or peltry; if it is the skirt that tried to hide many women over last season, the gored one with flaring seams at the side and a bias front width, then alteration is helpless. Rip it open if your mind is commendably inclined, and make a cutaway blouse of it, one which is cut in panels below the waist and held in by a loose belt.

All the discarded materials of the household seem to go to these blouses, for we do not look with keen eyes upon a house with a temperature of 60 degrees and a transparent blouse; it makes the goosefish rise even now.

Kluck Talks of the Marne, But Fails to Understand Reason for Great Defeat

IN no direction has there been more eager curiosity since the signing of the armistice than in that of military information. What are the German explanations—not propaganda statements, but actual explanations—of various battles, some successful, some disastrous for their arms. And, above all else, for it remains the supreme mystery of the war, what is the German explanation of the Marne?

We know that in the first years of the war German generals and press agents industriously circulating the legend that no such battle occurred. The German army, "in accordance with the plan," the familiar formula, retired behind the Aisne, only advanced guards crossed the Marne. Bernhardi, of literary fame, explicitly denied the battle in a statement to an American correspondent in 1916.

Meantime, on the Allied side a great dispute arose over the struggle—a dispute which seems likely to rival Waterloo debates. Was the battle won by Maunoury's army coming out of Paris to the Ourcq? Was the decisive thrust that of Foch at Fere Champenoise? Was it the result of supreme strategy that the Germans were turned back, or was it—as the mass of French peasants have decided—a veritable "miracle"?

And now, at last, we begin to have light from German sources. First of all, the ex-Crown Prince, in a public statement, asserts that he recognized at once that the war had been lost at the Marne, lost because of the failure of the nerves of certain German generals. Here at last, is admission of the fact of the Marne, impressive testimony, even if open to suspicion in detail.

But far more interesting evidence has followed. This time it is Kluck who speaks. It was Kluck who commanded the German army which advanced from Brussels to the environs of Paris, sweeping all before it. It was Kluck who crossed the Marne and turned his back to Paris, inviting the thrust of Maunoury, which changed the whole face of the situation.

Now Kluck does not explain his defeat—he admits that it was a defeat—in military terms. He does not talk about flank or rear, manoeuvre or counter offensive. What he says—and it is significant—is that he was surprised; as others after him, he grimly adds, now by French generals, but by French soldiers.

That an army could retire for ten days, losing prisoners, guns, becoming exhausted, and then, of a sudden, return to the offensive irresistibly—this was a thing the German military books never regarded possible, never discussed, never warned German generals to expect. The material elements are all duly accounted for, but failure to estimate the moral factor lost the battle—lost the war, Kluck hints.

"We made a mistake," Kluck says, with engaging frankness. The mistake was not strategic—it was not that the attack, coming out of Paris, was in itself a surprise—the thing was deeper. Kluck, Moltke, the whole German High Command had calculated that the French soldier was beaten; their actions were based upon this assumption.

It was because of this assumption that Kluck went south of the Marne and opened his flank to Maunoury. Nearly four year later Ludendorff did the same thing, with precisely the same consequences.

Yet those French writers who have best described the Marne have paid most attention to the same phenomenon which Kluck discusses. By all the ordinary standards of measurement, the French military force was on the edge of ruin on Sept. 5, but on Sept. 6 it was attacking from Paris to Verdun, and on Sept. 13 it was back at the Aisne, victorious and conscious of the magnitude of its victory.

Frenchmen tell you that in the Marne time all France was conscious that the fate of the nation was at stake. But out of the perception grew the resolution; a million men moved by the same spirit, put aside their weariness, their sufferings, and—attacked. Kluck does not understand it now. His brief comment betrays continuing mystification. He was surprised in December, 1913. He recognizes the fact—the explanation still escapes him.—Frank Simonds in New York Tribune.

Petain Ranks With Foch As Great French General And Also Splendid Patriot

BY promoting Petain to the rank already held by Foch and Joffre the French Government has merely performed a duty not to have done which would have been to awaken surprise and even criticism in the whole world. The defender of Verdun unquestionably earned the right to the distinction already bestowed upon the victors of the First and Second Marne. Foch, Joffre and Petain are clearly the pre-eminent French soldiers of this war.

Before Verdun Petain had earned reputation. His offensive in Champagne in 1915 was the first considerable victory of the Allies after the initiative had passed to them. It had only local results and was in no sense decisive, but it yielded more than 25,000 prisoners, more than a hundred guns and brought the first real sense of victory to Paris and to London.

But Verdun was the great test. When the new marshal reached the Mouse citadel, the Germans had taken Douaumont, advanced nearly seven miles, and were almost at the last line of defence. To organize his defence Petain had first to counter attack with the elements that were last beginning to arrive while he created a line of resistance. He had to restore order out of confusion, to recreate confidence, sorely shaken. A situation as critical as that which confronted Foch when he took command last spring confronted Petain in the last days of February, 1916.

All this Petain did. Within a few days his new army could accept his watchword, "They shall not pass," and make it their own. Nothing in French history is finer than the story of Verdun, and Petain was the soul as well as the brain of that epic.

After Verdun the politicians chose a lieutenant of Petain's to replace Joffre, grown old and weary. It was an unhappy choice, and Nivelle's great failure at the Aisne in April and May of 1917 for the moment shook the morale of the French army and the French nation. Once more France turned to Petain, and this time he repeated his Verdun achievement on a vast scale. He reorganized the entire French army. He restored confidence, discipline, he transformed the situation in such fashion that in a few months he was able to win a new victory at Verdun and a shining success at the Aisne in taking Fort Malmaison.

The full fruits of his labors were revealed in the fashion in which the French army was rushed to the rescue of the situation in Picardy last spring, after the defeat of the Fifth British Army and while the Germans threatened to separate the French from the British. A finer feat than that of Payolle's forces can hardly be recalled in all this war. From that moment onward Petain suffered by the rapid expansion of the reputation of Foch. That the Allied commander-in-chief was the greater soldier will probably be the judgment of history, that he owes much to the loyal and competent aid of Petain is unmistakable. That they worked together in complete harmony at all times is a tribute to the patriotism of each.

It is said that Joffre, Foch and Petain will be the only marshals of France created by this war. If there are additions one may hope to see included the name of Castelnau, who saved Nancy and made the Marne victory possible in 1914. And if Castelnau receives his baton, an equal claim may be urged for Franchet d'Esperey, whose army defeated that of Bulow at the First Marne and shared in the later long campaigns in France. Subsequently it was d'Esperey who won the recent victory of the Cerna-Vardar in the Orient and smashed Bulgaria and Mitteleurope at a single blow. There remains Mangin — the Ney of the present struggle—who at Verdun and in all the recent battles revealed the spirit of his great Napoleonic predecessor, "the bravest of the brave."

Every company of American soldiers abroad is permitted to adopt one war orphan.

HELP ALIENS TO LEAVE CANADA

MINISTER OF LABOR DELIVERS AN ADDRESS TO HAMILTON WORKERS.

Hamilton, Feb. 3.—Hamilton's Open Forum was opened this afternoon, the speaker for the occasion being Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor. The chair was occupied by W. H. Wardrope, K.C., and the proceedings were quite lively when the meeting was thrown open for debate and questions. Mr. Wardrope, after a brief address, introduced Senator Roberston, who said he came as a fellow-workman, and not as a Minister of the Crown. He hoped to devote all his life to the welfare of his fellowmen. He then spoke of unemployment and the establishment of Government employment bureaux, the need of better relations between Capital and Labor and the alien question.

Will Help Aliens

He asserted that no alien should hold a place that a soldier needed when he returned. The Government had taken up the question of returning the undesirable aliens to their native lands, and if they were unable to pay their way would assist them. The friendly aliens who wished to remain should be assimilated, and it was the duty of Canadians to aid in this work.

Organize Union Of Newspapermen

FRENCH AND ENGLISH WORKERS IN MONTREAL TO POOL INTERESTS.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Following a meeting of the French journalists of this city when a Newspapermen's Union was formed, the English-speaking journalists met at the Windsor Hotel on Saturday and the suggestion was carried after some discussion. The President of the local Typographical Union and an organizer from the American Federation of Labor were present and both promised support and sympathy.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was decided to meet the French journalists next Saturday, and to take steps looking to the amalgamation of both bodies in a common union. About forty men and women were present from all the English newspapers of Montreal.

Finicky Elephant.

An elephant, in his native land, has a hard job to find what he likes to eat. Contrary to the general belief, he will not eat anything but he selects carefully the best of roots, herbs, fruits and various vegetables. When in captivity, he eats about the same kind of fodder with a few exceptions, including pastry bread, nuts (chiefly peanuts) and some other goodies which may be offered to him. Elephants eat no kind of meat whatsoever; they will only eat pure grown food or clean bread or pastry.

FOR STREET WEAR

New Clothes Are Necessary for the Busy Workers.

Little Consideration Is Being Given This Early in the Season to Evening Garments.

There is no diminution in evening gowns this year, either in the French or the American output, and they unite in a dignity and elegance that is worthy of the time, asserts an authority. But the majority of women are not looking for evening clothes this early in the season. The rich and the well-to-do believe that they can go on with the evening gowns they have. The preponderance of buying is in street clothes and this spreads down-ward into stores of modest pretensions before went into the question of frocks and coats with such vivid interest.

Why? Because of the mobilization of all women into war work. And this is the reason that there is such a big demand this early in the season. A woman may stay at home and economize in a wrapper, but she is not going to the Red Cross workroom in a wrapper, nor campaign for the Liberty loan, nor meet committees. She needs new clothes, and she buys them.

Her choice is the coat suit, the one-piece frock with a fur neckpiece, or the thin frock under a warm coat. Which shall she choose? That question does not lie wholly with the economical and conservative set. It is discussed by the richest women who gather at restaurants and meet their special designers in private salons.

There is much to be said in favor of the coat suit for the first three months of moderate weather, because of the intervention of the new blouse. This does not go under the skirt belt, but over it. It is a return to all the primitive fashions that this planet has begotten.

Cheruit, for instance, has started a strong demand for brilliant metallic blouses which are Byzantine, and which, instead of extending over the hips, wrap themselves just below the waist in a slight folded girdle. This is a remarkable and brilliant fashion. It gives a woman the chance to remove her coat and look gayly and smartly dressed at luncheon or at any afternoon affair.

There are other blouses that are frankly built in the cuirass fashion, and those extend as far below the hips as the coat permits. The woman who wants a short jacket, however, will take up the idea of Cheirut. It is a bit less informal than the cuirass idea and such a blouse can be worn with any kind of jacket, especially with those new square jackets of fur which are to be extremely fashionable when they are cut off at the hips and have big pockets that serve as a substitute for a muff.

The turnover collar seems to have disappeared from all kinds of garments except dinner gowns, where it is made of exquisite laces.

Evidently the designers expect women of all classes to economize or buy a bit of fur for the neck, for they make no effort to modify the severity of a neckline that we attribute to the fifteenth century Italian fashions.

When a frock has a collar it is of fur, for white collars or those of any light material, such as satin or georgette or chiffon, are taboo. If fur is not used to finish the severe line, then nothing is used. The neck line of gowns may be embroidered in woolen or metallic threads, but those on coats are merely braided or finished with a flat strip of soft pelt ry.

Therefore, do not go out on the street today in a suit and a white or cream shirt waist the broad collar of which you have pulled outside the jacket. That fashion is dead.

Welland board of trade has started on an extensive program for new industries and for better conditions for workingmen.

A "Golden" Pippen.

Sir Robert Borden had a practical illustration since his arrival in London of the cost of living. On Regent Street some fine apples in a fruit store attracted his attention and appetite. But when he found they were selling for $1 a pound he decided to leave his appetite for this luscious fruit unsatisfied until he visited Grand Pre on his return. This price, of course, was abnormal, but apples of the poorest quality cannot be purchased for less than 25 cents per pound. Eggs enter largely into the living of every person and are a fair indication of the cost of living. For the past two weeks eggs have been selling in London at $2.16 per dozen. An attempt is being made to fix the price at $1.32 per dozen, but with little success. Meat does not show such an enormous increase in cost as compared with Canadian prices, being about 50 per cnet. higher without regard to quality. Bacon sold in London could not be retailed here, practically all the hog but the tail, feet and snout is made into bacon by calling it to a degree that the unfortunate householder is paying an exorbitant price for a very inferior article. Potatoes for the past two weeks have not been obtainable in more than four-pound lots, and cost about $2.50 per bushel. A greater and cheaper supply is promised. It is estimated that the purchasing value of a pound is only seven shillings compared to pre-war prices.

Sims' Flag Caused Excitement.

Most harmonious is the working of the two navies (British and American). Admiralty House is quite a home for the Americans, and, needless to say, the British vice-admiral, with his years of sea life, is an interesting figure to the young officers from the United States. So close is the co-operation of the two services that when the British vice-admiral was on leave some time ago, Admiral Sims, the senior American naval officer, hoisted his flag at Queenstown, and through the island went the rumor that Ireland had been handed over to the United States!—The London Times.

Inverness, the largest town in Scotland, north of Aberdeen, is taking a forward step in connection with the development of shipbuilding.

Start of Cigarette Fad.

That the late John Morgan Richards popularized the cigarette in Britain is now a matter of dispute. Smoking connoisseurs say they remember other claimants to that distinction, including the Duke of Buccleugh and Laurence Oliphant. Tradition has it that many of the British naval and military officers adopted this mode of smoking from the Russians during the Crimean war and on their return made the cigarette fashionable in London clubs. But some years before the Crimean campaign there was a well patronized cigarette merchant named Theodorich in the West End of London whose choicest mixtures were retailed at twelve a shilling.

The Richmond Gem, the cigarette fathered by Mr. Richards, was introduced by the biggest advertising boom that had been perpetrated up to that time. Startling posters lined the walls of every town and village in Great Britain. Wherever one turned, along the railways, down the river, in the street, even on the seashore, flamboyant poster of the new American cigarette confronted one. It is said that when the originator opened a special shop in a main London thoroughfare, the better to advertise his goods, a rival establishment on the street was forced to close.

This rival smoke seller conducted one of the most extensive enterprises in the town, often having as much as $20,000 worth of stock on his premises at one time. Determined not to be cut out, the proprietor walked down to Mr. Richard's shop one day and bought the shop and stock. Besides a large carco of tobacco [illegible] the way into the Richmond Gem.

THE DOOR KNOB HAS HATCHED!

Former Russian Leaders, With But Few Exceptions, Killed by Revolutionists

WHERE are the men whom we considered the greatest of living Russians two or three years ago? Nobody knows. When we ever hear their names nowadays it is in reports of their deaths, or later in denials that they have been assassinated. Hardly a single Russian who was prominent in the war is known definitely to be living and taking any part in public affairs. Despite conflicting reports the Czar is probably dead. With the Czar has disappeared most of the Grand Dukes, a dozen or more of them. They have been murdered if discovered by the Bolsheviks, and if they are not dead they are in hiding or making their way painfully in the direction of some neutral country. Their estates have been confiscated; their wealth either seized by the alleged Government or distributed by the mob. Grand Duke Michael, brother of the late Czar, is said to be in Siberia.

There is a report that the Grand Duke Nicholas, the commander-in-chief of the Russian armies, and considered the greatest military leader developed by the war up to that time, is hiding in Southern Russia. There is probably no Russian who played a by considerable part in the war who made such an impression upon the outside world as this Grand Duke.

GEN. BRUSILOFF.

Another able Russian general was Alexiev, formerly chief of staff, who reorganized the armies after the defeat of 1915. He was recently reported in command of some troops opposing the Bolsheviki, in the Don, but his fate is uncertain. Gen. Korniloff, another hero of the war, may be alive. He was reported to have escaped through the Caucasus and Persia and to have joined Gen. Allenby. It is odd if this report is correct, that there would not have been an official confirmation of it from British headquarters, though it is conceivable that the Government might have sufficient reason for giving no information as to the whereabouts of such an influential leader as Korniloff. Brusiloff, the hero of the Galician victories in 1916, is known to be dead. He was killed in Moscow. Ruzsky, too, is reported to have been assassinated.

Turning now to the civil heads of the nation, it is known that Premier Gollitsyn, who held office before Kerensky seized power, is in hiding with a heavy price upon his head. He will be remembered for his failure to oppose the revolution when it came. His predecessor, Trepoff, is in Stockholm, and is supposed to be trying to organise some opposition to the present regime. Little need be expected of him. He was a bureaucrat, but a weakling. Sturmer, whom Trepoff succeeded in office, is dead, and nobody mourns him. He was a traitor, a German by ancestry and a German by inclination, who contributed more than the Czar to the unpopularity of Czardom. He sold out the Russian armies, and tried to lead Russia into a separate peace. He had no more principle than either Lenine or Trotsky. Had the monarchy survived he would have tried to do for Germany what Trotzky and Lenine were able to do after it had been destroyed. Sturmer died in prison.

One of the most despicable of Russians is one of the few who was able to escape from the country. This is Sukhomlinoff, former Minister of War, who betrayed Roumania and tried to deliver a Russian army into the hands of the enemy. He was arrested and put on trial for high treason by the Provisional Government, but when the Bolshevists overthrew Kerensky he was released, since he had been a good friend of Germany's and was permitted to leave the country. Protopopoff, formerly Minister of the Interior, who was an unspeakable tyrant and traitor, died in an asylum. Most of the leaders of the Provisional Government which preceded the Bolshevists are either dead or fugitives. Prince Lvoev is in Paris. Miliukov is said to be on his way there. Guchkov was assassinated. It is said that military leaders who were distinguished in the war, some of them generals, are supporting themselves by selling matches and shoe laces in Petrograd and Moscow. Notable service in the war against Germany is the most dangerous badge in Russia to-day.

Arabs Return to Damascus

ON August 21 a detachment of the regular forces of King Hussein started from Akaba to co-operate in the forthcoming operations against the Turks. The direct route to Damascus, which runs by Maan, Amman and Deraa, was then still for the most part in enemy occupation, and therefore a wide outflanking movement was undertaken. That this movement was carried through successfully is most creditable to the troops engaged. On one occasion they made a four days' march from water to water, followed immediately by two days' march to the next supply. Nor was the water supply of the most inviting description.

Umtaye, reached on September 15, was made the base for operations, and thence they played havoc with the Hedjaz railway. On the morning of the 19th the Arab regulars, accompanied by a numerous following of local tribes and the countryside in general, arrived back at Umtaye, where they were attacked by German airplanes seeking vengeance.

The garrison of Deraa must have felt particularly vindictive, as Arab regulars had in forty-eight hours completely cut their communications with Amman, the Palestine front, and Damascus alike. Bombs were freely dropped. The tribesmen and local peasantry scattered, but the regular troops of the Arab army, who had barracked their camels and dismounted, sat immovable, each man by his beast, until the storm had passed. The German airmen returned to Deraa for more bombs, whereupon the camel corps withdrew into a wadi and sat still among blocks of lava. Making no movement, they remained for the most part invisible, and the German airmen returned disappointed. The picture of the Hedjaz Camel Corps passing itself off as black stones recalls the story in the "Arabian Nights," and, as in the story, the black stones came to life again and busily harassed the enemy.

On September 24 the Turkish Fourth Army began to surge northwards in a vain endeavor to escape the disaster which had overtaken the troops west of the Jordon. The Arab Camel Corps being immensely outnumbered by this force, which still retained a certain amount of organization, was unable to stop the retreat and was obliged to content itself with vigorous operations to incommode the passage of the enemy. These took the form of a succession of raids upon selected units. A flurry of rifle fire would be followed by a charge and swift withdrawal, leaving twenty or thirty dead Turks on the ground and a dozen or so of prisoners in the hands of the Arabs.

The last Turkish formations evacuated Deraa on September 27, and the enemy forces from Es Salt moved north. This force was so imbued with the doctrine of frightfulness that it thought an example of terrorism might overawe the Hauran, which was bubbling in open rebellion all round. Consequently it was decided "to make an example" of the unhappy villages of Tafas and Turaa. Eighty women and children were butchered with every revolting circumstance of atrocity, but the last hour of the Turkish rule east of the Jordan had already struck. The Arabs, far from being terrorised into submission, were justly incensed. The Turkish force responsible for these atrocities was visited by immediate retribution, and the units which had moved out of Deraa and Meserib never reached Damascus.

Sheik Talial, of Tapas, a fighting man of high repute and a notable of Hauran, was with the Arab army. On learning the atrocities that had been committed in his village he charged single-handed upon a Turkish column and furiously exacted blood for blood until he fell riddled with bullets. At dawn on the 27th the Arab Camel Corps rode into Deraa, so long a Turkish place of strength, and shortly afterward at a point a little west of the railway junction made their first contact with the Indian troops of Gen. Allenby's army, who had followed up the Turks from the Palestinian side of Jordan.

Thereafter the Arab Camel Corps formed the extreme right of the Allied advance upon Damascus, which was entered on the night of the 30th, Arabs being the first troops in.

One of the first acts of the Arab administration was to restore the electric lighting system in Damascus. This was in working order by the evening of Oct. 2, although the plant had been disused for weeks under the Turks. The tramway service, stopped by the incapable Turkish administration in 1917, was resumed on October 5.

On October 3 Sherif Faisal, commander-in-chief of King Hussein's northern army, arrived outside the splendid city which had once again passed into the hands of his race. A car had been placed at his disposal, but the wise sherif, with a strong sense of the historical fitness of things, preferred to make his entry into Damascus much in the same way as did the emirs of those Arabs who took Damascus in the seventeenth century, the Amorite Arabs who returned to it in the nineteenth century, the Aramean Arabs who set up their kingdom in Damascus during the fourteenth century B.C., Aretas, King of Arabia, when he occupied Damascus in 84 B.C., and Khalid Ibn Walid when he carried part of the town by storm from its Byzantine garrison A.D. 634.

The sherif on horseback, attended by some 1,200 to 1,500 of his kinsfolk and adherents, entered Damascus at full gallop and rode furiously through the city to the accompaniment of a crackling fusillade and shrill screams of victory.

CLEVER MISS PANKHURST.

Some of the Things She Will Do For Women.

Miss Christabel Pankhurst is evidently a woman of perception, says the New York Sun. She realizes that most of the political cure-alls held out to the voter, and particularly the Socialistic panaceas, have lacked flavor. They have been abstract in their offerings, whereas most people want the concrete. Miss Pankhurst goes into particulars as to what the women of Great Britain will get when there is a woman's regime; not what they will get in the way of passing on the Abyssinian budget, but what they will get in their own houses:

"The British Parliament will be responsible for the electricity that turns the mangles, cooks the meals and warms the houses. Why should women drag coal scuttles about, stand over steaming washtubs, spend hours over old-fashioned ranges, which not only eat up coal but cook the cooks, when by legislation and electricity the burden of the world could be lifted?"

What could make a better appeal to the women, not only of Britain, but of every land where electric lights have been turned on? Women, we said, but the Utopian picture is fascinating to men as well. Every commuter, as well as his wife, knows that a world ruled by Queen Christabell would be a happy place; a joyous land of volts, watts, ohms, buttons, switches and indolent luxury. Buttons, buttons everywhere, and not a tap of work. One finger, pressing occasionally, would make a life worth the living.

The commuter wakes. It is daylight and he snaps off the electric light that has kept his home laying in their distant house since 3 a.m. A push of a button closes his bedroom windows. Another button doubles the heat from the electric furnace. A tap of the finger and the cat is let in and the dog let out. Within easy reach of the bed a percolator of coffee begins to bubble. A button is pushed and his box of razor blades is gently warmed. Electricity, at the pressure of the commuter's thumb, heats his bath water.

Mrs. Commuter, sipping her preliminary coffee, reaches for a switch at her bedside—an electric switch—and her Pankhurstian kitchen begins to operate. The orange squeezer, the oatmeal pot, the automatic batter dropper, and its companion the electric griddle; the electric egg breaker and the electric plate warmer—all these take up their labors. In due time an electric elevator takes the family to the dining-room or brings a tray upstairs. Meanwhile electricity has gently dragged Mr. Commuter out of bed and, through a magnetic device, has put the buttons in his clean shirt. A phonograph, connected with the thermometer and barometer, tells him the state of the weather. While he is putting on his collar, a feat which electricity will never perform for man, he pushes buttons which attend to the feeding of the chickens, the milking of the cow and the pumping of the tires.

To make the detail perfect we should have an electric voice calling to the man as he steps into his electric car: "Haven't you forgotten your commutation ticket?" But in that day of free electricity there will be no commutation tickets; railroads will be free, too. So, without a care, he will drive off, waving gaily to his wife, now on her way to press the buttons that attend to the dish-washing, the dusting and the sewing of the new crape meteor party dress.

ALL CHURCHES MAY UNITE TO WORSHIP TOGETHER IN TENT

Evangelist John M. Linden Lays Proposition Before Local Ministerial Association—Details of Plan Tried Out in Other Cities

Evangelist John M. Linden, of Chicago a former member of the "Billy" Sunday party who during the past eight months has given himself to raising money for the welfare work of the Salvation Army and who at present is District Campaign Manager of the Red Shield Drive is aiming to make arrangements with the Church in Peterborough to hold a summer tent meeting in the park during July and August and his plan for it is placed in the hands of the Rev. J. R. Webb, the Secretary of the Ministerial Association who will bring the matter before the Conference at the meeting today.

Evangelist Linden's plan is to hold this meeting from about the 10th of July to the 10th of August in Peterborough in a tent large enough to seat nearly 2,000. He asks no guarantee of money from the Churches or individuals and pays the expenses of the Campaign out of the nightly pan offerings which are taken up and usually pay every cent of expenses made. He and helpers receive no salary stipulation whatever. At the end of the meeting a thankoffering is taken which is divided among these by the Evangelist. He even goes so far as to keep up for the Churches their weekly envelope offerings and these envelopes are dropped in the pans each Sunday and after each service distributed to the various church treasurers.

If pastors are away during this period taking their vacation there will be no need for the churches to engage supplies for the preaching will be taken care of by the Evangelist and his helpers.

This plan gives the people an opportunity during the warmer months to come to worship in God's outdoors. It aims to bring about a new consecration on the part of church members to God, to give to the Community a religious expression, to lead the unsaved to Christ and to do a special work among the boys and girls in showing them the privilege of religious duty.

Such summer tent campaigns have been carried on very successfully by Evangelist John M. Linden in the cities in the states and he feels that Peterboro is an exceptionally good place for such work and he is hoping that the pastors and churches will look with favor upon his plan and give him this opportunity.

When the Peterborough effort is completed he is expecting to remove his tent to the Glebe District in Ottawa for the same kind of effort during August and September.

MAKE WASHING EASIER

Save good white ashes from wood. Put on the stove in a kettle with water and let boil until by testing with the finger one finds it stings the flesh. Bottle and use as needed. This is a saving method and is much nicer than lye.

Secretary Baker announced he would not be able to leave for France until President Wilson returned to the United States.

THE WAR SERVICE GRATUITY

Following enquiries made at the Patriotic Fund office by several of the widows of men fallen in service, with regard to the stated information in papers that such widows would be entitled to a share of the War Gratuity that would have applied in the cases of men killed, up to the time of the casualty, the office has made enquiry from the Paymaster General, and the reply is printed below:

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement appearing in certain newspapers that the war service gratuity payable to the men of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, on retirement or discharge, will also be paid to war widows, dependents and next-of-kin of soldiers killed in action or who died of wounds. An official denial of this statement was issued today, (31st of January) by the Militia Department, and at the same time it was pointed out that the order-in-Council makes no provision of this nature. The next-of-kin of deheased soldiers are provided for under the pension regulations.

"The order-in-Council does make provision for payment of the gratuity to the dependents of a soldier who dies subsequent to his discharge or retirement, and before he or his dependents have received any part of the whole of the gratuity. It states that if there survive him dependents who would have been entitled to a portion of the gratuity equal to the Separation Allowance the portion of the gratuity unpaid at the time of his death shall be payable to such dependents.

"In the case of a soldier who has no dependents entitled to Separation Allowance, and who dies subsequent to his discharge, before relieving any or all of the gratuity, the portion of the gratuity unpaid at the time of his death shall not be payable."

PARLIAMENT IS LIKELY TO SEND TEMPERANCE ISSUE TO PEOPLE

Government Measure to be Temporary Until Conditions Become More Settled When the Question Will Be Settled by a Plebiscite

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—Of the great variety of questions to come before Parliament in the coming session, non, perhaps, is as general in its interest as that of prohibition. It is to come up, but just in what form seems still a matter of uncertainty. The existing enactment, operating as a war measure, will cease to be validated so far as it applies to a period of twelve months after the war. How much further the law will go is a more or less open question. Many views are being poured into the ears of the Government. The prohibitionists are very active. They have had delegation here, they are holding mass meetings and are carrying on an extensive campaign of publicity. What they ask is the permanency of the present prohibitory measure, with the qualifying condition that, ultimately after six months' notice, there will be a national plebiscite. In support of this view, and what is submitted as its reasonableness may representations are being made to the Government. The liquor interests are very quiescent. They have sent no delegations to Ottawa, and are not openly pulling any wires. Like Micawber, they are waiting for something in their favor to turn up. The essential opposition to prohibition comes from a class who call themselves temperance people, but who enjoy a drink now and then, and who are chafing under the existing restrictions and restraint. Even they are not particularly outspoken in public, though their views are finding a quiet expression hereabouts.

Bar Stays Away.

One thing that seems certain, is that the bar is going and is not coming back. People who are opposing recourse to a bone dry law are very emphatic in declaring that it is not the bar they want so much as a place where, under certain restrictions, wine and beer, anyway, and perhaps spirits can be had. Many would be satisfied if the Government not only controlled the whole business, but took it over itself. Illicit stills and bootleggers, and the sale of poisonous liquors instead of the pure stuff, are foreshadower as a result of complete prohibition.

It will not be surprising if, in the coming session, the Government validates the existing measures for a year after peace is declared, and at the end of that time, when the soldiers are all back, take a national plebiscite on the question of the continuance of the law. To go thus far even, legislation will be necessary, and the subject is likely to be discussed rather fully.

Some Appeals Pathetic.

All the provinces now have prohibition except Quebec, where it is effective May 1st. Reports have come here from time to time, indicating the probable modification of the act in that province now that the war is over, but Sir Lomer Gouin's announcement this week holds out no encouragement for that view. Unless the act, which has to be implemented by further legislation, is amended by the Legislature, everything will go by the board—beer and wines as well as the "hard stuff." For the maintenance of the old-established brewing industry, strong influences are being exerted, and somewhat pathetic appeals made against the wiping out of an almost historic institution.

Outside factors of influence seem bound to enter into the situation. The United States decision to go dry in 1920 will be unquestionably a convincing argument for complete prohibition in Canada. It will be contended that if Canada remains wet while the States go dry, the influx of undesirables will be tremendous. The British decision will also be a factor. It is hardly conceivable that the Englishmen as a whole will forego their beer, but Government control seems more or less certain. Then there is France, with wine as a staple industry. Great Britain, to encourage her ally, is throwing off certain duties on wine. The argument is heard that if Canada would help out France in the struggle to regain her normal industrial position, one effective way to do it is to import the product of her vineyards.

Votes of the Women.

When a plebiscite is taken the women's vote will be a big factor. Prohibitionists are counting on it strongly, though there is an uncertainty as to the degree of influence to be exerted by the men folk, soldiers and others, who incline to the temperate use of spirits.

For the restoration of the liquor traffic to its full status—with the public house and the open bar—no demand is being conveyed to Ottawa. On the other hand, more or less opposition is being expressed to the absolute character of prohibition, and those plans are not without sympathy in high circles. Assuming that, pending a national plebiscite, Quebec goes dry completely, all the provinces will then be in line, though the permanency of Ontario's measure is contingent upon a plebiscite after demobilization. In British Columbia, where a big liquor scandal recently developed, a "moderate" party is reported, with a view of having some half measure of prohibition.

POLICE FORCE WAS HELPLESS

CHIEF SHORT, OF LINDSAY, DID NOT TAKE THREAT SERIOUSLY.

Speaking of the anti-Chinese riot in Lindsay Friday night, the Warder says that many citizens are wondering at the lack of police protection especially in the face of the fact that Mr. J. M. Knowlson in the interests of his property on William street, occupied by the Chinese laundry, asked the Town for protection early in the evening.

To a Warder man Reeve Babcock stated this morning that he had been waited on at his house about [illegible] in the evening by Mr. Knowlson, Mayor McLean being absent from town. Mr. Knowlson informed the Reeve that he feared that a raid would be made on the premises and he asked for protection, stating that it would be much easier to pay for the services of 50 or more special policemen rather than have to pay for thousands of dollars damage to property.

Reeve Babcock walked down town a little later in the evening and found a small crowd gathered on William st., and also at other points. He lectured them and advised them to refrain from lawlessness in any shape or form, and to disband and return to their homes. He also called up the police office and warned Constable Parks, who answered the phone what to expect and to be prepared with special police.

Constable Parks transmitted the message to Chief Short who was in the office, who is said to have replied that he did not think it was necessary, and he would remain on duty until after the hockey game.

The fact remains that there was far from being ample police protection. A squad of fifty police would have no doubt saved the wanton destruction of property. Two policemen could not possibly cope with the situation. Constable Short and Parks were helpless to check the riot which occurred and which accomplished so much ruin to property.

Chief Short Laid Out

Some man in the crowd cast a brick at the Chief of Police when his back was turned. It caught him fair on the head and laid him out on the street. The attack was a cowardly one and resented by the better element in the many people present but the act was soon forgotten in the rush that followed for the cafe.

Constable Short was rushed home in an auto where he was given immediate attention, and it is understood that the nature of his wounds are slight.

BERNARD DALY

Here Next Friday, February 7 With Special Matinee

A good plot, intermingled with comedy, love and tragedy and excellent singing characterizes the play "Sweet Innisfallen," which will be seen at the Grand Theatre next Friday Matinee and Night. The play is magnificently staged among the grand scenery of Erin's Isle — no prettier picture could be drawn than with the noted Irish star, Bernard Daly, in the leading role as Larry O'Connell. Mr. Daly's sweet tenor voice and his Irish songs captivate his audience wherever he appears. His pathetic tones reach the heart of every true son of the little Isle.

During the action of the play, this famous star will render such well known selections as "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Foggy Dew," Hide and Seek," "Call of the Wind," "Sweet Innisfallen" and others.

WHY DO WOMEN SUFFER

When There is Such a Remedy for Their Ills as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mishawaka, Ind.—"I had such a severe female weakness that I could not do my work and I could not get anything to relieve me. A physician treated me, but it did no good. I had been in this condition for three months when I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (tablet form) and I soon found myself able to do my work now. I keep house and am able to do my work now. I certainly praise your medicine."—Mrs. SUDA OLDFATHER, 548 West Second Street, Mishawaka, Ind.

Women who suffer from such ailments should not continue to drag around and do their work under such conditions, but profit by the experience of Mrs. Oldfather and thousands of others who have tried this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found relief from such suffering. If complications exist write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years' experience in advising women on this subject is at your service.

NO DUTY CHARGED ON FARM TRACTOR

FREE ENTRY TO THE COUNTRY HAS INCREASED THEIR USE.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—By an order in Council just passed the Cabinet has relieved the anxiety of many importers by continuing indefinitely the remission of the 27½ per cent. duty on farm tractors under $1,400 in value. During the last year while the duty was remitted many millions of dollars have been expended by the farmers of Canada, particularly of the West, and Westerners have not been slow to bring to the attention of the Government th's evidence of what happens when a remission of duties cheapens an article.

The remission was made in the first place to enable farmers with a depleted labor supply to join effectively in the "Greater Production" campaign. Whereas in 1916-17 only 2,000 farm tractors of all kinds were brought in under the duty, in the first nine months since the duty was remitted 9,000 of the cheap tractors alone were brought in. This speeded up farm work greatly wherever tried, and has given the powerful aid of actual demonstration to the farmers' contention that the best possible encouragement to agriculture is to permit them to reduce capital and operating expenses on the farm by taking off duties on agricultural machinery and farm implements, as well as on other things.

Neat Cattle Free Another Year.

Neat cattle remain on the free list for another year, dating from February 7, 1919. Originally they were placed on the free list for a year, dating from February 7, 1918. By further orders in Council the period in which "remission and refund of duty" are authorized is now extended as indicated.

Drawback on Gas Engines.

An additional order has also been passed granting a drawback of 99 per cent. of the duty paid on imported materials used after the 7th of February, 1919, in the manufacture of gas or gasoline traction engines for farm purposes, and repairs therefor, and in the manufacture of traction attachments and repairs therefor, designed to be combined with automobiles in Canada for use as traction engines imported for farm purposes.

It is understood that the number of these engines imported for farm purposes has been several thousand per annum, while the quantity manufactured in Canada each year has been less than five per cent. of importations.

REWARDED FOR FAITHFUL WORK

MISS BESSIE ELCOME PRESENTED WITH ENGRAVED WRIST WATCH.

At Murray street Baptist Sunday school yesterday the pianist, Miss Bessie Elcome, was presnted with a gold wrist watch on behalf of the officers, teachers and pupils on the event of her completing at the end of 1918 fifteen consecutive years, during which she attended Sunday school every Sunday and was always on time. The following letter was read by the superintendent:

To Miss Bessie Elcome,
Pianist, Murray Street Baptist Sunday School:

Dear Miss Elcome,—The officers, teachers and pupils of the Sunday school wish you to know that they esteem it a proud privilege to have in their midst one who probably holds the first place in the Dominion for faithfulness in Sunday school service. The end of 1918 marked the fifteenth year that as pupil and pianist you have obtained a perfect record for consecutive punctuality and attendance, something perhaps unparalleled in any other Sunday school. At the same time they also wish you to know that your devotion and sweetness of character have endeared you to the hearts of all and as a token of their love and esteem they ask you to accept this wristwatch which has engraved upon it your name and the one word "Fidelity," the keynote of your Christian service.

Joseph Wearing,
Superintendent.
Wilmot Browette,
Secretary.

Miss Elcome, who was completely taken by surpise, expressed her thanks and stated that she had never received more pleasure out of anything than her Sunday school work. A former teacher, Miss Emma Aldridge, who has been absent for some time through illness, gave a short but forcible address, taking as her subject the word inscribed on the watch presented to Miss Elcome.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

M. C. Brush, president of the American International Shipbuilding Corporation, says every dollar spent for Hog Island was justified as a war measure and the plant would prove its worth in peace times.

The Foreign Relations Committee of Congress will act on the Gallagher resolution calling upon the American peace commissioners to urge the freedom, independence and self-determination of Ireland at the Paris conference.

Horses Played Their Part In Winning the Great War. Armies Depended on Them

AFTER the battle of Verdun in which the French held their lines against the desperate and protracted onslaughts of the German Crown Prince with troops and munitions rushed forward almost wholly by automobile transport, someone called this a gasoline war.

The term stuck. The wonders of modern army transport, the quickness with which large bodies of men and huge quantities of supplies are moved have become commonplace. The automobile does it. So it is recorded, and so it has been accepted. The horse hasn't figured much in the calculations.

Now, however, steps forward the Billets and Remounts Division of G-1, which is charged with the responsibility of equipping and supplying animals for draft and riding, with a declaration that the horse and its hybrid offspring, the mule, have played a highly important part in this war, and the assertion that this was still very much a horse war.

The automobile may have won at Verdun, says the Billets and Remounts Division, but the horse has won more victories than he has hairs on his topknot—for say they, no victory could have been attained, no push could have succeeded, unless the horse was on the job to pull the guns forward, to take up the rations, the water, the ammunition through mud where trucks could not go, or over shell-swept ground equally impassable for the gasoline-propelled vehicle.

There are 1,500,000 horses and mules that have done their bit for the Allied cause in France. Approximately half of them are in the artillery service. Practically all of the field artillery or all the Allied armies below the 6-inch gun is horse-drawn. The other half is working at a multitude of duties, most of which have taken them under fire at the front.

It is the horse which takes the ration cart forward over the shell-swept, shell-pitted roads to the men in the line. It is the horse which likewise takes forward the water. It is the horse, too, which transports most of the small arms and ammunition and some of the artillery shells, and it is the horse that does this when conditions are the hardest and the weather the worst. With the coming of winter, with its snow, its cold and its mud, the horse just begins his work in earnest.—Than he carries on while the automobile seeks firmer, safer paths behind.

Owing to the scarcity of ocean transportation facilities, the value of an army horse in Europe is almost incalculable. His cash value is several times what it is in Canada. For that reason, extraordinary means was employed for conserving the supply. A mobile veterinary hospital was attached to each army corps. This received all sick and wounded horses which there was a possibility of saving. If the case was a serious one the animals are sent to base hospitals.

With all this careful treatment, however, the wastage of horses was high. Some of this was attributed to improper care. There are cases where horses have been allowed to starve to death. To counteract this carelessness, this list of suggestions to drivers was issued. It can be followed with advantage by men outside the army:

Get acquainted with your horse, so that you will know when he is ill.

Treat him kindly and he will trust you.

Always carry one day's feed of grain.

Have a water bucket as a part of your equipment.

If out of feed, cut or pull grass. Dead grass is better than none at all. If there is no grass, cut brushes or shrubbery.

If you have no water bucket, use your helmet.

When mounted, if you know your horse, you should know when he needs a rest. If you dismount and lead him, you will readily see how much it refreshes him.

Never lose an opportunity to put your horse under shelter at night. If you have no cover, improvise it. A grain sack is quite a protection from rain or cold.

'Know Whortleberries?

Very few people, we suspect, have tasted whortleberries, and many do not know what they are. There is an excuse for their ignorance, as experts were long in doubt whether the fruit was the same as the bilberry; but now they are agreed that they are one. The Scots call them blaeberries on account of their color, which is a genuine blue, and so in the "Merry Wives" Pistol instructs the fairy to "pinch them blue as bilberry."

Birds Speak a Language.

The birds and animals do not use a great many words or sounds, but they can certainly understand each other, writes George F. Burba in the Columbus Dispatch. That is, they are able to converse with each other to some extent. There isn't any doubt about it. They have their alarms of danger; they have their distress calls; they have their softer tones of affection.

Caesar's Wounds.

In a paper read before the French Academy of Medicine it was declared that although Julius Caesar received 35 wounds when he was murdered only one was fatal. The first blow produced only a slight wound, but the second, which penetrated the walls of the thorax, was mortal. After the first blows Caesar fainted and then his assailants struck at him repeatedly.

SUBSTITUTE FOR FOOD.

German Scientific Thought Was Used to Advantage.

Practical chemistry was long one of the German's specialties and it cannot be denied that they utilized it to considerable account.

During the War, and especially during the last two years, they found a wide field for the application of chemistry and botany. The field was created by lack of the usual foods—a lack that the British blockade largely caused, and which went far to bring about the mutilating surrender of the nation.

Germany ransacked the botanical world in her search for substitutes for the ordinary commodities of life. The expedients to which resort has been had are good evidence of the dearth from which Germany has long been suffering, but while they do credit to the ingenuity of her scientific men they did not bring much solid comfort to the people. The chief difficulty, of course, has been to find a palatable substitute for bread flour.

All kinds of materials such as pease, beans, potatoes and other more questionable ingredients have been used for wheat is euphemistically termed "stretching" the limited quantities of wheat flour available. But the most remarkable substance which has yet been devised for this purpose is a kind of flour made from the reed-mace or bulrush.

The pollen of the reed-mace is known to have been used as bread stuff in the Indies, New Zealand and China, and its stems are said to be esteemed by the Cossacks as a succulent vegetable, but Germans have been trying to use the root-stocks.

The supplies are unlimited, as the reed-mace is grown in many parts of Germany and Austria for thatching and making of rush matting. It is said that 20 per cent. of the reed flour can be used in bread-making. And so the Germans found the bulrush not entirely a broken reed for spicing the staff of life.

Tobacco proved a particularly difficult problem to the searcher for substitutes. Beech leaves were at first much in favor, but the smoking mixture which was made of them proved too much even for German lungs.

In the Reichstag Herr Muller stated that the new beech leaf mixture supplied to the soldiers had to be thrown away as quite unsmokable, and another speaker declared it to be more noisome and injurious than the enemy's gas. The Bunderath also authorized the use of the leaves of the lime, the maple, the plane, the chestnut, the vine, and the Virginia creeper as substitutes in the manufacture of "tobacco," but doubtless with equally distressing results.

The use of acorns by the Germans as a substitute for coffee was early developed, as our unfortunate prisoners have learned to their cost, but the use of fresh bramble leaves for making tea is a pleasing novelty. They are said to provide a much more satisfactory substitute than any yet discovered, but perhaps that is not saying much. Oil from walnuts sounds a more reasonable proposition. Virginia creeper fruit and pine seeds are also recommended for purposes of oil extraction.

The fodder shortage drove the German Government to odd devices. The leaves and twigs of trees were the favorite substitute.

The Hamburg teacher correspondent stated that twig fodder could be made from the poplar, ash, elm, lime, aspen, alder, hazel, willow or beech, and that animals can be given as much as eight to ten pounds of such fodder per day. Tree leaves of all kinds were also ordered to be collected, and the military authorities introduced an organized system of gathering foliage among the school children of Bavaria, offering 4 marks per cwt. for fresh leaves and 18 marks per cwt. for dried and pressed leaves.

It was even made a condition that the school holidays should not begin on 15th July unless the children had gathered by then 2,000 cwts of leaf hay for the army horses.

Other fodder substitutes recommended were the water aloe and the duckweed. The roots of couch grass have also been collected, washed, dried and sold for pig fodder, at 150 marks the hundredweight. Cockchaffer fresh and dried figure in the menu as pigs and poultry as an excellent and nutritious diet.

Twenty-Four Hour Time in China.

In China time is calculated on a basis of a 24-hour stretch instead of two 12-hour periods, as we are still doing. This is indicated by a time table of the Shanghai-Nanking railway. We have, for instance: Tanyang, 12:00; Chinkiang, 12:52; Nanking, 14:15; Pukow, 15:30. Italy also is using 24-hour time. The day begins at one o'clock in the morning and ends with midnight as 24 o'clock.

Teach Child to Love Pictures.

A child's taste in pictures can be cultivated by having in his room pictures which are good both as to color and subject. Pictures dealing with nature in any form are always attractive to a child and if they are hung low in the room so that the child can even handle them if he wants to, this adds much to his enjoyment.

Docks Electrically Equipped.

Electricity plays an important part in the equipment of piers. It is used for the operation of the fire pumps, the sprinkler system, fire alarm, for trucks, lighting the interior of the pier and for the protective lighting outside of the pier, also for the movement of freight cars by electric locomotives.

Had to Have Their Tobacco.

In the Revolutionary war long pipes were smoked with great delectation by the Continental troops, and when tobacco was difficult to obtain many of the soldiers would go out of their way to get in contact with bands of itinerant Indians, who always had a goodly supply of the weed.

A CLEVER GYMNAST.

Some Exploits of the Lebia Spider—A Noted Hunter.

Most of us are acquainted with the tiny red spider that crawls about the herbage with such amazing agility. He is a hunter par excellence, and quite puts to the blush his long-legged cousin that wambles over the dry moorland floor, his legs always, as it were, in his way, and ever aimlessly seeking for the land of nowhere. Doubtless his eyes, being fixed in the middle of his back accounts or his ineptitude. He is also more noticeable for the fact that he himself is a veritable quarry, the hunter in this instance being secure in his immobility. The brilliant scarlet dots on him are not part of his own autogeny; they are six-legged parasites which even his immense legs are unable to brush off. One virtue accredited to him deserves mention, for more than one local weather-prophet sweers by the "spittrap." And they are rarely far out either.

My favorite of the spider tribe, however, is one that has given me much cogitation. He seems quite too clever, for he apparently eludes the force of gravitation. This is the zebra spider, a famous jumper. His gymnastic feats are not limited to solid earth, but take place on walls and ceilings or, indeed, anywhere upside down or vertical. Having caught one the other day, I took the opportunity to find out if his wonderful powers were understandable to us, so I put him under a bell glass, and gave him a fairly long fast. In the interval I had a good look at him. He is "spotted like a pard," the greyish markings resolving themselves under a lens to aggregations of oblong scales on his black body.

Over all he has a "sissy" hairiness that is quite fearsome; and the manner in which he clashes his pedipalps, or hands, together must prove very annoying to his enemies. Later he finds those appendages of great use, for after a meal he continually touches up his whiskers with them. Indeed, they are so flexible and gristly and so well furnished with brushes that it might well be supposed that that is their primary purpose, for they are of no military use whatever, however, fearsome they may look. The time appearing propitious for my experiment of spider versus gravitation, I placed a fly on the ceiling of the bell-jar. Very soon he saw her; approaching nearer and nearer with movements that vividly recalled the stalking of a bird by a cat. Both being upside down I was quite sure he would never manage it.

However, I was so intent on watching the attitude of the hunter and hunted that I omitted to observe a very important happening, indeed, the very thing that would explain what I wanted to know. In due time, doubtless when his fixed focus eyes—he has four by-the-by—synchronised with his leaping powers, he made his terrible leap. Instantly both were struggling in the air, suspended by a thread. This, then, was the secret. He was—and this was what I did not notice—anchoring himself safely with a life-line before the attack. This holding firm, all the rest of the struggle took place in mid-air. Then, with his fangs in the fly's neck, he regained the first foothold.

It was only then that I saw how, every few paces, the spinnerets attached the invisible thread to the glass so that no risks might be run. I could see the spinnerets perform the action; the thread I could not see, even under a powerful lens, so fine was it, yet so efficient, that it bore the weight of the struggling combatants immediately it was spun. On a horizontal surface this anchoring line would only be a hindrance, so that he must exercise a certain judgment in his procedure, measuring, as it were, all the risks involved in the audacious leap into the air. He rarely misses once he gets into striking distance. This, however, is always just his difficulty.—The Scotsman.

The Mariners' Compass.

Ancient Chinese records would seem to give the use of the magnetic needle for determining direction a long and varied history. The principle of the compass, or as the Chinese call it, the south-pointing chariot, is stated by Chinese and foreign authorities alike to have been discovered during the reign of Chong Wang, 1115-1079 B.C. The discovery was forgotten in a few hundred years. Then the philosopher Chang Hong, who died in 139 B.C., reconstructed the device. In succeeding troubles his model was lost and forgotten. From the third century A.D. onward great interest was shown by the Chinese sages in the allusions in old writings to the mysterious south-pointing chariot. Attempt after attempt was made to solve the riddle, and then we read in writings of the eleventh century of the compass being in use by mariners.

The Chinese south-pointing chariot was a magnetised needle suspended on a thread, so as to give freedom to its north and south propensities. It seems not to have been used by the Chinese for navigation, but solely as an instrument for geographers. It is probable that the Chinese junk captains of early days found it a needless luxury in their shore hugging and river navigation.

The Albatross.

The albatross spends its life, with the exception of a few weeks given each year to nesting, entirely at sea, and is on the wing practically all the time. Furthermore, it does not progress by flapping its wings, as most birds do, but seems to soar at will, rarely if ever, giving a stroke of the wing, seeming to need no impetus. At nesting time, which is early in the year, the albatross repairs to an isolated island, such as one of the Crozet Islands, in the Southern Indian Ocean, or Tristan da Cunha, in the South Atlantic Ocean.

Holland's mines are now producing coal at a rate of about 2,000,000 tons a year.

Full Crop of Wild Cocoons.

According to the most reliable estimates procurable the 1918 autumn crop of wild cocoons—those producing the silk from which all pongee fabrics are woven—in Southeastern Manchuria exceeds that of 1917 by 3 1-3 per cent. and is more than twice as large as the corresponding crop of 1916. The 1918 autumn crop is estimated at 62,000 baskets, of 40,000 cocoons to the basket, and the quality of the silk produced is stated to be quite good. The prevailing price during the first week in October has been 1.20 taels per 1,000 cocoons, as compared with 1.50 taels during the same period in 1917. At current rates of exchange the value of the crop as estimated is, in terms of Canadian currency, approximately $3,745,000. Owing to the excessive rainfall throughout practically the entire season great anxiety was felt lest the crop be more or less of a failure and the dealers express great relief that not only is the size of the crop quite satisfactory, but that the quality of the silk is found to be good.

New Wireless Wonder.

The well-known wireless expert, Dr. Lee de Forest, who arrived in England recently to exhibit his latest invention to the British Signal Corps, disclosed some interesting facts concerning the Audion Lamp. By means of this invention long-distance wireless telegraphy and telephony have been made possible. The Audion Lamp magnifies sound waves a million times, but without affecting their total qualities.

"All the United States airplanes," says Dr. de Forest, "are now fitted with this apparatus, which has made it possible for the pilot to receive a message in the air despite the noise of his engine. Our Signal Corps, too, in the trenches are using the same apparatus, of a more portable kind, and they have an effective range of from four to five miles.

"The Allies' communication, at the front between airplanes, infantry and artillery would be impossible in anything like its present state of perfection without the Audion. The French use a thousand a day."—Tit-Bits.

Believed to Have Been an Outgrowth of Bowls When That Game Could Not Be Played Out of Doors.

Billiards is a game the origin of which no one can with certainty tell. Like bowling, it is thought by many to have been derived from the ancient British game of bowls. When bowls could not be played out of doors because of the weather, a bowling green was set up indoors and as there was no fun in hurling the balls in such close quarters they were struck with a mace and later with a cue.

Many men believe that billiards was not an invention, but a growth, while others maintain, most likely because of the name, that it was a French invention, and they contend that it was played by the Germans, Dutch, Italians and French long before it appeared in England. But on this matter there is room for doubt. A number of literary references to the game may be found in Elizabethan days.

Mary Queen of Scots was an enthusiastic billiard player, and Shakespeare seems to make some covert reference to this fact when in his "antony and Cléopatra" he makes Cleopatra say of billiards. Ben Johnson uses the phrase "smooth as a billiard ball." Long after these men wrote, Byron makes the "harmless game of billiards" rhyme with "milliards."

Described From Old Game.

No doubt, the cushion-carom games are descended from that form of billiards called the "bricole game." In an old chronicle it is said of this game that "the player is obliged to strike a cushion and make the ball reverberate or recoil from it previous to hitting his adversary's ball. This is a great disadvantage and is reckoned between equal players equivalent to about eight or nine points."

All billiard balls sent out by first-start to market, but they do not, as a rule, remain so.

The usage they ordinarily get is careless and indifferent. Sometimes a ball that is spoiled in the beginning will become untrue even with the best treatment one can give it. Change in temperature is an important factor, for the ivory may expand or contract more in one part than in another and the ivory may be denser in one part of the ball than in another, so that its sphericity is disturbed.

When there is a difference in the specific gravity of ivory the makers aim to utilize that part of the ivory which is the heaviest as the centre of the ball. It is one of the nicest and most delicate operations in mechanics to turn out three balls all of which will be the same size, same weight and at the same time shall be exact spheres and of the same degree of elasticity and resiliency.

In an old book which may be seen in the Library of Congress, and which was written when the game of billiards was young, it is said that great delicacy is required in making billiard balls, as the centre of the ball must be the centre of gravity, and this would not be unless a portion of the tusk from which it is made contained the common centre of the heaviest part of the ivory. According to that old book, the mode of testing the sphericity of the ball was by means of a steel faufe, a hollow cone or calliper compasses. It continues:

"There are modes of testing its gravity besides propelling it in a straight line, such, for example, as dropping a marked ball through a transparent fluid, in descending through which, if perfectly true, it will retain its position, but the success of this experiment depends on very nice arrangements."

Baseball Will Be Played In Germany

The American army has introduced baseball wherever it has gone, and now it has gone to Germany. The result is that the Germans will be treated to our national pastime this spring and summer.

The athletic programme that is to be followed by the American forces in French camps and with the army of occupation has just about taken shape, and baseball, without war to distract the attention of either players or bleachers, promises to be a principal attracton among the men left here to safeguard Amercan and allied interests.

Tommy Dowd, long identified with major league baseball and later one of the foremost college coaches, will be general director of baseball with the army of occupation. He has just arrived in France as a member of the Knights of Columbus organization. He soon will go to Vernich, where he will begin his duties with the Fourth Division.

Baseball fans here are enthusiastic over his selection, and he is hailed as a high class sportsman and a good mixer.

"Whatever conditions are there is no doubt that our army in Germany will have a fine brand of baseball," he said before leaving here for a general survey of the field. There is much good talent in the army, and it is necessary to find relaxation for the men who are waitingd ischarge or return home. There is no reason why we should not help them to have the best syort possible. We will start practice just as soon as the weather permit."

SPORTING

Jake Daubert, Brooklyn firstbaseman, has been traded to the Cincinnati club.

Arenas of Toronto were beaten at Montreal on Saturday night by Canadiens by 10-0.

Aura Lee juniors of Toronto lost their first O. H. A. game of the season on Saturday night when Parkdale Canoe Club beat them by a 3-2 score.

Wm. J. Clymer, former ... of Toronto and Louisville baseball teams, has signed to manage the Seattle team in the Pacific Coast League.

All of the more formidable college crews of the United States will compete in the American Henley at Philadelphia this year. The intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie will not be resumed until 1920.

WHERE WILL HE LAND?

The suit which Jake Daubert has pending against the Brooklyn Club is holding up any deal for his services. Four clubs were after him, but only one is now left. There is a chance that he may land with Cincinnati.

CANADIAN BOY IS STAR JOCKEY

C. ROBINSON WINS RIDING HONORS ON NEW ORLEAN'S TRACK.

New Orleans, Feb. 3.—The seventeen-year-old Canadian rider, Clifford Robinson, who came here with practically no riding expefience, is now leading the jockeys at the Fair grounds, and is riding in much better form than any of the riders with many years' experience. Last week he caught and passed Mack Garner, the leading rider, and now heads the list of winning jockeys by a good margin.

Robinson's rise has been meteroric. Born in Toronto, he was galloping horses when Ed Moore saw him and secured his contract. The boy rode in a couple of races at Hot Springs last spring, but was out of the saddle until the last Bowie meeting where he was given a chance. His first winning mount was on Goldcrest Boy, and the same day he also won with Broom Peddler.

Robinson had only a few mounts at Jefferson park, but his riding there attracted attention, and when the Fair grounds meeting opened the lad's reputation was made, and since then he has not lacked for mounts.

Ed Moore, who developed Robinson, and who also brought Crump to the front, is justly proud of his protege. He declares he is a boy of model habits and the best rider he has ever handled. During P. A. Clark's recent visit to New Orleans he tried to secure the contract on Robinson, but did not succeed. Moore says he prefers to keep the lad's contract himself.

FANS ARE PROMISED REAL GAME OF HOCKEY TONIGHT

Local Intermediates and Oshawa Are Well Matched and the Contest is Sure to be Sharp—Ice is in Good Condition.

Oshawa and Peterborough intermediates meet tonight at the Brock street rink in what may prove to be the decisive game of the series. Should Peterborough lose to the visitors tonight they can scarcely hope for better success when they return the game.

So far Peterborough has received no reverses, having beaten Whitby and Lindsay, and Oshawa stands in an equally favorable position as far as games are concerned, though boasting a slightly better showing as regards goals.

Peterborough won from Whitby 7-6, while Oshawa cleaned up on the same team by a score of 7-0. If Peterborough wins out tonight and Oshawa is successful when the return visit is made, it will mean that home and home games with goals to count will be played between the two in order to decide the championship.

The Oshawa lineup is a strong one and their showing so far has been excellent. They have several especially fast men in the aggregation and Jacobs, in goal for the visitors, is a stone wall.

Since their last game the make-up of the Peterborough team has been changed somewhat and several additions made which will improve their chances of giving Oshawa a tough run for their money this evening. Up to the present time the intermediate games of the series have caused little speculation, but with two well-balanced outfits with almost equally successful records behind them meeting this evening the fans are completely at sea as to the result and look forward eagerly to the exhibition of hockey to be seen this winter.

In spite of the comparatively mild weather today, the ice tonight will be in good condition owing to the sharp cold wave which has prevailed for the past few days, and it takes some time for the mild atmosphere to affect a keen sheet of enclosed ice such as prepared for this game in the Brock street rink.

PARKDALE WINS FROM AURA LEE

LATTER TEAM LOSE THE LEADERSHIP WITH SATURDAY NIGHT'S GAME.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Parkdale juniors ousted Aura Lee from the leadership of the local O. H. A. group when they defeated them on Saturday night by the score of 3 to 2. The teams were evenly matched, and provided a stellar brand of hockey which delighted the spectators. Aura Lee suffered a serious setback in the initial period when Perch their brilliant left wing player wrenched his knee and was forced to retire. It now seems a certainty that these teams will be tied for first place at the end of the series.

The winners showed vast improve-

CANADIENS MAKE SHOW OF RIVALS

SCORE TEN GOALS OF MONTREAL TO NONE BY ARENAS.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Canadiens made a show of Toronto Arenas in a scheduled fixture of the National Hockey League at the Jubilee Rink on Saturday night, defeating them by a score of 10 to 0. Canadiens always had the edge on their opponents, and used every man in their team, starting the game with five substitutes and two regulars. The play was too one-sided to be interest-interesting, Arenas playing like a lot of school boys against their seniors. ... their form, notwithstanding the hard gruelling they went through in the overtime match at Ottawa on Thursday night, and started in from the commencement of play to pile up a big score. The fast ice surface suited the French club players and they fairly smothered their opponents with speed throughout the hour's play.

Arenas were without Crawford, who for the first couple of periods mingled with the crowd at the resting intervals, and when sent out in the third session only remained on the ice for a few minutes, being of little assistance to his team.

The line-up:—

Canadiens—Goal, Vezina; defense, Coutdre and Lalonde; centre, O. Cleghorn; wings, Pitre and Berlinquette; substitutes, MacDonald, Malone, Corbeau.

Toronto—Goal, Lindsay; defense, Mummery and Randall; centre, Noble; wings, Denneny and Adams; substitutes, Skinner, Ritchie and Crawford.

Referee, Harry Hyland; judge of play, Jack Marshall.

PURCHASE OF BASEBALL STARS DATES AWAY BACK TO EIGHTIES

Sale Custom Followed League Scandal of 1870, After Which Contracts Were Produced and Players Prevented From Jumping. Some Famous "Deals" Recalled.

The custom of buying ball players dates back to the early '80's. Although the deals and prices paid were not as large as at the present time, they may interest some of the present-day fans to recall some of the famous deals of early days as the old-time records show. They created much interest then and the press of that decade had much to say pro and con. The sale custom followed the scandal of 1870, and rules were made that players should sign contracts and could not jump from team to team.

Chicago started something in 1876, the opening year of the National League, and stole Al Spalding, pitcher; Jaris White, catcher; Ross Barnes, second baseman; and Cal McVey, first baseman, from the champion Boston team of 1875. They were known as the "stolen four." This deal created such a row in baseball that teams had to buy players afterwards.

The Detroit club paid a large sum for the franchise and players of the Buffalo team at the end of the season of 1885. The "big four," Dan Brouthers, Hardy Richardson, Jim White and W. Rowe, were secured. The Tigers, however, had to wait until 1887 to win their first National League pennant.

The Boston Club wanted to land the National League pennant in 1887 and startled the baseball world by paying $10,000 to Chicago for Catcher Mike Kelly, who helped the White Stockings to win in 1885 and 1886. This deal created as much of a sensation at that time as some of the present-day sales and trades. Boston did not land the pennant with King Kelly, the $10,000 beauty, ... as he was called by the press. Boston wanted the pennant badly, and as the club had plenty of money in 1888, $10,000 was paid for Pitcher Clarkston of Chicago. Here was another big sensation. Kelly and Clarkson worked hard that season, but Boston got no higher than fourth place.

In 1888 the Pittsburgh club paid Fred Dunlap a bonus of $2,000 for signing with Pittsburgh. Dunlap had played first base for the champion Tigers in 1887. Pittsburgh paid him $5,000, and with $2,000 bonus he was a top price player.

Another big deal during the season of 1887 was the purchase of the St. Louis Maroons for $12,000 by the Indianapolis team, which joined the National League that season.

Manager Chris Von der Ahe, of the St. Louis Browns, sold five players of the champion teams of 1885, 1886 and 1887 for $22,000 at the close of the season of 1887. Pitchers Foutz and Carruthers with Catcher Bushong, went to Brooklyn in the American Association. Bill Gleason, shortstop, and Curt Welch, fielder, were sold to the Athletics. This was the biggest sale on record at this stage.

In 1896 Manager Arthur Irwin, of the Giants, gave $5,000 and Harry Davis to the Pittsburgh team for Beckley. Later he got $5,000 and "Scrappy Bill" Joyce, of the Washingtons, for Pitcher Flynn and Catcher Duke Farrell. Pitcher Meekin, of the Giants, was bought for $4,000 in 1899 by the Boston team.

In 1899 Charles Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn team, paid $40,000, a large sum, for the Baltimore Orioles, and consolidated the two teams. ... Robinson and John "Muggsy" McGraw would not play with Brooklyn and their release was sold to St. Louis for $15,000.

In 1892 the National League and American Association consolidated and until 1900 ran a twelve-club league. In 1900 the National League went back to eight teams and paid $10,000 for the Louisville players, most of them going to Pittsburgh. Twenty-five thousand dollars was paid for the Washington team and $10,000 for the Baltimore Orioles. The Cleveland franchise and players cost $20,000.

CIVIC FUEL YARD AT BELLEVILLE

HAS BEEN OPERATED AT SERIOUS LOSE TO THE CITY.

Referring to the municipal coal yard at Belleville the Intelligencer says:

The report of the operations of the civic fuel department as presented at last night's council meeting is anything but satisfactory. Only an abstract of receipts and expenditures is given, showing a loss of $401.43, with the additonal sum of $2,003 outstanding, which is described as a remittance to Canada coal supply on account. Just the bare figures are published, without any explanation that might enlighten ratepayers not familiar with the fuel business.

In justice to all concerned a complete report should be prepared and published clearing up particularly the question of cash advances, showing to whom made, upon what security, and the rate of interest allowed the city on these advances pending the receipt of coal; also the record of fuel sold by the city, purchasers, and the price paid.

The civic fuel committee of last year are entitled to full credit for their efforts to keep the price of fuel within reasonable limits, but in justice to themselves should be the first to insist upon the ratepayers being furnished with a report of their dealings so complete that there will be no further occasion for criticism.

The report, meagre as it is, shows at least the civic fuel department has been run at a financial loss and this fact merits the close consideration of the present council, which, although not responsible for the acts of last year's council, will be held responsible or the businesslike administration of all civic departments this year.

SPRIGHTLY COMIC OPERA AT GRAND

"MY HONOLULU GIRL" ENTERTAINED LARGE AUDIENCE—THIS WEEK'S PROGRAM.

"My Honolulu Girl" the comic opera presented at the Grand Opera House Saturday is another of those plays in which the scene is laid in the Hawaii Islands and which have become so popular of late years. As a comic opera the piece contains not even a suggestion of a plot but it abounds with one interesting scene and incident after another. There is the inevitable hotel in which the characters are found among the different tourists. There is the cast of native Hawaiian singers and ukulele players and a band of dancing girls in unique costumes, from the crown corn skirts of the natives to the gaudy attire of the modern ballad dances.

Ned Mcirroy, as I. C. Nichols, the porter of the hotel, furnished the comedy which was of the Irish school and true to life. He was helped out in this department by Richard Stockton, as the overgrown son of a darling mother. Another bright performer was Naomi Garnelli, the impish maid in the hotel. Th scenery gave an excellent view of the dock at Honolulu with ships plying in the harbor. All the musical numbers were well rendered especially that popular melody, "Mother Machree," sung by Miss Peggy O'Hara.

There is an attractive program for all this week at the Grand. For the first three days there will be the usual interim bill of high class motion pictures and polite vaudeville including Anna Neilson and Franklin Farnum in "In Judgment of."

On Thursday the Bertha Farner Concert Company will appear in the third entertainment of the Chautauqua Lyceum Course.

Friday, matinee and evening, the sweetest of irish singers, Bernard Daly will present "Sweet Innisfallen," one of the most popular Hibernan plays of the day.

"A Night In Honolulu," another of those charming plays based on life in the far Pacific Islands will be the attraction for two performances on Saturday.

AT THE ROYAL TONIGHT.

How Miss America outwitted a gang of destroying Huns is grahically portrayed in the latest Fox production entitled "Marriages Are Made," which is being shown at the Royal Theatre today and tomorrow. If you want to witness the dastardly German spy at his secret trade do not fail to see this picture. Another feature of the Royal program appearing today and tomorrow is William Farnum in "True Blue." This picture is a film drama of the rugged west, presenting, however, a phase of life new to the cinema. It is a pictorial treat that should not be overlooked.

The rest of the program is made up of Sunshine comedies, the whole going to constitute one of the best program shown at the Royal for some time. This program is shown at the largest theatres in Toronto, such as Shea's and Loew's, for which an admission of 25c and 50c is charged. You can see this at the Royal for the usual price of admission—sixteen cents to all.

Alcoholic Breath Not Ample Proof

Kingston, Feb. 3.—F. Grange, a returned soldier, whose parents reside near Napanee, was on Saturday afternoon released from jail in Napanee by order of the Attorney-General of the Province.

Grange was sentenced to a fine of $100 or two months in jail on Jan. 7 on a charge of being drunk on the streets of Napanee about Christmas time. He denied the charge, but was found guilty by the Napanee magistrate on the strength of evidence that his breath smelled of liquor. Dr. Vrooman, who treated Grange after he had first been taken in custody, declared that the young man was not intoxicated. It seems that Grange still suffers from shell shock. The Kingston branch of the G. W. V. A. took up the matter a few days ago.

Reserve of the Bank of England for the week gained £131,000. Bullion gain £450,000.

Fifth issue of Treasury certificates of indebtedness amounting to $600,000,000 was announced.

STRIKE SITUATION STILL AS SERIOUS AS EVER IN LONDON

All Tram Cars Are Out of Operation Except a Single Line.

London, Feb. 5.—There was no improvement today in the strike situation in London. All tubes and underground lines with the exception of the Metropolitan, which has one line running into the city, were still tied up. The stalls and restaurants while able to replace a few of their strwants still were offering only meagre imitations of their regular menus. Thousands of people again had to trudge long distances to work, unfortunately through slush an inch deep caused by a sudden thaw followed by rain during the night.

Today will decide whether the staffs of electrical power stations will join the strikers. The electrical power engineers' association has promised to keep the stations in operation. More men have returned to work in Glasgow, while the presence of Lord Pirrie, controller of the merchant shipbuilding in Belfast, gives some hope of a settlement there.

Will Not Affect Any Alliances

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 5.—The alliances between the various nations will not be affected by the existence of the Society of Nations now in process of formation. The British Foreign Secretary was asked the direct question as to whether the formation of the world society would involve the abrogation of alliances.

Norwegian Cabinet Has Resigned Office

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Christiania, Feb. 5.—The Norwegian Cabinet, headed by Gunnar Knudsen, has resigned as it was ceased to maintain its control of Parliament. The resignation has been accepted by the King. This Cabinet was formed on Jan. 29, 1913. It had rather a stormy career. Copenhagen despatches announced on Jan. 24 that ministerial crisis was imminent in Norway.

Peace Congress Making All Haste

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 5.—Military intervention in Russia on a large scale is not to be thought of, declared Arthur J. Balfour, the British Foreign Secretary, in an interview. The great powers are doing everything they considered could be done, however, he said in dealing with what he characterized as "a most disquieting situation" as to the general work of the Peace Conference. The Foreign Secretary declared the peace-making body was making all possible haste to settle on peace terms.

RECRUITING FOR SIBERIA.

Government steamer Voyageur is safely out of the ice and has reached Sydney, Cape Breton.

Quaker Oats Co. Favor Veterans

Various rumors are being circulated regarding discrimination against returned men by employers, and, unfortunately, our name has to our knowledge been associated with such rumors.

Rumor is mischievous, especially so when malicious.

Accordingly, to prevent the making of mistakes, we deem it best to publish the policy of this company as outlined in a letter from Mr. Stuart, of Chicago, on December 18, 1919:

"As you will soon have to meet the question of dealing with our people who entered the service and are returning home, I want to give you the views of the management, so that we can all work along the same lines.

"Many of the men, I think, were told when they left that we were sorry to see them go and would be glad to see them back as soon as they could come. These men showed a fine spirit and fought a good fight, and they are entitled to every consideration.

"We want all of our men back who want to come back. It may not be possible to give them, immediately, their old positions, but work should be found for them which will give them as nearly as possible the same pay, pending the opportunity of giving them back their old jobs or work equally desirable or important. If any of our men return crippled and unable to take up the work which they did before they left, we should try and find places for them, where they can serve the company and serve themselves.

"I think all men who come back to us as soon as they leave the service should be considered as having been continuously in the employ of the company. In other words, for any bonuses or future pension plans or insurance that might be adopted, the period of their service should not be considered as a break and figured against them in their record of length of service with this company. Men who leave us to go into the service and work for someone else before they return to us, of course, would not be considered as suggested above.

"We would appreciate your handling your men in accordance with the policy outlined, and, if any points are not clear, we will be glad to hear from you."

This is an entirely definite statement of our attitude towards returned men.

Any other statements that may be made are not in accordance with the truth.

ALIEN QUESTION IS HARD FOR CABINET TO SOLVE

Lack of Shipping Makes it Difficult to Deport Them to Their Native Countries.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—With respect to the question of aliens in Canada, which is attracting considerable attention and causing some unrest in certain industrial centres, the following information has been officially obtained:

There are at present in various internment camps throughout the Dominion about two thousand two hundred interned prisoners, of whom seventeen hundred are Germans, the remainder being of Austrian and other enemy nationality. Of the seventeen hundred Germans eight hundred were transferred from the West Indies, and are held at the request of his Majesty's Government. The Government has been advised by Great Britain that repatriation is now possible of a number not exceeding one hundred adult enemy aliens from the Dominion. An order in Council has been passed providing for the deportation of all enemy interned prisoners who may be regarded as dangerous, hostile or undesirable, and this order is now being carried out ,subject, of course, to the limitations necessarily imposed by the shortage of shipping and restrictions by enemy countries upon repatriation. Inquiry is also being made of his Majesty's Government for the purpose of obtaining directions as to what disposition they wish to be made of the eight hundred Germans who were transferred from the West Indies.

There is a larger number of aliens employed industrially in Canada, principally in the larger centres. Of these many thousands are anxious to return to European countries and are willing to pay their passage if permitted to go. Lack of shipping facilities and passports alone prevent a general exodus of these aliens. The Government has taken up with the Canadian Ministers abroad the question of transportation for this purpose ,and also as to whether, pending the official ending of the war, enemy and friendly aliens can be admitted to their respective countries.

Communication has been had with Sir Robert Borden as to the advisability or necessity of providing for a stipulation in the terms of peace which woud permit deportation of enemy aliens after the declaration of peace, and any necessary immigration laws against admission of aliens of enemy nationality into Canada. It may prove impracticable for the reasons mentioned in (2) to complete the repatriation of those now interned before the conclusion of peace, and there may be European prohibitions on immigration after the war.

The whole question relating to aliens has been receiving the most careful attention on the part of the Government. It is manifestly a most difficult one to deal with in the present unsettled state of international affairs, with the Peace Conference still engaged in its deliberation, and the shortage of shipping, and the prohibition of entry into European belligerent countries.

FARMER PERISHES WHEN BARN BURNS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Tweed, Feb. 5.—Ernest Graham, farmer, of this town, was burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed his barn. It is thought that a lantern exploded. His body was burned beyond recognition. He leaves a wife and family of six children.

LABOR MEN WANT STRONGER BEER

DEPUTATION HEADED BY PRESIDENT MOORE WAITS ON CABINET.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—President Tom Moore, of Niagara Falls, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, led a deputation of prominent labor men before the government represented by acting Premier Sir Thomas White and other cabinet ministers this morning, to put in a plea for stronger and more palatable beer. They said it was desirable from the standpoint both of the consumer and the present condition of the labor market. The government promised consideration.

CIVIC GUARDS TO PRESERVE PEACE

CITIZENS MUST VOLUNTEER TO PROTECT PROPERTY FROM STRIKING WORKMEN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 5.—Plans for the formation of a civic guard to maintain and protect the public service have been submitted to the authorities, according to the Mail, which says that a similar plan has been successfully employed in Switzerland, Holland and Australia. The newspaper states that should the actions of the strikers warrant such a course, citizens must be asked to form a guard to maintain transport, lighting and food supply services and also guard the power station, flour mills and important factories.

LAND WOUNDED AT PORTLAND

SHORT JOURNEY HOME PLANNED FOR CANADIAN INJURED IN BATTLE.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Plans for landing wounded Canadian troops at Portland, Maine, with the approval of the United States Government, were announced today by the American Red Cross. Transfer of the men by rail across Maine and New Hampshire will cut many hours off their journey homeward from France. The first shipload will debark at Portland in a few days, two consignments a month being arranged for thereafter. All will have full benefit of the canteen and motor ambulance service of the Red Cross.

ENORMOUS TOTAL LOSSES BY WAR

LATE STRUGGLE ESTIMATED TO HAVE COST FOUR HUNDRED BILLIONS.

London, Feb. 5.—The direct cost of the war is estimated at £40,000,000,000, in a special article in the Daily Telegraph. The author estimates the indirect cost of diminished trade and financial disturbance at £50,000,000,000.

"Vast sums," he says, "have been used for sheer destruction and vast public debts have been incurred for which there is no corresponding property. Throughout two-thirds of the world the work of useful production has been suspended during four years, and its place has been taken for the slaughter of human lives and annihilation of accumulated wealth.

"But there is a moral aspect to be taken into account. We may at least hope that we have put an end forever to the danger of Prussian militarism. If out of the ruins of the last four years there arises a new, brighter and happier world, then the billions that have been spent will not all have been spent in vain."

Allied Force Was Double the Huns

NEARLY FOUR MILLION YANKEES AT FRONT WHEN ARMISTICE WAS SIGNED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Feb. 5.—When Germany signed the armistice the Allies had a rifle strength on the Western front of two men against one of the enemy, according to a War Department statement handed out this morning. The United States army had a total war strength of 3,703,273 when the armistice was signed.

RUSSIAN PRESS IS OPPOSED TO WITHDRAWAL OF ALLIES

Papers Urge That Active Steps Be Taken to Suppress Bolshevists

(By W. E. Playfair, Canadian Press Correspondent.)

Vladivostok, Feb. 5.—The decision of the Peace Conference regarding the Allied policy in Russia and Siberia is eagerly awaited by Canadians and others of the Allied forces here. The general belief at present is that the attitude of watchful waiting will continue in the meantime, but military heads here appear to be uninformed in regard to future procedure.

The Russian press guardedly is opposing the withdrawal of the Allied forces and is urging active participation against the Bolshevhi. In accordance with their announced policy the Japanese are evacuating part of their front. The Czechs are withdrawing from the Ural front to guard the railway line. The proposed trip of Gen. Elmsley, commanding the Canadians here, to Omsk has been postponed indefinitely.

Ten Years' Sentence For Deserter

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 5.—Elmer J. Weber, of Neustadt, Grey County, was today paraded before his regiment at the Exhibition Camp, where a sentence of ten years in Kingston Penitentiary against him was formally promulgated on a charge of deserting.. The sentence of the court-martial was fifteen years, but was reduced by order-in-Council.

Weber's father, Reeve Weber, of Neustadt, was to have appeared before the magistrate at Owen Sound this morning on charges of sedition, but an adjournment was taken until the 11th, owing to the fact that the accused has pneumonia, said to have been brought on by exposure following his being drummed out of Owen Sound last week.

WORK FOR THOUSANDS ON THE NATIONAL RAILWAY

Directors Announce That Improvements and Extensions to Cost Millions Will Be Started at Once.

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Mr. D. B. Hanna, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways, and other members of the board were in conference here with the minister of railways in reference to the large scheme of betterments of new branch line construction and general improvements to the people's transcontinental system planned for this year.

Mr. Hanna stated that the work in view for the year would involve the expenditure of tens of millions of dollars and give employment to approximately 15,000 people. The government, he said, was behind the board of directors in the effort to bring the government system up to a standard of general efficiency and all round good service second to none on the continent and so far the operation of the road had been conducted without the slightest sign of political interference. The government system, said Mr. Hanna, was now on a basis of eighty millions annual gross earnings with prospects of soon passing the hundred million mark. A considerable proportion of the main line would be relaid with 85-pound rails this summer, while large additionals will be made to motive power and rolling stock.

Rumor of Pooling.

As to the suggested acquirements of the financially bonded or owned systems such as the St. John Valley Railway, the Edmonton Railway in Alberta and the Pacific and Eastern lines in British Columbia, Mr. Hanna contended that these questions were matters for consideration a little later on ,and nothing definite had been decided in this connection as yet.

Asked as to the rumor now presented that the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Truny systems were quietly arranging for some pooling of interests or possibly the absorption of the Grand Trunk by the C. P. R., Mr. Hanna said that he had heard nothing authoritatively, although he had heard the rumor. If anything were being done in this connection, added Mr. Hanna, the facts were known probably to only a very small portion of those interested. Apparently there is no immediate prospects of the Grand Trunk Company selling out to the government.

Toronto and Eastern.

In connection with electric radial feeders to the C.N.R. lines in Ontario, Mr. Hanna intimated that the acquirement of the Toronto and Eastern Electric franchise would enable the company, through comparatively inexpensive electric branch line extensions, to get access to the industrial centres of Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope and other towns in Eastern Ontario. He added that there was no authoritative grounds for the rumor that the Metropolitan Electric Railway or other Mackenzie-Mann electric railway interests were to be taken over by the government system.

QUAKER OATS COMPANY DROP APPEAL IN SCHOOL TAX CASE

Peck, Kerr and McElderry, Attorneys for the Company, So Notify City Solicitor Gordon To-Day.

Notice was given Mr. G. N. Gordon today by Peck, Kerr & McElderry, solicitors for the Quaker Oats Company, of a discontinuance of the appeal against the recent assessment judgment which they were carrying before the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

This is the end of the long dispute between the city and the company in regard to the raise in their assessment for school purposes. It was orignally beard before the Court of Revision, was then carried by the plaintiffs to the County Court, where Judge Huycke upheld the city, and notice of an appeal to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board was then served upon the city.

City Solicitor Gordon was instructed by the Council to take what steps he thought proper to defend the interests of the corporation, but the plaintiffs have decided to withdraw the appeal and announced their action in this respect today.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

THE PLAYGROUNDD PROBLEM.

THE MEMBERS of the Board of Education are required by law to provide suitable playgrounds for the pupils during the ten months of the school year, and while they are using such places of recreation the children are under the supervision of their teachers, who are just as responsible for their care when at play as during the hours of study. There seems no reason on earth why those playgrounds should be closed for two months of the year. It is just as unsafe to allow a crowd of children to engage in games without proper oversight as it would be to permit them to carry on their class work without direction. Play as well as study must be systematized in order to achieve the best results. If the playgrounds are to be open to the children during the vacation every car, the question of expense arises in connection with the required supervision. Minister of Education Cody has given it as his opinion that school boards have the right under the Act to appropriate money for this purpose, and Mr. J. W. Worth, a member of the local board, has taken the matter up with his colleagues.

A committee has been appointed to look into this proposition, and it is likely at the next meeting that something definite will be suggested, as the members of that committee have all expressed themselves as convinced of the necessity for providing for the children the facilities for which, so far, they have to thank the Playgrounds Association, composed of volunteer public-spirited citizens. If Trustee Worth's proposition goes through, the maintenance of the playgrounds will become a civic enterprise, and the annual question of raising money for this object will be solved for all time.

"THE VOICE THAT IS STILL."

IT SEEMS STRANGE that in the city of Toronto, which, with its scores of stately churches and cathedrals and its imposing structures where educational institutions find their homes, that the people should still be wrestling over problems that were supposed to be settled when the delusions of witchcraft were exploded.

There are men of learning and high social standing in Toronto who claim to be able to bring the living in communication with their dead relatives. The hand that has vanished is to be touched again, the voice that is still once more heard. Like the poor, the gullible are always in evidence, even in Toronto, and crowds patronize the mediums for a trial of their art.

Columns of space have been given by the Toronto papers to this subject, and the entire city was for a time in a fervor that now appears to be dying down.

There is hardly a living man or woman today who would not like to penetrate the veil that shrouds the other world, and hear a message from those who have crossed the shadowy river. But it has been otherwise ordained. We have but faith left us, we cannot hope to know what it was evidently not intended should ever be revealed to us. The Holy Scripture tells us little of the world beyond the grave, except in general terms that it is a place where the just shall live in unalloyed happiness throughout the eternal ages, where night never comes and tempests never rage. The Great Teacher Himself, from Whose vision nothing was hid, pictured a land of many mansions where the sorrows common to earth are unknown forever.

The spirits of the saintly dead hover around their living relatives like so many guardian angels. Their works do follow them. If the living sometimes wonder whether the dead from their present place of abode see what is going on upon earth, let them in all charity hope that they do not. What mother, for example, could be happy anywhere if she could witness the grief, and the disgrace, the trials and the persecution, that come so often to the children from whom she has been called away?

The "vanished hand and the voice that is still" have gone forever. The dead speak to the living only through the memory of their example and by their good works while on earth, and do not send back crude and disjointed messages through a spiritualistic medium who charges for his services.

MARKETING THE ALIEN.

ANY ALIEN who is in Canada today is here by right of international treaty, and so long as he obeys the laws of the country he finds himself entitled to the protection of the law. Any Chinaman in this country is here by virtue of a special agreement made with the Government of his native land. That Government is recognized as such by Britain and all other nations of standing in the world, and Chinese embassies look after the interests of China's citizens who may be in foreign lands. The Japanese who are in Canada are tolerated and protected by virtue of a special treaty made with the Mikado.

Other aliens are here largely because they have selected this country as a land where the poor have a show to live, and because they have been induced to come here by agents of the Dominion Government working on a commission basis and being paid a bonus on every foreigner they deliver alive at a Canadian port. Once here, they are entitled to an opportunity to become Canadian citizens. If they refuse to do so, if they are suspected of sedition, the Government of the country, through the duly constituted law courts, is well able to dispose of them and to hold them in check. Anything like mob law is not to be tolerated for a moment. It is dangerous not only to the peace of the community, but is a menace to the harmonious relations that it is so desirable to maintain with other powers.

A resident of Canada of alien birth, and holding a prominent public position, was recently charged with sedition and cited for an orthodox hearing in court. The mob took up the matter and drove him out of the town of Owen Sound, chasing him into the country, where, after walking in the darkness to the point of exhaustion, he spent the remainder of the night in an open shed. As a result of the exposure, he contracted pneumonia and is now reported at the point of death. No Canadian will attempt to condone the offence with which he is charged, but every law-abiding citizen must protest the primitive means adopted to bring him to a realization of his offence.

Usually there is work for everybody in Canada. The alien generally has his own place to fill in the industrial economy, and as a rule performs a class of labor that no native Canadian cares to undertake. For the present, at least, there must be hewers of wood and drawers of water, if the world is to make progress. There is a divinity that shapes the ends of mankind, a controlling power that it is useless for any human agency to attempt to counteract.

There is a grim irony in the assaults made by mobs on Chinese especially. Thousands of dollars go from this country every year to maintain emissaries of the Christian Church whose mission is to teach the myriads in the Celestial kingdom the truths of religion, to preach peace on this earth and to develop a kindly spirit among neighbors. What a travesty it is upon that creed to use force against the Chinese who have adopted as a place of residence the very country in which that faith has been cradled. How it must aid the missionary in his work among the heathen when the latter learns that the Christian faith the stranger urges upon them has broken down at home.

Twenty years ago the Boxers of China made war on the missionaries and other foreigners among them and destroyed their property. The civilized nations of the earth united to send battleships and armed troops to China to reduce the natives to a state of reason. Surely the rioters in China, wedded as they are to their idols, are not to be taken as models by the enlightened masses in Christian Canada.

In a time of stress like the present, native or naturalized Canadians should be given first choice in the matter of employment. If this has not been done in all cases, a remedy is easily possible without a resort to rioting. No civilian is doing the returned soldiers a service or expressing appreciation of their sacrifices by resorting to lawlessness on their behalf. The veterans themselves are the very men likely to set their faces against lawlessness. The heroes who refused to be conquered towns and cities overseas and who championed the cause of the helpless non-combatants as so many guardians, are not likely to be the instigators of violence in their native land.

LIVING WAGES.

SANITARY INSPECTOR Stapleton and Relief Officer Miller have asked the Council for an increase in their salaries, and the matter has been referred to the finance committee. It is difficult to believe that the requests will be denied when the present compensation of these officials is noted.

Mr. Stapleton fills one of the most important positions in the city and one which requires tact to prevent friction with the public. His pay is small and he has never received material appreciation of his services, which have always been highly satisfactory. As for Mr. Miller, it is something of a grim joke to have a man dispensing civic relief and pay him little more than enough to place him, from a worldly point of view, to any considerable extent above the beneficiaries of the public's generosity.

COMMISSIONER HARTLEY.

MR. JOHN J. HARTLEY, who has been appointed a member of the City Trust Commission, is no novice in public office. Mr. Hartley has served the city both as alderman and a member of the School Board, and in both capacities established a creditable record. He is a citizen of excellent standing, with property interests of his own, and there is every reason for confidence that he will be of value to the public in the discharge of his new duties.

The Case of the Crippled Soldier

The removal of all possible handicaps of the Returned Soldier is the first duty of the Government and the Repatriation Committee and to that end both are devoting much time and energy.

The crippled soldier is handicapped seriously in the struggle for existence. Other wars have left thousands with no chance of overcoming these difficulties, with disastrous results to both the individual and the community.

The Dominion Government, however made the restoration of these men, so far as is humanly possible, one of its first cares. For the man with a limb off artificial limbs, of the latest and most satisfactory models were provided. A factory, equipped with every modern device was built in Toronto, and with expert advice from surgeons who have been over there is turning out the best possible limb.

The Government not only gives these limbs to the returned but assumes all care of them and will restore them when necessary. Repairs are provided wherever necessary.

In addition orthopedic boots, special boots, splints, braces, trusses, supports, artificial eyes, in short, every device known to science to bring back the pre-war physical efficiency of the soldier. He will not be quite as efficient as he was, but his physical handicaps have been reduced as far as modern science can accomplish this.

Repair depots have been established at Halifax, Fredericton, St. John, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Toronto, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria, so that every crippled soldier is within easy access of a place where his needs can be attended to.

Making efficient civilians out of men sadly handicapped is one of the great endeavors of the Government, and in this Canada is second to no nation in the world.

TODAY'S STORY

By Walt Mason.

Old Mose Wheatly has been roasting the government for thirty years or more. It has been his one diversion, his one idea of a good time.

The government didn't seem to care three hoots, so Wheatly's weakness might have been considered a harmless one, except that it made him a bore. The people knew the old man had many good points, and they did n't want to turn him down too rudely but they did get weary of his eterna slamming at the goverment.

About a year ago some of us were in the tire repair shop, talking automobiles, when old Mose blew in and began raving about the way the government was getting things all balled up in military affairs.

Bill Huggins interrupted him, speaking with great earnestness.

"See here, Mose," said he, "you'll have to cut out this thing of jumping on the government, or th first thing you know you'll be inside a stone fence. People are being interned and sent to the penitentiary for milder talk than you dish up. Moreover some of our local patriots are getting tired of your talk and there is talk of giving you a ride on a rail."

Old Mose turned pale and stammered a little and went out, looking pretty shaky. Then we tendered Bill a vote of thanks and promised him a gold headed cane.

We knew how to put the extinguisher on Mose from that time forth. He drifted in to our favorite loafing places every day and listened to the conversation, and longed to butt in with a few remarks showing up the government in its hideous nakedness but the minute he approached that theme somebody would tell him to be careful what he said, as disloyal remarks were being reported to Washington.

The old man's sufferings were extreme. He was just simply perishing to cut loose with a lot of red hot criticisms. He'd hang around a while the cold sweat streaming down his forehead, and finally he'd fade away without saying anything.

The other day, however, he blew into the tire shop, and we saw at a glance that he meant business.

"I'm going to tell what I think of the blamed government," he cried "even if I am chucked into the penitentiary for it! You don't need to tell me, Bill Huggins, that my remarks will be reported to Washington. Go ahead and report 'em. I'm an American citizen and I pay taxes, and I've got as much right to speak about the government as anybody.

"Out on my farm on Harris creek I had fifteen acres of the finest timber you ever saw. Every tree there was a personal friend of mine.

"Well, the blamed government came teetering along and said I had a lot of black walnut trees I'd have to sell. I wasn't even allowed to set a price on 'em. The government says, 'Mose Wheatly, we're going to pay you so much for thac trees, and if you don't like it, you can lump it.' And I had to lump it.

"Well, a lot of swaybacked men went in there and shopped down the trees, and a lot of immoral teamsters hauled them out, and ruined the whole grove doing it. They barked every tree they left standing. And just when they got the logs out the war stopped, and they're lying along the railway track, and will lie there till they rot. I have my opinion of my whapperjawed government that will play such a trick on an honest man, and now you can fetch along your marshal and send me to jail."

WIT AND WISDOM

Desmond had been markedly attentive the day before, so when Flossie Flatfeet saw him coming up "the drive" she was all in a flutter.

She opened the door herself and led the way into the drawing-room.

"Er—Miss Flossie," began the young man. "I—I—it's rather difficult to ask such a thing. I meant to ask you as I was leaving yesterday, but—but—— Do you——"

"Yes," breathed Flossie.

"Do you know," continued the young man, "whether I left my matches here last night?"

A woman joined a private literary circle. Her husband, who had no faith in feminine judgment on such matters, was anxious to know how things went.

"Well, and what sort of a meeting did you have?" he asked on his wife's return.

"Splendid," she answered.

"And what was the topic under discussion?"

"Oh," was the reply, "we discussed the antecedents of that brazen woman with the dyed hair that's just moved in opposite the Joneses and also one of the poets—Shelley, I think."

Pat was one day driving cattle through a country town, accompanied by a collie. The dog, unknown to him, bolted into a butcher's shop and ran off with a leg of mutton. Whereupon the butcher issued forth, demanding of Pat if that was his dog.

"No," replied Pat, slyly eyeing the erring dog, which by this time was almost out of sight, "he was once mine, but he seems to be doing for himself now."

Secretary (of overworked business man)—Pardon me, sir, but you are to be married at 12 o'clock.

Business Man (consulting his watch)—So I am. Well, call up the bride and clergyman and tell them to come here; ask the office girl to stay in from lunch as a witness; write out a check for a hundred to the clergyman, and make a memo to tell the bride that I will join her in a couple of days, unless these western buyers should surprise me.

BACK THEM OR WITHDRAW.

There is one thing we cannot do in honor, justice or decency. That is to leave in Russia, facing an implacable enemy on his own ground, a handful of men fighting a hopeless fight under the most difficult conditions, foredoomed to defeat.

To do this would be to betray those men to death or worse, and that betrayal would shame forever a nation which should hold the lives of its citizen soldiers dear.

JUNIORS BOUND TO REGAIN HONORS LOST AT LINDSAY

Close Game May Be Looked for With the Visiting Midgets at Brock Street Rink To-Night.

To night the Lindsay and Peterborough Juniors clash in the Brock street rink in what will be in all probability the fastest game to be played in Peterborough this season.

The Midgets come to the city tonight full of confidence in their ability to worst Peterborough and their admirers in their home town are backing them to the utmost. In the last game played in Lindsay the Petes were worsted by two scores and in the previou to that the positions were reversed with a lead of three for this city.

Peterborough Juniors are licking their lips to get at the Midgets tonight and declare they will wipe out the defeat they received at their hands last Friday night ,and it is very probable that they will but not without a good stiff fight for it, which will make an exhibition worth watching.

Believing in taking no chances, the local players have been practising continuously of late, and it is a safe bet that the Lindsay men have not been letting the grass grow under their feet, so that the two teams should be in excellent condition when they step onto the ice tonight.

When the Juniors played their last match in this city they gave the spectators their full money's worth as far as good, fast, clean play was concerned and added to that, they won out and tonight it is a safe guess that the game will make even better watching than did the other.

This season the Juniors have worked hard. They have given the people of the city one exhibition of real hockey and that was the only match played here. They went to Port Hope and gave the team there a regular trouncing and then went up against the Midgets, who are an aggregation to be reckoned with and were beaten by a small score in the Lindsay rink which is a difficult one for strangers. Tonight the Midgets, full of confidence as a result of their victory of last Friday, are going to bump up against the Petes again in the Brock street rink and the general impression is that they are going to be beaten. The public are asked to turn out to the match tonight and give the boys their support, both moral and financial. They deserve it and the spectators will get the worth of their money without a doubt.

Tonight the Peterborough Juniors will line up as follows.

Goal, Flowers; defence, Haggerman and Frost; centre, Cherret; left wing, Williams; right wing, Parks. Substitutes—Gerard and Campbell.

There is no ice in Lake St. Clair or the lower end of Lake Huron, a condition almost unprecedented at this time of the year.

TAKE LEAVE OF OLD FRIENDS

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GOOSEY PRESENTED WITH PURSE AND ADDRESS.

A number of friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gooley, Chandos, who are leaving that district, and presented them with a purse and a complimentary address a copy of which follows:

To Mr. and Mrs. John Gooley and family.

We your friends and neighbors who are assembled this evening wish to express to you our sincere regret that you are about to sever your connection with us as neighbors, and we could not let you go without letting you know something of this and of the esteem in which we hold you. Your residence here is of long standing.

Speaking to Mr. and Mrs. Gooley, a good part of your early youth was spent here, you were married here, your children were all born here, you have been part of all our social and public life.

Mr. Gooley served on our school board and in our municipal council, we have mingled together in our joy gatherings. we have stood together as we buried our dead and we can say that we have always found you good neighbors, kind and sympathetic friends, ready at all times to extend a helping hand.

And we cannot let this opportunity pass without special mention of your boys, who crossed the ocean to face danger and death at their country's call. We rejoice with you that God has been good to you in permitting you the great double joy of welcoming first one dear boy and then another "safe at home again." Out from the ceaseless roar of the big guns, out from the smoke and carnage of battle, from the very jaws of death, they have come back to you. May the joy of the home-coming efface the sharpness of the memory of those anxious hours of waiting.

There is still a third and younger boy "over there", and we join with you in hoping for his speedy and safe return, so that as a united family you may be spared for many years to enjoy happiness and prosperity in your new home.

We realize that out there your children will enjoy greater opportunities than this district affords, and we hope that their future may be crowned with success.

We ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of our appreciation of you all as a family.

Signed on behalf of your friends.

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady)

When doctors relapse into the strange language of calories, vitamins, protein, metabolism and the like it is no wonder they make folks tired. But a doctor just can't be happy without a large mouthful of words. Indeed, it often happens that the less thought there is secreted by his brain the more stupendous language there is excreted from his mouth.

In fact, the higher you ascend, or rather the farther you go from shore the more wary you find the "authorities" about committing themselves on anything. For example, this statement appears in a recent monographic work on medicine: "The protein metabolism is also specifically affected by the thyroid secretion." "Specifically affected"! A doctor's way of saying "I'm not going going to commit myself—let the reader try to guess whether I mean increased or decreased." You have to be careful about making any definite statements if you wish to be an authority.

The "authorities" avail themselves of this same old privilege when discussing the catching cold phobia. 'Tis true they admit that the respiratory diseases called "colds" are all caused by bacterial infection (and pity 'tis 'tis true, they think between the lines), yet at the same time we must consider that exposure to cold and wet, lowers the resistance of the individual to such infections. They insist on that, although no one has as yet been able to prove that exposure has anything to do with the respiratory diseases of human beings.

From sixty to seventy five grams of protein (two to two and one half ounces) are required daily in the diet of an adult. How much would that amount to at the table?

Each of these items contains seventy-five grams of protein.

Cheese	9 oz.
Eggs	11½ lbs.
Beans	11½ oz.
Rolled oats	16 oz.
Bread	1 lb 14 oz.
Milk	3 pints, 2 oz.
Beef	14 oz.
Peanut butter	9 oz.
Split peas	10¾ oz.
Corn meal	1 lb. 3 oz.

The body requires 0.67 gram (about 8 grains) of calcium (lime) daily. This is contained in each of the following:

Peanuts	2 oz.
Cabbage	1.2 oz.
Beans	7 oz.
Milk	1.1 pints
Cheese	2¾ oz.
Turnips	4 oz.
Chocolate	2 oz.

The body requires 2.500 to 3.500 calories per day, according to age, weight and work done. Each of the following items has a full value of 100 calories:

Onions	8½ oz.
Potatoes	3½ oz.
Peas, canned	6½ oz.
Apples, baked	3½ oz.
Beef	1¼ oz.
Chicken	3½ oz.
Butter	0.44 oz.
Cheese	0.77 oz.
Cottage cheese	3 oz.
Macaroni	3½ oz.
Milk	4.9 oz.
Candy	¾ oz.

Little Flock of Delusions

1. Will chewing camphur gum prevent person from taking the flu? 2. Will wearing a rheumatism ring prevent rheumatism? 3. What do you think of the advisability of wearing a footpad or plaster to prevent rheumatism? 4. Isn't vaccination liable to cause impure blood? 5. Please list all the symptoms of catarrh?

1. Not if the chewer is exposed to the disease. 2. Only mental rheumatism. 3. It is a silly notion. 4. No. 5. In the first place I do not believe in telling people symptoms—the world is unhappy enough as it is and besides, there is no such thing as "catarrh" outside of almanacs and come-on literature.

Corset Versus Health

"Are corsets healthy for women and girls to wear? If a girl goes without corsets until she is 20 years old will it ruin her figure. I have never worn one, and I enjoy excellent health and I believe I am not a very bad figure, but they all tell me I ought to wear corsets to keep my figure. M.C.O."

Keep on as you are.

Formaldehyde and Tuberculosis

"Is formaldehyde a good disinfectant? How much should be used to disinfect a room for tuberculosis? W. I. S."

Formaldehyde solution is a fairly powerful germicide for germs that fall into it or for germs to which it is directly applied. It is irritating and poisonous and unpleasant in odor. None is necessary to disinfect a room that has been occupied by a person with tuberculosis. Soap and water washing of the floor and wood work and an airing and sunning are sufficient; if the wood work or walls are visibly soiled, renovate the room.

Y. W. C. A. LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FOR SECURING NEW MEMBERS

Over One Hundred Active Workers Attend Banquet Last Night and Program is planned—"Reds" and "Yellows" to Compete

About one hundred girls and ladies were present at the banquet held at the Young Women's Christian Association last evening. The occasion was the inauguration of the membership campaign and those who were present were the Board ladies, the guests of the evening, Miss E. F. Jones and Miss Yeomans, and the captains and members of the teams representing the various classes and clubs in the Association.

A splendid repast was provided and the tables in the dining room, arranged in banquet style, were beautifully decked out in red and yellow, the colors of the Association, and lighted up with candles.

Mrs. Scott, acting President, presided and in a few well-chosen words addressed the gathering, introducing the membership campaign. Mrs Kenner acted as toast mistress, and the following toasts were proposed and responded to: The King. Our Guests, proposed and responded to by Miss Jones; the Y. W. C. A. by Miss Mabel Walker and Miss Florence Jackson; Our Board by Miss Parker and Mrs. Harvey; and the girls of Canada by Mrs. McKenzie and Miss Dorothy Mills.

Miss Jones, National City Secretary spoke in a very bright and enthusiastic manner about the general work of the Young Women's Christian Association throughout the world. It was interesting to learn that in many parts of Russia the Association is a flourishing institution and that in Japan and China much is being done to improve the appalling factory conditions and bring new ideals into the lives of the girls and women. Miss Jones also commented upon the splendid equipment and flourishing condition of the Peterborough Y. W. C. A., and announced that it was looked upon by the Dominion Council as one of the pet Associations; the members were urged to realize their opportunities and make their "Y" an even greater power for good in the community.

Miss Nina Yoeman, Girl's Work Secretary from the Dominion Council, spoke in a simple and inspiring manner on a girl's vision, saying that the things we see are what made up our lives, and asking the girls to look for what is highest and best in life. Miss Yeomans suggested that a wonderful uplift to the community could be accomplished by the girls of Peterborough all working together along the ideals of the Association.

The joys of the summer camp at Longford were pictured vividly before the girls, and altogether the Young Women's Christian Association was shown to be an institution of which any girl or woman might be glad to be a member.

The details of the membership campaign were explained by Miss Parker, General Secretary, and all the girls were supplied with the blanks necessary to solicit membership subscriptions. The Association is divided into two sides, the Reds and the Yellows, of which Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. Scott respectively are the captains. On each side are six teams, of six members each, each team representing a class or club. Huge charts in the hall of the Association will record the new members who are brought in by each team, at the close of the campaign which will continue for a week, the work of the various teams will be summed and awards presented to the winning side and the most successful team.

It is hoped that this campaign will meet with a hearty response from the friends of the Association and the citizens generally. The work of the Y. W. C. A. is well known, and the value of such an institution in the community is quite appreciated. This is the first time that such a campaign has been held, and those who have planned it are convinced that there are many people, both men and women, in Peterborough who will willingly lend their support by becoming members. If it should happen that some are overlooked in the canvass, those who would like to become members are asked to hand their names in at the office, where all information as to classes, membership privileges and fees will be gladly given.

GIVE THE CHILD CHANCE IN LIFE

WOMAN LEGISLATOR'S BILL TO PROTECT BABES BORN OUT OF WEDLOCK

Albany, Feb. 5.—A bill, which aims to protect the child born out of wedlock, has been introduced in the lower House of the Legislature by Mrs. Mary M. Lilly, Democratic Assemblywoman from Manhattan. Under the provisions of the bill, the so-called illegitimate child will be entitled to the name of his or her father, to the care, maintenance and support of the father, and share equally in his estate with any legitimate child.

"Whenever such a child is born," the bill reads, "it shall be the duty of the mother and of the doctor attending the birth to report within ten days thereafter to the local Board of Health the fact of such birth, and a copy of such report shall be immediately transmitted by the local Board of Health to the District Attorney of the county. Such officer shall inquire into the matter, and if satisfied as to the identity of the father, shall file a verified petition in the Supreme Court, praying that the rights and status of such child under this section be determined.

"Failure on the part of the father to comply with the provisions of the bill will be considered a contempt of the court, and may be punished by a term in jail."

Mrs. Lilly, who was the first woman lawyer to institute a reform of the Juvenile Court system years ago, has been nursing this bill in her mind for some time, and it needed only the indorsement of Judge Robert J. Wilkin of the Children's Court of Brooklyn to induce her to take it before the Legislature.

Piecework in Michigan Central shops in St. Thomas was abolished the first of this month.

Limb-makers in Calgary factory have joined the strike, and those in Winnipeg are likely to do so.

Among those who were present last evening at the banquet were Miss Dickson, Mrs. Walsh, Miss Walton, Mrs. Hill, Miss Ingall, Miss Morrow, Mrs. Widdess, Mrs. Hill, Miss Cameron, Mrs. Nugent, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. Gordon Hall, Mrs. Davidson, Miss Mabel Patterson, Miss Cressman, Miss Dawson.

Miss Florence Scott and Miss Ida Wilson contributed vocal solos to the programme with Miss Ruth Murray as accompanist, while Miss Mabel Penrose acted as pianist for the Doxology and the National Anthem.

The banquet was provided by the ladies of the Board and was arranged by the Social Committee under the able leadership of Mrs. Nugent. All who were present declared that the affair was a success in every particular, and augured well for the success of the campaign.

Demand of the Day.

Today there is a greater demand for workers, real, live, ambitious, resolute workers than ever before in the world's history. Every office and shop in the land is calling for help, and the woman who is poor, but proud—too proud to roll up her sleeves and know the keen joy that comes from real, honest toil—is missing one of life's sweetest consolations. If she is wise now, while the opportunity is hers, she will put that foolish sentiment in the background and seek out the opening that will assure her a living.

Separate Fat From Water.

The recovery of valuable fat remaining in water used in washing wool is now being accomplished by means of a new machine resembling a cream separator, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. In the past various attempts to do this have not proven satisfactory. The wash water runs directly into a bowl making 6,000 revolutions per minute, and the fat is separated almost instantly.

The Royal Coal Bin.

King George and Queen Mary have set a splendid example in the matter of coal economy.

The recommendations of the Coal Controller's Committee for cutting down domestic fuel consumption were last winter in large measure forestalled in the royal palaces, and that on the direct initiative of their Majesties. Now that the coal crisis has become acute, further restrictions have been imposed at court. In Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle and Sandringham the grates have been "bricked up" and the number of fires has been greatly reduced.

Lighting of passages, corridors and anterooms has been cut down by more than half. In their Majesties' private apartments a similar practice has been followed.

Officials of the court have been instructed to see that no unnecessary fires are used or lights kept burning, and generally to supervise an economy campaign.

In the Royal Household an organized scheme for the salvage of waste material is in operation. Fruitstones and nutshells, empty pots and tins, waste paper, worn-out linen and woollen materials, are collected and sent to agencies for conversion to some purpose useful in the national interest. Ashes are sifted, and the recovered cinders are used for fuel and fire-banking. Buckingham Palace gardens have been for long a market garden. The garden refuse is collected and used for fuel.

The palace laundry list has been revised with a view to economy, and there has been a marked reduction in the work.—Tit-Bits.

Arab Decorated.

King George recently decorated with the Chain of the Royal Victorian Order Prince Feisal, son of the Arab King of the Hedjaz, who distinguished himself in the Palestine campaign. The prince, who looked very striking in the Arab head dress, does not speak English and during the ceremony the conversation was carried on by means of an interpreter.

BETTER SHOWING IN ATTENDANCE

NINETY-ONE PER CENT. OF ENROLLED PUPILS ATTEND SCHOOL.

A communication was read at the regular meeting of the Board of Education from Principal Kenner thanking the members on behalf of his staff for the ten per cent. salary bonus for the year 1919, granted at a recent meeting. In another letter Mr. Kenner stated that the following gentlemen had presented to the Collegiate Institute enlarged photographs of their sons who had fallen in battle during 1918:—Mr. A. E. Dixon, of his son Bombadier Herbert Dixon; Mr. J. I. Davidson, of his son, Pte. John Davidson; Mr. John Cameron, of his son, Captain Ross Cameron. He asked the Board to acknowledge the receipt of the pictures.

Forestry travelogues are being arranged for by the Canadian Forestry Association and a letter was read before the Board asking for co-operation in connection with an illustrated lecture for the senior school pupils in this city provided a hall could be provided free of charge. Mr. Kenner was requested to look into the matter.

School Attendance.

Speaking in connection with his report upon the attendance in the city schools for the month of January, which was submitted at the meeting last night, Inspector Mowatt stated that the showing made was a little better than for several months past. The report from the various schools is as follows:

ACTORS AND SINGERS OF THE PERIOD OF LONG AGO

Useless to Dwell Upon Their Superiority as Today's Artists Have Neither Plays Nor Modern Songs.

Who is writing plays and who is playing the classics and what sort of people are we not to understand the theatrical cycle whistling at our heels?

"The good old days" and "the halcyon days," and all the other kind of days of the theatre have no thing to do with this century, even as a fashionable habit of comparison, much to the discredit of present day plays and players. It is quite certain that grand opera has lost much of its grandest air; because, except for one luminous Italian woman and one luminous Italian man, the voices contributed could not be compared to those of twenty years ago. But the talented divas and tenors and baritones have been adequate to the modern composers and acceptable in the classics. The same may be claimed in the theatre. We do not so readily shelve Mozart, Verdi, Wagner or Gounod as we do Shakespeare, Moliere, Sheridan or Sardou. The singers go on and on lending their best to keep alive the glories of grand opera, and vigorously attack the current composers as they come along in creditable if not equal splendors following the fundamental architecture of the opera in history.

Why Because Past Glories

What earthly good is it to lose the loveliness in talent like that of Farrar, Garden, Raisa and their genuine artistic congregation of singers, while bemoaning opera days when Calve, Nordica, Eames, Melba, Schalchi, Sembrich, Lehmann, Schumann-Heink and dozens of brilliant young vocalists appeared each week? It is rather unreasonable to overlook the bounteous supply of excellent tenors and basso-profundo singers, of baritones and buffos equal to delivering any of the scores of to-day or yesterday and sulkily compare them to the De Reszkes, Plancon, Campanari, Campanini, Lucia, Pantaleoni or Victor Maurel. Those we have completely handle anything the modern composers provide, while Caruso, Galli-Curci and their few peers keep grand opera above the dead sea level of the century at least. Just the same with drama. The plays are scarce, meager, forced and unnerved one way or the other. Poetic drama is shunted to the storehouse and the young people pluckily struggle to lift the which they have as high as their ambitions.

Nothing for Great Ones to Play

It is not the slightest use to mourn the absence of Booth, McCullough, Barrett, Siddons, Modjeska, Marlowe or Anderson. It is hopeless to draw invidious comparisons between the hearty efforts of such serious actors as the hour provides and Richard Mansfield, Henry Irving, Beerbohm Tree and E. H. Sothern. What would these men and women of genius play were they here? The public has told actors in plain terms that as little Shakespeare as possible would suit best. Plenty of them would love to play Shakespeare and play him admirably. Even Otis Skinner and Margaret Anglin, who were hard to convince nearly understand by now that they may do the things if they want, but the public will ignore them. As a matter of fact it is a lucky thing the noble army of revered players finished imperishable activities when they did, for the years are not being kind to actors, and we are starved for plays. Barrie, Shaw, some august foreigners and here and there a gay Philistine frolic tempestuously in the bizarre and bitter. Brisk Englishmen rally to the standard and deluge the stage with smart dialogue and pretty scenes and Americans are sprawling over the field, smelling plots like bloodhounds of lesters, arriving nowhere in particular and doing little good. This is the material handed to the stage where naturally talent sits waiting, underfed and overpaid and growing less imperial every year.

A Wail in Chorus

The shriek for plays has become a wail in chorus. Nobody has any plays. Skinner, Rambeau, Ferguson, Burke, Grace George, Mazine Elliott, Maude Adams, Faversham, hundreds less stellar attractions await plays. The death is pitiful. It has been a season of plays with stars in the making not a season of stars well set in great plays. We have a great many delightful comedians, but no comedy. We have a great many fascinating actresses, but no plays for them. Either they go on prowling about in frayed repertoires of the past, or as Mr. Arliss manages, take a couple of fair to middling vehicles and stitch them together, poking out an evening of charm altogether the player's own making. John Booth has it in him and may write something. Channing Pollock writes too exuberantly to be as exquisite and classical as he could were he less prolific. Pollock has the most real talent afloat among the breakers of the literary end of the drama. He is lusciously romantic and imaginative, witty and accurate, but he makes too much money, as most of them do. Our present day actors are more cultivated, more amenable an dbetter adapted to roughing it among bad plays than any players of the other centuries. They could do the big things but are not allowed to because the time is out of tune for sonorious poetic drama. Centered in close quarters of other days, with few theatres and few plays, the magnificent things had to be done occasionally. An actor here and there was a star. Now every actor who sees his name in print instantly achieves the term of starfits. At that most of them make gowns in precious queer plays. They have enormous help from the cash box, the scene painter, the producer and costumer, but little from the playwright. Indeed, today's actor has in the balance much in his favor. There are hundreds instead of twenties distributed variously in melodrama, comedy, farce, burlesque, vaudeville and musical plays.

FOR BENEFIT OF PTE. McINTOSH

GRAND OPERA HOUSE MANAGEMENT WILL DEVOTE MONDAY AFTERNOON'S RECEIPTS.

The total proceeds of the Monday afternoon performance at the Grand Opera House will be turned over by the management to the fund now being raised for the benefit of Private McIntosh, the blind veteran whose home and all its contents were recently destroyed by fire. There was no insurance upon the property. Patrons of the Opera House will have the opportunity of witnessing a splendid performance and at the same time contribute to a worthy cause.

This is the last night for the excellent bill now running at the Grand and which consists of two good comedies, a Judge Brown story, one of O Henry's ranch tales, the usual Pathe news features and high-class vaudeville put on by Fredo and Primrose, in song, music, dancing and racey dialogue.

WEBER CANNOT APPEAR IN COURT

REEVE OF NEUSTADT TOO ILL TO LEAVE HIS HOME.

Owen Sound, Feb. 5.—Owing to his illness Reeve Weber of Neustadt will not come up for trial here today. A Toronto firm of lawyers, who are acting for Mr. Weber, has requested an adjournment and the case will not be heard till Tuesday, February 11. There are five charges against Weber under the Military Service Act, one being of having offered to give $500 to the Patriotic Fund if his son were exempted. The accused now has pneumonia as the result of the nine-mile walk he had last Thursday night after being run out of Owen Sound by a large crowd. Mr Weber has intimated that he intends to bring a suit for damages against the town.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile, and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

GO TO PENITENTIARY

Two Young Men Failed to Report for Service.

Kingston, Dec. 5.—James A. Babcock and William and Thomas Fitzgerald, of Hinchinbrook, were sent to the penitentiary for one year each, for failing to obey an order to report for military service. Magistrate Farrell said they would carry a brand through life which they would never erase.

Make Soldiers Of All Citizens

Toronto, Feb. 5. A system of universal military training in Canada was advocated by Major H. M. Mowat, M.P., for Parkdale, in an address to a number of the C. E. F. and the Canadian Militia at the Military Institute last night. The speaker acknowledged that a great deal of opposition to the carrying-out of the idea would be encountered from various quarters, but expressed the opinion that this would ultimately be overcome. Major Mowat did not agree with the idea that the last war had been fought and cited the example of the many wars that followed the battle of Waterloo, which was regarded by many as the end of the militaristic period. In the United States, everyone from colonel to doughboy was in favor of compulsory military training, according to the speaker, whose proposal was that a Universal Service Act be passed at once, rendering military training necessary for all men up to twenty-five years of age. He thought but six weeks a year would be a sufficient period, and expressed the opinion that the men should be paid by their employers while away.

COUNTY COUNCIL AHEAD OF AGE

VICTORIA REEVES TAKE UP THE QUESTION OF CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS.

At the recent meeting of the Victoria County Council at Lindsay, the question of the improvement of the rural schools came up in connection with the report of the Inspectors. A whole session was given to an earnest discussion of the question, especially in regard to the possibility of consolidation of a number of the schools. A committee consisting of the inspectors and a number of the reeves was chosen to investigate possibilities of a comprehensive scheme for the consolidation for the rural school of the county and to bring in a report at the June meeting.

It is proposed to hold a number of public meetings throughout the county at which the matter can be discussed and the people informed as to the work that is being accomplished by these schools elsewhere.

The allowance of the inspectors for travelling and other expenses was increased, in the case of Mr. Stevens, from $420 to $525, and in the case of Mr. Broderick, from $13 to $20 a month.

GONE! THE OLD STYLE PAIL

Yes, they're gone! Sad wrecks, aren't they?—fit only for the junk pile or the dismal places where the rubbish is shot.

Familiar objects, these, in the days when the coopered or metal pail was in common use. But those days are passing. With the growing use of such losses are reduced to a minimum. Wood pulp, shaped by tremendous hydraulic pressure and baked with intense heat, produces the most durable and economical container for liquids and semi-solids. Eddy's wash-tubs, milk pails, butter tubs, etc., not only outlast the old-fashioned articles of metal or woodenware, but actually cost less money. Your dealer has them.

SEEK TO UNITE VETERANS WITH LABOR AND FARMERS

Movement is on Among Low Tariff Westerners for New Political Party—Soldiers Are Needed Most by Others.

Winnipeg, Feb. 5.—A movement is on foot throughout the Prairie Provinces to unite, if possible, the Grain Growers, Labor and returned soldiers for common political action. Those behind this effort believe that the platform of the Canadian Council of Agriculture is broad enough for these three interests to stand upon. Whether this is so or not, an attempt to get them together upon it is being made.

In the prairie cities Socialistic Labor has not developed much strength at the polls, outside of Winnipeg and Calgary. In both of these cities it succeeded a few years ago in electing several representatives, but in Winnipeg, Riggs, the well-known Labor member of the Legislature, has drawn away from a number of his old-time Labor colleagues, because, being a soldier himself, he could not see eye to eye with them on the war. In Calgary it is doubtful whether extreme Labor would do as well today as it did during the last Provincial elections. Be this as it may, it realizes that to effect anything worth while it must join forces with something stronger. Hence the turning towards the soldiers and Grain Growers.

On the question of direct political action the Grain Growers on the whole hardly know what to do. For long there has been an element among them eager to break into politics, but the leaders have held this element in check. However, this year the demand for direct political action has become stronger, and it is doubtful whether it can be much longer restricted.

At the recent convention of the United Farmers of Alberta it was decided to countenance and support the "political action" group. But fearing the effect upon the association if the attempt should fail, the association as such decided to let its individual units, or districts, do as they liked. In short, the association, per se, will not undertake to nominate and elect candidates, but it has authorized this course by units, and it also permits its officers to give what help they may.

"Logical," Says Leader.

Discussing the subject recently, Secretary Musselman, of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers, said that political action would be one of the most important matters discussed at the approaching Provincial convention. Personally, he seems to think that the time for this has come. He has written considerably on the subject and undoubtedly inclines to the view that to line up behind either of the old parties would be a mistake and that something new should be tried. He points out that to get into politics is the logical thing for the Saskatchewan Grain Growers, since they have practically solved all the problems that they first set out to deal with.

Though conscious of their own strength, the knowing ones among the Grain Growers who favor direct political action, know that they need allies, so they naturally lean towards the returned soldiers and Labor.

Tariff Is Not All.

The eagerness of those behind the new movement to get the returned men in on it is quite natural. "It is great we are able to go through," recognized that in comparison with their numbers they will be the strongest element in the field, and that any political movement that hopes to be successful must have their support. But the returned soldiers think of other things than the tariff. Undoubtedly the great majority of them on the prairies are for low tariff, but they do not consider it the be-all and end-all of political effort, tas do some western factions. It is quite probable that, on the whole, they could work quite well with a large proportion of the Grain Growers, but it is by no means as certain that they could do so with the extreme Socialists. A large portion of the latter are very close to Bolshevism, and the returned men have nothing in common with that crowd.

In this new movement is a recognition of the fact that to attain success there must be oneness of action among all political elements on the prairies, and that the support of the returned soldiers is essential to success.

RUSHING FOOD TO THE HUNGRY

CONTROLLER HOOVER TELLS WHAT THE AMERICANS ARE DOING.

Paris, Feb. 4.—The passage by the American Congress of the bill appropriating $100,000,000 for relief in Europe "will life a load of fear from the hearts of millions of people in Europe," declared Herbert C. Hoover, director general of relief, in a statement issued recently. Mr. Hoover outlined the use to which the money is to be put and the means already taken for the relief of various peoples.

"We have at sea," he said, "or discharging in the port of Trieste 70,000 tons of food for the Jugo-Slavs, Serbians and Czecho-Slovaks. We have 30,000 tons of food either arrived at or in progress to the Black Sea for Roumania. The Armenian relief committee has 7,000 tons on the way to Armenia and Syria, as a gift, and we are placing 10,000 tons in Constantinople as a reserve for them. We have 40,000 tons in Poland, on the way or being transhipped from Rotterdam for the Poles, and 70,000 tons in Rotterdam awaiting re-shipment to the Finns and other liberated populations in Russia. The Polish relief commission is sending a gift of 7,000 tons to the Poles.

"Since the armistice the British authorities have distributed about 50,000 tons of food to the Serbians; the Italian authorities some 10,000 tons to the Austrians, and the British authorities have in progress some 12,000 or 15,000 tons of food to the Roumanians. We have since the armistice delivered into Rotterdam 200,000 tons of food for the Belgians and the liberated French, with the support of our treasury and Belgium and France. Our offices have been opened at virtually every capital among the distressed peoples, and with the passage of his Act of Congress we are able to go through."

BOARD OF EDUCATION MAY FINANCE PLAYGROUNDS

On Motion of Trustee Worth, Who Fathers the Proposition, a Committee is Appointed to Consider Ways and Means.

Mr. J. W. Worth at the meeting of the Board of Education last night championed the cause of the Playgrounds Association. He maintained that the Board of Education should take charge of the work now being carried on by this organization, which has none much in the past towards providing safe places for the children to play.

Mr. Worth had written Dr. Cody to ask whether the Board of Education would be justified in taking up work of this kind, and whether they had authority to appropriate money for such a purpose. He received a reply from the Minister of Education in which he was informed that the Board had such powers.

In dealing with what had been none by the Playgrounds Association in the past, Mr. Worth referred to the lack of funds which had constantly hampered its efforts. The difficulty of getting sufficient money had been increased as a result of the calls for financial assistance for organizations doing war work, but now that these were no longer being made he felt that this trouble would not be encountered.

In the past the Playgrounds Association had been able to do a fair amount of good work. They had equipped two playgrounds for the use of the children during the summer vacation and had engaged a male and a female supervisor at $100 and $75 per month respectively.

Mr. Worth enlarged upon the good which could be accomplished if the Board would take an interest in this work and would extend the field of operations. It was hoped to provide six playgrounds such as the two which had been maintained in the past, and in these the children of the city would find a safe place to indulge in sports under the care of officials whose duty it would be to insure them against accident.

He urged the Board to take action and tabled a motion providing for the appointment of a committee to consider the feasibility of the proposition and make a recommendation to the Board at its next meeting. Those named upon this committee were Messrs. Cameron, McKone, Fowler, Dr. Neal ann Mr. Worth.

Mr. Fowler, in seconding the motion, commended the idea heartily.

Chairman Denne wanted to know where the money to be devoted to the development of such a scheme was to be obtained. Mr. Fowler replied that as there had always been a deficit at the end of the year this was not a very serious consideration.

Chairman Denne thought it unfortunate that provision had not been made for the financing of such a venture when the estimates were struck.

Mr. Worth replied that he had been waiting for the end of his correspondence with the Minister of Education and did not feel like moving in the matter until he was sure of his position.

"Why didn't you give notice of the probability of a demand of this kind?" rejoined Mr. Denne.

The discussion ended at this point and the motion was submitted and carried.

CALL GOES OUT FOR BUSINESS MEN

TO HELP FIND PLACES FOR THE RETURNED SOLDIERS.

How many successful business men of this city will undertake to find positions for ten returned men?

If every successful man would take it upon himself to personally place even one or two other men, it would give a boost to the employment situation. But if one hundred business men each undertook to place ten men, things would move along in good shape.

Big Brothering upon a new scale has been commenced in Boston as a solution to the employment problem. The idea originated with the district manager of the General Electric Co., Chas. B. Davis, who announced that he would personally assist the work of the Boston Service Man's Employment Bureau by finding positions, picked positons suitable to their ability, for ten men, provided he could link up the services of one hundred other successful business men to undertake the same number of placements.

"It is the Andrew idea," says one business man in describing the scheme. "You will remember that Andrew was the disciple who, not content with getting good news himself, went out and gathered in those he met."

Well, the successful business man in this story does not rest until he has got out and helped ten other fellows on the road to success. The bargain does not place anyone under an obligation to fit the ten men into positions straight away, but it means that each one of the ten will be taken individually and handled exclusively until he is satisfactorily placed.

Who will start the ball rolling in Canada?

Wanted—Live business men who will undertake to personally place three or more returned soldiers.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

TELLS RHEUMATISM SUFFERERS TO EAT LESS MEAT AND TAKE SALTS.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urin! the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

J. Ramsay Macdonald Is Condemned by Many People But Remains a Labor Leader

IN considering the part that Labor has played in the British elections, and is to play in the period of reconstruction that is coming, it is impossible to ignore J. Ramsay Macdonald. Perhaps there is no man at whose head more uncomplimentary epithets have been hurled during the war than this advocate of evolutionary Socialism. Yet he is a man who commands wide influence in the Labor party, and despite his pacifist activities and his pronounced socialistic creed, he is not a "Bolshevist," or one who advises revolutionary methods. If he were, of course, he would not be enjoying his present position as member of the British House of Commons.

Macdonald was born in the little Scotch hamlet of Lossiemouth not far from the border, in 1866. His mother came of a good family, but the worldly circumstances of his parents was not far removed from absolute poverty. His father was a farm laborer in Elgin county. As a boy, young Ramsay had ambitions to be a lawyer. But as he grew older he began to perceive that the doors of advancement were closed to him through lack of "influence," as we should call it in this country, or "interest," as they say in England. He found himself forced into such jobs as that of factory hand, stable boy and messenger.

He had come under the influence of one of the old village "dominies" in the county of Elgin, however, and his mind had been set in the direction of intellectual ambitions. He must have acquired both the taste and the means for independent reading, for he had little schooling. But he did acquire from his early struggles and his disappointed desire to become a lawyer a strong sense of the injustice of society to the worker, and he has never changed his views on that subject.

He came to London in 1886 and became secretary to Mr. Thomas Lough, a post which he occupied till 1891. He began to take an interest in the Socialist movement early in life, and a natural gift for lucid and graceful expression won him a place as a foremost exponent of Socialist doctrines. He turned out much of the Socialist propaganda, and spoke in its interests. He was on the council of the Fabian Society, one of whose distinguished members is Mr. Bernard Shaw, and also sat on the council of the Labor party. From 1901 to 1904 he was a member of the London County Council.

He made two unsuccessful attempts to get into Parliament, contesting Southampton in 1895 and Leicester in 1900. He was finally elected in Leicester in 1906.

Ramsay Macdonald is largely responsible for the organization of the Labor movement in Great Britain. He has a genius for organization. His power of clear exposition helps, too, to win for him a foremost position as leader of the workers. He was leader of the Labor party from 1911 to 1914. Formerly he had been chairman of the Independent Labor party (1906-9) and from 1900-1911 he was secretary of the party.

Ramsay Macdonald's attitude throughout the war made him one of the most disliked men in the Empire. The most conspicuous fact about him, the London Post once remarked, is that he is out of jail. He was the champion of the conscientious objectors. He could not see any jurisdiction for the war beyond the point where the democratic forces of the world were ready to take things into their hands. The war's main object, he contended, was not the destruction of the German Empire, but the destruction of the existing social system.

It was these views that made him such a strenuous protagonist of the "peace by negotiation" movement, and a termination of the war by concentrated action on the part of the Socialists of the world, including those of Germany.

Ramsay Macdonald, since he became a leading exponent of Socialism and a leader in the Labor party, has traveled widely and moved in the best social and intellectual circles. He has given an intellectual trend to the workingman's Socialism, lifting it out of the fiery impracticalities of the "soap box" school. Here is his own definition of Socialism, taken from a book which he wrote on the subject for an educational series: "Socialism is the creed of those who, recognizing that the community exists for the improvement of the individual and for the maintenance of liberty, and that the control of the economic circumstances of life means the control of life itself, seek to build up a social organization which will include in its activities the management of those economic instruments such as land and industrial capital that cannot be left safely in the hands of individuals."

In 1896 Macdonald married Miss Margaret Gladstone of the Woman's Industrial Council, a daughter of a distinguished man of science.

The Busy Censor.

When the peace news came Nov. 11th, a certain church-goer concluded to send a cable message to his nephew in England and used just the word "Doxology." Five hours later the telegraph operator called the sender and advised him that the censor wanted to know what code he used, as he could not find the word "Doxology" in his code.

Mons Will Be Remembered In History of British Army For Two Glorious Reasons

FOR the British army the war ended where it began—at Mons.

At the beginning Mons was a retreat—a glorious retreat, but nevertheless a disaster to British arms.

To-day Mons spells victory for what the Germans termed a "contemptible little army." The "Old Contemptible little army." The "Old Contemptibles," they have been known ever since those dog days of a torrid summer, and the term is one of highest honor.

Philip Gibbs had pointed out that it would be one of the most remarkable coincidences of the war if the British were to retake Mons before the end of hostilities. They did, and the strange circumstance came to pass. British troops poured into the suburbs of the Belgian city, which was the pivot of the bitterest fighting of their first campaign, and Mons was won for the Allied arms before the raising of the white flag. For the hundredth and the last dramatic time the "Old Contemptibles" won undying fame.

Mons, in the south of Belgium, and the centre of that country's coal district, was a busy unfortified city of 30,680 when war began. Its ancient military history had been all but forgotten, and the fact that since its rise in the eighth century it had been fortified, besieged, dismantled and fortified again in successive wars had little interest for its prosperous inhabitants, with their markets and factories and mines. Then came the German army, halted at the forts of Liege, but halted a few days only, and the hordes of the Hun swept through the land. The mines of the Mons district furnished fuel to keep the German cannon factories going with a brief interruption, from that time on.

When the British armies joined forces with their French and Belgian allies in the field, their drive was made on Mons. The result may be recalled from these excerpts taken here and there from Sir John French's despatch to Lord Kitchener, the Secretary of State for War:—

"Sept. 7, 1914.—The transport of the troops from England, both by sea and rail, was effected in the best order and without a check.

"The line taken up extended along the line of the canal from Conde to the west through Mons and Binche on the east.

"About 2 p.m. on Sunday, the 23rd. (of August), reports began coming in to the effect that the enemy was commencing an attack on the Mons line, apparently in some strength.

"In view of the possibility of my being driven from the Mons positions, I had previously ordered a position in the rear to be reconnoitered. This position rested on the fortress of Maubeuge on the right and extended west to Jenlain, southeast of Valenciennes on the left.

"When the news of the retirement of the French and the heavy German threatening on my front reached me, I endeavored to confirm it by airplane reconnaissance, and as a result of this I determined to effect a retirement to the Maubeuge position at daybreak on the 24th.

"A certain amount of fighting continued along the whole line throughout the night, and at daybreak on the 24th the Second Division made a powerful demonstration as if to retake Binche. This was supported by artillery of both the First and Second Divisions, while the First Division took up a supporting position in the neighborhood of Elesant. Under cover of this demonstration the Second Corps retired.

"The Third Division on the right of the corps suffered considerable loss in this operation from the enemy who had retaken Mons.

"The Second Corps halted on this line, where they partially intrenched themselves, enabling Sir Douglas Haig with the First Corps, gradually to withdraw to the new position."

Gen. Allenby and his cavalry covered the retreat of other troops, reinforcements were brought in by rail to strengthen the new line, and Sir John French's report continues:

"Having regard to the continued retirement of the French on my right, my exposed left flank, the tendency of the enemy's western corps to envelop me, and, more than all, the exhausted condition of the troops, I determined to make a further effort to continue the retreat till I could put some substantial obstacle such as the Somme or the Oise between my troops and the enemy and afford the former some opportunity for rest and reorganization. Orders were therefore sent to the corps commanders to continue their retreat toward the general line Vermand-St. Quentin-Ribemont. The cavalry, under Gen. Allenby, were ordered to cover the retirement.

"There had been no time to intrench the position properly, but the troops showed a magnificent front to the terrible fire which confronted them.

"At length it became apparent that if a complete annihilation was to be avoided the retirement must be attempted, and the order was given.

"The movement was covered with the most devoted intrepidity and determination by the artillery, which had itself suffered heavily, and the fine work done by the cavalry in the further retreat from the position, assisted materially in the final completion of this most difficult and dangerous operation."

Gen. French paid tribute to the heroism of the British commanders and to the work of the French leaders, deplored the inevitable heavy losses which his armies had suffered, and then acknowledged the immense

BLUFF FOOLED PIRATES.

Paper Barrage Blocked Straits of Dover.

The story of the greatest bluff of the war is told by the Manchester Guardian, a well informed newspaper. When her submarine campaign began in earnest, Germany was getting many submarines through the Straits of Dover despite all the British anti-submarine boats could do against them.

A wonderful fixed barrage was then designed for the Straits—only designed—with extraordinary electrical appliances, alarm signals, contact mines, electrical wires and dozens of new secret devices. By some means these designs fell into the hands of German secret agents. It was said Germany had paid $20,000 for them. Then there was peace in the Straits of Dover. The new barrage—on paper—was too formidable and complete for the German submarines in that stage of their development. Germany knew or thought she knew—when she was beaten, and for more than six weeks there was no attempt to break through the barrage.

There was, however, no barrage, except as it existed in the designs which had been foisted upon Germany. Great Britain had neither the right mines nor the mechanism to make them ready at the time. This story is not guaranteed by the Manchester Guardian which, however, declares it is not more astonishing than some authenticated legends of the great war.

Was a Kingly Speech.

There are kings and kings. One sort has gone to the limbo in which they rightly belong, this sort including the treacherous Constantine, the even baser Ferdinand of Bulgaria, the weakling Charles of Austria, and the kinglets of the late German empire who aided and abetted the "All Highest" in his scheme to conquer Europe and the world. A few still remain who do honor to their positions because they have the right views of kingship and regard themselves as symbols of authority rather than as rulers by divine right, and who recognize that their rule is derived from the people. Among these are Albert of Belgium, who has returned to his capital amid remarkable manifestations of affection and loyalty, and George of England—or Windsor, as he has elected to call himself in order to divest the British throne of any of its previous German associations.

King George's reply to the leaders of his empire on the occasion of his reception of addresses passed by both Houses of Parliament was a model of what such a speech ought to be. There was no vain-glorious boasting about "my army" and "my navy" and "my people," though he gave to all three the tributes that are their due. It was a message of gratitude to all who had so valiantly fought to secure their own rights and liberties and those of the world. The King's tribute to the representatives of India and the overseas dominions was indeed well merited. Britain and its King have reason to be both proud of and grateful to the men of the far-flung empire who voluntarily gathered together from the four corners of the earth and fought with magnificent valor against the forces of evil and brutality so formidably arrayed against them. They furnished an object lesson for the whole world to ponder.

King George was right in emphasizing the fact that the British fleet has largely helped to win the war. His tribute to the memory of the late Lord Kitchener was also a just one. The initial work done by that great and lamented soldier in creating the wonderful British army which fought with such splendid valor at Mons, the Marne, in Flanders and in France, as well as in the Near and Far East, will never be forgotten.—New York Herald.

Siberian City.

One of the principal Siberian cities is Tobolsk, the commercial center of the vast province of Tobolsk, which extends over an area of 500,000 square miles, a large portion of which, however, is practically uninhabited. The most prominent building in the city is the Kremlin, built in imitation of the great citadel in Moscow. This structure was erected by Swedish prisoners of war captured by Peter the Great at the battle of Poltava in 1709.

How Schooner Got Name.

How did the name "schooner" originate? It was about the year 1713 and at Gloucester the first vessel of the schooner type was launched. A tradition persists that enthusiastic at the speed made on her trial trip a boy exclaimed, "See how she schoons!" "A schooner let her be!" agreed the builder, hearing the remark. This is a probable story; the word schoon in ancient New England meant a flat stone to skip along the water.

High-Water Mark.

"High-water mark" is the line ordinarily reached by the sea at high tide. The general high-water mark of the sea is taken as the line at the limit of the rise of the medium tides and that of a body of fresh water in which there is no ebb and flow tide, is taken at the limit of the soil that is soaked affected by the water as to be marked with a nature and vegetation distinct from that of the banks.

Platinum and Sulphuric Acid.

Sulphuric acid is made from air, water and the fumes from burning sulphur. These are all cheap, common materials, but they won't unite without strenuous provocation ordinarily. Platinum furnishes a mild provocation, the mere presence of a trace of it causing the oxygen, water and sulphur to join hands chemically, and the king of chemicals is born.

Surely Educational.

Slavin (outside movie theater)—"Wor there any edificational illiums shown, Martin?" Conlin—"Faith an' there wor. Terrence, I learned among other things, how to act towar-rds me butler, how to enter me club properly, an' how to hang me coat and cane ou th' arrm iv th' gintlemanly attindant."—Buffalo Express.

Removes Scorched Spots.

Badly scorched linen may be improved by boiling well half a pint of vinegar, half an ounce of soap, two ounces of fuller's earth, and the juice of several onions; spread this over the linen wherever it is scorched and leave it to dry. When dry wash the garment, and the scorch will have disappeared.

Silver Spruce Popular.

The silver spruce of British Columbia is in such demand for airplane construction because the trees grow extremely tall, sometimes 150 feet, and they taper but little toward the top. From them can be obtained long wing beams for flying machines, which run from 15 to 35 feet in length.

Describing Him.

"That feller is such a fool," commented the gaunt Missourian, "that I reckon likely when he was a baby his maw used to hold him by the ankles and tote him around with his head hanging down like a chicken."—Kansas City Star.

Indian Superstition.

A student of Indian customs relates that among the Seneca tribes was one remarkable for its beauty. When a maiden died the Indians imprisoned a young bird until it first began to try its powers of song, and then loosing it with messages and caresses they loosed its bonds over her grave in the belief that it would not fold its wings nor close its eyes until it had flown to the spirit land and delivered its burden of affection.

Accuracy Better Than Speed.

People who go in for speed records are not as wise as they think they are, for speed without accuracy is of no avail. True, time is at a premium in every line these days and we should not under any circumstances waste a minute unnecessarily. But if we aren't sure about any phase of our work we must take sufficient time to go into it and not rely on chance to help us where we can possibly help ourselves.

HOW CANADIENS DISCOVERED GOALKEEPER GEORGE VENZINA

Jack Laviolette Saw Young Net-Guardian Give Remarkable Performance at Chevrantiere and Induced George Kennedy to Give Him a Trial

As hockey fans may be interested in knowing a few particulars about Goalkeeper George Vezina's "plunge" into professional hockey. To meet this wish it is necessary to go back in memory to the formation of the National Hockey Association in 1910. That year marked the initial appearance of the Canadiens in pro hockey. Their debut was far from auspicious. Like a rudderless ship buffeted about on a tempestuous sea, the Canadiens floundered all season through the N.H.A. championship series, finally winding up in the cellar with an inglorious standing of two wins and ten defeats, and a scoring record of 59 goals for and 100 against. The Canadiens' poor showing was mainly attributed to a demonstrable weakness in goal, no player having been found capable of filling this place satisfactorily.

Between the close of the hockey series in March, 1910 and the revival of the championship in December of the same year, George Kennedy, who then enjoyed a continent-wide reputation as a wrestling promoter, acquired the Canadien franchise. The debonnaire George immediately undertook to reconstruct the team. Hearkening to the requests of the French-Canadian "fans" that he build his team along racial lines, Kennedy set about to gratify their wishes as far as possible.

Meanwhile, suggestions as to the best way to remould the team kept pouring in daily on Kennedy. Out of this maze of suggestions, Kennedy had to select those which he deemed worthy of consideration and dismiss the others from his mind. The most vexing problem to solve was the finding of a goalkeeper of proven ability. Xavier Giroux, the veteran net guardian of the Rockland team of the Lower Ottawa Hockey Association, and Henri Gauthier, the star goaler of the Grand Mere Septet, champions of the Inter-Provincial League, had both been strongly recommended for the job.

Just as George Kennedy was preparing to dicker with one or the other of these two players, Jack Laviolette, the veteran of innumerable hockey battles whose athletic career was abruptly terminated last summer by the amputation of a foot following injuries suffered in an automobile accident, advised Kennedy to give a trial to a young chap of Chicoutimi by the game of Vezina whose work in goal against the Canadiens in an exhibition game played in Chicoutimi impressed him as the equal of any performance he had seen in professional hockey.

Acting on his advice, Kennedy wired transportation to Vezina and requested him to report for practice. Vezina's first appearance in practice was a revelation. He made good from the start and his job has never been in danger since then.

Every fall, after a summer spent in Chicoutimi, following his trade as a carpenter, Vezina reports to George Kennedy, signs his contract without any blare of trumpets and announces he is ready for the championship race. Ever since he joined the Canadiens, Vezina has formed the habit of reporting almost on the eve of the opening game. One or two practices are sufficient to restore his eagle eye.

George Kennedy's acquisition of Vezina has been recognized as a master stroke not entirely devoid of an element of luck. Vezina's addition to the Canadiens changed the team almost over night from a tail-end aggregation to a championship contender. Ever since signing his first contract, Vezina has been a tower of strength on the team. Never missing a game during the eight years' connection with the Frenchmen, Vezina by his marvellous work before the nets has kept the Canadiens to the fore in every championship race. With Vezina in goal, Canadiens captured the N. H. N. championship in 1916 and 1917 won the Stanley Cup in a sensational series of games played against the Portland Rosebuds at the Montreal Arena in March, 1916, finished second in 1911, tied Torontos for the league honors in 1914 and were league leaders last year in point of games won and lost, though the Torontos were declared winner by Virtue of the play-off system.

Vezina's grand work has been commented upon in every city where he has appeared in action, be in Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Toronto, Seattle, Boston, New York or Cleveland.

The Canadien goal keeper wonder is barely over thirty years of age, so George Kennedy will not have to worry about finding a successor for some years to come.

Verily, Vezina is truly a wonderful goal-keeper, well worthy of having his name woven on his scarlet jersey the words of the time-honored phrase, "As solid as the Rock of Gibraltar."

ATTWOOD WINS ANOTHER

Canadian Boxer's Opponent Failed to Appear.

London, Feb. 5.—The long delayed contest between Kid Plested, of Smethwick, and Sergt. Joe Attwood, of the Canadian Army, should safe been decided at the National Sporting Club last night, but Plested failed to put in an appearance. Attwood thereupon won a commonplace fight with Fred Newberry, of Limehouse, on points.

Queen Mary Team Wins From Central

A very interesting game of hockey was played last night between the Queen Mary Electrics and the Central School. The score in the first period was 2-1 in favor of the Electrics, but the last half brought the score up to 4-2 in favor of the same. A clean game was played by both sides. The line-ups were:

HOME RUN BAKER SHUNS TRAVEL

FAMOUS THIRD BASEMAN HAS NOT YET DECIDED TO RETIRE.

Frank Baker, third baseman of the New York Yankees, has a habit of coming to bat and making a hit. He has come to bat in another way, and has made a hit with the owners of this club. The Trappe (Md.) slugger denies the reports, widely circulated that he has signed with the Upland team of the Delaware County league, Pennsylvania.

This eminent hit specialist has diagnosed his own peculiar case and has decided he is not afflicted with the salary meningitis or anything resembling this malady prevalent among high salaried baseball players. Baker considers himself well paid, according to a letter written to a friend in the east. At least in telling the inside facts relative to the hesitancy about coming back this ball player doesn't mention the money question, which makes his case really remarkable.

Money Does not Figure

Baker has even gone so far as to promise Miller Huggins, leader of the Yankees, positive information on his intentions within a specified time. If Baker finally decides to retire from baseball, he intimates the money consideration will have nothing to do with his action. Of course, in that event, Frank may pick up a little extra coin by occasionally playing ball with the Upland team.

The really remarkable thing about Baker's latest threat to retire is that he makes no demand on the New York club. There is one thing that seems to pester this ball player and makes his major career irksome. It is the travelling end of the game. In a swing around the American league circuit, Baker may be found at the hotel where the Yankees put up in the lobby lolling around in a cane and giving one the impression that time is hanging heavy on his hands.

"There is no life for me," said Baker, "on one of these trips. I'd rather be out on the farm with the cows and chickens."

Baker has been in the setting business for several years and the report, emanating from New York that had him quitting again was taken with reservation by the fans. It looked like another holdup propo tion.

Baker was in New York recently, but failed to visit the offices of Col. Jacob Ruppert, jr., president of the club. He went to New York with his wife to meet her brother who returned from France last week.

He Dislikes to Travel

"In regard to baseball I have not signed with Upland," said Baker. "I will not sign with any club until I let Manager Huggins know just what I intend to do. It is well known how I feel about baseball. I love the game, but dislike the travelling end of it. I told Huggins when we met at Baltimore a short time ago that it was very busy with our new home and expected to be until late in April. I promised to let him know as soon as I reached a decision whether I would play ball, and I intend to do exactly as I promised."

The home which Baker is building at Trappe, Md., is said to be one of pretentious dimensions and beauty. The ball player personally superintended the cutting, hauling and sawing of the timber to be used in its construction. He plans to supervise the building of his home. This may cause him to report late for spring training.

Fire loss of $33,800 during 1918 was reported to Brantford City Council by Chief Lewis of the Fire Department.

ARENAS WIN FROM THE CANADIENS

CONTEST IN TORONTO LAST NIGHT ENDS IN 6-3 SCORE.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—In a rather listless exhibition Arenas last night defeated Canadiens by a score of 6 to 3. The locals secured a commanding lead in the initial period and thereafter were not forced to extend themselves to gain the verdict. The visitors used their regular line-up, with the exception of Hall, who is suffering from an injury to his leg.

Arenas showed good form and had a distinct edge in speed. Randall proved effective and his grand rushing enlivened the proceedings. Noble also played a nice game, despite the fact that he was the victim of a nasty slash from Lalonde. The incident happened in the first period and for his part in the affair Lalonde drew a major penalty.

The game could not compare with several others that have taken place this season, and with the exception of occasional flashy plays by Meeking, Randall and Noble, the fans were given little opportunity to enthuse. The locals started out well and notched four goals to Canadiens' nil in the initial period.

Arenas Secure Early Lead.

Arenas started out well and soon forced the visitors back on the defensive. Meeking replaced Noble when the latter was injured, and signalized his appearance by skating through the Canadien defence and notching the initial tally. Randall made it No. 2 a few moments later, and Noble added the third and fourth in rapid succession.

Canadiens broke away fast in the second session, and in one minute Berlanquette scored. Thirty seconds later Pitre notched another. Arenas then came to life and had the edge. Noble eventually scoring. McDonald shortly afterward secured the third and final counter for the visitors.

Arenas had a distinct edge in the final period and had their opponents on the defensive the majority of the time. Adams beat Vezina for the locals' last tally on a wicked shot from well out. The line-up:

Officials—S. Vair and L. Marsh.

BIGGEST PURSE IN RING RECORDS

WILLARD AND DEMPSEY WILL STRUGGLE FOR PRIZE OF $127,500.

New York, Feb. 5.—Jack Kearns manager for Jack Dempsey has reached an oral agreement with Tex Rickard, whereby he matched Dempsey to meet Jess Willard for $27,500, and one-third of the motion pict re rights. The time and place of the match were not fixed.

Both Kearns and Rickard agreed to post 5,000 when the agreement is signed on Dempsey's arrival here from Salt Lake City. Rickard will post 25 per ce of Dempsey's share sixty days before the bout. Fifty-five minutes of discussion was required before the promoter and Dempsey's manager reached a mutual financial plane.

"Split the Difference"

Kearns opened the conference by offering to match Dempsey against Willard for one-third of the $100,000 the champion is to receive, but Rickard refused absolutely to pay $33,333 to the Salt Lake City heavyweight and countered with a proposition of $25,000 and one-third of the motion picture rights. Kearns finally reduced his terms to $30,000 and Rickard raised his to $27,500 and for a time neither appeared willing to change his figures.

The conference was held in the presence of a number of newspaper writers and when the deadlock had continued for some time, Richard suggested that the size of Dempsey's share of the purse be left to them. A blind ballot was taken and Rickard's figures won by a margin of almost three to one.

May Leave North America

With the main detail settled the other features were easily arranged. An understanding was reached that the terms would be drawn up in legal form, and the contract signed as soon as Dempsey reaches this city, which will probably be not later than Friday.

In addition to the forfeit deposits, Rickard agreed to pay the travelling expenses of Dempsey and his training party in case the contest was held outside North America. Willard and Dempsey will have the selection of the referee, who must be agreeable to Rickard, and in case the two boxers cannot agree, the promoter will then name his choice which will be final. Rickard said that under no circumstances would he act as the referee, as he did in the Johnson-Jeffries bout in Reno on July 4, 1910.

Ten to Fifty Dollars

No date or place for the contest which under the contract calls for not more than 40 rounds, has been selected. Rickard expects to stage the bout on July 4, but said to night that he had not the slightest idea yet where he would finally erect his arena. He has until March 25 to announce the site and the boxers must train for at least six weeks at the scene of the battle. The price of tickets will probably range from ten to fifty dollars.

Under the present agreement the total amount of the purse for the two heavyweights reaches $127,000, which is the largest sum ever offered for a pugilistic encounter in any weight class. It exceeds by $6,500 the $121,000 record purse paid to Johnson and Jeffries.

No value can be fixed upon the moving-picture rights at present. The syndicate of moving picture men who paid $150,000 for five-sixths of the Johnson-Jeffries rights collected receipts of $357,000 on their venture.

General Pau and his party of French delegates, on their return from Australia, will visit Canada this month.

Mrs. Annie Bolds of Wakaw, Sask., is held by the police, charged with murdering A. Balla Magi, a Hungarian.

Mrs. Gibson of Simcoe died in Brantford Hospital. She leaves a husband, overseas, and four small children.

MOTOR SHOW MAY BE HELD TO HELP HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Matter Discussed at Annual Meeting of the Association Yesterday—Miss Hamilton, District Nurse, Submits Detailed Report—Directors Re-Elected.

The annual meeting of the Health Association was held yesterday afternoon in the Bank of Montreal Chambers, the President, Rev. Father Phelan presiding. There was a good attendance of members.

Rev. Father Phelan in a short address dealt with the work which had been accomplished in the past by the Health Association and with its hopes and aims for the future. He thanked the members for their assistance and co-operation during the three years he had held his present office.

It was decided to invest $1000 bequeather to the society by the late Dr. Burnham in municipal debentures or a war bond, upon motion of Messrs Denne and Breyfogle.

Miss Hamilton's Report

Miss Edith Hamilton the nurse engaged to carry on the good work of the association submitted her annual report covering the past year's activities.

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen:

I beg to submit the following report of the general work for the year 1918.

During the year 1918 there were one hundred and thirty nine patients.

Obstetric	30
Surgical	6
Medical	103

These had to be visited once or twice a day, thus one thousand three hundred and twenty three visits were made in all. Of these nine hundred and eighty one were free, as the patients were poor and could not afford to pay a nurse. Three hundred and ninety-two were paid for by the patients. The total sum collected was $102.

In the greater part of the fall months I have had influenza patients. In one case, the whole family of eight were down, and had there been no district nurse the results might have been fatal. The patients I attended twice a day seeing that they were fixed and made comfortable in the morning, and then I called in the evening to make their nights more comfortable! I am glad to report that the whole family recovered. Sometimes I called in after the patients were brought from the hospital to continue the treatment they had been receiving thus the patient a great expense.

One very important phrase of the work is the instruction given at home. I try to teach the friends at home. how to care for their own sick and how to keep their homes aired and sanitary so that sickness will be prevented. There are two reasons which make this necessary, one being that the nurse can only spend a limited amount of time with each patient and during her absence the family must continue to carry out what she has already begun. Eight times during the year I was called out at night.

Bedsides free nursing the following dressings have been supplied by the association to the free patients:—old linen, gauze, absorbent cotton, Lysol, Tr. green soap.

Tubercular Work

It is encouraging to note that owing to the preventative measures tuberculosis has not increased to any extent. Last year there were twenty three patients and this year twenty four, ten of whom were new. The unfortunate part of the matter however, is that the cases are not reported until they are advanced. Of these few, if any, recover, but these profit from the special attention of the nurse. As their lives are prolonged moreover the disease is kept from spreading which is of the utmost importance. During the year, seven hundred and fifty four visits have been made, seven hundred of whom were free. The patients have been supplied with milk and eggs and medicine and the following supplies have been given out:

10 sputum cups, 1200 refills for sputum cups, 45 ozs. of carbolic acid, a large quantity of old linen, clothing and comforters.

The following articles have been loaned: 4 air cushions, 3 tents, verandah curtains, thermometers, cots and soap-stones, coal oil stove, 3 electric fans.

The work has also been aided by the following donations.

Clothing—Miss Kerr, Mrs. Mein, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Galivan.

One patient through the influence of the Nurse's Supervision Committee has been sent to Muskoka for an indefinite period and this has been greatly appreciated by her. In fact, wherever I go the people express their keen appreciation of the help given them.

EDITH HAMILTON

Dr. Cameron on Conditions

Commenting upon the report of Miss Hamilton the Secretary, Dr. Cameron referred to the statement she had made to the effect that tuberculosis had not increased to any extent in the past year.

If it had not increased he was equally sure that it had not decreased and while the work of Miss Hamilton had been excellent it was, of course limited. He expressed the opinion that tubercular cases should be reported in the same way as other infectious diseases and that the different health organizations of the city should work more in harmony.

We have a school nurse and a city officer of health and Dr. Cameron felt it was unfortunate that with all the machinery in our possession we did not make better and more effective use of it. The great difficulty in fighting tuberculosis is in getting in touch with the cases, many of which are not even brought to the attention of a physician until the later stages of the disease.

Tuberculosis Not Decreasing

Dr. Neal stated that as far as he knew tuberculosis was not decreasing. He asserted that in London they did not allow a patient suffering from this white plague to become a source of danger to others in the community but removed him to a sanitarium by compulsory measures if necessary. He thought the M.H.O. had certain powers along those lines, here, felt that there should be some change in regard to the attitude now adopted towards this disease.

In Kingston, Guelph, Brantford and Kitchener sanitariums were established by the Government for returned soldiers suffering from tubercular troubles. In a number of years these buildings will revert to the cities in which they are situated. Dr. Neal concluded by expressing the hope that as the war is over some of the organizations which have been carrying on relief work might extend their support to the Health Association.

Sanitarium Wanted

Mr. Breyfogle was in accord with the sentiments expressed in the addresses of Dr. Cameron and Dr. Neal and thought that the Government should establish one of the sanitariums described by the latter, in this city.

Mrs. Kendry felt that the establishment in Peterborough of a branch of the Social Service League would be of great assistance if it would work in conjunction with the Health Association. Attempts had been made to form an organization of this kind but had been unsuccessful up to the present.

Miss Hamilton's report was adopted as were those of the other departments of the Association which were submitted. These included one by the treasurer, Mr. W. H. Dunsford.

Last year's executive was re-elected upon motion of Messrs Denne and Breyfogle. It is composed of Messrs Mason, Abbot, Powell, Peck, Dunsford, Breyfogle, McElderry, Father Phelan, Dr. Neal and Dr. Cameron. The lady members are Miss Archer, and Mesdames Aylmer, Turner, Scott, Coulthard, Kendry, Gardiner and Galvin.

Motor Show for Association

The Red Cross Society have expressed a willingness now that the war is practically ended to turn over the motor show which has been held in their interests in the past to the Health Association provided the exhibitors were satisfied. Thirteen hundred dollars had been raised by the Red Cross in three days through this source last year and the concensus of opinion was opposed to letting such a good source of revenue drop away when it might be used for some worthy purpose.

Mr. Denne, Mr. Breyfogle and several others expresed opinions upon this matter and the President of the Association, Rev. Father Phelan and the Secretary, Dr. Cameron were appointed a committee to interview the exhibitors at the motor shows of the past in regard to continuing the event for the benefit of the Health Association.

Mrs. Aylmer, Miss Archer and Mrs. Coulthard expressed their opinions which favored the idea of taking over the motor show if satisfactory arrangements could be made.

Upon motion of Miss Archer and Dr. Neal the Secretary was requested to write the Peter Robinson Chapter, of the I.O.D.E., the Business Girls' Club and the Thursday Club as to whether they would be satisfied to assist the Health Association in its work.

"HARD UP" SOCIAL AT ST. JOHN'S

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT WAS HELD LAST NIGHT IN SCHOOLROOM.

The "Hard Times" entertainment given last night in St. John's schoolroom by the Church Woman's Association proved to be a thoroughly delightful event. The president, Mrs. Seale, and the committee who were responsible for the several features, were heartily congratulated on the success of their efforts. The old costumes worn were very interesting; so were the pictures taken many years ago of present members of the congregation.

An excellent program was given, as follows:

Violin solo—Miss Harrington.
Grand March—Mrs. Massty Cooke.
Duet—Mrs. Hopwood and Mrs. Devey.
Song—Miss Quartermaine.
Topical, Vive la Campagnie — Mr. Coleman.
Song—Mrs. Amys (with violin obligato by Miss Harrington).
Monologue—Mrs. Hopwood.
Song—Mr. Ward.
Country Courtship Duet—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Devey.

The prize winners in the various events were as follows:

Mrs. Simmons—Hard Up costume, also first for courtesy bow to the judges.
Mr. R. J. Devey—Hard Up Costume.
Mr. A. H. Stratton—Photo contest.
Mrs. Medd and Mrs. Young—Observation contest.

Dr. Cameron made an excellent chairman, and Canon Davidson extended thanks to the ladies of the C.W.A. for their very fine evening's entertainment.

The serving of refreshments and the singing of the National Anthem wound up a delightful evening.

Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Ward, Miss Harrington and Mr. R. J. Devey furnished the piano accompaniments most acceptably.

SIXTY-FIVE THOUSAND MEN START A SYMPATHY STRIKE IN SEATTLE THIS MORNING

Entire Industrial and Commercial Life of City Is Tied Up and Newspapers Are Unable to Publish Usual Editions—Authorities Prepared to Preserve Order.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Seattle, Wash, Feb. 6—A strike of approximately sixty-five thousand union workers in nearly every trade and industry was set for ten o'clock today by a decision of the Central Labor Council late last night ratifying the time selected previously by a conference of a majority of the 130 unions affected. A general strike was called in sympathy for between forty thousand and fifty thousand metal trade workers who left the shipyards and contract shops January 21 to enforce demands for eight, seven and six dollars a day for the basic trades, helpers and laborers respectively.

Seattle's industrial and commercial life practically will be paralyzed by the strike. Newspapers are expected to suspend. Mayor Hanson and chief of police Warren said they were prepared to handle the situation should disorders arise.

NO PROFESSIONAL MAN TO BE ENDORSED BY LABOR

Trades Council Made That Point Clear at Meeting Last Night—Only a Union Man to be Nominated by the New Party.

Fellow Delegates to the Peterborough Trades Council:

Noting the tendency of politics to become the sole topic of discussion to the exclusion of more vital interests of this body, it may be pointed out that such discussions are sowing the seeds of discord and can only end in the disruption of this Council.

Political discussions have no place on the floor of this body, being made up, as it is, of adherents of every political faith, and, as the older delegates well know, there has never been a time since the formation of the central body that the wily politician has not attempted by fair means or foul to secure the endorsement of Organized Labor, well knowing what a powerful factor it is in securing the coveted position sought for, and without having fought any battles for the betterment of Labor.

Therefore, this, the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council, has no mandate to endorse the candidacy of any individual of whatever political faith. The endorsation of a candidate of one party to the exclusion of the candidate of another party, and who might be the better man, would be manifestly unfair, and here enters the influence tending to disruption. Part of the delegates to this body may in all good faith favor the former candidate and the remainder might favor the latter, thereby creating friction that is bound to become more heated the longer it is agitated, and anally to cause the breaking up and utter collapse of the Council. As you all must admit, this would be a calamity of no small proportions, and it would take years of effort to regain the proud position this organization now occupies in the activities of Peterborough. Having been a witness of the wrecking of two such Trades Councils caused solely by the introduction of politics, the details of which would take too long in the telling, I ask your support in preserving the unity and future usefulness of the Peterborough Trades Council by endorsing the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the introduction of party politics on the floor of this Council be now and forever prohibited. And be it further

"Resolved, That this Council endorse no candidate of any political party, except he be a member in good standing of a local union recognized by the Trades Congress of Canada."

Respectfully submitted,

H. M. MATHEWS,
Delegate from P. T. U. No. 248.

The above resolution, introduced by a member of the Typographical Union, precipitated a long and at times acrimonious debate in the Trades Council last night. Finally the resolution was tabled for twelve months, but not before it was manifested that the majority of the delegates were in favor of the spirit of the protest. The case of a local politician supposed to be ambitious to secure the support of Labor in his first bid for parliamentary honors was referred to frequently. Every delegate who spoke declared that no professional man should be endorsed by Labor, and that if the new Independent Labor Party did put up a man he must be one actually identified with some organization of workingmen.

The resolution was tabled for the reason that it seemed impossible to adopt it and still continue to allude to the new labor party, to which a large number of the delegates already belong. The action of the committee appointed to organize that party was approved of by resolution, and a notice will be hung out warning all professional candidates that it will be useless to apply to that body for endorsation.

Capt. Burnham sent to the Council a copy of the notice of his motion at the next session of Parliament for the appointment of a minimum wage board. An expression of opinion from Labor was asked for. The communication was filed without action on the ground that it is in the Legislature rather than in Parliament that Labor must make its stand. As Senator Robertson stated when in this city, the Federal authorities have jurisdiction over only those industries that are operating under a Dominion franchise.

The Labor members of the City Council were urged to work for an eight-hour day in all departments of the civic service, the firement included. The majority of the delegates seemed in favor of a removal of the present Sunday restrictions upon the restaurants, provided the same course was taken with regard to the ice-cream parlors, which, it was held, have as much right to sell their stock as the hotels have to keep their bars open on Sunday for the sale of temperance beer.

Delegates form the reorganized Musicians' Union were admitted to membership.

The interest in the meetings of the Trades Council appears to be steadily increasing, as shown by the attendance, there being upwards of a hundred delegates present last night.

After three years' overseas service with the 99th Battalion Major (Rev.) J. C. Tolmie, M.P.P., arrived home at Windsor.

Heavy losses were inflicted on the Bolsheviki in the Archangel district on Tuesday.

COMPENSATION FOR ALDERMEN

Ald. Murray believes that the members of the City Council should receive pay for overtime, that is, when they serve on committees or in any other official capacity during the regular working hours of the day. He does not object to the voluntary system so long as the aldermen are called upon to act only at night.

Ald. Murray brought this matter up at the Trades Council last night, submitting it in the form of a suggestion and asking for an expression of opinion from his fellow delegates. It was nearly 11:30 at the time and no definite action was taken, the Council deciding to take up the subject at another meeting.

The Peterborough aldermen under the present law cannot vote themselves compensation for any service which they may perform on behalf of the city. Before they could do so a special enactment by the Legislature would be necessary. Section 424 of the Municipal Act is explicit on this point.

County councillors may vote themselves daily pay and mileage so long as they do not go beyond $5 in the one case and five cents a mile in the other. In cities of over 100,000 population the aldermen may help themselves out of the public treasury to the extent of a sum not to exceed $500 a year each. Only three cities in Ontario are affected by this Act, Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa. There is special legislation which grants the aldermen and controllers a higher rate of compensation than this.

All the Peterborough aldermen can do in the way of compensating a member of the Council is to vote an allowance to the mayor, which is called "expenses" r other than salary and which has for years been fixed at $500 for the term of office. There is nothing, however, to prevent the Council from reducing this amount or from increasing it to $1000 or by any amount that they believed the ratepayers would stand for.

BUTCHERS OF CITY INSIST ON LOWER PRICES FOR MEAT

Inform the Wholesalers That They Will no Longer Pay Present Scale.

The members of the Butchers' Association of the city who deal direct with the public have become tired of hearing the complaints of their customers concerning the high cost of meat and of being looked upon with suspicion, as if they alone were responsible for prevailing conditions. It has been decided to do something to secure better terms.

Notice was accordingly served upon the wholesale dealers this morning by the retailers that they will no longer continue to pay the present prices for their goods. The men who buy the livestock for the wholesale houses were also notified to the same effect. The buyers will now be under the necessity of notifying the farmers that they will be able to pay present rates no longer, and some of them have so informed all of their clients who could be reached.

The prospects are accordingly bright for an early and substantial reduction in the cost of production of the meat to the consumer.

Deserters Get Off Lightly in Quebec

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Quebec, Feb. 6.—Hundreds of deserters under the M. S. A. are flocking in here to pay a fine of $5 and costs and regain their citizenship. Priests are bringing them in on trains in batches of from twenty to sixty. In Toronto yesterday Elmer Weber, of Neustadt, Ont., was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for deserting.

Ontario Veterans Land at Halifax

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, Feb. 6.—The troopship "Baltic" docked this morning with 69 officers, 27 cadets and 2095 of other ranks, also many civilians, most of the latter for New York. About half the soldiers are for Ontario points and go to Quebec for documentation.

RUSSIA ACCEPT ALLIES' OFFER

AGREES TO CONFERENCE, BUT ALL CONDITIONS ARE NOT COMPLIED WITH.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 6.—The Supreme Council, on receiving the acceptance of the Russian Bolshevik Government of the invitation to attend a conference on Princes Island, immediately made arrangements to send a joint commission of two representatives of each of the five great powers to meet the representatives of the Soviet Government.

It appears, however, according to the Havas Agency, that conditions laid down by the Allies for the holding of the Princes Island Conference has not been fulfilled because, for one thing, there is nothing to show that a truce has been arranged between the various Russian Government. For another thing, other organized groups of Russians have either definitely refused or shown themselves disinclined to meet the Bolshevik delegates. Their absence; it is pointed out, would cause the meeting to fail of attaining its principal object, which was to confront the various factions in Russia and bring them to an agreement.

SUPT. GRANT PROMOTED TO PLACE ON WELLAND CANAL

Will Be Succeeded Here By His Present Assistant Mr. D. Eason.

Mr. A. J. Grant, superintending engineer in the local office of the Trent Valley Canal, has been promoted to the same position on the Welland Canal to succeed Superintendent Weller, resigned. This is regarded as an eminent promotion and Mr. Grant's friends accept it as an appreciation of his faithful services here for the past twelve years or more. The office which he has been called upon to fill is an important one in view of the fact that extensive improvements and extensions are to be made in the Welland Canal.

Mr. Grant's place here will be taken by Mr. D. Eason, who has acted as his assistant for a number of years.

PIERCE BULLER IS FINED $10

FOUND GUILTY OF AN INFRACTION OF THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT.

Pierce Butler appeared in Police Court this morning charged with an infraction of the Ontario Temperance Act, having been arrested yesterday on Hunter street in an intoxicated condition.

He stated that he had sent to the vendor at Kingston a doctor's prescription for whiskey and upon receiving the liquor had taken it home and drank a small part of it.

He asked the magistrate to give him another chance and promised to do better in the future, but His Worship stated that he had been in trouble before and imposed a fine of $10.00 and $4.10 costs.

CAPT. BURNHAM ON LABOR ISSUE

SAYS PARLIAMENT HAS JURISDICTION OVER ENTIRE DOMINION.

With regard to the question of the Labor organizations, Mr. Burnham says that the Federal House controls the Labor situation in Canada and can make such regulations governing it as it sees fit. The Minister of Labor goes from one end of the Dominion to the other in the course of his duties and jurisdiction. Mr. Burnham has done more, possibly, than any other private member at Ottawa in improving the condition of Labor and expects to succeed in this matter also. "There can be no excuse for the hodge-podge called supply and demand now prevailing with regard to Labor or anything else," said Mr. Burnham. "However, I understand that Mr. Gillespie, Mr. W. H. Bradburn and Mr. G. N. Gordon will be brought out for the Toronto House, and it would be a great mistake not to have their support. They are all most able men."

Urge Compulsory Educational Law

LEGISLATURE OF QUEBEC NOW WRESTLING WITH THAT PROBLEM.

Quebec, Feb. 6.—Urging a far-reaching investigation into the compiling of statistics on public instruction in Quebec, recommending that the Government go deeply into the matter to establish whether the attendance at Quebec schools is really as high as claimed by the representatives from the General Catholic Inspector, the Catholic Council of Public Instruction, comprising members of the Legislature, but mostly bishops and high officials of the Roman Catholic clergy, again faced and studied the problem of compulsory education.

Seldom has the attendance of members of the Council been so large is it was this afternoon. Hon. C. F. Delage, Superintendent of the Catholic Schools of the Province, submitted to the Council two numerously signed petitions, one from Montreal and the other from Drummondville, asking the establishment of compulsory education. This was discussed at length.

It has been argued in the clerical press, and in the House also, that it was contrary to the spirit of the Roman Catholic Church to establish compulsion in educational matters, but this afternoon both Bishop Bruchesi of Montreal and Bishop Emard of Valleyfield stated that there is nothing in the dogmas of the Church that prohibit compulsory education. It was further established that eminent members of the clergy in France, England and other countries favored and praised compulsory education as a means of elevating the moral and intellectual standing of the population.

Finally it was decided to recommend that the Legislature order an attendance, since these were attacked as grossly inaccurate for the last few years.

The House will decide on the recommendation later.

MORE RAILWAY MEN ARE OUT ON THE LONDON LINES BY ORDER OF THE LEADERS

No Train Left Waterloo Station as the Drivers Failed to Appear—Strikers Are Incensed at Action of Bonar Law in Refusing to Treat With Them.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 6.—The first step in the direction of the threatened extension of railroad strike beyond the local lines in London was taken last night when some of the drivers on the Brighton and the Southerwestern Road were called out. The union order was issued during the evening, but a passenger train ran until midnight. Freight service, however, was practically suspended, following the issuance of the strikers' order. Early trains to the suburbs from Waterloo Station, the London terminus of the Southwestern, were not started this morning as the drivers did not appear.

The calling out of locomotive engineers on the line, while fulfilling the threat to call a great strike off on Monday, as also looked upon as a report to a letter from Andrew Bonar Law, Government leader in the House of Commons, in which he refused to meet the strikers. It is also the result of the failure of J. Bromley, secretary of the Association of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, to reach a settlement with Sir Albert Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, and Sir Robert Horne, Minister of Labor.

Refuses to Interfere

The government today was still maintaining its attitude that it could not interfere in the strikes now in progress for the reason that they were solely industrial controversies, but the great inconvenience which the London public is suffering has prompted government measures of relief, until a settlement is reached

These were initiated by the starting of a military motor service in London streets. In this situation the war office early in the day mobilized more than one thousand motor lorries along the principal routes of traffic to supplement the busses and take the place of the suspended tube service. These lorries were manned by military drivers.

It is estimated that they will be able to carry 250 thousand persons daily. No fare is charged and particular attention is paid to working women and girls. The strike of waiters and cooks in the hotels and restaurants is still inconveniencing thousands of Londoners but staffs for these eating places are being recruited from among the unemployed.

MUST INCREASE FIRE BRIGADE BY ONE HALF

Underwriters Will Insist Upon a Force of Thirty Men if Double Platoon System Goes Into Effect.

At the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committeee the following letter from the Canadian Underwriters' Association expressing their views upon and requirements under the two platoon system was read:

"I would advise that the two platoon system in the view of the members of this Association is in itself rather desirable, but this desirability depends entirely upon their being an adequate number of men on the brigade. If there should not be such an adequate number then the two platoon system is worse than the single.

As you are probably aware our standard for the single platoon system calls for one fully paid man for every 1000 population. Thus Peterboro requires as a minimum 20 paid men.

Further we require, where the double-platoon system is introduced an increase of 50 per cent in the strength of the Brigade, and under this system therefore, you would need 30 fully paid men. Your proposition to add four men to the present seventeen, is in our view, entirely inadequate and with the double platoon system would leave your brigade distinctly weaker than it is at present."

It was decided to adopt the double platoon system with the four men addition, in spite of the opinion expressed in the above communication.

Strikes Illegal The Leaders Say

MEN IN GLASGOW AND OTHER PLACES ARE ORDERED BACK.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 6.—(via Reuters).—The Trade Union leaders are contemplating strong action dealing with the revolutionary movement which has led to the unauthorized strike in England, Scotland and Ireland. The leader has been taken by the almagamated society of engineers, whose executive has suspended the district committees of Belfast, Clyde and London for violation of the rules by participating in unauthorized strikes. Furthermore, the negotiating committee of the engineering and shipbuilding trades yesterday manifested their members in Belfast, Glasgow and on the northeast coast, urging that they resume work immediately, pointing out that stoppages weakens the efficiency of trades unionism.

A cow near Orangeville gave birth to triplets; all are doing well.

PREMIER EBERT TO OPEN HOUSE

GERMANY'S NEW NATIONAL ASSEMBLY IS IN SESSION TODAY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Amsterdam, Feb. 6. — Friedrich Ebert, the German chancellor, will open the first session of the recently elected German National Assembly at Weimar at three o'clock this afternoon. Despatches from Berlin state that after the meeting of the body is thus opened the chair will be taken by the oldest members of the Assembly, probably Herr Pfannkuch.

The advices report that many members for Alsace-Lorraine have proved themselves for the first sitting of the Assembly. The name of Herr Eichhorn, former chief of Berlin Police Department, who was ousted during the troubles with Spartacans will be struck from the role of membership of the Assembly as his whereabouts is not known. He will be succeeded by the candidate in his district with the next largest vote.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1919

THE HEALTH ASSOCIATION.

EVERYONE WHO IS interested in the welfare of the city and in what is being accomplished by public-spirited citizens for the benefit of humanity, would do well to study carefully the report of Miss Edith Hamilton, the nurse employed by the Peterborough Health Association, which was published in these columns yesterday. It will probably be a surprise to many to learn that such a work has been quietly carried on around them for the past year.

There are people in the city who are actually too poor to afford the services of a doctor. There are others who are ill without realizing the seriousness of the consequences of neglect. Very often a doctor is called in only when the disease has made such progress that the most skillful treatment will avail nothing.

In the matter of dealing with ordinary diseases, a trained nurse, as Miss Hamilton is, is about as competent as a licensed physician. She can at least detect the incipient disease, warn the victim of his or her danger and take steps to arrest its progress. That is what Miss Hamilton has been doing among the afflicted in the city since her last annual report was filed, and the story of her ministrations can be heard in many a Peterborough home today.

It seems unfortunate that a work of so much vital importance to the community should be carried on by the charitable, depending for all income upon private contribution except the sum of $1000 voted yearly by the City Council. It would seem only reasonable that the Health Association should be recognized as a public body and supported by municipal funds. What other work carried on in the community can rank in importance with that of preserving the physical well-being of the people?

To prevent the spread of that dread disease, tuberculosis, is one of the chief duties assumed by the members of the Health Association. Miss Hamilton, in her annual report, says that she has noted no increase in the number of local cases during the past year. On the other hand, two medical members of the Board say that at least the malady shows no signs of abating. Both contentions are probably right, so that the urgency for preventive measures still exists. Tuberculosis, if taken in time, can be cured by modern methods. Once it has made progress up to a certain stage the case is hopeless. It is in detecting these cases at the beginning that the value of the services of Miss Hamilton appears.

The duly constituted Board of Health which is operating with provincial authority behind it is doing a splendid work in the city and the services of the Health Officer are invaluable. But the Health Board and Dr. Amys cannot possibly get as close to the people as the Association that is sustained by private enterprise and altruism. The two departments, if working in co-operation, could accomplish something really worth while.

The Health Association has asked the Council for the usual grant of $1000, and as a legal form the matter has been referred to the finance committee. There is no doubt as to a favorable report. Now that the war is over there are fewer calls upon the public for contributions, and the income of the Health Association for the coming year should be at least doubled. It is now proposed to hold the annual spring auto show for the benefit of the Association instead of, as formerly, for the Red Cross, which no longer requires the money, and as a worthy object the proposition has everything to recommend it.

THIRD PARTIES IN POLITICS.

WIN Minister of Labor Robertson was in this city recently he advised Organized Labor not to form an independent party of their own. Speaking from his own experience in public life, he said that more could be accomplished if Labor would unite to support a regular party candidate who was known to be friendly to their interests regardless of what his politics might be. President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, with which nearly every union in Canada is affiliated, is of the same way of thinking.

Parliamentary history fails to show that a third party has ever been able to accomplish anything of importance in the House. At the most it is usually nothing more than a disturbing element in the deliberations. It cannot secure anything in the interests of its constituents except by merging with the party in power. Two parties is the logical division of any body of men. There are always two main sides to every question raised in debate, no matter how many side issues there may be.

In any constituency where the two regular political parties are almost equally divided, Labor cannot hope by organizing a party of its own to supplant either of the others. The regulars will consent to no arrangement of the kind as long as they see a chance for their parties' success. If any candidate for office accepts a nomination from the independents, it is almost certain that neither of the old parties will be willing to take up his cause by endorsing him. If he is first nominated by one of the old-time parties and then endorsed by the Labor element, the new independent party practicaly loses its identity. Just as much could have been accomplished by the workingmen without a special organization. They have in such a case simply adopted the course recommended by Senator Robertson and President Gompers and agreed to support the party and candidate in whom they had confidence.

When Minister of Labor Robertson was in this city he stated at the meeting of the Labor men at which he spoke that the Dominion Government had no power under the B. N. A. Act to regulate the hours of labor in any industries other than those carried on under Federal charters, such as the railways. He also said that the McAdoo award providing for a working day of eight hours had already been given effect in Canada.

From this it is argued that any attempt to secure a Dominion minimum wage board would be useless. There is a difference, however, between the situation here and in the United States. The railways in the republic have been for some time under the control of the State. In Canada the hours of labor were fixed by order-in-Council as a war measure, not by Act of Parliament. In order to make permanent a short working day in all industries under the jurisdiction of the Federal authorities, some such body as a minimum wage board must be provided in order to get the question properly before the House. The minimum wage board that has been suggested will be in reality a commission to investigate labor conditions in Canada.

A CONTRAST IN COUNCILS.

THE MEMBERS of the Victoria County Council have shown themselves abreast of the age by taking up the question of improving the schools in the rural districts. The only solution of the problem as to increased efficiency is consolidation, and a committee, of which the public school inspector is a member, has been appointed to deal with the question. The committee will report at the June meeting.

In the meantime public meetings are to be held throughout the county for the purpose of educating the people up to the suggested reform, for without popular support the successful operation of the proposed system would be impossible. At these meetings addresses will be made by educationists who have first-hand knowledge of the workings of consolidated schools.

The action of the County Council followed the report of Inspector Broderick, whose field includes territory in Victoria nd Peterborough Counties. In that report he called attention to the low standard of education in the rural sections and recommended consolidation, just as he did to the members of our own County Council. Here, however, his report did not make the slightest impression upon the county legislators and no action was taken any more than in the case of a report of the same tenor filed by Inspector Lees.

Inspector Stevens, whose inspectorate takes in the greater part of Victoria County, was granted an increase in his allowance for travelling expenses from $420 to $525. Inspector Broderick's allowance was raised from $13 to $20 a month.

At the last meeting of the Peterborough County Council both inspectors asked for an increase for travelling expenses, basing their claims on the high cost of living which has increased over one hundred per cent. since the present scale was set. The committee to whom this matter was referred decided that Mr. Lees was entitled to a raise and recommended that he be granted an additional $100. The Council, however, in regular session turned down the recommendation and the old figure still obtains.

What with obstinacy as regards the good roads problem and indifference as to the welfare of the county schools, it is difficult to decide whether the Peterborough County Council is suffering from a lack of live leadership or from an excess of leadership of a variety, with the odds in favor of the latter solution of the question as to why the council finds itself so far behind the spirit of progress which is supposed to mark the present age.

WHERE IS THE JUSTICE?

A YOUNG MAN of enemy alien descent, with only one generation between him and the land where his father was born, was drafted for military service. He had spent all his life on a farm, amid environments not calculated to develop a combative spirit. Further than this, his father was a native of Germany, and national ties are always stronger than a patriotic sentiment cultivated in a new country.

The young man deserted his regiment, but was later captured and tried by a duly-constituted court, which, upon finding him guilty, imposed a sentence of fifteen years in the penitentiary, a term reduced to ten years by order-in-Council. Furthermore the deserter was paraded in disgrace before the regiment from which he had fled.

Another man, a soldier by his own choice, holding his King's commission and entrusted with vast sums of money with which to pay the members of the medical corps, stole $18,000 of the money committed to his charge. The young man first referred to was actuated by fear, perhaps the strongest of all human passions. The officer with the commission and with the well-paid office, was inspired by cupidity, the basest passion of them all. He had no excuse to offer of being forced into the service. His loyalty was all, or should have been all, for his Empire, and not for the power with whom that Empire was contending. He must have realized the enormity of his offence, of his hideous breach of faith. Yet on conviction he draws a sentence of only four years as compared with the ten heaped upon the deserter who by every standard of honor is the lesser offender of the two.

The deserter denied the country the benefit of such service as he was able to render. Individually, his services would not have turned the tide of war. But it will be claimed that the example that he set was pernicious and that he must be held up to the world as an example of the consequences of failure in the performance of his duty.

The shoulder-strapped thief gives to the world a worse example of human depravity than does the ignorant deserter. The money he appropriated would have paid the wages of and otherwise maintained three hundred and sixty or more enlisted men, volunteers or draftees, for one month. By his peculation he worked a greater mischief to the cause than did the other who took to the woods rather than fight.

The blind goddess never fails if left to herself. The trouble is that so many of her stupid administrators take advantage of her bandaged eyes to fix her scales so that they no longer work fairly as between the rich and the poor, the learned and the ignorant, the physical coward and the hypocritical sneak who sought to enrich himself by appropriating the money patriotic Canadians were denying themselves to raise to help win the war.

Peace Conference, But Not Peace

New York Commercial)

Excluded from the secret sessions of the peace conference, newspaper correspondents are drawing on their imaginations and are claiming victories for President Wilson in a fashion that would offend the representatives of other nations if they paid any attention to the stories. We have been told that President Wilson has secured the adoption of the League of nations as a first step in making peace and after that we hear from the same sources that the President will not press it but will let some other nation father this plan to prevent war. Now it is said that the President has induced England, France, Belgium, Portugal, Italy and the rest to refrain from annexing German colonies, but to hold them in trust, and that he has abandoned the idea of administration of these colonies by the League of Nations.

Truth compels candid American newspaper to confess that the peace conference has not arrived anywhere yet. President Wilson seems to have presented his views with great ability and plenipotentiaries of other belligerents say his theories are acceptable but they have not yet learned from him or others how to fit them to actual conditions. Meanwhile no treaty of peace is in sight and actual war is being waged in Russia and between some of the new nations of Eastern Europe which complicates the situation.

Would it not be simpler to make peace with Germany and her former allies and then try to set up the League of Nations to maintain peace. The vanquished have some rights, and the most important is peace. Let them know the judgment that overhangs them. If this is delayed until the League of Nations is created and takes action it is possible that Germany may reject the terms and renew the war with the help of new allies in Russia and mercenary Oriental soldiers such as are now reported to be fighting for the Bolshevist government. A dangerous state of war now exists in Russia and it is probable that vast armies can be recruited by promises of loot and high pay.

While the peace conference protracts the discussion in Paris serious labor troubles develop in the British Isles which are taking on a Bolshevist character. Workmen refuse to follow the leaders of their trades unions and are forming local organizations on the soviet model. Other European countries are similarly affected. Congress is starting backfires in Washington while the President is in France. It might not be easy to renew war if Germany and Russia combined resist the decrees of the League of Nations six months or a year from now.

France sees the danger and is anxious to hold the whole Rhine frontier as a barrier against a sudden incursion of the Huns. Prussia and Russia combined to overwhelm Napoleon the Great have not forgotten the story. The Entente Allies and America are certainly regarded and treated as foreign enemies by the Bolshevist Government of Russia, which is trying to drive American and other soldiers into the White Sea. German officers drill and command Asiatic mercenaries in Russia.

Do one thing at a time, and let the first be a peace that will legally end the technical state of war in Europe.

WIT AND WISDOM

Bobby's Version.

Asked to define "lunch", Bobby replied: "Lunch is what you have for dinner when your father is away."

Out of the Frying Pan.

"What are you laughing about?"

"Now that peace is here I'm thinking of the poor guys who got married to escape the draft."

Carrying On.

"Well," said Uncle Si Bruggins after a solo by a fashionable church choir tenor, "if that ain't the rudest thing I ever saw. Just as soon as that young man began to sing, every other member of the choir stopped. But he went through with it, and I must say I admire his spunk."

Brief But Pithy.

The fire-eating colonel had received a letter, which consumed him with rage, but this was his noble reply:

"Sir,—My stenographer, being a lady, cannot transcribe what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot think it. But you, being neither, will understand what I mean."

Obliging.

A countryman on a visit to London found he had lost his stickpin. Fortunately he had a friend at the police station, so he went and told him of his loss. The friend assured him he would not leave a stone unturned until the pin had been found.

When the man got back to his lodgings he discovered the pin on his dressing-table and immediately started off to the police station again. As he wended his way along one of the principal streets he saw some workmen pulling up the roadway to lay some new gaspipes.

"Don't trouble to take up any more, my lads," he cried. "I found the pin."

TO BUTTONHOLE FALL COAT

How Very Important Work May Be Done by Woman Who Is Doing Her Own Tailoring

When a woman starts in tailoring she usually takes her finished product to a man tailor for a pressing and for the buttonholing. Now, a little practice according to the following suggestions, writes a correspondent, will enable any woman to make her own buttonholes by hand and to do it creditably, too.

Begin by marking off the place for the holes and their length, which is gauged by the button to be used, of course. Now, with a sharp knife cut your hole through material, lining and all. If it is inclined to fray, a row of machine-stitching around the line of marking before it is cut is a wise precaution, or wet the slit with a liquid gum. Lay strong threads if necessary, and work over these the familiar buttonhole stitch, beginning at the inner end of the hole and letting the purl of the stitch fall along the slit, of course. When the outer end of the buttonhole is reached the buttonhole stitches are taken a trifle tighter around the end and radiate so that they form a round hole where the shank of the button will lie. This can be further accomplished if the threads which are used as padding for the buttonholing are pulled up a bit when the hole is finished to straighten out the edge. This gives firmness and strength and prevents the hole from stretching after continued buttonholing. Close the hole with a straight bar of buttonhole strand of thread along the edge or two stitches across the inner end.

British Armies in Great War

IN certain things the British army was easily first. It surpassed its allies and its enemies in air service. British mastery of the air was one of the essential and potent elements in ultimate victory, says Frank Simmonds in the New York Tribune.

Again, without the tank, which was a British contribution, the campaign of 1918 might have finished at the Hindenburg line, if, indeed, it had not closed even nearer to the positions held by the Germans in the summer. The French borrowed the idea and elaborated upon it, but the credit for the invention belongs to the British, just as to Byng goes the very great praise due to the man who first saw the possibilities of the new instrument and turned them to account at First Cambrai.

It is unquestionably true that the British army suffered by comparison with the French and German armies throughout the war. But all comparison is manifestly unfair, as comparison with the Germna army is even more unfair. If there is to be comparison it must be between the French army and the British navy, for as France put her reliance upon her army and concentrated upon it her best effort, Britain did likewise with her fleet. And surely such comparison will not be to the disadvantage of the British.

As to the British army the great thing we all have to remember is that it was created after the war began and after the best of the officers and men of the British regular army had been, in the main, killed in the opening battles. It was thus deprived of exactly the elements that it most needed for its own training.

In the face of these handicaps, in the face of the still further obstacle due to the fact that the enemy was in the field and that he had to be held, a task requiring all that was left of British officers and regulars and demanding new troops before they were even partially trained, the British managed to build a great army, without which victory is ever impossible. Napoleon found, when the veterans he had inherited from the wars of the Revolution were gone, he could not win victories of the sort which he had won in the earlier campaigns. But he never had to improvise an army or a system. The British had to do both.

It was always impossible in four years to fashion an instrument as perfect as that machine built by the Germans as the result of a full century of patient and uninterrupted effort. We also misunderstood the facts in the early period of the war, when the greatness of the danger inevitably provoked impatience and invited unjust comparisons. But it is not by comparison that we can fairly measure the British achievement in their army building. They started with next to nothing, when the structures of their allies and enemies were practically complete.

With all their handicaps, with all the limitations imposed by the situation, they built a great army, frequently victorious, sometimes defeated, suffering the same disappointments which came to Grant's army in 1864 after it had at last become convinced of its superiority, sharing this disappointment with a nation equally blind to certain truths but gaining in power and efficiency up to the hour when it broke the strongest lines of the enemy, manned by the best of the surviving troops of the foe, and began a march to victory which was only halted by the white flag of the Kaiser's generals.

I think the fair measure of British military achievement is a contrast between what Britain has done and what military men, Germans, for example, believed she could do four years ago, when the Kaiser challenged Great Britain as well as France and Russia. And nothing is more certain than that, had the Germans comprehended that the British army could play the role it has played, they would never have risked British entrance into the struggle. You get the full measure of German amazement in all the official German comments on British operations from the First Somme onward. For them the British, despite manifest and recognized limitations, were steadily doing the impossible.

We see things far more calmly now than in the heat of the terrible years that have gone by. Comparisons which were inevitable then seem at once meaningless and inequitable now. The future will see even more clearly. It will perceive that Britain transformed a civilian population into a vast military force which kept the field, held the well organized and well trained foe when it was still lacking in training and in munitions, and finally shared in the complete triumph of French and American troops, a triumph to which the Americans were only just beginning to contribute.

Perhaps there is no better summary of what the British army achieved than is supplied in the bald statement that the British army occupied Mons on Aug. 21, 1914, and reoccupied it on Nov. 10, 1918. In the time that separates the two dates the German army were out, it broke itself against British and French defence and it was incapable of meeting French, British and American attack. And in all the time from French's retreat to Haig's last advance British military contribution to the sum total of allied resources increased steadily. I think we shall some day have the final measure of British military achievement when the archives of the Great General Staff in Berlin are thrown open and we are able to see exactly what British military contribution was estimated at by those who risked the world war.

Proceeding north or south from the equator, the snow line, of course, lessens in altitude.

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

Col. Victor C. Vaughan of the surgeon-general's office, discussing the influenza epidemic at a recent meeting of the American Public Health association, observed that the respiratory diseases kill some 40 per cent. more men than women, since men move about and are exposed more than women—exposed, you should like understood, not to weather, or anything like that, but to spray or contact infection from persons with slight respiratory troubles, vulgarly called "colds."

The recent statistics show that influenza, if that is the name of the epidemic, has chiefly affected persons from 20 to 45 years of age, persons presumably in the prime of vigor and health. One reason for this is that only persons of that age have been serving in the army; another is that both men and women of that age get about more than younger or older people do, and hence stand a greater chance of picking up any infection people are peddling about.

Influenza is a disagreeable illness, but not at all fatal, in twenty-nine out of thirty cases. When pneumonia develops as a complication of influenza, as it is not unlikely to do when the patient fails to remain at rest in bed in a well ventilated room or on a sleeping porch, the disease becomes serious enough.

In some places influenza was made a reportable disease. It was up to the doctor to decide whether to report a case of acute respiratory infection as influenza. He had no positive means of determining whether a given case was one of the "flu" or just the common acute respiratory infection usually called "grip" or "cold."

In some places the health authorities required isolation of "flu" patients for two weeks. Was it justifiable to isolate such victims of respiratory infection as the doctor in attendance considered influenza cases and not those he considered ordinary "grip"? Of course not. But that is the way public health authorities prefer to deal with respiratory infections. You see, the public, in the estimation of the public health authorities, is not yet educated sufficiently to understand how each and every alleged cold or "grip" is just as infectious and just as dangerous as is the particular case in which the attending physician assumes the presence of influenza.

Consistency in public health administration may come some day, but as yet we are still very much in the air.

An Anesthetic For Tonsil Operations.

Do you advise ether or cocaine as the anaesthetic for removal of the tonsils? M. W. B.

The choice of anaesthetic is for the operator to make. Sometimes general anaesthesia is necessary and in some cases a local anaesthetic is sufficient. It depends on the condition of the throat and of the patient. If I were to have my tonsils removed I'd let the operator decide on the anaesthetic and keep my own mouth closed until he got ready to work.

I seem to be able to go through the severest northwest winters, with the temperature sometimes falling to far below freezing, without noticeable discomfort, wearing very light summer weight underwear. In any season or climate the least possible clothing one can wear with comfort is best, from the hygienic viewpoint. Outside of the almanac and Uncle Hiram's correspondence with the faraway eminent specialist in all human ills, there is no known relation between clothing and joint disease, or between lack of clothing or insufficient clothing and respiratory disease.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Hal Chase Is Found Not Guilty

New Yor. Feb. 6—Hal Chase, first baseman of the Cincinnai National League Club, was acquitted of the charge of attempting to influence the result of baseball games last summer.

President John A. Heydler of the league rendered the decision after a week of study of the evidence submitted by the officers of the club and that offered by Chase in rebuttal.

"The testimony showed," said Heydler, "That Chase acted in a foolish manner both on the field and among the players and that the club was justified in bringing the charges in view of the many rumors which arose from the loose talk of its first baseman. Chase did not take his work seriously and was entirely to blame for the position in which he found himself. There was, however, no proof that he intentionally violated any of the rules in relation to tampering with the players or in any way endeavored to secure desired results in the outcome of games.

Chase refused to talk when informed of the verdict but his lawyers issued an statement for him which declared that legal action would be continued to obtain "full redress" from the Cincinnati Club, which caused his suspension "without cause" and held up payment of his salary.

War to Peace

Article No. 13 Cut out for Reference

Creating Opportunities for Employment

BESIDES helping to distribute employment through a chain of Employment Offices, the Government has developed plans to create opportunities for employment.

Briefly, these plans cover the following phases:—

1. Public Works

During the war, many important Public Works have been held up. The Minister of Public Works, has his plans and preparations made to proceed with the more necessary of these in the near future. This Committee has also been in touch with Provincial Governments and Municipalities, with a view to impressing upon them the necessity for similar action. The building and public works programme now in sight will provide employment for many returned soldiers and war-workers.

2. Railways

During the past four years, a great deal of work necessary to keep our railways up to standard has been postponed. Some millions of dollars must be expended on improving road-bed, constructing bridges, buildings and other improvements. Vast quantities of ties are being got out this winter. Equipment of various kinds must be secured. The Minister of Railways states that as soon as weather conditions will permit, some thousands of men will be absorbed in various railway undertakings. The supplies and materials required will also provide employment.

3. Shipbuilding

The shipbuilding programme arranged for by the Government will provide employment for many men during 1919. It is expected that arrangements will be completed to keep the shipbuilding yards in active operation throughout the year. The Government recognises that this ship construction is one of the best means of providing suitable employment for many skilled and other workers.

4. Export Trade

The Government has established a Canadian Trade Commission. This Commission has an office in Canada and a "trade mission" overseas. Through this trade mission it is anticipated that Canada will secure an important share in the business of providing materials and manufactured products required for reconstruction work in Europe. A short time may be required before final details are completed and definite results are announced. The business so secured will be distributed through the regular channels of trade and thus afford extra opportunities for employment.

5. Housing

The Government has set aside the large sum of $25,000,000 to be loaned through the Provinces in order to encourage the building of workmen's houses. When the season for building arrives, this work should give employment to many hundreds of men both in construction work and in the supply of materials.

6. Land Settlement

The Government, as already explained in a former announcement, has developed plans to help soldiers to become farmers, providing land, granting loans and giving training and supervision where necessary. It is expected that a large number of returning soldiers will take advantage of these opportunities. The scheme will involve the expenditure of some millions of dollars, a good deal of which will find its way into building materials, supplies, machinery, etc., all of which will assist in providing employment.

7. Road Building

The Government now has under consideration the question of joining the provincial governments in financing the construction of public highways. Should a favorable decision be reached, a large field for employment opportunities will be opened up. Regardless of Federal action, provincial governments are preparing their own road-making programmes.

The Government is alive to the necessity for providing employment opportunities, and stands prepared to assist in every way possible. If corporations and private citizens will join in this feature of Repatriation Work, Canada should have little difficulty with the employment problem.

FINDING WORK IN WINNIPEG

TRIBUNE OF THAT CITY HAS STARTED A SYSTEMATIC CAMPAIGN.

The Winnipeg Tribune in devoting special space to urging employers of labor, to co-operate in plans to find employment for returning men.

The Tribune is making a survey of its field in this connection and is using a Specimen Question Card seeking the following information from the employers:

Address . . . . . .
Business . . . . . .
How many employees enlisted?
How many have returned?
To return?
Not returning?
Are you keeping positions open for your former employees who are in the service?
Will you reinstate them at current wages?
Will you employ them as they return?
Will you give preference to soldiers by discharging enemy aliens or other employees provided a soldier can fill the position?
What are the prospects for additional employment in your business?
Are there any prevailing conditions affecting your business that will prevent you from taking back your former employees who enlisted? If so, please note on back of card how many soldiers will be affected thereby.

Throughout Canada the employers of labor, the G.W.V.A., Boards of Trade and other municipal organizations are co-operating in efforts to expand the opportunities for employment of both returning men and civilian workers.

Experience is like a light hug at the stern of a ship.

Honor Roll Of St. John's Church

The Honor Roll of St. John's congregation of members who enlisted is being finally revised. Relatives of men on active service are asked to read the roll in the church porch, and report any errors or omissions in writing to Mr. R. J. Dovey, 235 Park street, at the earliest opportunity as the roll will be closed at the end of February.

EXTEND WELCOME TO NEW WARDEN

MILLBROOK CITIZENS JOIN IN RECEPTION TO THEIR POPULAR OFFICIAL.

A large number of the friends of Mr. A. J. Henderson, Warden-elect of the Counties of Northumberland and Durham, met him at Millbrook depot and accompanied him to the Town Hall, where an impromptu program was given. Councillor Fred Clarke was appointed chairman. In his address he expressed his pleasure on the election of Mr. Henderson as Warden. Mr. Clarke was of the opinion that Warden Henderson will conduct the duties of the higher office in just the same capable way in which he has conducted the lesser duties of councillor, deputy-reeve and Reeve. The chairman then asked the clerk to read the address from the citizens of Cavan to Warden Henderson.

Mr. A. J. Henderson, Warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham:

Dear Sir,—The residents of the Township of Cavan with whom are associated the friends in Millbrook, have the greatest pleasure in meeting you on this occasion to tender to you congratulations upon your election to the highest position of honor and responsibility in the gift of the Counties, viz., the Wardenship, and for that distinction, we all appreciate and recognize the record you have made for yourself as a member of the Parliament of Northumberland and Durham, and the consequent honor to your home municipality. England's greatest poet has said, "There is a tide in the affairs of men which taken at its ebb flows on to victory." And your constant attention to the affairs and duties of the offices of councillor and reeve of Cavan has, after eight years of service, rewarded you with this honorable and worthy office.

There are outstanding occasions in the lives of nations, communities and individuals, which if grasped energetically and wisely, constitute stepping stones to further achievements, and that you have appreciated and added impetus to all such opportunities and achieved the reward is the proud satisfaction of your many friends here today, who welcome your return with victory on your banner. Your own township of Cavan has had the distinction, oftener perhaps, than any minor municipality in the counties, of donning the Warden's gown and there is a feeling of assurance and satisfaction that you will bring honor to the distinctive regalia of office in like measure to those who have gone before you.

That you may have every measure of health and loyal support by your colleagues in public office, together with happiness, long life and continued usefulness in many spheres of activity is the wish of all your friends.

Signed on behalf of the municipality of Cavan.

W. S. GIVEN, Clerk.

Warden Henderson's Reply.

Mr. Henderson made a fitting reply. He was grateful for the high honor given him by the Township of Cavan in electing him councillor, deputy-reeve and reeve, making it possible for the further honor of the Wardenship, and he thanked the electors, Cavan Council and also the members of the Counties' Council for their unanimous support. He would do his best to deserve the great honor done him. He also appreciated this reception to him.

Eulogistic addresses were delivered by the popular Counties' clerk, Col. Neil F. McNachtan, of Cobourg; Mr. John Greer, reeve of South Monaghan; Mr. Beatty, reeve of Hope; Mr. G. E. Burnham, reeve of Millbrook; Councillor J. L. McCamus, of Cavan; Mr. C. McNeil and Rev. W. H. Higgs, of Millbrook. Mr. R. J. Doak, ex-reeve of Millbrook, was also honored with a place on the platform. Deputy-reeve Baptie and Councillor Bland were unable to be present, but sent their congratulations and best wishes to Warden Henderson.

The out-of-town guests, together with members of Township Council and clerk, and Messrs. Doak and McNeil, were entertained at supper at the Waverley Inn, and the repast was choice.

FREE LEMONADE FOR WHOLE CITY

NEW YORK TO HAVE UNIQUE CELEBRATION OF PROHIBITION.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Feb. 6.—Dr. Mitchell Downing, wealthy leader for many years of the prohibition movement in this part of New York State announced today that he would "blow" the whole city to a lemonade picnic in Eastman Park on July 1, when the wartime provision for national prohibition becomes effective, or provide some other popular introduction to soft drinks on January 1, 1920, if the wartime provision is cancelled. The women of the W. C. T.U. will serve the drinks.

Superintendent of Public Schools S. R. Shear, indorsing Dr. Downing's proposal, stated that as the event was of more importance than signing the treaty of peace he would make plans to have all of the city's school children commemmorate the date, drink the physician's lemonade and give public exercises in the park.

The lemonade picnic, which is expected to start a fashion all over the country is exciting much interest, and a committee of citizens headed by Mayor Ralph F. Butts today went out for subscriptions to hire all of the bands in town for the event.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS" CAN'T HARM TENDER STOMACH OR BOWELS.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold, or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

MAPLE TREES TO MARK GRAVES

BODIES OF THOSE WHO DIED IN PRISON TO BE REMOVED.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Fred James, official correspondent with the Canadian Corps writes from Bonn to the Director of Public Information to the effect that since the 1st and 2nd Divisions and the Corps troops came into Germany, there have been only eleven deaths, due to sickness, mostly pneumonia following influenza.

The bodies of Canadians who have died in Germany are buried in Bonn in a special plot set apart for Canadians. Arrangements are now completed to locate the grave of every Canadian who has died as a prisoner of war in the territory on both sides of the Rhine occupied by the Corps and the other British forces. As soon as this is done, the remains of the deceased soldiers will be exhumed and reinterred in Bonn.

Eventually that little hallowed spot will be enclosed with maple trees, so that the national emblem of Canada will stand as a monument to the honored dead.

ITALIANS HAVE HEAVIEST DEBT

ARE BEHIND TWELVE AND ONE-HALF BILLION AS RESULT TO WAR.

Rome, Feb. 6.—Italy's national debt is now more than $12,500,000,000, whereas when she entered the war it was about 2,750,000,000, declared Luigi Luzzatti, former premier, and a leading Italian financial authority in a statement today, urging financial aid to Italy. He said that when pensions, government bills and other necessary expenditures had been paid the national debt probably would total $16,000,000,000.

"Italy I am glad to say, leads the whole world in the relative height of its war debt," he said. "Subtracting Italy's losses in men and money her national wealth is only about $20,000,000,000. If all the war loans of the entente be thrown together in one consolidated sum, Italy, and France, whose efforts and losses in men and substance have been the greatest will be compensated by bearing a smaller proportion of the war debt.

"The United States and Great Britain are not only strong, but generous and they will acknowledge that Italy and France, the two principal centres of Teutonic slaughter and devastation should be supported financially therefore, with correspondingly greater help."

Peculiar Questions Involved

"I believe in the construction of a league of nations, because I believe fervently in the principal of human solidarity," he added, "but I feel and know that ideality alone, although indispensable cannot constitute a universal edifice capable of resisting the attacks of human interests unless those interests are regulated by mutual usefulness.

"Essential economic and financial questions the importance of which is growing daily, are unification of war loans and federation of exchanges both in relation to the future and the unity of monetary circulation. Another essential question which needs competent technical solution is that of customs, since the stronger states belonging to a league of nations throughout the world could hinder international traffic, or worse still, start a customs war which always leads to political and military wars."

Former Premier Luzzatti, who supported the rights of labor when he was premier, said that he hoped that in the great conference at Paris it would be possible to fix the principle

KEEP POPPIES OUT OF CANADA

PROVINCIAL MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE HENRY REGARDS THEM AS MENACE.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—Flanders' poppies in the grain fields of Ontario as a memorial to the heroic Canadians who lie "beneath the crosses row on row" in Flanders' fields, do not find favor with the Department of Agriculture. Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Agriculture, speaking at the Ontario Horticultural Association Convention last evening, read a report on the subject submitted at his request by Prof Howett, of the Ontario Agricultural College, in which he says:

"Varieties of the Europeon poppy have been many times introduced into Canada and grown in gardens. So far as I am aware there are no records of poppies having escaped from cultivation and become troublesome as weeds in cultivated fields in Ontario. This fact however, does not make it safe for us to assume that the poppy might not become a weed in Ontario if it were introduced wholesale by various patriotic committees throughout the Province.

"In view of the fact that the poppy is such a common weed in grain fields in Europe and that the seeds have considerable vitality and will remain dormant in the ground for several years, it seems to me there would be considerable risk that the poppy might become a troublesome weed in Ontario if it were introduced wholesale for patriotic purposes."

There was another suggestion, said Mr. Henry, which he thought worthy of consideration. That was the planting of trees in memory of the men who had fallen. This had been taken up in the United States, and in one State an avenue of trees 400 miles long had been planted along a highway. He thought there were many districts in Ontario where this plan might be adopted with great advantage.

V. A. Sinclair, M.P.P., of Tillsonburg, gave an address on "Horticultural Societies in Rural Districts." A paper on "The Surroundings of the Home," written by Mr. Thomas Adams of the Conservation Commission, was read, and motion pictures dealing with horticulture were displayed.

HIGHER WAGES PAID IN CANADA

SHIPYARD WORKERS IN WEST WILL PROFIT BY PROPOSED CHANGE

London, Feb. 6.—Discussing the decision of Messrs. Yarrow to gradually discontinue their shipbuilding on the Clyde and increase their workat Esquimalt, Vancouver Island, one of the directors of the company freely admitted that their action in transferring the business was due to the better industrial prospects of British Columbia and the discouraging labor outlook in Scotland.

Output Greater.

The wisdom of the action of Yarrows is supported by Lynden Macassey in the Times, who, after stating that at Esquimalt, owing to the output per man being anything up to 250 per cent. greater than on the Clyde, points out that wages are normally much higher. He asks if British labor, with the sands so quickly running out, will not learn that production is the life blood not merely of a nation but the paramount condition of their own prosperity.

The Times' shipping correspondent, describing a recent visit to Vancouver, contrasts the activity of Tacoma and Seattle to the comparative stagnation of Victoria and Vancouver, and insists on the capacity for development of the latter's shipbuilding plant, including Yarrows', which was acquired from the British Marine Railway Company five years ago. Yarrows' managing director is at present in Vancouver, it is stated, preparing for its removal.

COMMITTEE TO REPORT IN FAVOR OF DOUBLE PLATOON

That Course Decided Upon at Meeting Last Night—Chief Grange Will Not Attend Convention at Calgary.

There was a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night, Alderman Morrison presiding, and with Aldermen Turner, Garside, Hamilton, Gainey and Mayor Duncan in attendance.

The estimates for the Fire Department as submitted by Chief Grange were tabled, and a protracted discussion followed.

A motion requesting the City Trust to have the repairs made at the Fire Hall, which the chief had drawn attention to, was submitted by Aldermen Hamilton and Gainey and passed.

Chief Grange was given authority to purchase three ladders ,which he needed, upon motion of Aldermen Turner and Gainey.

In discussing what was to be done in connection with the Dan Spence ambulance, Chairman Morrison asked Chief Grange, who attended the meeting, wether it could not be taken care of at the Fire Hall. The chief protested against such an idea and Mayor Duncan expressed the opinion that such an arrangement would not be satisfactory.

An item in Chief Grange's estimates of $200 expenses in connection with his proposed attendance at the Fire Chiefs' Convention to be held at Calgary was struck out, upon motion of Aldermen Hamilton and Garside.

After some consideration, as a result of which it was decided that his absence from the city and the expense incurred were undesirable.

Upon motion of Aldermen Gainey and Garside, Mayor Duncan and Chairman Morrison were appointed a committee to inquire into the subject of the power system and its cost. They will hand in a report at the next meeting of the committee.

Fire Chief Grange was given an increase of $100 per year in salary and the engineer of $50.00. The estimates had suggested $200 and $100 respectively.

It was finally decided to recommend and to adopt the two platoon system in the Fire Department, adding four men to the staff as originally intended. Effect was given this decision in a motion, introduced by Aldermen Turner and Garside.

FARMERS FAVOR HOUSES FOR THEIR HIRED HELP

Circulars Sent Out by Department on This Subject Meet With General Response.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—An address on the Housing Problem as it touched the rural centres was given by Professor C. B. Sissons, Secretary of the Housing Commission of Ontario, at the session of the Women's Institute convention. The Professor said he wished that to make a distinction between the word "house" and the word "home." People, he thought, were much less interested in houses than they were in homes. The important thing was not to build houses, but to make homes. A house might be merely a shelter, and what was perhaps even worse it might be merely a dreary workshop.

Home, said the professor, should be something more than that, it should be a place where both work and leisure were combined in due proportions. He thought the home should be a place where work was done amid pleasant and agreeable surroundings, and where facilities should also be made for leisure. With that idea, he said, the Housing Commission of Ontario had approached the problem in rural Ontario. To that end the commission had sent out circulars to the district representatives of the Department of Agriculture in their views, and to make suggestions. The circular had asked the proportion of farms which had satisfactory cottages for their hired help, and asked for ideas as to the best means of encouraging the building of houses for hired help. Investigations showed that the greatest difference existed to the extent to which laborers' cottages were used in various districts.

Other points on which the commission had circularized the Province were:

(1) The effect comfortable houses for hired help would have on securing satisfactory labor.

(2) The number of rooms necessary.

(3) The advisability of installing modern conveniences.

(4) The advisability of having the house on the farm, rather than at the neighboring village or cross roads.

(5) The size of farm which could afford to maintain a house for hired help.

(6) What the farmer's wife thought of having the hired men board at the farm.

In answer to the first question the opinion of the farmer was that having comfortable quarters was of the greatest assistance in securing desirable hired help for the farm. There were only two who differed from this opinion, and who said they did not think it would make any difference one way or the other.

To the second as to the number of rooms needed the general opinion appeared to be that five or six rooms would be enough for the average home.

In regard to the third question the farmers felt that as they were unable to have modern conveniences in their houses, the laborer could not expect them.

There was no doubt in the minds of the farmers' wives that they did not wish to have the hired help board at the farm house.

BETTER THAN HOT SPRINGS, HE SAYS

RINGEL SAYS ALL TREATMENTS FAILED UNTIL HE TOOK TANLAC—LIKE NEW MAN NOW.

Remarkable indeed was the statement made recently by Charles Ringel, of 319 Washington street, Peoria, Ill. Mr. Ringel declared that, although he has taken the treatment at Hot Springs and used numberless different medicines during the past eleven years, in his efforts to restore his health, a few bottles of Tanlac have done him more good than everything else combined. His statement follows:

"Nothing ever helped me until I got Tanlac, and now I'm just like a new man—my stomach had been in a very bad fix for eleven years or more, and pained me so bad at times that I would double up like a jackknife. After nearly every meal I would bloat up with gas until I was as tight as a drum and just suffer agony. My nerves became all shattered and my health got so poor that I was forced to quit work. No kind of medicine seemed to reach my trouble and I was going down hill very fast. I was advised to go to Hot Springs, which I did, but after spending what money I had saved up I returned home in just as bad shape as when I left, if not worse.

"While talking to a good friend one day about my deplorable condition he told me he believed a few bottles of Tanlac would straighten me up. Well, I had little faith in it to help me, but as my friend seemed to know what he was talking about I decided to take his advice, and to my complete surprise the first bottle of Tanlac stopped the gas forming on my stomach and put me in shape to where I could eat and enjoy my meals. My food began to digest as it should, my nervousness left me, and I realized I was on the road to rapid recovery. As I continued to take Tanlac my health improved and my strength returned until now I am able to work as well as I ever could in my life. I feel more grateful than I can express for what Tanlac has done for me, and am now telling my friends who are suffering to try it. I can't praise it too highly, and expect to rely on it for my health as long as I live."

Such statements as the foregoing should appeal very forcibly to the thousands who suffer from the same troubles. Most people who suffer from nervousness and dizziness, stomach and liver troubles, kidney derangements and who are in a general rundown condition simply need something to tone up their system and to assist the vital organs in performing their proper functions. Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive and always produces most gratifying results.

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. H. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Annual Dance By Street Car Men

Last night the employees of the street railway held a dance in W. O. W. Hall, which was fittingly decorated for the occasion. About 90 couple were in attendance. This was the first dance given by the employees since 1914, and was in every respect a success. Coleman Bros. served the lunch, which was up to the mark of perfection and Messrs. Moher, Fritzgerald and Freeman supplied the music in unstinted measure. During the evening Mayor Duncan and Aldermen McIntyre and Morrison were to be seen mingling with the jolly crowd.

The following committee are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts to make the dance the best of the season:—Messrs. P. McGrath, James Middleton, M. McLean and H. A. Rourche. Dancing continued until a late hour, and as scheduled the cars were waiting to carry the guests to their homes.

Yes, I Intend To But Not Now

Have YOU any idea what that decision is costing you if you live? Of course, if you die the cost is much GREATER. Read the following facts and then decide for yourself.

The premium you would pay for $1000 of insurance at age 40 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $4000 of insurance at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 50 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $2500 at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 35 WOULD BUY YOU $1440 at age 21.

Besides, while you may be insurable at age 21 you may not be insurable AT ANY PRICE at the other ages mentioned.

British Admiralty Tells How Decoy Ships Were Used to Trap Submarines

ONE of the most exciting chapters of the war against U-boats is a series of accounts of notable engagements between British decoy ships and the submarines, made public by the British Admiralty. While the whole story of the part played by these decoy vessels, "mystery ships" or "Q" craft has not been revealed, it is evident that several of them were used to lure the undersea craft to destruction.

Some incidents in this campaign already have been made known, dealing chiefly with a few of the exploits of Commander Gordon Campbell as master of the decoy vessels; but others in which he and other captains participated now are available. That at least a small fleet was used in this work is evident from the fact that Campbell at different times appears as the master of the Farnborough, the Pargust, the Dunraven, and the Q-5. The Prize, another decoy ship, was commanded by Lieut. William E. Sanders, and the Stock Force by Lieut. Harold Auten.

Stories of the encounters between these ships and the U-boats are filled with deeds of heroism and instances in which the discipline of the British navy was displayed under trying circumstances. For many months the decoy ships, heavily armed, but with their guns hidden behind false bulwarks, steamed zigzag paths in the seas which were the hunting grounds of the submarine.

In their character of lazy colliers or slow cargo craft they presented to the submarine commander an inviting object of attack, but once he was well within range of the British guns the false superstructure hiding the guns fell away and the helpless collier became suddenly transformed into a fighting craft, bent on destruction. It was dangerous work, requiring a high order of courage, for the submarine must be lured near before the guns could safely begin their work. Meantime the Hun frequently had sent his torpedo home, and the decoy ship was disabled, sometimes on fire and part of her crew wounded. In that condition the battle was fought and often the submarine destroyed.

"Panic parties" was one of the ruses practiced by the decoy ship's commander to coax the submarine alongside. When the mystery ship was torpedoed these panic parties took to the boats, apparently abandoning their vessels, but always leaving on board another crew to man the guns and finish the submarine if it came near enough.

The first encounter mentioned by the Admiralty occurred in March, 1916, when the Farnborough, disguised as a collier, was attacked by a submarine. The "panic party" took to the boats and when the submarine closed in to about 800 yards the Farnborough opened fire on her. The U-boat submerged and the Farnborough passed over her, dropping depth bombs. The submarine reappeared standing almost on end. Five rounds were fired into her at nearly point blank range and she went to the bottom of the sea.

Prior to that action the Farnborough had cruised throughout the entire winter without being attacked. Within a month the Farnborough coaxed another submarine near enough to sink her by gunfire.

Commander Campbell later was transferred to the command of the Q-5, and in the following February, 1917, his vessel was torpedoed by a submarine, which eventually approached so near that a shot from the Farnborough beheaded the U-boat captain as he climbed out of the tower, the submarine was sunk, with her conning tower open and her crew pouring out. Destroyers towed the Q-5 in and beached her. For this exploit the Victoria Cross was awarded to Campbell.

The decoy ship Pargust, with Campbell in command, was torpedoed on June 7, 1917, when disguised as a British merchant vessel. The submarine came within fifty yards of the Pargust, which then opened fire on her with all guns. The submarine crew poured out of the conning tower and held up their hands in token of surrender, but the U-boat steamed away trying to escape in the mist. The Pargust again opened fire on her, and sunk her with one man clinging to her bow as she went down. The decoy vessel was towed back to port by American destroyers. Two Victoria Crosses were awarded for this successful action.

Running Footmen.

Before the regular establishment of mail coaches there were few roads in England that were more than mere tracks; sometimes the sandy soil was worn through by the traffic until these tracks were sunk below the surface of the surrounding country from 12 to 14 yards deep; in other places, where the ground was harder and the so-called road ran parallel with a river the bed of the river, when not in flood, was preferred as the easiest and most level track to travel in. The running footmen who attended the chariots of these rich enough to employ them were by no means superfluous luxuries. Their services were frequently required to push the vehicles through sloughs of mud, or, by supporting it first on this side and then on the other, to prevent its being overturned by holes in the road or by ruts that in some instances measured four feet deep.—Family Herald.

SAVED THE VICEROY.

Elephant Pensioned by Britain For the Deed.

Great Britain's enormous pension list has just been relieved of the payment of an annuity of $500 through the death at Delhi of a magnificent elephant of the name of Timouh. He was the elephant who bore Lord Hardinge, when Viceroy of India, and his wife, the late Lady Hardinge, on the memorable day, now eight or nine years, when an attempt was made on their lives by means of a bomb.

The viceroy and his wife were making their official entry into the ancient capital of the Moguls, and now the metropolis of the Indian empire, through the densely crowded streets in a gorgeous procession, in which some 200 elephants, each bearing British or native dignitaries, took part. The perpetrators of the outrage had evidently assumed that when the bomb, which was thrown from the balcony or parapet of one of the houses along the route, hit its mark the viceregal elephant, terrified by the explosion and unbalanced by injured thereby, would be seized with panic, would communicate it to the other elephants, and that there would be a wholesale destruction of British officialdom, which was wished for, and of native life, which was a matter of total indifference to the assassins.

The bomb burst on the back of the viceregal howdah, blowing to fragments the two native attendants standing like footmen at the back of Lord and Lady Hardinge, the severed foot of one of them falling over the shoulder of Lady Hardinge on her lap. The viceroy was badly wounded in the back, and after exclaiming, as if in surprise, "A bomb! How unkind of them!" became unconscious from shock, loss of blood and muscular lacerations of an extremely painful character. Lady Hardinge, uninjured, retained her presence of mind, and while supporting her husband, directed the means to lower him from the badly wrecked howdah.

In the midst of all this, with the shouting and the turmoil caused by the outrage, the elephant, drenched with the blood of the two native victims and of the viceroy, and also with his own blood, for his flanks and his back had been cut in every direction by splinters of the bomb, stood perfectly still, except that he swung his trunk to and fro, as if in pain, and then raised it gently toward the howdah, as if to encourage Lady Hardinge and to tell her that she could rely on him. That is, at any rate, how Lady Hardinge and those nearby interpreted the action of the elephant, who shared with her the honors of the day.

None of the injuries sustained by the elephant was mortal. His wounds in course of time were entirely healed, and, relieved of all further work, a pension of $500 a year was granted to him by the government for the remainder of his life, his own mahout and an assistant being assigned to devote their entire time to caring for him. It is needless to add that Timouh became a great pet of Lady Hardinge, who realized that both she and her husband undoubtedly owed the preservation of their lives to the huge beast's intelligence, courage and presence of mind.

Lady Hardinge, although unwounded, never recovered from the shock, and returning home to England very ill, died there, nursed to the last by Queen Alexandra, who was devoted to her, and while Lord Hardinge was still at his post in India. On his return from the east two years ago he placed his services at the disposal of the Crown for the remainder of the war, and was reappointed to his old-time post of Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, which he held before becoming viceroy. He has lost his eldest son at the front in France in the Great War, and has still a boy left and a daughter, the latter rejoicing in the Christian name of Diamond.

England Ruled by "Foreigners."

A correspondent in the London New Witness recently pointed out that "England is suffering from foreign domination." He wrote: "We are governed by the Welsh, prayed at by the Scots, and preyed upon by the Irish." From a note in the London Evening Standard the genuine native-born Englishman does not seem to have much to say nowadays. It writes:

"The Versailles Conference is considering decisions which may affect the fate of Great Britain for generations.

"A correspondent points out that on this conference our country is represented by:

"One Welshman (Mr. Lloyd George).

"One Scottish Canadian (Mr. Bonar Law).

"One Jew (Lord Reading).

"Four Scotsmen (Mr. Balfour, Sir Eric Geddes, Marshal Haig, and Admiral Wemyss).

"One Englishman (Lord Milner).

"'Is this not,' he asks, 'a humiliating position for the country south of the Tweed—the so-called "predominant partner"? England proper is said to contribute seventy to eighty per cent. of the men in the British army, ninety per cent. in the British navy, and about ninety per cent. of the British war expenditure. Yet she has only one Englishman to make her voice heard at this crisis in her history.'

Oddly enough—though the Evening Standard omits to mention it—the one Englishman cited, Lord Milner, was actually born in Germany, and his father before him, since his grandfather, a physician, settled there, without losing touch with England or acquiring German citizenship.—Literary Digest.

LACE ON THE CURVED EDGE

How to Overcome the Perplexing Task of Putting the Straight Material in Place.

Have you often been troubled in putting straight lace on a curved edge?

You have been if you have ever tried putting clany, for instance, on the outside edge of a big round centerpiece.

This is an easy way to overcome the difficulty. Roll the lace in a little tight roll. Wind it tightly about the center with a stout thread. Then dip the straight edge in water to about half the width of the lace. Let it dry and you will find a piece of lace ready shaped to your liking. You see what happens is that the straight edge, being wetted, shrinks, and so can be easily adjusted to the curved edge of the centerpiece.

If you have any new table linen—or cotton, mayhap—to hem, try this method. Trim such edges as need trimming and then run them through the machine hemmer, with a fine needle, unthreaded. This will crease the hems with perfect evenness and will also punch holes through the fabric with the unthreaded needle. Then you can turn the hem back and overhand the hems through the little holes with the least expenditure of effort.

Remember in many heavy materials that must be laid in plaits and then pressed that pins can be used to fasten the plaits into position until they are pressed. Then, as you press, take out the pins and press the material into position. You can do this with less marking than basting thread heavy enough to hold the fabric mukes. Of course if you want to you can use the heavy basting thread and snip it and pull it as you go along.

METAL AND COTTON THREAD

Combination Is Effective and Affords Charming Variations; Suggestions for the Needlewoman.

There is an increasing vogue for combining metal thread with silk, wool, or cotton embroidery. It is tremendously effective and capable of such charming variations. Here are some suggestions for the needleworker who is interested in the unusual.

Say, suppose, you have some "solid" work in silk, cotton or wool. You don't know how very effective it can be made by an outlining in either gold or silver thread. The idea can be further carried out by adding French knot centers to the flowers of the same.

Where the embroidery is done entirely in outline, and particularly if it be the heavy wool or cotton kind, couching in metal is a mighty successful addition. In fact, if the wool or cotton embroidery isn't already done, try couching it on with the metallic stuff and just see if it isn't vastly more decorative.

Another suggestion for introducing the metal is to "whip stitch" the other thread with it. Wool whipped on the bias, spiral effect is the most fascinating thing ever.

Keep Your Saving System Going.

It is poor policy to figure to cut your deposit one week and make up the deficiency next pay day. This course will soon break up your saving system, you'll find. Get a little money ahead and then you will wonder how you could have enjoyed yourself a minute while you were living from one pay day to the next, constantly putting off your creditors, and without a cent to fall back on should you become ill or lose your job.—Norton Spirit.

BRILLIANT GOLF SHOT

M. J. Brady a Coast "Pro" Holes Out in 300 Yard Drive

The first hole in one of 1919, so far as known was that of M. J. Brady, made on the San Francisco Gold Club course the day before the Oakley professional left for Boston. He gave the San Francisco golfers a brilliant demonstration of his playing ability, his last day there by not only holing his tee shot, at the 190 yard seven hole, but by turning in two rounds of 71 on the 6,400 yard course, establishing a thirty-six hole record for the course. He also holds the single round record of 68.

Seven times in the course of his golfing career had Brady holed his tee shot, a record most extraordinary. Three times he performed this feat while professional at the Commonwealth County Club, once he did it at the Wollaston Golf Club and twice in one day he did it at Siasconset. Taking this record in conjunction with his uncanny faculty of doing par 4 and par 5 holes in two strokes such as the thirteenth at Oakley and eleventh at Wollaston, and Brady will take rank second to no golfer in the world along this particular line.

Brady's short hole play in his final two rounds of the San Francisco Golf Club was amazing. He had a 2 at the fifth hole in morning play and a 2 at the thirteenth; in the afternoon he got his 1 at the seventh, a 2 at the eleventh and another 2 at the thirteenth. He also scored a 3 at the seventh, eleventh and fourteenth holes in the morning, as well as at the fifth in the afternoon. For nine holes of the thirty-six, therefore he had a total of twenty-one strokes, viz.: One 1, four 2s and four 3s.

Juniors Will Play Midgets at Lindsay

On Friday the local Juniors go to Lindsay where they will return last night's game.

After the exhibition of Wednesday evening they should have no trouble recruiting a most respectable following of fans to accompany them.

With a lead of 6 goals it is not expected that even considering the undoubted handicap to strangers of Lindsay's peculiar rink there will be any danger of the Midgets reducing the score to any extent, but it is up to the Peterborough team to take no chances as their old rivals will make one awful attempt to grab the group title tomorrow night.

PETERBOROUGH JUNIORS ARE NOW IN LEAD BY SIX GOALS

Won From the Lindsay Midgets Last Night by a Score 12—6 in One of the Best Contests Ever Witnessed in Brock Street Rink

Peterborough has a tidy lead of six goals as a result of the game played here last night when the Lindsay Midgets were defeated by a score of 12 to 6 in the first of the home and home contests to decide the group championship.

Brock street rink was crowded to capacity for the occasion and the throng were not disappointed as they were given an exhibition of fast hockey which kept them on edge from start to finish.

At 8.30 Referee March called the game but the Lindsay players refused to take the ice upon the ground that they were one man shy, Wilford, their left wing playor not having arrived from Toronto

This excuse was not accepted as they had seven men available and their rivals were not disposed to have much more patience with them remembering that they had delayed the game by arriving late upon the last occasion when they played here.

As a result the Referee in accordance with the rules faced off the puck with the local team upon the ice. They went through the form of scoring a goal and the game was declared to have gone by default.

Wilford, one of Lindsay's star performers arrived on the 8.50 train and for some time it was not known whether or not the Peterborough team would insist upon the observance of the decision or would arrange to play the game in spite of the fact that they had already won it according to Hoyle.

This was an anxious time for the large crowd of spectators who were not aware of the real reason for the delay or of the plans in regard to the game. The officials of the Lindsay team admitted they were in the wrong but maintained that their man had missed the afternoon train and that the unfortunate occurrence was due to an accident.

The Peterborough men were not disposed to accept this version of the affairs and reminded them that this was the second time they had delayed the play and that as they had seven men on hand the fact that one was absent was no excuse for their refusal to take the ice.

After some discussion it was decided to disregard the decision which had been based upon a technicality and to play the game regardless of the one which had gone by default. The Referee announced the fact to the crowd describing his reasons for handing over the first game to Peterborough and characterising the action of the local players in deciding to play for a decision as most sportsmanlike. He asked the crowd to remember that the boys composing the Lindsay team had not been responsible for the recent occurrence which had been governed by their officials and to refrain from roasting them upon the subject. The spectators showed their forgiving spirits by giving the visitors a cheer and play commenced.

Some Brilliant Work

In the first period Peterborough had things pretty much their own team. Shortly after he was struck with Both teams were evenly matched in most respects and the rivalry was keen and the excitement behind the boards intense. Parks made an excellent showing in this spell. Shortly after the play commenced he reached the Lindsay nets and soon after landed another score for his team. Shortly as he was struck with the puck and had to leave the ice for some time. Frost made one of his brilliant rushes before the bout was half over and succeeded in passing the defence of the Lindsay squad and sent the disk into their nets. Parkes returned to the ice shortly before time was called and made another tally for the locals.

With the score standing 4 to 0 the teams entered the second spasm which started off well for the Petes. Soon after they got down to business again it looked as if the locals would have the edge upon their opponents as had been the case in the first period. Frostie went the length of the ice dodging through the Midgets like lightning, passed the defence men who rushed out to check him and netted the puck at the end of one of the most sensational pieces of individual work pulled off during the evening.

Parkes was as lucky last night as he had been unfortunate during the last junior game played here. He rushed the puck up the ice soon after Frostie's success and wriggled through the defence line of Lindsay and shot for the nets from close up. The rubber struck the side of the goal and bounced back. Parkes struck at it on the bounce and batted it in.

A Turn in Luck

Luck now started to run with the visitors, who began to worm up considerably. Wilford their fast left wing man bolted through the Petes and scored. A few minutes later he pulled in another goal and Flowers' the Petes' net guardian was penalized for making a jab at a man as he passed near him. Gerard took his place and Frostie got the puck and like a flash was on his way to the other end of the rink. He dashed in and out amongst the Midgets and swooped down upon the Lindsay nets and bagged another goal for his team.

Kelly made another count for Lindsay and soon after Killeen of the visitors scored twice in quick succession. Cherrett then got the puck and made a lightning dash for the Midget's goal. He was blocked and used his head passing to Hagerman who scored. Towards the end of this period Parkes was hurt again and left the ice.

The Third Period

In the third period Hagerman scored for Peterborough; Garnet for Lindsay and Williams bagged another tally for the locals. The Midgets worked hard to keep down the count in this spasm and succeeded well until near the end. Garnett notched their score up one. Frostie made several dashes at the visitors's nets only to be stopped by their defence. After a scrimmage in front of the Lindsay goal Gerard scored for the Petes and a few minutes before the final gong sounded Frostie got the puck and rushed it towards the rival nets. The Lindsay defence men rushed to check him and he shot from centre ice and scored one of the most sensational goals of the game.

Last night's hockey match, true to predictions made better watching than any that have been played here this season. The teams were well balanced and both were out to win. The Peterborough juniors were after goals which are what count in the group contests now being played. The Midgets did their utmost to hold down the score and played pretty much on the defensive in the last spell.

Interest in the battle was at fever heat throughout and when the teams took the ice at the beginning of the third priod it was felt that it was up to the locals do increase their lead materially if it was to be a comfortable one which could not be cut down dangerously in the return match to be played in Lindsay. The Petes succeeded in doing this and with six up it is felt that the juniors will have no trouble when they visit the neighboring town in keeping the tally within bounds and obtaining the group title which will give them a place in the semi-finals.

Garnet, Wilford and Killea starred for the visitors who played a good clean game and worked hard all the time.

On the Peterborough team Parkes, Cherret, Williams and Frost distinguished themselves more or less. Parkes' work in the first period was exceptional. Williams was to the fore and his back checking bothered the Midgets considerably. Cherret played with his usual skill and speed but did not try to pull off individual stunts which would loose his team a goal. Frostie, the celebrated guest of Port Hope was on the job all the time. His lightning dashes and clever play marked him out for especial commendation from the spectators. Twice he scored at the end of an individual rush and once as the result of a long shot from centre ice. He played a splendid game throughout and with Cherret was marked out by the rival players for special attention.

The line up:

Peterboro—Goal, Flowers; defence Frost and Girard; Centre, Cherret, Right Wing, Parkes; Left Wing, Hagerman. Subs Williams and Gillespie.

Referee Lou Marsh handled the game to perfection.

UMPIRE O'DAY SAYS BASE RUNNING IS A LOST ART

But Veteran Official Believes That Strict Enforcement of Balk Rule Would Help.

Base running is now regarded as the lost art in baseball, despite the fact that the average runners in the Major League at present are considered faster than those of twenty and thirty years ago. What the cause of this deterioration is it is difficult to explain unless one can attribute it to the laxity of the players in studying the pitchers and the art of base running, or to the failure of the umpires to enforce the balk rule and compel twirlers to operate according to the rules. The players hug the bases too closely and this is said to be due to the fact that the pitchers are not forced to strictly observe the balk law.

Play Requires Lots of Action

Umpire Hank O'Day, who is one of the few remaining veterans still actively engaged in baseball, is one who believes that base running is a lost art. And he declares something ought to be done to improve it, as he contends it is one of the prettiest features of the game. Fans like to see the combination of physical effort that is exercised in an attempt to purloin a base. They see the runner dash determinedly for the sack ahead, see the catcher make his throw, the baseman dash over to take the ball, put it on the rubber and also see the umpire sprint hurriedly to the bag to make his decision. It is a play that requires a lot of action and for that reason O'Day believes it ought to be improved and encouraged.

When asked how more base running could be obtained O'Day took a gentle slap at the umpires in the National league for not strictly enforcing the balk rule. He probably will not be pleased to see this in print but the opportunity is taken to use it in hopes that it may have a little influence in impressing upon the umpires the necessity of enforcing the law. There is no denying that the officials of President Heydler's staff are woefully lax in ruling on the balk. Every pitcher in the league who has the nerve and skill to deceive the umpire does it without being penalized. It has been commonly heard that the umpires, except O'Day, do not know what a balk is, or, if they do, they have not the courage to punish a pitcher when he violates the law.

The Views of Hank O'Day

"There has not been any base running to speak of in the National league for several years," said O'Day. "And it would be increased if the umpires would enforce the balk law. Base running is an exciting part of the game and a pretty play, one that the fans like to see. Good base stealers are important in the game and help win many contests.

"The balk rule is violated frequently. In the first place the rule says that a pitcher must face the batter before throwing the ball. If he does not do that it constitutes a balk. How many twirlers face the batter? Few. Any motion of the body used to deceive a base runner without delivering the ball is a balk. Pitchers have all sorts of peculiar motions with their shoulders, arms and thighs that are deceptive and in direct violation of the rule. If they were forced to obey the rule base running would improve many per cent."

Mitchell Agrees With O'Day

President Mitchell was present at the time Umpire O'Day made this statement and agreed with him, declaring: "Hank unquestionably enforces a deliberate balk, but he lets the little ones get away from him because I believe, it is not customary in the league to call them. If he is drastic—and he can be—the managers ride for it, saying that the other umpires do not go to those extremes and there is no reason why he should. The balk rule should be enforced to the letter, and I think too, that if it were base running would improve."

"A pitcher does not have to turn side ways or have a peculiar twist of the body to get a man off first or second base. Those who adopt a style of that kind catch fewer men on the bases than the twirlers do not because the runners hug the bases a lot closer and take no chances. Dick Rudolph is an excellent example of what a pitcher who stands facing the batter can do. I'll venture to say he catches more men off the bases than any other twirler in the league and fewer bases are stolen on him. A pitcher who take an unnatural stand on the rubber loses too much time in making the turn to the base to which he throws, and some of them often turn the wrong way. I would like to see more base running in the league. As O'Day says, it is a pretty feature of the game. I encourage it on my club and give my men every opportunity to steal when I think it necessary."

COLLEGES TO RESUME ROWING

Eastern Boating Official Looks for Pre war Activity by Crews

Intercollegiate rowing will be marked by limited activity in the spring of 1919 in the opinion of Charles Halsted Mapes, chairman of the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association. Mr. Mapes was asked whether he believed there would be a complete cessation of the sport next season, and he said with emphasis that there certainly would be rowing by the colleges and, although he did not expect to see it on a pre-war basis, he believed it would be of highly satisfactory standard.

J. A. SEXSMITH M. P. TAKES PART IN N. ONTARIO FIGHT

Member For East Peterboro Speaks on Behalf of Major Cameron, Candidate For the Legislature.

J. A. Sexsmith, M.P. for East Peterboro, is in North Ontario, engaged in the campaign which is bein carried on on behalf of Major Cameron, who is a candidate for the Legislature to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late ex-Speaker Hoyle, speaking at Goodwood in the Township of Uxbridge:

J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., himself a farmer, said that but for Major Cameron and four hundred thousand men like him, the meeting would not be in progress and there would be no votes to worry about. The Germans would not allow it. He remarked at the amusement of his hearers, that Mr. Widdifield was a camouflaged farmers' candidate, who had professed to stop being a Liberal because his leader in the province was a man of his word and would not put a candidate in the riding. The record of the Hearst Government would be a credit to any administration in the world. "Compare it with the old Ross Government and think about it," he said. He eulogized the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The necessity that all should get out and vote was emphasized. "Do not forget that sixty thousand Canadian soldiers died to keep that vote for you," said Mr. Sexsmith. "Do not waste it."

Other speakers were Hon. G. S. Henry, Minister of Agriculture, Tom Underwood, ex-Warden of Durham and Major Cameron. John Ashenhurst, president of the Uxbridge Liberal Conservative Association was in the chair. Many women were in the audience. Mr. Ashenhurst invited anyone desiring to speak on behalf of Mr. Widdifield to step to the platform, but no one responded.

Helping the Farmer.

The Minister of Agriculture was in excellent form. Earlier in the day, he stated, someone had told him he was working against the interests of the farmer. "I say without fear of contradiction that I have more comprehension of what is needed by the farmer than any organization that is fighting us," remarked Mr. Henry with some vigor. "We are doing more to help the farmer in buying and selling, and in every other way than all the organizations of the Drury's and the Halbert's have under way at the present time."

Generous applause greeted the declaration and when it subsided Mr. Henry ably reviewed what the Ontario Government is doing for agriculture.

He was applauded when he characterized the opposition in this campaign as the "prejudice party," comprising the elements that would retard development and set the clock back. If Mr. Widdifield had been nominated at a public mass meeting of farmers after every farmer in the riding had been invited to attend he might be entitled to call himself the Farmers' candidate. Instead of that, he was the choice of a hole in the corner gathering.

For All Ontario.

Mr. Henry impressed upon his hearers the importance of this election. North Ontario had the privilege of speaking for the whole of the province. He spoke for an hour in praise of the Government's recognition of farming as an important industry and was not once contradicted.

Tom Underwood, ex-Warden of Durham, declared that the women had shown more patriotism than the men in the war. They deserved the vote and he had no doubt they would support the returned soldier. In impassioned speech he called to mind all the promises made to the soldier when they went away and demanded that these promises be redeemed. He had been a farmer all his life and was in favor of farmers organizing, but not as a political party. What the Government was doing for the farmer was eminently satisfactory to him.

Generous Offer Refused.

Major Cameron was given an ovation. He referred to the proximity of his opponent's home and told how, right after the nomination, he had written Mr. Widdifield suggesting joint meetings for the convenience of all concerned, but ten days later received a reply to the effect that the Widdifield committees had made other arrangements. Major Cameron spoke in a convincing manner for half an hour and was urged to continue when he made way for the next speaker.

PLAN REFORMS IN RURAL SCHOOLS

HON. DR. CODY ILLUSTRATES POLICY DEPARTMENT HAS IN MIND.

Toronto, Feb. 6.— Two important announcements with regard to rural schools were made by Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody Minister of Education, at the evening session of the Ontario Women's Institutes, now in convention in the Central Technical School. Raising the importance of the health of the children Dr. Cody said his department has in hand and has set aside the money for making a complete survey of the rural and smaller town and village schools of the Province by a corps of doctors and nurses working in conjunction with the Women's Institutes of the Department of Agriculture. The work will be begun in March and continued until a complete survey has been effected. The objects of this undertaking are twofold—to get a complete statement of the facts and to encourage the rural schools to secure the services of competent doctors and nurses, as provided in the statutes on their behalf.

The second matter was the announcement, authorized by the Prime Minister of Ontario, that a bill is in preparation which is described as "An Act to render farmers' wive and daughters eligible as members of school boards." At present they can act in such capacity only if they are on the assessment roll in their own right. The new measure will give eligibility to th wife or daughtr of any farmer on the assessmnt roll, provided she reside on the farm.

"Why should it be confined to farmers' wives and daughters?" someone asked, explaining that excellnt trustees resided in unincorporated villages. Dr. Cody promised to take that matter into consideration.

HOLD RECEPTION FOR VETERANS

WILL BE ENTERTAINED AT Y. M. C. A. NEXT THURSDAY EVENING.

On Thursday evening next week, February 13th, the Y. M. C. A. will welcome the returned men in a special way. A social evening will be held on that date, when every returned soldier is invited, and the program is being planned so that every man, no matter what his tastes, may be entertained. Games of different kinds will be run off in the gymnasium, baseball, basketball, etc. For those who like bowling, tournaments will be arranged or individual games rolled. The billiard tables invite those who enjoy this pastime. Checkers and chess will provide enjoyment for those who favor these quieter games. A musical program is being arranged, and refreshments will be served. The ladies have a great reputation for making the finest cup of coffee to be had anywhere.

The returned men are always welcome at the Peterborough Red Triangle centre, and every day many of the men take advantage of its privileges, but Thursday night's event is an effort to get the men together in a social way. One of the committee who has served in France said that he looked forward to meeting some of his friends who have returned but whom he has not had a chance to meet since, and no doubt this will afford an opportunity to many of meeting old comrades that they perhaps have not seen since returning. All returned men are invited, whether members of the Great War Veterans or not.

The plans are in the hands of a number of returned men and the program will be informal, each man choosing to do as he feels inclined. Games will be arranged on the arrival of the men. Every men is invited to help make the event a big success. The building is in your hands for the night.

PRESENTATION TO POPULAR SINGER

ST. PETER'S CHOIR TAKE KINDLY LEAVE OF ED. HANRAHAN.

At St. Peter's Cathedral last evening, Mr. Ed. Honrahan, who has been a faithful member of the choir for a number of years, was presented with a handsome gentleman's companion by the members of the choir, on the event of his leaving the city. The following address was read:

Dear Ed.:—

It is with profound regret that we learn you are about to take your departure from our midst. We undoubtedly, will feel your loss and your glorious voice will be so much missed in the old cathedral.

You were ever a faithful and painstaking member, always and at all times ready, regardless of rain or shine, to be at choir practise, and to lend your fine voice in singing the praises of God.

It is useless on our part to give you praise as words fail to do the necessary act.

That our appreciation of your past services and our good wishes for your future success, may be expressed in a small manner, we beg you to accept together with the kindest sentiments of our hearts this little token from your friends, you have left behind you in Peterboro.

The members of St. Peter's Cathedral choir.

Peterboro, Feb. 5th, 1919.

Mr. Hanrahan, who was completely taken by surprise, expressed his appreciation of the handsome gift and kind words that had been expressed concerning him. Rev. Father Phelan, also, in a few words, expressed the regret of both himself and the entire parish, at losing such a valued member of the choir as Mr. Hanrahan. Mr. Minnicolo and several other members also made short remarks.

Wanted in Welland for the attempted murder of Nick Petrus last April, two Austrians have been arrested at Lethbridge.

For having a barrel of whiskey mash simmering in his kitchen, Chas. H. Draper, an Orillia hotelkeeper, was fined $400 and costs.

BOBCAYGEON PLANT MAY BE MOVED TO THIS CITY

Manager MacDonald Was in Peterborough Yesterday Looking for a New Location for Magnet Toy and Novelty Works.

Mr. Alex. MacDonald, of the Magnet Toy and Novelty Co., of Bobcaygeon, was in the city yesterday in consultation with members of the manufacturers' committee with a view to removing his plant to this city. Like all other prospective residents of the city whose purpose is to take up manufacturing, Mr. MacDonald naturally looks for something in the way of concessions. He will at least expect remuneration for the trouble and expense of removal if he finally decides to locate here.

The Review called up Bobcaygeon by long distance telephone this afternoon and learned that the plant in question has been closed down since some time before Christmas. Generally it is a prosperous industry of its class and gives employment to ten or twelve men when running at full capacity. If it is located here preference in employment will be given to returned soldiers, especially to those who have been partially disabled in the service.

While Mr. MacDonald was in the city he was the guest of Mr. G. V Lancaster, 8 McGill street, with whom he attended the entertainment held last night in the school room of St. George's Church. He gave an excellent imitation of the work of that popular comedian, Harry Lauder, and the audience decided that if he removes to Peterborough he will be a decided social acquisition.

The manufacturers' committee held a meeting last night, but no action was taken with regard to the Bobcaygeon firm.

EACH NATION IN LEAGUE TO BE PERMITTED TO RAISE ITS TROOPS BY CONSCRIPTION

This Point Has Been Decided by the Peace Conference Delegates After Long Debate—Premier Ebert's Threat That Germany Will Not Treat With Allies Will Be Dealt With Today.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 7.—Conferences between President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George have been in progress for the purpose of determining the course to be taken by the respective British and American delegations at the Peace Congress, during their absence. Mr. Wilson expects to leave for America shortly, and Lloyd George will probably return to England for the Parliament sitting. Both will be away for some weeks and Mr. Wilson may not return at all.

Eleven Articles Approved.

Eleven articles of the project for the Society of Nations were discussed and approved with small modifications by Peace Conference Commission on that subject at its meeting last night. The only article not approved was the paragraph concerning the abolition of compulsory military service unless required by reason of national defence under extraordinary circumstances.

Premier Orlando of Italy opposed the paragraph, also Leon Bourgeoise, one of the French members. The paragraph was cancelled and it was decided to leave to each country freedom to select its system of recruiting its forces up to the amount of troops which will be fixed later by the Society of Nations.

Another article which caused animated discussion was that concerning the method of applying military coercion to countries refusing to comply with the decision of the Society of Nations, or breaking its rules. No decision was reached.

Premier Ebert's Threat.

The Allied Premiers who will meet this afternoon as a supreme inter-allied war council, probably will fix the new terms to be imposed upon Germany, whose tactics of obstruction and recrimination are said to have reached a climax in the threat made at Weimar by Chancelor Ebert that Germany would break off negotiations with the Allies.

GENERAL STRIKE TIES UP BUSINESS IN HUN CITY

Laborers and Professional Men Quit Work as Protest Against Terrorism of the Spartacans.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, Feb. 7.—All the Bourgeoise of the city of Dusseldorf have walked out. The officials, clerks and other employes in the service of the railways, post, telegraph, telephone and service lines, bankers, lawyers, physicians, school teachers, and other people engaged in the profession have quit work. The employes on all public service lines are striking in keeping with the threat to the executive council of the Communalistic government to call a general strike of all the Bourgeoise classes if their demands were not granted. Theatres and restaurants were forced to close, as they are without service. Big industrial plants have shut down as the office forces everywhere have joined in the walk out. This unique protest is the first of its kind to be applied on a big scale as retaliation against the Spartacan terrorism.

Dusseldorf, is a town of Prussia, in the Rhenish province, beautifully situated among villas and gardens on the Rhine, 22 miles north west of Cologne. It is the seat of the Dusseldorf School of Painting. The population in 1900 was 213,767.

HALF OF MERCHANT FLEET WAS LOST DURING WAR

Britain's Marine Losses Ten Times That of Italy or France and Seventeen Times That of United States.

London, Feb. 8.—In urging that immediate steps be taken to rebuild the British merchant marine, Archibald S. Hurd, the naval writer, in an article in the Daily Telegraph says that although the United Kingdom was not invaded, Great Britain has paid for victory in the loss of more than 9,000,000 tons of shipping, ten times as much as that lost by either France or Italy. The British losses were 17 times as much as that of the United States.

Injury Inflicted by Sea

"Owing to little having been said of the injuries inflicted on this country in the war," Mr. Hurd says, "there is an impression in allied and neutral countries that we paid a relatively small price for victory. It is true that we were not invaded, but that was due, not to good fortune, for the seas is the easiest and quickest medium for an invader, but to good policy. It is also true that we were not starved, but that was the result of judgment and organization. It is very necessary that due importance should be attached to the injury inflicted upon us as a people who follow the sea, because there is a temptation to exaggerate the damage sustained by the allies on the land and to ignore the results of enemy action by sea.

Target for Enemy

"It is certain that if H. B had not been for the British Merchant navy France and Italy would have been driven out of the war and America would never have been able to intervene. When the war came the vast amount of British merchant shipping was placed at the service of the state and became the principal target of the enemy's naval forces. The result was that approximately half the tonnage under the British flag was destroyed.

"The following figures show the total losses in gross tonnage of merchant steamers sustained by this and other countries during the war:

"The United Kingdom and Dominions, 9,055,668; the United States 501,038; Belgium, 105,081; Brazil, 31,279; Denmark, 245,302; Holland 229,041; France, 807,077; Greece, 414,675; Italy, 861,425; Japan, 270,033; Norway, 1,171,760; Spain, 227,862; Sweden, 264,001.

Ten Times French Loss

"The British tonnage sunk, therefore, was more than ten times as much as that lost by either France or Italy and seventeen times as much as that lost by America.

"We depend on shipping for almost all that we require. Virtually all of our remaining ships need to be overhauled, which means that they are handicapped in trading, and it is doubtful if some are worth the expense of restoration. In effect we have to build as soon as we can.

Other Factors

"That is one item in the war bill due to us as a maritime nation and our case is separate from that of other countries, which are not islands and are not pivotal points of Maritime Empires. Moreover the above figures do not exhibit the value of the cargo sunk, the number of lives destroyed or the inestimable injury caused by our withdrawal of ships from distant trade routes in order that we might help our Allies and transport over the Atlantic a majority of the American troops which turned the scale on the Western front."

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN WEST

MRS. VANT (NEE EVA IRENE WALTON) PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY.

A wire last night conveyed the sad news of the death in Grand Forks, B. C., on February 6th, 1919, of Eva Irene Walton, wife of E. Vant, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Walton of Nelson B. C., formerly of Peterborough and niece of Mrs. J. H. Cavanagh of London street, Mrs. Wm. Langford of Water street, and Mrs. W. J. Green of Brock street. Mrs. Vant will be remembered by many here as a school girl who for years made her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Green, 375 Brock street. She was also a graduate nurse of Nicholl's Hospital. The near loved ones left to mourn her death are her husband, one young son Walton, mother, father, two sisters; Mrs. Gilroy of Nelson and Mrs. Alcock of Edmunton and one brother, Loris in France. The funeral will be held at Nelson B. C.

MILITARY MEDAL FOR SERGT. GAMEY

LOCAL MAN WHO CHOSE STRENUOUS BRANCH OF THE SERVICE.

Sergt.-Major Gamey, whose wife, Mrs. J. C. Gamey, resides at 589 Aylmer street, has been awarded the Military Medal, according to information received by his friends in this city.

Sergt.-Maj. Gamey went overseas with the 93rd Battalion and qualified for his commission. He was one of that devoted number who reverted to the ranks in order to get to the firing line. He refused an offer to be sent back to Canada, as an instructor, preferring to go on active service in his country's cause.

Word received by his wife states that though offered his commission in September Sergt.-Maj. Gamey refused to take it.

SIX MILLIONS IS FEDERAL BUDGET

WHAT THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS MUST RAISE THIS YEAR.

Washington, Feb. 7.—With the submission to congress of the conferees agreement on the long delayed war revenue bill the American people were presented with their prospective federal tax budget for 1919 and ensuing years—something over $6,000,000,000 this year and $4,000,000,000 thereafter subject to the revision of future rates expected to be undertaken by the next congress.

The conference report, presented to the house by Majority Leader Kitchin, was regarded as sure of adoption by both house and senate, and of approval by the President. If this promises the future American tax yield which now is about $4,370,000,000. Besides this year's tax levy of about $6,000,000,000 further treasury needs, to be raised by bonds and other means are estimated by the treasury at about 12,000,000,000.

Except for slightly increased war excess profits rates for 1919 and corporations income tax rates for 1920 virtually all the rates as revised in the bill passed by the Senate are approved by the conferees and remain in the final conference draft Like the original House bill and the Senate's revision, the bulk of the taxes are levied upon war excess profits of corporations and on incomes, tobacco amusement admissions, etc.

ASKS CONSIDERATION OF IRELAND'S CLAIM

Washington, Feb. 7. — The House of Foreign Affairs Committee favorably reported a resolution expressing the hope that the Peace Conference "would favorably consider the claims of Ireland to the right of self-determination." The text follows:

"Resolved, by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), that it is the earnest hope of the Congress of the U. S. of America, that the Peace Conference now sitting in Paris, in passing upon the rights of various peoples, will favorably consider the claims of Ireland to the right of self-determination."

STRIKERS ARE BACK IN PLACES

TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES IN LONDON ARE ABOUT NORMAL AGAIN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 7.—Today, for the first time in a week, there was a fair transportation service, in and out of the city. Practically all the employees of the steam and electric surface and underground roads, were again on duty after strike periods, ranging from one to ten days. There were no reports today of any change in the situation at Belfast or Glasgow. In both of these places it was reported yesterday that many employees had gone back to work.

Thousands Are On Leave in London

CANADIAN SOLDIERS ORDERED TO REPORT TO MILITARY CAMPS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 7.—A special cable to The Toronto Star says the third Canadian division was due in England yesterday and that thousands of Canadians have arrived in London on eight days' leave, being ordered to report to Bramshott and Witley camps on the expiring of their leave.

FARMERS HERE CANNOT LOSE

SO LONG AS THE PRICE OF THE WHEAT CROP IS GUARANTEED.

Montreal, Feb. 7.—"The government has guaranteed the crop at a fixed price and the farmers stand to lose nothing, even if the purchase of the grain in Argentine at a lower price makes it impossible to dispose of all of the 1918 Canadian crop at $2.40 a bushell," was the statement of a prominent member of the corn exchange when discussing the situation that might arise out of the purchase of large quantities of grain in the Argentine by the Imperial government.

The fact that Argentina is now offering grain to the imperial government at $1,44½ is an indication it is the opinion of grain men in the city, of the condition in which the Government of Canada would have found itself provided a high fixed price had been set for the 1919 crop as has been done by the United States Government. In this latter instance it is the consensus of opinion that the United States Government stands to lose many millions of dollars on her fixed price policy for the 1918 crop of grain.

The bidding for New Brunswick's $450,000 bond issue was very close.

Winnipeg rails make a six-point gain in yesterday's stock exchange trading here. The war bonds, too, are active.

Miss Asquith To Marry A Prince

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 7.—The engagement of Miss Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Asquith, to Prince Antoine Bibesco, councillor at the Rumanian legation has been announced. Prince Bibesco was formerly first secretary of the Rumanian legation at Washington.

DRAWBACKS TO A MILD WINTER

FARMERS, COLD STORAGE MEN AND LUMBERMEN SEE TROUBLE AHEAD.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—There are apparently some thorns to the rose of this kindly and salubrious winter. It has saved the fuel situation and been a godsend to the poor, but now the very clemency of the winter threatens trouble to some spring and summer industries, according to reports received by the agriculture and forestry departments here. Cold storage men in some districts foresee an ice shortage next summer. Prairie farmers fear that the absence of the usual deep frosts this winter is going to prove disastrous during the seed and crop growing season unless there is plenty of rain. The gradual thawing out of the six to eight inches of frost in the sub-soil is in normal years an insurance against drought. This winter the frost has not gone down to anything like the usual depth. The lumbermen in New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario are complaining because the snowfall has not been heavy enough, and face the prospect of quickly subsiding streams in the spring and an extra short sleighing season to gather in the lumber cut out to the mills.

REJECTED OFFER OF FREE FUEL

WOMAN REFUSES A LOAD OF WOOD COMPOSED LARGELY OF LOGS.

Street Commissioner Evans may be pardoned after his experience of this morning if he is inclined to believe that there are people in the city who if presented with a horse would yank open the animal's mouth for a scrutiny of its teeth and would reject the gift if the examination showed signs of age.

Mr. Evans and his force are engaged in cutting down the dead trees in the city by order of the Council and the firewood so obtained is intended for free distribution among the needy of the city. A load of this fuel, composed largely of limbs, was delivered at the home of a woman who was reported as without fuel of any kind. One look at the offering decided her and she declared if they could not bring her something better than that the driver could take it away.

Which he did, there being no law by virtue of which a gift can be forced upon even the poor.

German Old Order Is Gone Forever

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Weimar, Feb. 7.—The old order in Germany has gone beyond recall and the people are now determined to rule themselves, declared Friedrich Ebert, chancellor, in calling the national Assembly to odrer here this afternoon. "We will call on the old German spirit of Weimar," he said, "We will be an empire of justice and truth."

"Ladies and Gentlemen"

The Chancellor opened the proceedings in the Assembly at 3.15 o'clock. He was received with applause as he advanced for the ceremony. In opening he addressed the assemblage as "ladies and gentlemen," a form of address never before heard in a German legislative body. The Chancellor's speech was an earnest appeal for unity and untiring labor.

PUBLISH NAMES OF OFFENDERS

PUBLICITY EXPECTED TO STOP PETTY CRIMES IN GERMANY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Coblenz, Feb. 7.—The names of all Germans convicted of violation of army regulations in territory occupied by the allied forces are being published in the German newspapers together with the address of each offender and a fine or sentence is imposed. Publicity was decided up, being likely to prevent an increase of minor offences such as selling liquor or imitation liquor to soldiers.

GERMANS PLAY BRITISH TUNES

"GOD SAVE THE KING" AND "MAPLE LEAF" OFTEN HEARD.

Kingston, Feb. 7.—In the German territory occupied by the allies, Hun orchestras in the cafes, restaurants and hotels are now playing "Rule, Britania," "God Save the King" and "The Maple Leaf."

They play them at the command of Canadian and British officers in their territory, who keep them going at it night and day in Cologne and other German centres. Lieut.-Col. Stewart, son of Postmaster Stewart, writes to say that they go at their new scores without any apparent objections.

BORDEN ACCEPTS POST ON NEW COMMISSION.

Ottawa, Feb. 7. — Official advices have been received here that the British Government has offered to Sir Robert Borden and that Sir Robert has accepted the post of chief representative of the Empire on a commission of two representatives of each of the five powers to define the future bounderies of Greece and Roumania. It will not be necessary for Sir Robert to visit either of the countries. It is expected that he will be engaged in the work for two or three weeks' time.

PRODUCE PRICES TAKE A TUMBLE

DROP NOTED AT MARKET IN TILSONBURG IN FOUR YEARS.

Tilsonburg, Feb. 7.—There was an extraordinarily large attendance at yesterday's market, and for the first time in four years produce took a decided drop in prices, as follows: Eggs, fresh-laid, 45c; creamery butter, 53c to 55c; chickens, dressed, 30c per pound; cheese, 29c per pound; beef, 16c to 28c pound; pork, 25c to 30c; pasteurized milk, in bottles, dropped to 10c a quart, delivered, or 9c per quart at the local dairy. This is decided sign of a reasonable in good prices locally.

HEELED FOR ALL HUMAN EFFORT

JOHN SANGSTER HAD WHISKEY IN GRIP AND $700 IN HIS POCKET.

John Sangster while on his way to his home at Rockcroft in the township of Harvey was arrested at the C. P. R. Station this morning as he descended from the west bound train with a grip containing three bottles of whiskey.

Taken to the police station the prisoner was found to be carrying a roll of bills amounting to more than $700.

In police court this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge of having been found with liquor in a place other than his dwelling and was assessed the minimum of $200 with $9.10 costs tacked on.

Chief Thompson told the prisoner that he might consider himself fortunate in having succeeded in getting to this city with such a sum of money on his person without losing it either in Montreal or on the train.

"I was not drunk on the train nor when I was arrested," replied the prisoner.

"Sober men often have their pockets picked," rejoined the Chief.

"I have been in Quebec," said the guilty one when asked where he had been coming from when arrested this morning. The constable who took the man into custody stated that he examined his grip because he thought he looked as if he had been drinking when he stepped onto the station platform.

Three months in jail with hard labor was not to be thought of by one who had $700 of loose cash upon his person and as a result the roll is now less bulky than when its owner left the wet eastern city.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1919

BENNY WISE, POUND FOOLISH.

THE SPIRIT of penny wisdom that sometimes seizes members of the City Council again overwhelmed the members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee the other night when they cut from the estimates the $200 which Chief Grange asked for to defray his expenses to the annual meeting of the Dominion Firemen's Association, which will be held next summer at Calgary.

When everything in connection with the convention is taken into consideration it will become apparent that it is really a public misfortune that the Chief will be unable to attend it. The West is the place, too, for anyone in search of new ideas, to visit. Calgary has by general consent the most up-to-date fire department in all America, let alone in Canada. Every article of equipment used by the department is manufactured by the members of the brigade. None but skilled mechanics are taken on, and almost every trade is represented by those in this branch of the city's service. Every motor vehicle, every ladder and all other apparatus used for fire protection, are manufactured by the men themselves. Even the alarm system is installed by them.

It is evident, then, that a trip to such a scene of activity would be well worth all that it would cost to a man in Chief Grange's position. It is not as though he asked the aldermen for a holiday and an honorarium to sustain him on a fishing trip. The city would share in the benefits which he would receive personally from attending such a convention. The result would be still greater efficiency in the department over which Chief Grange presides.

Chief Thompson, working under a different commission will have his expenses paid to the convention of police chiefs, which will be held in Calgary immediately before the gathering of the firemen in the same city. At these conventions year after year Chief Thompson always takes a leading part in the discussions, and more than one of his papers read to his confreres on these occasions have been regarded as standard treatises on police work. In this way the Chief has proved an excellent advertisement for the city which he represents. In all fairness, the chief of one city department is entitled to the same treatment as another holding a similar position of importance.

The aldermen of the city find it necessary at intervals to take trips to outside cities on municipal business. Mayor Duncan is authorized by resolution of his colleagues to decree such trips and to issue an order for the necessary expense involved every time he deems it desirable in the interests of the public. Objection is passed to a convention of members of his profession. If an outlay is justified in one case it must be in another.

The matter, fortunately, is not finally disposed of by the action of the committee. When it comes before the Council it is not altogether improbable that the item will be restored and the request of Chief Grange complied with.

seldom or never heard to such a policy. Still, it is difficult to see how aldermen disposed to be generous in matters purposely to themselves should be so ready to clamp down and sit upon the lid of the city treasury when Chief Grange asks for an appropriation for his ex-

THE POLICE COMMISSION.

THE FOLLOWING questions will be submitted to municipal councils in municipalities having police commissions:

Do you approve of the present constitution of boards of police commissioners?

If not, what changes do you suggest?

Do you approve of the members of your police force forming an association or union?

If not, what are your reasons?

If you approve, do you see any objection to the association of police affiliating with other such associations or unions, or with trades and labor organizations?

If you do not approve, what are your reason?

Have you any suggestions to make as to the composition of boards of police commissioners?

If so, please state them.

The above questions will be submitted to the Council in this matter. They deal with a matter the discussion of which is revived in Peterborough every year at a time when the estimates are passed upon by the city fathers. Probably seven of the present members of the Council—a majority at any rate—are in favor of having the police force under the management of the municipality, but even if that is the case there is no change in the system probable.

The police force of any city is a provincial rather than a local institution. It has been established on its present basis to preserve it from the manipulation of local politicians intent on acquiring transient fame and temporary popularity by reducing the number of guardians of the law. Politics may creep into the administration of a fire brigade, but nothing of the kind is ever heard of in the affairs of a police department, so far at least as the commissioners are concerned.

Any municipality that has a police commission is represented on the board by the Mayor, the other members being the county judge and the Police Magistrate. The popular objection to the two last mentioned is that they are not elected and so cannot be held to account by the people.

To be perfectly logical, the aldermen and others who take this stand should insist upon the Judge and the Magistrate being elected instead of appointed to the Bench. In their judicial capacities they are entrusted with graver duties than those which devolve upon them as police commissioners. The men to whom can be confided the liberty—and often the very life—of the people without being called upon to give an account of their stewardship at an election, should be able to discharge without suspicion the duties connected with the management of a police force.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS is being formed in Europe avowedly to prevent all international feuds for the future the wide world over. Ideal as its object may be, the time for launching such a reform would appear to be other than auspicious. There are wars and rumors of wars on all sides of the delegates to the conference, and the dove of peace cannot yet find rest for the sole of her foot in any of the countries that were either the theatres of or parties to the recent war. The Germans and the Poles are in deadly combat with each other. The different factions in Russia are warring, and an Allied army is at present engaged in the apparently hopeless task of restoring order in the former empire. Norway has taken a hand in the Russian upheaval. The Germans and the Austrians are fighting among themselves. The former declare that they will never submit to being stripped of their colonial possessions, and the Allies are just as firm in insisting upon this point as one of the conditions of peace. All through the United Kingdom and in the United States there are labor disputes and strikes more desolating to the welfare of the countries in the local effects than was even the war itself. To be prepared for any contingency, Britain deems it the part of wisdom to maintain an army of one million men. As a similar measure of safety, two hundred thousand United States troops are to stay for the present in Europe, and it is likely that part of the Canadian force will remain on call over there.

Veritably the world is recovering slowly from the insanity of war. The nations of the earth have tasted the blood of each other, and the primitive instincts of mankind, once reawakened, are hard to suppress again. The League of Nations would do well to hasten to place the organization upon a working basis so that its mission may be taken up. It has its work cut out for it.

If moral rather than physical agencies are to be employed to restore order, every day's delay only adds to the gravity of the duty which lies ahead. There must be something more than an actual cessation of hostilities before the world can be called safe for democracy. Industrial harmony must be nurtured, and this is one of the tasks with which the members of the League of Nations have charged themselves.

THE STATUS OF MILITARY OFFICERS.

SOME TIME AGO the Militia Department issued an order to the effect that when a commissioned officer who had won promotion in active service overseas returned to Canada he must revert in rank to that held when a member of the Canadian militia. This order has since been amended, and it is now ordained that the officer shall retain the rank won under the fire of the German guns so long as he remains on the reserve list of militia officers at home. If he becomes an active member of the militia again, he must take his chances as to status and accept any position that may be offered him.

If returned men are to be given—and rightly so—the preference in everything, it is only right that this principle should be applied to the officers who have won distinction abroad when they renew their connection with the militia units at home. Now that the war is over it is likely that these units will be reorganized and brought up to their ante-war strength. The rank and file will be composed largely of the men and non-commissioned officers who have seen active service and who have returned to Canada with their physical powers unimpaired. Leave it to these men and it can readily be seen that they would in their new military environments prefer as officers the men who led them on the battlefields of Europe rather than men who never smelled powder in real warfare. Such a policy would be fair to private and officer alike and would be a tangible appreciation of the services rendered by both classes.

It must strike everyone that the officer who has been in the front line of trenches, who has been promoted for efficiency under fire, will by the very reason of this experience be more valuable as an officer in the militia than the man who has never endured the same baptism.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

AND NOW THAT the United States is about to go dry, what will Milwaukee do to perpetuate the fame brought to the city by its brewery products?

STEADY PROGRESS MADE BY CANADA MUTUAL LIFE

During the Past Five Years This Insurance Company Shows a Gain in New Business of Over Sixty-Three Per Cent.

This year the financial statements of the various Life Insurance Companies will be examined with more than usual interest in view of the unprecedented strain to which such organizations have been subjected by the war and the epidemic of influenza. A perusal of the Annual Report of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada will be a pleasant surprise even to the friends of that Company, who, in view of the war mortality and that accompanying the influenza, might, with some reason, have expected a report less favorable. But the financial strength of this Company, carefully conserved during many past years, has made it possible to pay the unwonted claims and yet leave a substantial surplus. Thanks to the care and foresight exercised in the past the Mutual has won through with splendid credit and, remarkable to relate, with undiminished dividends. The Mutual has during the war dispensed to beneficiaries and their friends about two million dollars in addition to the normal mortality, yet the present position of the Company is more prominent and never before was Canada's only Mutual as popular as it is today. This is evident from the phenomenal amount of new business pouring in from month to month. The Company holds a reserve greater than required by the Government by $1,210,000 and the assets exceed by $5,813,000 the amount required by the Government standard.

The amount of Premiums received during the year was $5,021,518.20 and the receipts for interest, rents, etc., amounted to $1,999,584.87, making a total income of $7,021,103.07.

The disbursements were as follows:

Death and disability	$1,563,077.60
Matured endowments	479,958.62
Annuities	10,541.40
Policies purchased	409,374.69
Surplus	838,466.15
Total	$3,291,446.46

This constitutes a wonderful record, of usefulness and one of which the individual members of the organization may well feel proud, leaving as it does, the essential stability of the Company unimpaired.

That the Mutual is extremely popular is shown by the fact that during the last five years the production of new business exceeded that of the preceding five years by 63½ per cent. The people of Canada evidently appreciate life insurance today as they never have done before. This is one of the compensations of the war from a financial point of view. The war has also made it possible for insurance companies to earn an exceptionally high rate of interest for a long term of years on their war bond investments. It is probable that before these bonds mature the excess of interest obtainable over the normal will have completely recouped the Company's holding them for the payment of the war claims.

IS WORTH ALL HE CAN EARN

PRESIDENT BEATTY OF THE C. P. R. TALKS TO BOYS IN MONTREAL.

"A man from his shoulders down is worth $2.50 a day, but from his shoulders up, there is no limit to his earning capacity," said Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway in a talk to the employed boys of the evening educational classes of the Y. M. C. A. in Montreal.

"When I was coming down in the train from Ottawa this afternoon, I thought of you boys and the work you are doing, and it brought back my own school days. I first started college in Toronto, my family having moved there when I was 11 or 12. I was a day pupil at the college. I did not believe in work, however, and I did very little studying. My nickname was 'Banty.' I indulged in numerous scraps, and spent most of my time after school hours doing the thing I should have done when school was in. At the end of the year a report was sent to my parents and I think, without boasting that was the worst report ever written about any boy. At the end of the report was a note to the effect that if I did not return to the college at the beginning of the next term, the principal could get along without me. I think perhaps he was right, and I believed everybody knew I was of no particular use.

"I was sent to another school, where my record was not known for which I was thankful. I there fell into the hands of a tutor who, though a good teacher, had a very violent temper. He encouraged us when he was not abusing us. If a fellow showed inattention he was likely to be hit on the head with a ruler; but the first words of encouragement I ever received came from that man. He told me I might amount to something, which was news to me—I had never heard it before; in any event he gave me an inspiration to study, so I worked, and the more I worked the more I realized how valuable it was, which fact I continued to appreciate as I grew older.

Capable men Required.

"I never saw a boy or a man who got anywhere if he did not work," went on Mr. Beatty. "I know you boys have given up a great deal to take on these extra studies, but none of you will ever regret it. As you grow older you will find the competition between men very keen, and he who is fairly well educated has a distinct advantage over the man who is not. Every boy has some kind of a vague idea he would like to be something or other when he grows up, he does not know just what. You will, however, find there are three or four simple things that tend to a man's success. The first is good health, It is impossible for a boy or a man to work against that handicap. The next thing is honesty. No man in this, or any other country, who was not honest, attained success; he may appear to do so for a time, but when his dishonesty is discovered, which it will be sooner or later, his success is at an end and his failure begins.

The third essential is education; without education it is impossible to climb to any important position; and the fourth essential is work. Nothing was ever accomplished without work, and if any man tells you differently it is not the truth. During the coming years many capable men will be required to fill important positions, and he who has the essentials to which I have referred is the one who will get the preference."

With regard to the attributes of a man, Mr. Beatty said: "The things we admire most in other men are the qualities we should develop in ourselves. The first is honesty, the second courage, and the third modesty. Without courage one cannot go very far in this world. If a man is content to step aside for others he is bound to lose. Without modesty no one can secure the respect of his fellow-beings. Every man's hand is against the man who shows he believes himself better than others. When I was a youngster, my father, who was a very wise man, used to say: 'Never think you are better than anybody else, but always think you are just as good.' Modesty is a quality I suppose I should apologize for mentioning, for it has become very unpopular and is now almost obsolete; nevertheless, it is one of the finest qualities a boy or man could have.

Forty Minutes' Handball

"I understand that with your studies you mingle a little play, which is a good thing. Every boy should play every game he is adapted for; he usually works well who plays well. I am not yet very old and every night between September and May, when I am in Montreal, if I do not have a hard forty minutes' handball, I feel I am depriving myself of something I need. A man should have a sound body as well as a sound mind, and the two go hand in hand."

In conclusion, the speaker said: "In the work you have taken up at the Y. M. C. A. you are not now aware of the advantages you are laying up for yourselves, but these will develop as the years proceed, and I assure you that I wish you all the greatest possible success."

WIT AND WISDOM

"Pa, why do you always insist on my singing when Mr. Bimley comes here?"

"Well, I don't like to come right out and tell him to go."

A lady observed a small boy sprinkling sawdust on the ice to prevent pedestrians falling.

"That is real benevolence," declared the good lady.

"No, 'tain't," growled the boy, indignantly; "it's sawdust."

A Reasonable Grouch.

"Don't complain when the children around you make a little noise," said the man with a perpetual grouch. "Remember, you were once a little boy."

"I am not forgetting it," replied the man with a perpetual grouch. "I was one of those little boys who are always compelled to sit around dressed up and watch the other boys having a good time."

Our Ambitions.

Mrs. Jones—The cook refuses to get up earlier than 7:30.

Jones—Ask her if she won't do it for a couple of days until I can rearrange my business.

Newest Innocents!

Mrs. Youngbride (at the grocer's)—I'll take a few of those beets if they are live ones.

Clerk—Live ones, ma'am?

Mrs. Youngbride — Yes; I must have live ones. I heard my husband say he had no use for dead beats.

"Yes-es," hesitated the bridegroom, "these cakes are pretty good, but don't you think there ought to be just a little more—"

"Your mother made them," interrupted the bride, quickly.

"—of them?" ended he.

Foolish Question.

Barber — How would you like to have your hair cut, sir?

Uncle Hawbuck — First rate, thankee. That's jest what I came in for.

Afraid of Shell Shock.

Catherine, 3, while at dinner the other evening, refused to eat any scalloped oysters.

"Why!" said her mother, "don't you like oysters?"

"Yes," answered Catherine, "but I'm afraid of shell shock."

FEMININE LOGIC

The young lady across the way says the men behind the lines play just as important a part as those at the front, and the rear-admirals deserve just as much credit as those who did the actual fighting.

COOKS NOT RETURNED MEN

Some complaint has been made to the G.W.V.A. at Toronto that many of the sergeant cooks who have been sent overseas to supervise the foodstuffs given veterans returning from overseas on their ocean journey, are not returned men. The veterans are of the opinion that men who have seen service outside of Canada should be given these positions.

It matters not how graceful a girl may be, she simply can't enact the part while trying to climb out of a hammock.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

(By Leo Pope.)

Last nite pop was in the setting room smoaking a segar and taking it out of his mouth every once in a wile and looking at it to see how much was left, wich not much was, saying, I sed I was ony going to smoak one segar tonite, and one segar is all im going to smoak. Will power is the greatest thing in the world. A man may have a glass eye and a dubbie chin and no frends, but if he has will power he will get there just the same. As the sun sets each day a man should be able to pat himself on the back and say, This day I used my will power in full and such a way.

And pop looked at his segar agen, being hardly enuff to look at, and I sed, I got will power, too, pop.

I dont know about that, sed pop, eny boy that has to be called in the morning as awfen as you do will never dio of a rush of will power to the hed. Can you point to any one thing you did today, for instants, and let out your chest with pride and say, Will power did that?

Yes, sir, I sed.

The doose you can, then Im proud of you and happy to have you for a son, sed pop.

Do you wunt to know wat I did, pop? I sed.

I insist upon it, sed pop, and I sed, Well, I was sucking a sour ball, and I made up my mind to suck it all the way down to the last suck without biting it once, and, I did.

Good nite. Is that all? sed pop, and I sed, Thats a lot, you awt to try it some time. And pop sed, Youre enuff to drive a man to tobacco. And he took another segar and lit it, and I started my homes work.

Mind your own business unless you are able to employ a private secretary.

Famous Church At Constantinople

The following interesting account of the great church, "Santa Sophia," by Chrysostomos Papadzopoulos, D. D. Authimandrite, of Anthens, has been written, which will explain why the Christians are so determined to rescue it from the Turkish dominion, and restore it once more as the Mother Church of Christendom:

With the end of the great war, the Turkish tyranny has also come to an end in the Christian East, and the aspirations of the Greek nation, after centuries of oppression, now turn towards the great temple of the Holy Wisdom in Constantinople. They await anxiously the restoration of the Great Church to Christian worship, for no monument exists for them so precious and so greatly revered as this. Haghia Sophia is for the Christian Greek what the Parthenon was for the pagan Hellene. It epitomises the whole history of the Greek Orthodox Church in the East. Originally founded by Constantine the Great, and afterwards rebuilt for Justinian by the great architect, Anthemius, from Tralle in Asia Minor, it is connected with all the great historical incidents of the Christian East in the Middle Ages. Under its vault was heard the voice of the most famous Patriarchs of Constantinople. Synods took place in it and supplications and thanksgivings to God were offered in days of struggle against barbarians who appeared before the walls of the Imperial city.

When the Turkish peril drew near the Roman Church sought to exploit the difficulties of the Orthodox Church in order to compel it so sacrifice its independence. A spurious Concordat between Kreeks and Latins was read out in Haghia Sophia, but the Greek nation refused to recognize its validity and holding that the Great Church had been contaminated, insisted upon seeing it purified and dedicated anew to God. On the awful day of the fall of Constantinople (May 29th, 1453) as the Liturgy was offered, a great number of people took refuge in it. Suddenly the Turks forced the doors. According to a popular tradition, still living in the people's memory, the Liturgy was broken off and the wall opened to receive the officiating priest with the sacred chalice in his hands. Three days later the conqueror himself entered the church. He offered prayer in it and since that time Haghia Sophia has been a Mosque of Islam.

Gennadius Scholarius was shortly afterwards elected Patriarch of Constantinople, but Haghia Sophia was no longer his Cathedral. At first he was allowed to use the Church of the Holy Apostles, but soon the Turks seized on this as well. The Patriarchate passed to the Church of Pammakaristos, then to the Church of Our Lady the Consoler (Pareyoretria), then to the Church of tS. Demetrius in Xyloporta, and at last, about the year 1600, finally settled in the Church of St. George in the Phanar, where the sacred relics of the past which have been saved from Turkish rapine are still preserved.

It is not hard to imagine the feelings of the Orthodox Greek people as they see Haghia Sophia in the hands of the Turks. Some additions and reparations have been made to the outer part of the Great Church, but the wonderful monument has never lost its original grandeur and grace. The Turks has kept its very name unchanged. The most popular songs of the Greek people are these which refer to Haghia Sophia. In one of these the unknown poet says to the icons weeping over their misfortunes: "Hush, My Lady, and you, icons of the Saints, weep not. As time and the years roll on, all will be ours again." This is the great hope of the Christian Greek nation. It is high time to witness the realisation.

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

An inspiring reader—this column would probably pester out were it not for the help of readers—inquires whether neurasthenia is a real illness or only imaginary, and if so what are the characteristic symptoms.

The first part of the question deserves answer. To the second part the answer is capital NIX. There should be a penalty of ten years for the publication of symptoms, and publishing the symptoms of neurasthenia should send a doctor up for life at least. When our class studied neurasthenia in the medical textbooks forty-four of us came down with the disease. Most of us never fully recovered.

Neurasthenia is a real illness to the sufferer. That is the worst feature of the trouble, its appalling reality. The neurasthenic is sick—no one knows it but himself, which fact makes him feel just so much worse. Most ailments the victim can forget momentarily, but neurasthenia is as eternally real as thirty-year obesity.

Rich people who persist in considering themselves poor and poor people who conduct themselves as nearly as possible like the rich commonly affect neurasthenia. The disease is much more popular than in the vulgar days when it was called nervous prostration.

A neurasthenic is always miserable and often his doctor feels even worse.

I do not know much about neurasthenia. In that I differ from the general profession. I admit I don't know much about it.

My notion is that neurasthenia is a long, bitter struggle between the individual and his conscience. In some cases subsistence seems to lose the fight and the neurasthenia becomes a hobby. Competition, to my provincial notion, is the cause of neurasthenia. Rivalry, jealousy, envy, selfishness, greed—these things are emotions that squander vitality, or pep, exhaust the ductless gland apparatus which has to do with the production of pep.

Trying to Teach Two To Talk.

"I am a country school teacher and two of the brightest pupils in my class (boys) stutter. Is there any way in which this impediment may be overcome? They are such fine boys, with a dear mother, and it would be well worth a little extra effort if there is anything I can do to help them.

"S. M. W."

Send a stamped, addressed envelope, sister, and I will outline a system of special vocal and breathing exercises to help the boys.

Sweating Under the Arms.

"Can you print something that will prevent excessife sweating in the armpits? Does it injure the health in any way to check perspiration in the armpits? M. P."

Once every alternate day for three or four days sponge the armpits with a solution of one ounce of alumnium chloride in three ounces of distilled water or rain water. Allow this to dry on. The treatment may be repeated a srequired at intervals of a few weeks. There is no physiological injury from checking the perspiration in the armpits.

Might Try a Depth Charge.

"Kindly tell me what to do to take gas off the stomach of a very stout person.

"R. D. H."

One good way is to summon a doctor to drop a stomach tube in. But, as a rule, the remedy for such a condition depends on the nature of the trouble. Thus, if it is caused by gallstones the treatment would not be the same as for such a symptom in a case of Bright's disease or ptosis.

Contemplating Marriage.

"I am, a young man contemplating marriage in a short time. While I hope eventually to raise children, just at present the financial question . . . your advice . . ."

Don't. Possibly you cannot afford to have children. Certainly you cannot afford to have the unhappiness your child is sure to bring to your imitation home. Don't marry until the financial question is answered.

Measurements Of The Perfect Man

Atlantic City, Feb. 7.—The official measurement of the "perfect man" has been laid down by the National Association of Merchant Tailors, who will meet in annual convention here next week to set the type pace for the coming year. The 1919 Apollo—physical culture experts to the contrary—has been determined by the tailors on the following measurements—Height, 5 feet 8 inches; weight, 148 1-2 pounds; chest, 28 inches; waist, 23 1-2 inches; hips, 39 1-2 inches; thigh, 21 3-4 inches; calf, 14 1-4 inches.

AVERAGE WORK OF HENS

Eighty-five Eggs Per Bird is a Pretty Good Production.

The average production of eggs by hens of all kinds and ages in the United States is 85. Unselected White Leghorns, however, produce an average of 130 eggs for the first year, 120 for the second, 110 for the third, 95 for the fourth, and fall off about ten a year up to the eighth. These figures are from a bulletin of the Utah Experiment Station. If the first year production be low, the second will be high, and vice versa, the total production for three years being about the same.

ONE VETERAN DECIDES TO TAKE UP FARMING LIFE

Pte. Fred Riddell Made Up His Mind When Abroad That the Farm Was the Place For Him.

It is quite evident that the Government policy now crystalised in the effort to induce men returned from service is bearing fruit. The expressed intention of men who are looking to some form of occupation that will ensure a livelihood and with it some personad independence is bringing many to consider and apply for papers preliminary to considering the proposition to go on the land.

Many of the men returned have had previous training on a farm and in farm work. Several admit that they pursued the occupation just so long as they could not get away from it. For it had, at the time no other prospect than that of a farm hand for them. Now with the broader outlook, with the opportunity that if the reasonable conditions be met, and with fair health and continuance of purpose they may in time become independent has appealed to many. Numbers of applications have been made through the office of the Patriotic Fund, which undertakes to do the preliminary work of application, filling in of papers, etc.

A case is typical, that of Pte. Fred Riddell, who returned at the end of November last. He had enlisted with the 109th Regt. and was transferred to the 38th ba., and saw service in the field. Fortunately he escaped without injury. He made up his mind, when abroad, that the farm was the thing for him.

He spent 20 years at farming in the Township of Clarke, Durham County, and is now 39 years of age. Not too late, he says, to make a new start. He has that invaluable essential to a man doing farming, his wife and children. He expects that the boys will be a substantial help and in the course of a few years the family be happier on the farm than living and depending on the vicarious chances of continuous occupation working for some one else. Riddell is right.

With a very limited capital he hopes to get through. His course can be taken by any other man who will prove up. Prove up honesty of purpose, discrimination to catch hold and lift and stick at it. The Department makes fairly stringent regulations. These are to be met. Good for the new forming settler and good for the proposition. A most substantial help is afforded. Three from now the problem of the cost of living will have solved itself for Fred Riddell, as it will for any man who will show the enterprise to get on the land for himself.

Winnipeg Grants Were Unlawful

Winnipeg, Feb. 7.—The grants made by the City Council of 1918 to the Bonspielers, as well as the grant towards the holding of the Winter fair, were found to be unlawful by Chief Justice Mathers. The grant of $15,000 to the Sailors' Dependents Fund was, however, found to have been correct and in keeping with the city charters. The questions had come up in the form of an injunction applied for by N. T. MacMillan, to restrain the city from making grants to charitable concerns and sporting events on the ground that the ratepayers did not sanction such grants, except in the case of the Sailors' Fund.

WILL COAL COME DOWN?

Deputy Fuel Controller Notified That Embargo Is Lifted.

Deputy Fuel Administrator Harrington announced yesterday at Toronto that word had been received from the United States authorities that the embargo on anthracite coal had been removed.

Coincident with the announcement also comes the rumor that hard coal has been reduced $5c a ton at the mines. Local dealers, however, profess to know nothing of the reduction.

ROYAL

Afternoons and Evenings to all 16c

Another Unusual Picture is being shown at the Royal Theatre tonight, entitled, "Tarzan of the Apes." This Thrilling story with its Jungle Life, its Wild Animal Atmosphere, the great combats between the super-man Tarzan and the lions, tigers and cannibals and its Romantic touches cannot fail to strike a responsive chord. For Days the largest theatres in New York city turned away thousands who were unable to witness this wonderful picture. Capacity audiences ruled at all performances and the New York prices ranged from seventy-five cents to one dollar and a half for each performance. You can see this wonderful picture at the Royal tonight for sixteen cents, including war tax. A Peterboro Audience has never seen a more entertaining picture since films were introduced.

GERMANY A LAND OF GRAVE YARDS

NATION IS BANKRUPT AND THE PEOPLE ARE ACTUALLY STARVING.

Paris, Feb. 7.—Germany is pictured as "a land of graveyards" by Lieut.-Col. Searl Harris of the United States Medical Reserve Corps, who has just returned to Paris after having investigated conditions east of the Rhine. He says that the German nation is bankrupt, the people are actually starving and that "probably no one will ever know the number of casualties suffered by Germany during the war."

"There are no eggs, no milk, and only half a pound of beet sugar for each person a month," he says, in giving details of the situation. "Shop girls have lost from ten to forty-five pounds in weight, while everyone shows a lack of vitality. I found children going to school shod with paper sandals or with cloth shoes to which wooden soles had been attached.

"No one knows the composition of the black, gritty bread that is being issued in limited quantities by ticket. Tuberculosis is increasing and skin diseases due to lack of nourishment and lack of soap are prevalent. One beneficial result of the low diet which has been enforced upon the German people is found in the fact that it has helped many who were overeaters. Bright's disease has decreased and diabetes has disappeared. There is no more gout in Germany, but on the other hand, intestinal diseases have greatly increased. These are attributed to coarse bread. Beer that is being sold has no substance."

Conditions which he had found in Germany have led Lieut.-Col Harris to the opinion he says, that many women and children will die or become defectives if not supplied with food.

The Germans who overran France," he says, "should be punished and permitted to starve. But not the women and children. Hungry men and women do not make good neighbors."

Divine Sarah To Join Stage Union

PATRICK CASEY TALKS ON CONDITIONS OF THE MODERN ACTOR.

New York, Feb. 7.—Under "closed shop" plan for the White Rats, an actor's union, Sarah Bernhardt might be pushed off the boards by less prominent members of the profession, according to testimony given here by Patrick Casey, manager of the vaudeville managers' protective association, at a hearing held by the federal trade commission of charges that the association was a combination in restraint of trade.

"It would be impossible for Madame Bernhardt to work unless she first became a member of a labor union," declared Casey. "It might be impossible for her to act at all, for the reason that members of the union might find that there were numbers of their members out of work and demand booking for them first."

Casey, who asserted that his association had done much to aid actors, testified that if actors were without "personal representatives" they would only get about 25 per cent. as much as they do.

"The reason for this is that there is only a small percentage of vaudeville actors who will get up early in the morning and rustle for work," he said.

Speaking of the financial circumstances of actors in general, he added ,that he had found "ninety per cent. of them are just four days ahead of the sheriff."

Vaudeville actors are receiving more for their acts and the vaudeville theatres throughout the country are doing more business than at any previous time, according to Mr. Casey.

FOUR YEARS AGO

Four years ago today, the second battalion C.E.F., left Salisbury Plains for Avonmouth to take ship at the port of Bristol, for France on the way to the front and to take part in operations in which they won so much glory for themselves and their country. The march from the training camp to the railway depot from four to five miles was made in one of the heaviest downpours of rain of the terrible winter.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

HAIR BECOMES CHARMING, WAVY, LUSTROUS, THICK IN A FEW MOMENTS.

EVERY BIT OF DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

For a few cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant, and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine, and carefully draw it through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few minutes you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes, —but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Harry Lauder's Word to Veterans

A straight-from-the-shoulder message to Canada's returned and returning soldiers has been addressed through the G. W. V. A. by that zealous patriot and popular Scot, Harry Lauder, who but a few days ago completed a visit to Toronto.

"You men who, by the grace of God, have been spared to return from the fighting zone, cannot fulfill your obligations to your dead comrades or carry out the ideals for which you have fought unless you hand yourself together in one united organization," he declares with conviction.

"I have been pleasantly surprised," Mr. Lauder adds, "to learn of the growth of the G. W. V. A. of Canada. When a Canadian organization extends from Halifax to Vancouver and from the United States border line to Dawson City and numbers 160 branches all within two years of its formation, one need have no hesitation in assuming that its success is assured.

"By retaining here in Canada that comradeship you first knew in Flanders you veterans of the Great War can make Canada worthy of the fifty-five thousand Canadians who have laid down their lives that Canada may remain a free nation in a freedom-loving Empire," he adds.

MUSTN'T WEAR UNIFORM

Sticklers to the last for military etiquette ,the R.A.F. has a notice in a prominent place at the Union Station, Toronto, informing airmen and cadets that after they are discharged they no longer have the right to wear their uniforms.

The notice is signed by Lt.-Co. Ruby, and reminds members of the force eaving the city for their homes that they must be careful to salute all officers whenever they happen to be wearing their uniforms.

WHEN RETURNED SOLDIER SUFFERS FROM A RELAPSE

Government Has Made Provision for Taking Care of Him Without Charge.

If a returned soldier or sailor suffers a relapse or recurrence of his illness some time after he has been pronounced cured by the military doctors, what should he do?

He should at once get in touch with his local medical officer who will give him the necessary treatment.

Does he have to pay for such treatment?

No, not any time, no matter how often he has to avail himself of it.

Does this apply to all illnesses to which he may be subject ?

No, only to injuries received in war, or contracted during, or as a result of his military service.

What is meant by 'Local Medical Officer?'

The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment has appointed a number of physicians in the various localities to look after the returned men in their district. The list of towns where such medical officers are is found in the "Returned Soldiers' Handbook" which is widely distributed among the returned men.

If a man takes sick in a place where there is no such Medical Officer or if the latter is away or sick himself, and the man requires instant treatment, what should be done?

In such a case the nearest physician civilian or military should be called in to give temporary aid.

What else should be done?

The civil physician should be instructed by the patient to at once communicate the facts of the case, with particulars of the ailment and treatment given, to the nearest medical officer of the Deparement.

Does the man have to pay for the services of the civilian doctor in such cases?

No, provided he has the case properly reported as above, and does not make use of the services of such a doctor when a medical officer of the Department is available.

Who pays the civil physician?

The Government, but on recommendation only of an authorized medical officer of the Department.

If a man is sick for quite a while and cannot earn anything, is any provision made for he dipendents during that time?

Yes.

How?

On recommendation of his medical officer, pay and allowance are given to a man and his family during his illness.

What does this sick pay and allowance amount to?

It differs in proportion to the extent to which the man's earning capacity is impaired by his illness. For instance, a man who could work two or three days a week, or who could do light work, whilst undergoing treatment, would not receive as much as one who could not work at all.

If a returned man is too sick to be cared for in his own home, or there are no facilities at his home for such care, what happens to him, when he lives in a place where there is no military hospital?

Arrangements have been made to receive such cases in the local hospitals, in all of the cities and larger towns, so that a man living in a town where there was a civil, but no military hospital, would not be obliged to go many miles to receive treatment in a strictly military establishment.

Can a soldier developing tuberculosis either before or after his discharge as a result of the rigors of military life, receive any special treatment, as such cases would not be received in the ordinary hospitals?

Yes.

Does this cost him anything?

No.

Where can this treatment be obtained?

In special Sanatoria throughout the country, under the supervision of this Department.

How can such a man obtain admission to these institutions?

On the recommendation of his local medical officer subject to the approval of the M. O. in charge of the institution.

Where are the Sanatoria located?

There is at least one in each Province from coast to coast.

Lindsay Officer Wears Insignia

LIEUT. MOORE IS AWARDED SOMETHING NEW IN BATTLE HONORS.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—Something new in battle honors appears on the uniforms of the Canadians overseas and some officers who have returned. The decoration is worn by officers only and is under the Imperial authority. It takes the form of a golden insignia in the division patches, which are worn on the arm just below the shoulder strap, and is different for the different divisions.

Lieut. R. J. Moore of Lindsay, who is a law student at Osgoode Hall, arrived in the city yesterday from Oshawa, to which place he was sent after his arrival in Canada last week on the liner Metagama, and he is wearing the insignia.

Lieut. Moore belonged to the 4th division, and for the gallantry of the men at Cambrai and elsewhere they were granted a golden maple leaf about an inch and a half in diameter on the green field of the division mark.

DR. SHIELDS' LECTURE

Tickets For Entertainment Are Now on Sale.

The tickets for the lecture of Dr. I. I. Shields on "The Fall of Lucifer" in Murray Street Baptist Church on Monday evening, Feb. 17, are to be secured at the Peterborough Music store, Madill's Drug store, or from members of Murray Street Church.

There will be only eight hundred tickets sold and some have been of the impression that they would not be available to outsiders. This is a mistake. While the tickets last all will be served, but it would be well for those hoping to hear Dr. Shields to secure their tickets early.

COUNCIL ON BLOCKADE

Will Arrange for Relaxation of Embargoes on Trade

Paris, Feb. 7.—A supreme allied blockade council has been organized to arrange for a relaxation of embargoes upon imports into enemy countries. Vance McCormick, the American member, has been chosen chairman. The other members are Lord Robert Cecil and Baron Rothermere, for Great Britain; Etienne Clementel, Minister of Commerce for France, and Dr. Silvio Crespi, Minister of Food for Italy.

PAY FOR ALDERMEN.

City Council of Edmonton Arranges Schedule

Edmonton Feb. 7.—The city council last night voted to recommend a charter amendment to allow the payment of $5 to every alderman for every council meeting attended and $3 for each committee meeting attended, with a $1,000 a year limit. An amendment to the charter covering the civic income tax, providing for a number of exemptions on small incomes, which had been introduced by Mayor J. A. Clark was lost on a tie vote.

CHEAPER FARM MACHINERY

National Association of Vehicle Makers Predict.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 7.—Farm implements and agricultural vehicles will be cheaper in the immediate future, according to predictions made here today at a special meeting of the National Vehicle Implement Association. The organization represents all factories of America engaged in the manufacture of farm vehicles and tools.

W. McCullough, of Chicago, national secretary said that the making of farm tools will be kept in practically the same line, as to varieties, indicated by the War Industries Board in war time, thus eliminating fifty per cent of the old lines. This will lead to economy in production cost he said, giving the farmer cheaper implements.

War and Pestilence. In the long history of life insurance the Companies have never borne a heavier burden than during the year 1918. Through that fateful year of war and pestilence The Mutual Life of Canada has come with unimpaired stability, having met all claims—foreseen and unforeseen—and yet the Company has been able to maintain the distribution to policyholders of the liberal dividends of past years.

Intrinsic Prosperity. The adverse conditions of war and a virulent epidemic have not been without compensations. The great value of life insurance has been demonstrated as never before, resulting in a very marked impetus to the business and an enlarged sphere of usefulness and service for the Company. The new assurances procured during the year were the largest in the history of the Company.

Notable Progress. During the five-year war period just closed the Company has enjoyed a marked expansion of business, the new assurances written being 63.5% greater than in the preceding five year pre-war period. And this was achieved without any increase in the percentage of the income required to meet the general expenses of administration.

Victory and Peace. Not only have the exactions of the war period been met, but the Company, like the nation of which it forms a part, has come to the close triumphant, with the brightest prospects of prosperous development during the ensuing years of peace.

AMERICAN DIPLOMATS ASK CONGRESS FOR HIGHER PAY

Impossible to Meet All Expenses of Their Offices out of Present Meagre Compensation.

New York, Feb. 7.—The new part to be played in world affairs by the United States demands an enlarged program for taking care of the diplomatic service in foreign capitals, Acting Secretary of State Polk wrote Secretary of the Treasury Glass, says the Washington correspondent of the New York World, and he goes on:

Mr. Polk dwelt on the hardships endured by our Ambassadors and Ministers because they not only drew small salaries compared with those paid by other countries, but are not allowed adequate expenses. This Government does not even own an Embassy building in London or Paris, but must rent quarters. The little Republic of Cuba, with a population of 2,600,000, has just completed a fine building in Washington and pays her Minister here $21,600 a year—nearly twice the salary of the American Minister at Havana, whose salary is $12,000, with no allowances.

Mr. Polk asked for $3,000,000 to start a program of improvement in the fiscal year ending June 20, 1920.

"Wretched Disadvantage."

"It is well known," he wrote "that for many years the American Ambassadors and Ministers have been at a wretched disadvantage. Not infrequently there have been no appropriately furnished apartments or houses available. In some capitals it has been impossible to find any apartments or houses, furnished or unfurnished, suitable for the residence of a diplomatic representative."

Great Britain, it was shown, not only pays her Ambassador to this country $50,000 a year (two-thirds the salary of the President), but provides here a handsome building, which has long been one of the landmarks of the national capital.

"It is to be regretted," added Mr. Polk, "that relatively few of the residents of the British capital would know where to find the American Embassy, so frequently has it changed from house to house with each new Ambassador, and yet one-twentieth of 1 per cent. of the value of our exports to the United Kingdom for the year 1917 would enable the United States to acquire a most suitable home for its Ambassador in London."

France, it is stated, while owning no house in Washington, allows for expenses, pays the whole cost of a suitable residence, and a salary of about $25,000 a year. The United States, with 110,000,000 people and more than $1,000,000,000 worth of merchandise exported to France in 1917, pays its Ambassador in Paris $17,500, and does not provide a residence for him.

Italy provides her Ambassador here with a residence, expenses for entertainment and $25,000 for him.

Argentina and Chili pay their Ambassadors $22,000 a year and provide residences.

Pay For Own Residences.

"The American Ambassador in none of the foregoing countries," Mr. Polk declares, "is furnished with a residence or entertainment allowances, and the salary is only $17,500 a year."

This country owns its embassies in Tokio and Constantinople. The Japanese Ambassador in Washington draws $24,000 a year for expenses of entertainment and is provided a home.

The Chinese Minister here gets $20,000 a year allowances for entertainment, while the American Minister in Pekin is paid only $12,000. Both countries own buildings at the capitals.

Norway, Sweden and Denmark pay salaries from $12,000 to $20,000, but the American Ministers to these countries get but $10,000 and have no residences.

"This subject," Mr. Polk continues, "has now become one of great urgency. The United States has emerged from the war with a new place among the nations, a prestige of which she must in the future be very jealous, and a responsibility in international affairs to which she must be deeply sensative."

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result fro muric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation in the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailment to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

SAME OLD GAME PLAYED BY HUNS

COACHES SURRENDERED TO THE FRENCH FILLED WITH POISONOUS GAS.

Paris, Feb. 7.—Two railway coaches, recently handed over to France by Germany, played a most important part in a shocking accident on the Paris-Metz railway line in which five persons lost their lives. Sixteen persons were injured. Train No. 47 bound for Metz, had just entered the tunnel at Sanreuil when the passengers occupying the two coaches handed over by Germany began to experience trouble in breathing and strong obnoxious gasses began to fill up the coaches.

The passengers smashed the windows but as soon as fresh air came in contact with the gasses the coaches became a mass of fire. The passengers, in terror, fled to the tracks in the dark tunnel. A train going in the opposite direction crashed into them and five were killed.

Of the sixteen injured, all of whom were treated at the hospital of Chateau Thierry, eight suffered only from the effects of asphyxiating gas.

An official statement, given out by the railroad company says:

"The fire in the coaches was not due to any defect in the lighting or heating apparatus, nor to a hot box. The presence of the obnoxious gases is still unexplained. Both coaches were consumed by the flames."

HOLDOUT PLAYERS STILL WORRY THE CLUB OWNERS

Every Spring This Problem Has to be Dealt With Before the Last of the Team is Signed Up

(By Grantland Rice.)

Troubles of the major league club owners never seem to cease. Before the war they were harassed by belligerent Federal league magnates and before that they had the unruly Baseball Players' fraternity with which to contend. Then along came the war and caused them no end of uneasiness. When the carnage abroad ended they thought their worries had vanished, but with the sending out of their contracts last month they discovered their difficulties had not entirely disappeared, for the ball players had unearthed another method of exacting higher salaries.

When the Baseball Players' fraternity was organized and going its best with Dave Fultz as president the players had to go fall back on in a way when their contracts were unsatisfactory, and many of them obtained an increase. The Federal league proved a much better ax for them to hold over the magnates' heads and the majority of them received surprisingly high salaries for a short time. That was a harvest for the players the like of which they will never taste again. Numerous athletes salted away enough during the life of the Federal league to care little whether baseball continued.

Players Have New Method.

Magnates breathed easy when the Federal league perished. They also breathed a lot easier when the armistice was signed and they knew they would be able to open in 1919 and resume the national pastime on a normal basis. But the players held a little surprise in store for them and it has been sprung since the contracts were mailed. Instead of signing the documents at a slight reduction the athletes have threatened to remain in the steel, ship and munition leagues to play semi-pro ball if their terms are not accepted.

"I am getting a good salary in the shipyard, munition plant or steel league, and by playing semi-pro baseball in the summer can make as much money and more than the club has offered to pay me," is their argument.

Pitcher Jim Vaughin of the Cubs gave the players the cue as to what to do if the terms of the contracts do not meet with their approval. Vaughn was the first to announce he would not sign at the figure President Mitchell offered him and many players, who have since received their contracts, have come out with the same story. Art Nehf, the best pitcher on the Boston Braves club, spread the report that he is making a fine salary in Dayton, Ohio, would get an excellent amount for pitching semi-pro ball and therefore thought it would be absurd for him to join the Braves at the price they have offered him. Larry Kopf, who was recently traded by Cincinnati to Brooklyn, says the deal is off so far as he is concerned. He was made a lieutenant in the artillery a few weeks ago and asserts he can go to work in a steel plant later at a lucrative stipend. Derrill Pratt, Eddie Murphy and Sam Agnew of the American league also announce they do not expect to come back to baseball as they are doing well in the steel league.

Dodgers Said to Be in Combine.

There will probably be many more announcements of this kind before long, but it is only a method ball players have used for many years to get their pay raised. Many of them were successful and were justified in getting what they thought they were worth. Others did not. Six Brooklyn players are said to have entered in a combine to force President Ebbets to meet their demands. They are Hickman, Miller, Cheney, Johnston, Wheat and Mamaux.

These are the things that cause the magnates endless worry. Yet they get the players needed but often have to meet their demands. There have always been holdouts in the game of baseball and will continue to be for years to come. The players are believed to be using unfair means to extort better contracts from the magnates. Merit is appreciated and players who fill the bill are entitled to what they can get and if they do not get an increase they are tas right to be justified in joining the holdout class.

BOXERS PREPARE FOR THE BATTLE

"KNOTTY" LEE HAS ROUNDED UP FLINT AND LANSING.

New York, Feb. 7.—When Jack Dempsey begins active preparations for his match with Jess Willard his chief sparring partner will be Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, who now is rated by far the most formidable of the dark-skinned boxers. At the time certain unscrupulous persons tried to force Dempsey to face Joe Jeannette instead of Joe Bonds it was said that Dempsey's main reason for refusing was that if he met Jeannette even in a benefit bout the circumstances would prove an opening wedge for the dangerous Wills to obtain recognition.

Now that Dempsey has decided to select Wills as one of his sparring partners it will be interesting to note how the two shape up together and whether Dempsey really has anything to fear from his former rival. Wills now is at the top of his [illegible]. He is a splendidly built athlete, with a world of speed and science as well as the ability to hit with knockout force.

Dempsey Wants "Fight"

As Dempsey is a boxer who does not know what it is to spar lightly for points, his bouts with Wills are likely to develop into something more than the usual exhibitions between master and man. When Dempsey was training for his bout with Fulton he used to slam big Battling Jim Johnson for keeps, and it is not likely that Wills will be willing to be treated in the same fashion without replying with spirit.

The selection of Wills is a good indication of the amount of confidence that Dempsey has in himself. If he were not loaded down with confidence in his own ability he hardly would care to take a chance by having such a dangerous man around his camp.

Willard also has sent out a call for sparring partners, but the chances are Walter Monahan, who helped train him for the Johnson bout and later acted as his sparring partner during the champion's circus days will be back on the job. At present Monahan is in uniform but Willard expects to obtain his release in the near future.

Willard Wants "Cinch"

Willard's views regarding sparring partners are different from those of Dempsey. The big fellow prefers to have men in his camp whom he knows well, and will not try to sneak one over when he is not looking. Willard always goes easy with his sparring mates. There is nothing ferocious about the big fellow and the boxing he does while training in no way resembles a real scrap.

GOVERNOR GENERAL SEES OTTAWAS BEAT ARENAS

Hockey Match in Capital City Last Night Results in Victory for Home Team by 3—1 Score.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Though the champion Arenas gave Eddie Gerard's Senators the hardest kind of an argument at the Arena last night, the locals managed to win by 2 to 1. It was Ottawa's fifth straight victory and fear in succession on the second half. They are closing their grasp on the championship honors. A crowd of about 6,000 witnessed the match, the attendance being one of the largest of the season.

Ottawa had the edge throughout, but Arenas kept up a terrific pace until the finish. The game took place on a splendid sheet of ice, and, though minus the sensational features which marked the big overtime struggle against the Canadiens last week, it was good all the way through and local fans went wild with delight over the local victory. They cheered themselves hoarse when Ottawa pressed ahead in the second session, and nearly raised the roof when Jack Darragh put the game on ice by making it 3 to 0 in the final session.

Governor-General Attends.

His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire and a party from Government House attended. The Governor-General, who has become an enthusiastic hockey fan and who attends all the games when in the Capital, arrived just before play started and was greeted by the band of the G. G. F. G., which played the National Anthem.

The first period was not productive of a score from either side. Play opened fast, but the defenses were cautious, seldom leaving their positions, and the back-checking of the forwards continued so fast that there were few real hard shots on Lindsay or Benedict. Nighbor and Darragh had chances, but they were stopped up by Mummery and Randall.

Fast in Second.

The teams came out fresher than ever for the second, and Ottawa immediately assumed the offensive. They rained shot after shot at Goalkeeper Lindsay, and after three minutes, Frank Nighbor seized a loose puck behind Toronto's nets, wiggled his way out in front and slipped it past Lindsay for the first tally of the night. The goal was credited to Nighbor in two minutes. Arenas came back strong, and Clint Benedict was called on to make several great saves, which he did in good style.

There were several penalities as play grew more strenuous, and after Jack Darragh had drawn his first rest in several games, Coach Smith sent Broadbent on at right wing. Broadbent livened up the play, and on his first shot, Frank Nighbor slapped in the rebound, which hit Lindsay on the leg and glanced in. Ottawa had the edge for the balance of the period, as the Blue Shirts appeared to be tiring fast. It ended with the score at 2 to 0.

Referee—Harry Pulford. Judge of play—Charlie McKinley.

To Give Teachers A Wider Range

Toronto, Feb. 7.—On motion of Trustee Noble, the Board of Education last night declared that in its opinion the teachers in the schools should be given permission to use their own methods of teaching and class management, and prepare their pupils to think rather than prepare their examinations.

Trustee Noble moved "that in the opinion of this board each principal should be given a free hand to run his school as he may see fit as regards the mode of assembling and dismissing the pupils, length and number of class-room periods, length and number of recess periods and any other new ideas which he may wish to try out in his school, all such to be referred to the management committee.

The following took part in the program:—Mrs. Barnes, the Misses Lancaster, Miss Lesur, the Misses Blake, Miss Barbank Simmons, Miss Dorothy Hopkins, Mr. H. Rew, jr., Mr. Sowden and Mrs. McDonald from Bobcaygeon, Miss Manley and the Loader Family.

Mr. Mcdonald, as Harry Lauder, the second, was most entertaining, and was thoroughly enjoyed, and so was the singing and acting of the Loader Family. Raising his voice till the echo shook the very jungle itself, Tarzan, gathering his huge frame to the tensity of a tiger at bay, sprang for the crouching lion. The white girl, her heart beating in throbs of love, rushed to the mighty Tarzan and kissed him. One scene in "Tarzan of the Apes" will be shown at The Royal tonight and tomorrow, for 16 cents.

MISS JESSIE C. SWINTON IS LOADED WITH GIFTS

Popular Assistant City Treasurer Presented With Addresses, Silverware and Purses by City Officials and Associates.

Today Miss Jessie C. Swinton the assistant treasurer of the city retires from the position she has held for the past five years. She has been in the department for fourteen years and has been assistant treasurer since 1914. Her resignation was accepted with regret by the Council some time ago to take effect tonight and was tendered on account of her approaching marriage.

Miss Swinton during her tenure of office has been one of the most popular of the civic officials and last night the conclusion of her connection with the department was marked in a most fitting and tangible form.

At six o'clock the young ladies with whom she has been associated in her work entertained her to dinner in their recreation room which was tastefully decorated in red, white and green. Toasts were proposed expressive of the best wishes for the future happiness of the guest and she was presented with an assortment of Rogers' flatware and a suitably inscribed address. The presentation was made by Miss Helen Burgess and the address which is reproduced below was read by Miss Alice E. Jackson.

Jessie Campbell Swinton,
Peterborough.

Dear Jessie:—

As a slight reminder of the pleasant hours we have spent together in our daily calling we ask you to accept this small token of our love and esteem.

We are truly sorroy to lose yau but under existing circumstan es must bow to the inevitable ond we take this opportunity to wish you health, wealth and happiness in your new home.

Your sincere friends.
Helen B. Burgess,
Florence Johnson,
Alice E. Jackson,
Mable Young,
Marjorie J. Gladman.

Gift from City Officials

The company then adjourned to the council chamber where the Mayor and the city officials were assembled and presented Miss Swinton with a purse of gold from the members, and former members of the council and the civic officials. City Clerk Armstrong read the address which accompanied the gift and Mr. G. W. Green made the presentation.

To Miss Jessie Campbell Swinton.

Dear Miss Swinton:—

We, members and former members of the City Council and officials of the City of Peterborough, having learned of your intention to resign your position as assistant city treasurer and to sever your connection with the civic service after fifteen years' faithful and efficient service in that capacity, desire to express to you our appreciation of your zeal and ability, your geniality and spirit of friendship, co-operation and desire to assist that you have always shown and also our heart felt best wishes for your future happiness and welfare.

We ask you to accept the accompanying gift as some evidence of our friendship and good wishes.

Signed on behalf of those mentioned above.

Geo. H. Duncan,
Mayor.

S. R. Armstrong,
City Clerk.

Peterborough, Ontario,
February 6th, 1919.

Police Department's Offering

This ceremony. Miss Swinton found, did not end the expressions of good will which she was to receive. In the Court Chamber the members of the Police Department had assembled and she was given a handsome assortment of the staple articles of Rogers' silverware. Chief Thompson made an address expressive of the regret of his department at loeing such an esteemed official and wishing her the greatest happiness in the future. Sergt. Reid presented the gift

Firemens Present Clock

Peterboro's fire department also remembered Miss Swinton and Chief Grange on behalf of his men made an address expressive of their esteem and good wishes for the future. They presented her with a handsome clock.

Miss Swinton thanked the donors in each case and replied to the felicitious addresses which accompanied them, in an appropriate manner.

Constable Cookman, who was present at the presentation to Miss Swinton and who was recently married, was taken completely by surprise last night when he was presented with a fine clock by the members of the staff and given an appreciative address by Chief Thompson. He made a neat impromptu reply thanking the head of the force and his fellows for their kindness and good wishes.

An informal dance followed and the evening was spent pleasantly by those who had assembled to do honor to the retiring Assistant Treasurer.

Miss Helen Burgess who has been in the treasurer's office for some time is the new assistant treasurer for Peterborough. She was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of Miss Swinton at a meeting of the Council and is in every way fitted for the position.

RICHARD HALL & SON

Bertha Farner Concert Company

The Bertha Farner Company gave the third entertainment of the Chautauqua series in the Grand Opera House last night before a capacity audience, which listened for nearly two hours to one of the finest concerts that has ever been given in the city.

There were four artists who participated—Miss Bertha Farner, soprano singer; Miss Martha Alexander, violinist; Miss Ethel Murray, 'cellist, and Mr. Earle Browne, pianist and accompanist.

Each of these musicians excelled in their respective lines and last night's concert was a real treat for the music-lovers of Peterborough, who enjoyed every number upon the tastefully chosen program and did not fail to show their appreciation by applauding the work of the artists.

Miss Farner's singing approached perfection. She is an experienced dramatic, grand opera and concert singer and has a wonderful voice and her numbers last night won the hearts of her auditors completely.

Miss Alexander, the violinist, played beautifully. Her finished style and just emphasis marked out her work as worthy of the commendation of appreciative listeners. Her solo selections drew forth three insistent encores and she showed excellent choice in her responses.

Miss Ethel Murray, the 'cellist, delighted everyone with her work, both individual and in trio. Her rendering of a melody by Massanet and Tarantelle by Popper, brought forth a most deserving encore, and she replied by playing "The Swan," by Saint Saens.

As a pianist Earl Anthon Browne excelled. It is seldom that the accompanist receives the credit due, although his work is of vital importance to the success of the number and requires skill and talent equal, if not superior, to that of the other musicians. His splendid ability at the piano did not go unnoticed last night by those who understood the difficulties and importance of a position which does not give the performer the same opportunity to display his gifts as does other branches of the art.

The Program.

Trio—Edward Schuitt, concert trio; encore, Mother McCrea and Orientale, by Cui.

Miss Farner—La Buheme, by Pucinni; Aubabe, by Lalo and Habenera of Carman, by Bizet.

'Cello numbers, by Miss Murray—Melody, by Massanet; Tarantelle, by Popper; encore, The Swan, by Saint Saens.

Miss Farner—The Blackbird, by Weatherly; Songs My Mother Taught Me, by Dvarak; Come Down Laughing Streamlet, by Spross.

Violin selections, by Miss Alexander—Spanish Dance, by Greanados; Souvenir de Moscou, by Wieniaurki; first encore, Minuett, by Porpora; second, Minuett, by Mozart.

Miss Farner—My Laddie, by Thayer; Keep on Hoping, by Maxwell; Annie Laurie.

Trio—Serenade, by Victor Herbert; On the Banks oft he Brook, by Bois Deffre; Pierrette, by Chaminade; Ring Out Wild Bells, by Gouned. This concluding number was sung by Miss Farner, accompanied by the instrumental trio.

The new Victor Victrola Music Store opened to-day. All new Victor (His Master's Voice) Records in Stock.--Weber's Drug Store 220 CHARLOTTE ST. Next the Empire Theatre

FIFTY-SEVENTH REGIMENT TO RE-ORGANIZE AT ONCE

Lieut.-Col. Mills Receives Orders From Headquarters to Begin the Work----Meeting of Officers Called For Monday Night.

Lieut.-Col. Mills, officer commanding the 57th Regiment, has received the following order from Lieut.-Col. H. A. Genet, A.A.G. of the 3rd Military District:

It has been decided at Militia headquarters that all city corps should be immediately reorganized, special efforts being made to enroll reliable types of returned soldiers and to establish a regimental reserve of such men as are not willing to re-enlist in the active militia units, but who will signify their willingness to serve in emergency. This reserve should be well organized, and, if possible, a room in your Armories should be made available to encourage them to meet and become an active organization.

On receipt of this communication will you be good enough to at once inform me what steps you intend to take in this regard and what you consider are the prospects of the unit under your command, and thereafter submit a periodical report in this connection.

It is desirable that this matter be expedited as much as possible.

Lieut.-Col. Mills has replied to the above stating that the work will be taken up with all speed. He adds that every possible consideration will be shown the men who enroll on the reserve list, as referred to in the order from headquarters. Such men will be accorded all the privileges of the Armories, including bowling and other forms of recreation, and if necessary a room will be set aside for their especial use. The following notice has just been issued by Capt. H. Park, acting adjutant of the Orders by Lieut.-Col. J. Mills, O.C. 57th Regiment:

Reorganization.

Instructions have been received from district headquarters to reorganize the 57th Regiment.

(1) In compliance with the above order, a meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment will be held at the mess rooms of the regiment at 8 p.m. Monday, February 10. It is imperative that all officers of the regiment attend this meeting.

(2) A meeting of all infantry non-commissioned officers who have seen service overseas will be held in the sergeants' mess room at the Armories at 8 p.m. Tuesday, February 11, for the purpose of reorganization.

M. H. PARK, Capt.,
Acting Adjutant.

The 57th Regiment, once one of the crack military units in Canada, has been practically defunct ever since 1915, when so many graduates of that battalion enlisted for overseas service. The reputation made by them is unsurpassed in the annals of the war. The old regiment at home, however, was left without a quorum, but it is now to be recruited up to its former strength and efficiency, and it is expected that a majority of the members will be war-seasoned veterans.

The 57th Band has survived the drains made upon it by the war and has managed to maintain an existence even in the face of public indifference to its welfare. It will soon reach its old standard of efficiency as one of the leading military musical organizations in the country, now that its old members are returning home.

STRIKERS AGREE TO REMAIN IDLE

SCOTTISH WORKMEN STILL INSIST ON 44 HOURS A WEEK.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 8.—(Via Reuter).—A mass meeting of the Glasgow, Govan and Clyde bank strikers yesterday resolved to continue the struggle for a forty-four hour week and called on the executive councils to co-operate with the strikers or resign. The Govan workers favored the immediate payment of strike money. The strikers' joint committee has issued a militant statement claiming that only few faint hearts have returned to work, and asserting that the committee is more confident than ever of victory. The statement alleged that the Glasgow carpenters have decided to strike.

GERMANY READY TO GIVE UP FLEET OF MERCHANT SHIPS

But the Allies Are so Far Unable to Agree as to How the Prizes Are to be Allotted Among the Various Nations---Supreme Council Holds Important Session.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 8.—Many important matters were before the Supreme War Council, comprising the council of the great powers and military commanders on all fronts, when it met to consider primarily the extension of the armistice with Germany, which expires Feb. 17, although final decisions have not been given out. The sessions were interesting from the number of subjects demanding attention that were presented by the naval and military chiefs. Reports were made to the council by military high commanders on subjects of demobilization and the relative forces of the powers to be maintained in the occupied regions.

The Versailles military council also submitted a report as to the military forces available for the disturbed regions of Turkey. The naval branch of the council presented recommendation formulated as a result of the consultations among the British, French, Italian and American naval commanders bearing mainly on the turning over of the German submarines, blockade restrictions and the surrender of the German commercial fleet. This fleet, it is said, is ready to be turned over, but the Allies thus far have not agreed upon the compensation for the use of the vessels.

The commission on the blockade also presented a report favoring the lightening of the blockade restrictions in the Mediterranean and the Adriatic. A tendency was manifested in some military quarters to impose further drastic terms upon the Germans when the armistice was extended, but no decision was reached as to what measures might be taken.

NEW ASBESTOS CURTAIN FOR GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Work of Art Will Be in Commission for the Matinee on Moneay.

The new asbestos curtain of the Grand Opera House has been completed and presents a very fine appearance. The scene which occupies the centre portion of it is of an oriental nature. It depicts three Turkish merchants in the far east commencing their journey across the desert by camel with their stock of fine rugs destined for the European market.

In the distance is the city with its ancient buildings and minarets standing out against the sky which glows with the ruddy light of an eastern sunset.

Messrs. Stanley Harris and Harry Boddy of the sign department of J. J. Turner Ltd., were the artists responsible for this very creditable work. They were engaged upon it for four weeks.

This curtain is composed of asbestos and is infammable and in the event of fire occurring behind the scenes coud be lowered and would cut off effectually the stage from the body of the theatre. It is quite a ponderous fabric weighing two tons.

At the entertainment for the MacIntosh fund on Monday afternoon the new curtain will be displayed for the first time. Pte. MacIntosh is a soldier who has recently arrived from overseas. He is almost blind has a wife and children and only recently his home in this city was almost totally destroyed by fire.

A fund to render assistance in this worthy case has been started and Mr. Weber Turner, manager of the Grand Opera House has decided to turn over the proceeds from Monday afternoon's show to this good cause. There will be no war tax and the admission will be 10 cents Everybody acquainted with the circumstances will surely turn out and assist in this worthy endeavor Monday afternoon.

INTERMEDIATES 5 TO OSHAWA'S 9

HOME TEAM BEATEN IN SHARP CONTEST IN AUTOMOBILE TOWN.

Peterborough intermediates lost out in Oshawa last night by a score of 9 to 5, and the only surprising feature about this game is that unlike the juniors they did better than was expected of them. This is the last game of the Intermediate series and while the men in the automobile town ran up a lead of four on the Petes it is not bad when it is considered than they were on strange ice and were beaten in the home rink to the tune of 10 to 3 on Monday night.

They made a much more creditable showing than did the juniors in Lindsay and they did not have a former victory over their rivals to give them confidence.

Intermediate players claim that Referee Hamilton favored Oshawa in several of his decisions and that he disallowed a goal scored by Schultz which should have been counted.

In the first period Peterborough scored twice and had their rivals 2 to 0, until a few minutes before the gong sounded when they managed to reach the local nets.

In the second spell Oshawa scored first then the Petes made a tally making the score 3 to 3. At this time both Schultz and Jackson were penalized and while they were on the boards the luck set against the locals Oshawa scoring three times in quick succession. This period ended with a score of 6 to 3.

The next was a warm one in which the intermediates showed that unlike the younger hockey players they kept a solid front until the last. The play see-sawed until the finish. Oshawa scored first, then Peterborough notched their count up one. Oshawa came back again and netted a goal and a few minutes after the Petes made another tally. Oshawa bagged the final one which made the standing 9 to 5 against Peterborough.

During the game Jacobi, who is claimed to be one of Oshawa's cleanest player was penalized nine times. It was as a result of a scrimmage with this man that Schultz was sent to the penalty box in the second period.

Some of the local players claim that the referee did not count a goal which had been scored by Shultz. The play is described in this way: Halpin went down with the puck and passed to Rose; Rose passedit back to Halpin who shot. The goal tender cleared it and sent it to the side, Halpin followed and knocked it out to centre ice and Shultz shot for the nets striking the post but according to the claim, lodging inside. Just at this moment Rose collided with Hewitson and knocked the ball from his hand distracting his attention and he refused to consider the score.

Line-up:

Peterborough—Goal, Legros, defence, Lowes and Schultz; centre, Halpin; right wingRose; left wing, Evans. Subs Jackson and Landfault.

Oshawa—goal Childs; defence, Jacobi and Kempt; centre—Bowden; right wing, Bowden; left wing, Jacques. Subs. Membly, Blanchard.

COL. E. B. EDWARDS IS DEAD AT HIS HOME IN EDMONTON

Was Formerly a Respected and Leading Citizen of Peterboro

Col. E. B. Edwards died at his home in Edmonton last night, according to a despatch received this morning, and which says:

The death occurred last night of E. B. Edwards, one of the best known lawyers of this city. He was 63 years old and has been in failing health for nearly a year. He organized the 101st regiment, Edmonton Fusiliers, but earned his title as colonel of the fifty-seventh regiment of Peterborough, Ont., his native city, where the Edwards family is prominent. Col. Edwards was twice married and is survived by his widow and six children. He was senior partner of the firm of Edwards and Dubuc and took a leading part in all civic activities.

The late Col. Edwards was city solicitor here when he decided to locate in the west and was succeeded in that position by Mr. E. H. D. Hall. He was one of the most popular and efficient officers of the 57th regiment and Peterborough was the loser by his removal just as Edmonton now is by his death.

More than 4,000 mechanics of the Royal Army Service Corps have refused to go on duty in depots adjoining London, claiming that their contract with the government as soldiers is at an end.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1919

A CASE FOR ENACTMENT.

A RESIDENT of one of the townships in this county was arrested at the depot yesterday, when three bottles of whiskey were found in his grip. In the Police Court he was convicted of having liquor in a place other than his dwelling and was fined $200 and costs.

It may be contended by some that if it is legal for that man to have liquor in his residence, he should be given an opportunity to transport it there. But the man in question was violating the law when he imported liquor into the Province. This law affects rich and poor alike. Almost every day new plans for circumventing the Act are discovered, and the vigilance of the officers and the heavy penalties imposed for all infractions will eventually discourage the smugglers in the carrying on of their illegal enterprise.

Our local contemporary has at last declared itself—not openly, but openly for it—on the temperance question, and revealed its sympathies. The broken-winded screed that appeared in its editorial columns last night cannot surely have been authorized. Rather is it likely to be regarded as another individual blunder. The party leaders to which the contemporary in question is supposed to owe its allegiance would not openly approve of such an argument. No candidate for office in Peterborough dare face the people with such journalistic support behind him. The trend of public opinion is all in the other direction. To attempt to direct it otherwise is neither righteous nor expedient.

It is surprising with what gullibility our contemporary falls for a specious argument put up by a delegation that went to Ottawa the other day to plead for stronger beer. One section of the community has always opposed the open door idea for the immigrants from the old world, regarding their coming as a menace to the wage-earners in this country. Suddenly they change front and become solicitous for these same immigrants by seeking to provide stronger and more palatable beer against their arrival. Otherwise, they argue, the strangers will go elsewhere.

This is the day of deputations, both to the Federal and the various provincial governments. Not all of these can be said to be truly representative of the class for which they assume to appear. Organized Labor, for example, in Peterborough, as represented by the Trades and Labor Council, not so very long ago declared emphatically against stronger beer or any relaxation in the present temperance legislation.

THE U. S. AND IRELAND.

THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS Committee of the American House of Representatives have reported favorably upon a bill which voices the hope that the Peace Conference will in the same spirit consider the claims of Ireland to "the right of self-determination."

"By what authority does the American nation assume to interfere in European affairs and in a question which concerns not the foreign relations but the domestic policy of Britain?" someone will ask. The answer is that the Allies today are concerning themselves with the future of all the smaller dependencies that have in any way been affected by the late war. The United States is a member of the entente of nations. As such, the country is taking a leading part in dealing with the ultimate fate of Austrian, Russian and German Poland, and the result will be a restored and united kingdom, a government with the consent of the governed, self-determination for those races that have been held in bonds.

The Americans prize the Irish people as citizens of their republic. There are in the United States upwards of twenty millions of them, Irish by birth or descent, and they are law abiding and loyal in their service. The records of the late war demonstrate this, when it is recalled that a majority both among the volunteers in the army and navy were of this race.

The American Congress, however, should not overlook the fact that less than a year ago the Irish were conceded the right to self-determination as to their destiny and that they failed to come to anything like an agreement among themselves.

A SAMPLE OF COLONIZATION.

WHEN THE UNITED STATES took over the sovereignty of the Philippine Islands after the war with Spain twenty-one years ago, the natives were promised self-government just as soon as they showed themselves worthy of being entrusted with that responsibility. The inhabitants were not altogether reconciled to the change of masters at the outset, and a certain amount of military force was required to reduce them to reason. Once they became tranquil the work of education then began.

Hundreds of school teachers were sent to the Philippines as emissaries of the Government to take up the work of instruction. The natives were treated as human beings have a right to expect. The question as to their right to self-government has always been a bone of contention in the American Congress, just as the Irish problem is in the British Parliament. Government officials in the islands made reports that reflected upon the honor of the natives. When Governor Harrison took office he had these officials recalled, after investigating conditions. Then he adopted the plan of taking representatives of the natives into the colonial government, whereupon the pessimists and imperialists at home predicted every variety of disaster.

Governor Harrison now reports that satisfactory results have followed his experiment. The natives, who only a few years ago were shooting Americans from cover, have proved their loyalty to their government. They volunteered for the war by the thousands, and bought Liberty bonds as freely as did the people in any section of the United States. They look forward to the independence that has been promised them and are qualifying for it.

Here is an object lesson for every colonizing nation in the world. In this branch of national effort the United States is crowding even Great Britain for the honors. Mild measures in dealing with a conquered people—for the Philippines must be so regarded—are to be preferred to any measures of coercion ever devised. And the lasting results will be worth all the effort. Once the United States withdraws from the Philippines the American nation will have a powerful and devoted ally in that part of the world.

"KINDLY OMIT FLOWERS."

THE POLITICAL graveyards of Canada and the United States are teeming with the cadavers of third parties, and yet there is room. There have been organizations formed in this country, with the most devout intentions and the highest purpose, and yet the fate of them all is the same. That of the Patrons of Industry affords an instance in point. The platform of that party was progressive as to the majority of its planks and radical as to some. In the provincial elections in 1894 this third party scored marked success, but when the House met its identity was soon lost among the members of the regular parties. Ambitious or disappointed workers have sought to wreak vengeance on their former colleagues by becoming leaders in a bolt or an open revolt, and the history of all such side movements is the same. There are no Patrons of Industry in the country today, but the lofty principles for which that organization stood still survive. There is nothing heard of the Canada First party any more as a separate entity, and yet the political faith that that faction emphasized is stronger than ever. The Nationalists rolled, blazed and attempted to destroy, and, like the shells the poet sings of, are now exploded, to all intents and purposes.

A certain section of the Labor element in the United States have for years put up a ticket at every presidential election. They never scored one vote in the Electoral College, failing as they did year after year to carry a single state. The men who supported that ticket dissipated their own strength and influence at election after election. They really disfranchised themselves. There is no duly recognized Labor party in the United States today, and President Sam Gompers, recognized as one of the greatest leaders in the world, has set his face against it. In spite of—or rather, perhaps, by reason of—this, no country on earth can show in the various states such advanced Labor legislation as can be found in the American Republic.

Operating as an independent political party, the Prohibitionists of the United States were never able to carry a single state either at state or presidential election, although they put up candidates year after year. Working in unison with the orthodox political party that from the first days of the cause has always been friendly to them, the temperance people have at last achieved the goal of their ambitions by securing a constitutional nation-wide prohibitory enactment which will take effect in less than a year and which will be just as jealously guarded, just as rigidly enforced, as any other article in the national confession of faith.

There is strength in unity, weakness in disruption, in the political as well as in all other spheres of activity.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

GIVE SOME misguided newspapers what they want in the way of stronger beer and they care not who sews the patches on the children's clothes.

* * * * *

WITH characteristic timidity, and from its old vantage point under the sofa, a local contemporary speaks its little piece in favor of stronger beer.

* * * * *

CHICAGO'S TAX RATE for this year is to be only twenty-seven and one-half mills, but even at that it is worth the difference to live in Peterborough.

* * * * *

SELF-DETERMINATION is not always a safe principle with which to entrust the human race. Our first parents made a mess of their initial application of it.

* * * * *

WAR AND DISEASE ran a neck-and-neck race last year in killing off the human race, but, heaven be praised, wars and "flu" epidemics do not go on forever.

* * * * *

SOME OF THE MOST illustrious champions of human freedom were born in February. It is only fitting, then, that the League of Nations should have its natal day among the twenty-eight in that month.

* * * * *

EVERY NATION these days should regard itself as the keeper of the people of all others. What with long range guns, every national dispute becomes as annoying and dangerous as a neighborhood quarrel.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

Always Something.
(Guelph Mercury.)

The only dark cloud looming on the horizon of the January thaw is the high cost of ice next July and August.

Knows the Foreigners.
(New York Sun.)

Are legislative enactments against immigration likely to be necessary when we have national bone dry prohibition in effect?

Dead as a Doornail.
(Buffalo News.)

The liquor traffic—it is as dead as a doornail. The sooner everybody schools his mind to acceptance of that fact the better it will be all around.

Not Fair.
(Toronto Star.)

It is not fair to children that they should be submerged in direct poverty in a land of plenty. It is not fair to a family that it should be scattered far and wide, its members deprived of home influences and the mothering that has so much to do with life. Nor is organized society fair to itself in permitting poverty to claim these children as its own, to fasten its indelible marks upon them, and let them sink back down grade, losing the standards to which the parents had attained.

IMMIGRATION AFTER WAR

SHOULD BE RESTRICTED UNTIL ALL CANADIAN CITIZENS ARE PROVIDED WITH EMPLOYMENT.

(R. B. Cowan.)

Because of the crisis through which the world is passing, the subject of immigration after the war is not only of national, but also of world-wide importance. After the declaration of peace, conditions of modern society will be largely overturned. Soldiers at the front, who have, on account of the conditions before the war, had to work for a bare living, and were often out of employment, are declaring that upon their return, on account of their services to the country, they will demand a more equal distribution of wealth than there is now, and that the country shall give them good wages and steady work. The same sentiment prevails among the labor unions, which have, because of their rapidly growing power, frequently made the Government do as they wanted of late, until now the Government is operating the railroads, controlling the coal mines, restricting imports, and, in short, assuming control of trade and commerce to an extent that no one would have thought possible a little while ago.

This situation is making problems that baffle our brainiest statesmen. Some people think that it is a sign of progress and indicates the freedom of workingmen from industrial slavery. Others think that it is the forerunner of a world-wide social revolution and even anarchy after the war. When peace is signed, thousands, and even millions, of men and women, who have been working on Government orders, will (then) be out of work. Should this be so, great mobs may then break loose, and the Governments may not be able to hold them. The tremendous results of such a condition are to be seen when we realize that a strike on the great railroads would reduce the large cities to a state of starvation.

Such a revolution as has taken place in Russia, but with very much worse results, might speedily follow. Even before the war many men were closely the growing and world-wide unrest with alarm.

What effect would these social revolutions have on emigration if they should happen? If they take place peacefully they might so improve conditions that the necessity for emigration might not come for years yet. Some men are urging the British Government to buy or take over all the land in Britain and divide it among the returned soldiers. If this is done, soldiers might not emigrate from their own land.

Some people think that the taxes in the European nations after the war will be so heavy that many people will emigrate, although their governments will try to keep them at home, because of the great loss of life during the war. Others claim that on account of the great destruction of property many men will be employed in replacing it, and will then have good work and pay, and will not wish to emigrate.

Another factor to discourage emigration will be the lack of shipping facilities for at least three years, as all available boats will be needed to bring back the soldiers and their supplies.

Should people decide to emigrate they will naturally come to Canada as it is the only country that has free homesteads; in other sections very cheap farm lands, and the best form of government. These will act as powerful magnates to immigrants as the United States no longer possesses such drawing cards.

Every settler must have clothes, food, a house, etc. This creates work for other people. Settlers furnish the work required for national and industrial undertakings, and to develop the country. The efficiency of human labor has been found to increase closely in proportion to the growth of population. When emigrants flow to young, undeveloped countries they develop the country's resources and produces articles which can be exported, thus increasing the wealth of the nation.

The transcontinental railways would not have been built from coast to coast had not the western provinces been fairly well populated. It is thus that settlers help to develop a country.

The greater danger of immigration is that the country may not be able to absorb them as rapidly as they arrive, which leads to unemployment, city slums, unrest, and, if carried too far, to possible social upheavals. Although Canada has great resources, we are finding that we don't yet understand how to make laws to keep every class of people well employed. This is leading to poverty, city slums and unrest among the masses. The United States Government Commission on Industrial Relations reported to that Government about a year ago that about sixty per cent. of the nation's wealth is in the hands of about five per cent. of the nation's people, and on account of this millions of men are now within a week's work of absolute need, and that, should hard times come and these men be thrown out of work, there is great danger that they might start an industrial revolution.

Canada is not altogether free from these conditions, so unrestricted immigration would be dangerous.

Other dangers would also develop if we allowed too many of one nationality to come to Canada and settle in large blocks, as have the Doukhobors, Galicians, etc. In Western Canada there are tens of thousands of acres settled by people who cannot speak, read or write English, and who are so uneducated that they now constitute a growing national problem.

City people from Europe should be a little restricted as they do not produce food but make a scarcity of it. The farming class should be gladly welcomed. There should also be a better and more rigid examination of diseased persons than formerly, so as to prevent any plagues such as the Black Death, which followed the first campaign of the Hundred Years War in England.

This problem is one of tremendous importance. There were in Ontario about 200,000 people working on munitions, and after the war about 300,000 soldiers will be returning, the greater number to Ontario. The first problem, then, will be to get these people employed, and not encouraging immigration. We must also learn how to make laws that will be fair to all classes of people. Burdens on the farmers should be lessened as much as possible to make farming more profitable, and settlers should be encouraged to farm.

Britain is sure to encourage her emigrants to settle in the overseas dominions. We must therefore try to make it possible for them to earn homesteads in a short time, and find profitable employment.

The Government should be praised for what it has done and is doing, and the nation should support it in the passing of all laws calculated to increase the prosperity and promote the welfare of the common people. Then our national conditions will serve of themselves to attract immigration and will assist us in providing homes and employment for them when they come.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of babyhood and childhood and unless it is promptly cured will undoubtedly lead to disastrous results. To cure this trouble nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild laxative which instantly regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus banishing constipation, colic, colds, etc. Concerning them Mrs. Eugene Vaillancourt, St. Mathieu, Que., writes: "When my baby was constipated I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and am well satisfied with the result. I would strongly recommend them to all mothers for this trouble." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TODAY'S STORY

Two women were talking in a street car.

"My hair became so gray during the war," said the first woman. "I hope it will be all right after a while."

"I can understand," said the second woman. "It was enough to make anyone's hair grey. I am sure you won't add any more grey hairs now that peace has come."

"Oh," said the first woman, candidly, "it wasn't exactly because of the war that my hair became grey—that is, it wasn't because of worry, but, you know, the preparation I used to use—was imported—and during the war I couldn't get any of it. I had to let the grey hairs have their say—but now I hope it will be different," she ended brightly.

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

The sage who said, "A man is as old as his arteries," uttered wisdom in his day and generation. He lived in an age when feeling the pulse and glancing at the tongue completed the physical examination, whereupon the good doctor stroked his lambrequins a moment, then took down his blunderbuss and filled the patient with an odds and ends of yarbs and roots he had lying about the sanctum. In those days the good folk were none too good, yet they died very young. Foul air and good whiskey had something to do with it. At 40, when night air was considered a dangerous medium of respiration, a man [illegible] and a woman as old as she looked.

Old age is more than hardening of the arteries. I am sure the hardening process also involves the heart and the mind; in fact, it is chiefly a state of mind, which can be prevented if taken in time. One might call it the prevention of mortification. In order to make a success of it, one must begin the prophylactic treatment at the time one begins to vote. Really, one need never become an old woman or an old geezer any more.

Be an optimist. It is all wrong to believe that as soon as a man attains full maturity mortification is going to set in. Man is a queer animal. He grows and expands and thrives and daydreams and pursues will-o'-the-wisps — occasionally he catches one and marries it — and discovers and invents—his inventive capacity is keenest from 12 to 1 a.m.—and accomplishes and lays foundations until the fateful age of 40. Then he seats himself on life's toboggan and begins the long slide down to senility and second childhood and "bronicle" trouble and kidney complaint and poor circulation and the rheumatiz and loss of eyesight, teeth, memory, pep, to drop off at last into oblivion with a scarcely perceptible kee-plunk. Yet through all this swift descent he gains more and more dignity. Is it not so?

That is the general custom, I say, but I do not approve of it. Why go sliding so early in the season? Why should a man ever have the change of life at all? Ponce de Leon fought hard against it, but lost; he died young. Metchnikoff drank a pint of soured skim milk every day for years trying to discourage some bacillus he thought responsible; but he, too, lost; he died young. Both men had already acquired dignity before they realized what old age was.

John Burroughs has found the secret. Read him and you will see.

Remember, I said old age is a state of mind. It is now up to me to prove it. Keep your eye on this column for a few weeks and you will find yourself a proofreader.

TELLS OF ROOSEVELT'S FIRST MEETING WITH MARK HANNA

New Story of the Famous Ex-President Who Died Recently Shows His Characteristics

It was a Chicago man who brought about the first friendly meeting between Theodore Roosevelt and Senator Mark Hanna, just after the death of President McKinley, when the relations between the senator and the vice president had been none too cordial. The story of this meeting is told for the first time by the Chicagoan who brought it about. It was H. H. Kohlsaat.

Mr. Kohlsaat, who has been in New York, was found at his hotel there the other day and prevailed upon to tell how, on the train that was bearing the body of the murdered president from Buffalo to Washington, Roosevelt and Hanna clasped hands in a friendship that was to last until the senator's death. It will be remembered by many that during the life time of President McKinley, Roosevelt opposed what he deemed the dictatorship of Hanna, and that Hanna had been known to refer to Roosevelt as "Teddy, the cowboy vice president." There was a mutual dislike and suspicion that promised ill for harmony when the leadership of the nation came into Roosevelt's hands. Mr. Kohlsaat was one who perceived the importance of a rapprochement. Meeting the colonel at the Wilcox home in Buffalo the Chicagoan was invited to accompany the funeral party to Washington.

Hanna Called Him "Teddy."

When asked the other day if he knew what took place on the train Mr. Kohlsaat smiled as memory spanned the eighteen years.

"Mr. Roosevelt told me," he said, "that he had only one close friend on the train—Elihu Root—and he wanted somebody to think out loud to.' I spent the day going back and forth between the car containing cabinet members and a few close friends and one containing President Roosevelt. Mr. Hanna was in a very disturbed state of mind and was very fearful of the change in the presidency. He expressed himself in true Hannaesque style. Late in the afternoon asked Mr. Roosevelt how he and Mark Hanna had got along in Washington. He said, 'I came in contact with him very little. He always treated me as if I were a boy—called me Teddy.' I told him that Mr. Hanna had the whole republican organization in the palm of his hand and could either make or break his administration; that it was vitally necessary they should be friends or we would have the Blaine-Conkling-Garfield fight all over again. Mr. Roosevelt said: 'I recognize that, but I know Mr. Hanna doesn't like me—and what can I do?"

"I said: 'Mr. Hanna is broken hearted. He was at the pinnacle of his power when this death robbed him of the man he loved and who loved him. He sees all his hopes shattered and he is crushed. Why don't you invite him in here to dine with you alone in your stateroom; and after the meal and the table is cleared tell him honestly you want him to be your friend—that you don't expect him to give you the love he gave McKinley, but as much as he can give, and that you will try to merit it. Hold out both hands to him when you say it. If he puts his hands in his pockets you are a goner; but if he puts his two hands in yours you an bank on Mark Hanna for life.'

"'I'll try it,' said Roosevelt resolutely.

"Half an hour before dinner time, while I was back in the drawing room car, I saw the porter from Roosevelt's car come in and go over to Mr. Hanna. Hanna had been sitting deep in his chair, his chin in his vest. He got up and came over to where I was and his scowl increased.

Hanna Accepts Invitation.

"'What do you suppose?' he said. 'That cowboy wants me to eat with him.'

"'Well, why don't you?' I asked.

"Hanna sneered. 'That cowboy in the white house! Besides, he doesn't like me.'

"I told him banteringly to go and line with the president and see what he might have to say.

"'Roosevelt is president of the United States, and if you two don't pull together the republican party is going smash,' I reminded him.

"'I don't know what to do,' he said, and left me.

"I saw him going toward the president's car later ,and for the next two hours I felt that the fate of the nation—certainly of the republican party—hung by a slender thread. A misplaced word, an insincere look might serve to widen the breach and bring about a split from which the country would suffer. When Mr. Hanna finally came back to the drawing room there was a look in his eyes that had not been there before on that trip. Something of vengefulness that had narrowed them was gone and he was smiling that smile of his that Volney Foster said 'would grease a wagon' as he stopped at my chair.

"'You know Teddy isn't such a bad sort of fellow after all,' he said.

"'How so?' I asked.

"'Well, I did dine with him, and afterward, when the table was cleared and we had talked about a lot of things, he put out his hands across the table and said: "Old man, I want you to be my friend; will you—will you be my friend?"'

"'What did you answer to that?' I asked. Mark Hnna replied:

The Two Conditions.

"'I told him I woul don two conditions—first ,that he would carry out McKinley's policies, as he had agreed to do; second ,that he would quit calling me "Old Man," or, if he didn't I would call him "Teddy."'

"Afterward Roosevelt said: 'Hanna hesitated a moment, while he looked searchingly into my eyes, and then he put both his hands in mine, as I agreed to accept his terms, with the reservation that I should call him "Old Man" and he should call me "Teddy."'"

CARPENTERS WANT 75 CENTS AN HOUR

HAMILTON UNION MEN ALSO DEMAND A FIVE-DAY WEEK.

Hamilton, Feb. 8.— Hamilton's building contracts have been circularized by the district carpenters union, which requests, commencing May 1 next, an increase of pay from 60 cents to 75 cents per hour, with no work on Saturdays. This means a forty-four hour week. The circular requests that foremen, who must necessarily be union men, shall be paid ten cents more per hour than a journeyman; that journeymen not be required to take orders from a foreman unless he be a union man, and that contractors desiring journeymen carpenters to work Saturday shall pay at the rate of $1.50 hourly.

William Murray, contractor, said when he received one of the circulars it took all the wind out of his sails. The requests were, from his point of view absurd. The carpenters couldn't expect to get anything like what they asked. One "sticker" was the clause relating to foremen having to be union men. Hitherto contractors were privileged to employ either union or non-union foremen, as they desired. On Saturday there was to be a meeting of the builders' exchange, but whether the carpenters' demands would, be considered then he couldn't say.

There are four district carpenters' union branches, aggregating several hundred members.

SPECIAL HIGH-CLASS FOX ACTORS FOR MONDAY

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, billious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, dring before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles become saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

BUILDING HOMES FOR THE ONTARIO WAGE EARNERS

Grouping of Houses is Favored by Committee in Charge—Report for the Legislature is Ready.

Standard specifications for workmen's Dwellings are outlined in the just-completed preliminary report of the Ontario Housing Committee which has been prepared for the use of Committee before submitting its final report to the Legislature one month hence. The present volume consists of some fifty pages but the complete report will be considerably larger, covering some 150 pages. In the detailed report will be given the plans of, as well as a financial report on, the scheme. Such analogous questions as transportation and material will also be taken up.

The Committee is in receipt of a request from the American Housing Committee that 1,000 copies of the full report be sent them to distribute among their members.

It is expected that approximately 10,000 copies will be furnished to the various municipal bodies requesting them.

The present preliminary report was published with a view to making available at the earliest possible moment recommendations as to acceptable standards of inexpensive houses, such as might be built with Government assistance, as well as a description of several types of houses.

The plans and specifications were prepared under the supervision of Mr. H. R. Dowsell, A. R. I. B. A.

What Is a House?

The committee has given specially careful consideration as to what shall be held to constitute a house—by what standards its desirability shall be measured—what its essentials must include, standards in house building being a changeable and unstable factor. The Committee has agreed that for its particular purposes essential features may be summarized as: Sufficient land to give each family privacy and plenty of air; watertight floors, walls, and roof; one, or more, rooms for cooking, eating and general day use; bedroom for parents; bedroom for male children; bedroom for female children; provision for toilet with sanitary closet and sewer connection, running water supply fit for drinking; kitchen sink with waste connection to sewer; and uninterrupted daylight and ventilation through windows in every room.

Additional features, which are so desirable as to be almost essential are: Bath tub and lavatory, with hot and cold water supply; laundry tub with hot and cold water supply; direct sunlight in all principal rooms; a second room, in addition to that used for cooking; clothes closets and porches and verandahs.

Desirable Features.

Further additions of desirable features would include: Electric light, a separate dining room, a cellar and a furnace for heating.

Anticipating comment which may arise as to the non-inclusion of cellars as essentials, for the storage of food supplies, fuel etc., the Committee points out that with the classes naturally to be assisted in housing, means are not available for the securing of large advance supplies either of foodstuffs or fuel, while cellars not infrequently are, by the family of average means or less, made places for the accumulation of odds and ends of rubbish which eventually constitute an insanitary menace.

It is also held that in the commercially built dwelling of the past the mistake has been made of not infrequently providing too many and too small apartments, insufficient attention being paid to light, ventilation and the advantageous combination of really necessary rooms. Superabundance of rooms, it is maintained adds to the housewife's duties, while neither required nor desired by the average wage-earner.

"A man's dwelling," it is remarked "is governed by his earning capacity, just as his clothing, food or other commodity is, although there is a limit beyond which we cannot go and maintain decent living standards."

TRIS SPEAKER BEST PAID PLAYER ON THE DIAMOND

Cincinnati Man Draws a Salary of $18,000 a Year—Is Pay of Baseball Stars Due For a Drop.

(By George S. Robins)

How about the prima donna salaries of the star major leaguers—will they hold up after the present drop in contracts is gathered in the waste basket.

Not that one could notice it, provided another outlaw league fails to poke its head above the placid major league surface of things. Big salaries such as Cobb, Speaker and Eddie Collins are receiving will soon be relegated to the scrap heap with other forgotten things of the present baseball era.

Blame the Federal League

The Federal league caused the present inequalities in salaries in the big leagues. It brought about a condition of affairs that poured a golden stream into the money chests of certain lucky and highly favored stars. Unfortunately, the sudden boosting of salaries worked a hardship with many deserving players who stuck by the ship when the major league craft was lurching about on the storm-tossed billows.

Ty Cobb greatest drawing card in baseball, may be worth every cent to the team that he is paid and his salary is generally known to be $15,000 a season. The "Peach" is an exception to the general rule.

Player Too Expensive to Keep

Strong argument could be adduced to prove that no other star player drawing a stipend approximating that of Cobb is worth that much money to his club. Probably no magnate and manager studies a player's real worth to his team down to a finer standard than Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics. Mack was asked recently why he swapped a certain player for cold cash. His reply came instantly, and the sphinx of baseball didn't bat an eye in giving his answer.

"The player was simply too expensive for me to keep," said Mack. "His demands were out of all bounds for what he draws in at the gate. The money doesn't come in there to pay for what he wastes." When a player becomes discontented in that way and lets it interfere with his playing it's time to get rid of him.

Mack Develops Young Talent

This assertion coming from one of the finest characters in baseball, whose quiet and affable manners and gentlemanly conduct have made him a pace setter in those respects, shows Mack never has been infected with the high salary fever. He rather develops young ball talent, keeps it a while and when it reaches out for salaries in five figures, sells or trades it to suit the occasion.

Eddie Collins may be worth $15,000 a year but one would have considerable trouble convincing some of Eddie's team mates to that effect. "If Eddie is worth the $15,000 a year he's a fool. I'm worth at least $12,500," said a player of the Sox on one of the trips last summer.

Tris Speaker Gets $18,000

One of the Cleveland Indians might say the same thing about Tris Speaker, their teammate who is pulling down $18,000 a year for attracting fans to the baseball park in the Forest City. Speaker draws down the largest salary in the game for a player, even including that wonderful drawing card Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

A player on the Washington club might feel the same way about Walter Johnson's $12,000 a year salary.

One of the deplorable things in connection with the Pikes Peak salaries of certain stars, forced to their height by Federal League pressure is the fact that some of the players that were loyal to organized baseball—who didn't even threaten to jump—have received small pay in proportion. Some of those who jumped or threatened to do so are reaping a harvest from their activities along this line, while those who were loyal have not been rewarded.

In this class may be mentioned Harry Hooper of the Boston Red Sox, Buck Weaver of the Chicago White Sox and others. Weaver is considered as valuable to the White Sox as Eddie Collins by many fans.

Veteran Who Lost Eye or Limb

If a fellow comes home without an arm, hand or eye how is he to get an artificial one?

It will be provided for him by the government.

What will it cost him?

Not one cent.

If he needs a new limb after a while, or some changes or alterations made in the one he has, what should he do?

He should communicate with the Local Medical Officer of the re-establishment Department, who will authorize the issue of a new limb, or the necessary adjustments of the old one.

Where are the artificial limbs made?

In Toronto, where an up-to-date factory has been established, in which only the best and newest patterns are employed, and experts, in consultation with experienced surgeons, are always on the look out for possible improvements in existing models.

If a man needs some repairs to his artificial limb, does he have to send it, or go himself to Toronto for his purpose?

No, repair parts for standard patterns are kept in stock at a number of "Fitting Depots." The names of the centres at which these depots are located are given in the little booklet issued by the Repatriation Committee, which is known as the "Returned Soldiers' Handbook." Any limb requiring repair should be sent to the nearest Fitting Depot, if there is not one in the man's home town.

In a case where it is necessary for a man to go himself to the Fitting Depot what should he do?

If there is no depot in his own time, he will receive authority from his Medical Officer to travel to the nearest one.

Who pays his expenses?

The Government.

What is meant by 'Expenses?'

1st class Railway Fare to the nearest fitting depot, meals, and in cases where it is required, an allowance to cover time lost from the man's work.

In cases where it is necessary for the man to stay over for some days at the Fitting Depot the necessary adjustments made, what arrangements are made as to his expenses during that time?

If a man has to remain longer than a week, he is maintained at the expense of the Department and his dependents receive the same allowance as if he were in hospital.

What steps must a man take in order to obtain an artificial limb or other appliance from the Government without cost to himself?

Artificial limbs, orthopaedic and surgical devices, to correct as far as possible injuries to feet and legs, special boots, braces, trusses, spectacles, anything and everything to lessen the man's disability, are supplied absolutely free, but on the authorization of the Medical Officer of the Department only are these things issued. Therefore, any man requiring anything of this nature should apply to his local Medical Officer.

The Stick-Carrying Habit.

The stick habit is much more common in England than in America. In New York, or Boston, or Chicago, or any other American town for that matter, you seldom see a youngish man carry a stick. As a general thing he is too busy to be bothered with a piece of wood in his hand. He carries a paper, of course, and he must have one hand free for a cigar and for raising his hat.

Poser From Prison.

If men are the helpless creatures of their environment, how then do we account for the fact that in this prison there are three separate and distinct grades? Since the environment is precisely the same, how do you explain the segregation of the inmates into three wholly dissimilar classifications?—Leavenworth New Era.

How to Carry Ink.

When traveling fasten all the bottles and small jars by adhesive tape. Fasten the tape to one side, carry it across the cork and down on the other side. Celluloid and ivory boxes and jars may be fastened in the same way. They are easily opened and yet so securely fastened that there is no danger of leaking.

Fearless.

A man who makes $15 a week has been advised by a writer that he can marry and get along, providing he has saved up a fund. That sounds reasonable. A man who can save a fund out of a $15-a-week salary has nothing to fear from marriage or anything else.—Kansas City Star.

Authors' Advantage.

The circumstance which gives authors an advantage above all great masters is this, that they can multiply their originals; or rather can make copies of their works to what number they please, which shall be as valuable as the originals themselves.—Addison.

Hospitality.

There is no unconcern, almost ostentatious, to equal that of the hostess who pours the clotted cream on the guest's peaches as if clotted cream were an everyday incident in that household. Blessed is hospitality.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Box With Brains.

A Pennsylvanian is the patentee of a combined mailbox and milk-bottle holder, which can be freely opened for the insertion of their intended contents, but are locked against theft when anything has been placed in them.

Another Feminine Industry.

"Girls wanted for men's neckwear," reads the advertisement of a department store. But we imagine that a man would be uncomfortable wearing a girl around his neck.—New Orleans States.

Should Say Not.

"It's all right to pay as you go," observed the almost philosopher, "but if you have to pay 25 cents street car fare to get there and back, the chances are you won't go."

Crockery Saver.

Danger of breakage is eliminated in a new motor-driven dish washer in which the dishes are held stationary in wire baskets and water is forced around them.

Get Your Webbed Feet.

A Maine inventor's mechanical substitutes for web feet are bags to be attached to a swimmer's legs, opening with the kick and folding with the return.

Long-Felt Want.

To prevent a cow switching her tail against a person milking her there has been patented a clamp attached to a steel spring to be twined around one leg.

It Helps Some.

Remorse is like a wooden leg. It helps a man on his way, but he can see where he would have been happier without it.—Idaho Statesman.

Housewife's Duty.

The housewife's first duty is to see that every member of her household is properly nourished.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

SAYS INDIGESTION RESULTS FROM AN EXCESS OF HYDROCHLORIS ACID.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or rarnea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousand of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Wise is the man who has a cage ready for the bird in hand.

The rolling stone reaches the foot of the hill in due time.

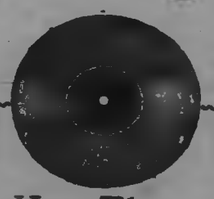
Model "Organola"



Hear Them

There's a new list of selections each month. They are played with a sapphire point. No needles to change. Beautiful, clear, "Phonola" records that are practically indestructible.

The Only One With Organ Pipes

In all the wide world, there is only one make of phonograph that has taken advantage of the principle of the pipe organ and installed inside of its case a set of tone control pipes which include every note in the scale. That phonograph is the

"Phonola" REGISTERED

And the tone control pipes are used in our magnificent "Organola" model—the utmost that has so far been achieved in phonograph construction.

Records played on this "Organola" Model are given a really wonderful reproduction. Play a "sextette" record on the "Organola" Model, and you will have a real idea of the value of the tone control pipes. There is none of that confused blurring as when played on ordinary makes of phonograph, the tone control pipes of the "Organola" Model separating the different voices and notes, giving a pure, clear, lifelike rendition.

Try a record of a violin, a piano, a soprano, or anything else you know the ordinary phonograph does not quite reproduce faithfully, and you will find that the "Organola" Model renders the selection perfectly and with a surprising volume.

If you are going to invest upwards of $250 in a phonograph, you will, of course, want to procure the finest that is built. So, if you cannot see and hear the "Organola" Mode of the "Phonola" at a dealer's in your locality, write direct to us.

Other "Phonolas" from $25 up. All makes of disc records can be played.

DEALERS: The "Phonola" line comprises 10 models—a "Phonola" for every requirement. The "Phonola" agency is the most valuable asset you can add to your business today. Write for particulars.

RED CROSS EXECUTIVE MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive of the local Red Cross Society will be held Monday afternoon, February 10th, at 3.30 o'clock, in the Public Library.

It is told of a St. Louis miser that he eats his meals before a mirror because it doubles the dishes.

Cheerfulness Requires Courage.

It takes a good deal of courage to seem cheerful in wartime, yet it is a detail of one's self-respect to keep a smiling face in public. A display of hysteria indicates considerable indifference to the rights and comfort of others, and is not good form. No matter how hard life may be, one must keep from scolding and scowling and complaining and whining and indulge in tears and grief only in one's own room.—Chicago Evening Post.

Why Crescent is Turkish Symbol.

When Constantinople was a Byzantine city, Philip, the father of Alexander the Great, tried to reduce it by siege. He was unsuccessful by day, and when he thought to take the city by surprise in the dark the crescent moon and stars appeared and exposed his warriors to the citizens. In honor of her protection of the city the inhabitants built a statue to Diana and made the crescent the symbol of the city.

Alleviates Earache.

If earache does not occur often possibly home treatment will alleviate the suffering, which is always so severe while it lasts. Wring out hot cloths and apply them to the ear. This often brings quick relief. Or moisten a small piece of cotton, saturated with sweet oil or laudanum and place it carefully in the ear. This is generally efficacious if the trouble is caused by the hardening of the wax.

Owl Stopped Wheels of Industry.

The curious combination of an owl and a steel trap in which the bird had become caught and flown away, trap and all, alighting on a high-powered electric cable carrying 11,000 volts of electricity to run a mill at Goodyear, Conn., stopped the power and threw several hundred men out of work for several hours. Linemen, after several hours' search, located the owl, burned to a cinder.

Renovate Brushes.

When sweeper brush bristles become soft from long use and do not sweep up lint as well as when stiff, put a little common baking soda in some hot water; take the brush out of the sweeper and dip it up and down in this. Let it dry in the sun and it will be like new. Hair brushes or any brush can be treated in the same way with the best of results.

All He Knew About His Meal.

Having finished his meal the diner called for his check. "Let's see," said the waiter, "what did you have?" "Can't tell for the life of me," was the reply; "but what I ordered was minced chicken."—Boston Transcript.

Beautiful Dream Faded.

Helen was told she would have to wait until her birthday for a new doll. She tried to be patient, but a month seemed a long time to wait. One morning she awoke quite early, sobbing loudly. Her mother asked what was wrong. "Me dreamed me had a doll, but I woke up and found my dream gone," cried Helen.

Love Apples.

Love apples is what tomatoes were called years ago when it was told that, if sweethearts would divide one and eat it together, no adverse fate could part them. There was real bravery in this simple act; for, in early days, tomatoes were thought to be rank poison.

The Strain of Overwork

Your work is heavy, and sore, tired muscles are a common occurrence. Each time your back aches you blame it on your work, and just there the danger lies—for that pain in the back may not be from strain, as you suppose, but the forewarner of Kidney or Bladder trouble.

For your own interest, it is best to be particular and sure, as Kidney troubles inevitably pull you down and destroy your earning power.

Take note of these symptoms. Do you get dizzy and have repeated headaches, painful urination, brick dust deposits, or feel drowsy and, generally, good for nothing? If so, it is your kidneys that are bothering you—not work—and Gin Pills are necessary.

No person can work properly when they feel sick, tired and dizzy all the time. The more they try, the more energy they use up, and this only serves to aggravate their condition, as the kidneys are already tired out with their endeavors to relieve their congested state and perform their function properly.

The kidneys are delicate and vital organs: once they become affected through any cause—you suffer until the congestion is relieved and the cause remedied.

Don't let your system become run down. A box or two of Gin Pills will relieve those kidney complaints and restore your old-time health and strength.

Your health is priceless. Don't risk losing it. Keep your kidneys in order always by taking Gin Pills.

Sold everywhere for 50c a box. Write for free sample to The National Drug & Chemical Co., of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ont. 172

A mother hearing many loud and unusual noises issuing from the nursery ran upstairs to her young hopeful who she knew was there.

"Well, my lad," replied the M. O., "when the company halts you go on marking time."

O'ROURKE TALKED LIKE AN ORATOR

BUT THE PLAYER HE TRIED TO SILENCE WON OUT.

Orator Jim O'Rourke, who recently died at his home in Bridgeport, not only was given to sonorous sentences and sounding words when he made a speech in a baseball meeting, but even in ordinary conversation his language was grandiloquent. A story is told of a player who went to Orator Jim once upon a time when the veteran was president and manager of the Bridgeport club.

"Mr. O'Rourke," said the player, "Can I get a little advance money? I'm broke and I gotta have some coin."

Orator Jim twirled his mustache, looked the player over, took a pose and said something like this:

"The exigencies of the occasion and the condition of our exchequer will not permit anything of that sort at this period of our existence. Subsequent development in the field of finance may remove the present gloom and we may emerge into a condition where we will be enabled to see our way clear to reply in the affirmative to your exceedingly modest request. Understand, it is not our intention to in any way ignore your request. It is simply the extraordinary conditions that surround us at the present time. Pray with me that at a subsequent time I may, or rather that we may, be able to serve you."

And the player, undismayed and none abashed, answered:

"I don't know what you mean, but I don't want none of your horse talk. What I want is ten bones—give it to me in paper or silver, I don't care, but I want it right now and if I don't git it, the old moneky suit comes off and I don't play with your ball club."

Orator Jim looked at the player gravely for a minute, then smiled, dug deep and brought up the ten without further addresses.

GOOD DIGESTION A GREAT BLESSING

AN ACUTE SUFFERER TELLS HOW SHE FOUND NEW HEALTH.

Very few people appreciate what good digestion means until they lose it. To be able to eat what you want and to properly digest it is a priceless blessing. But if you find that your digestion is in any way impaired you cannot afford to risk experiments by trying uncertain remedies. Strong medicines are hard on the stomach; pre-digested foods only aggravate the trouble. What is needed is a tonic that will so strengthen the stomach as to enable it to do its own work. There is no tonic for the stomach that is not at the same time tonic for every other part of the body. As the blood circulates through all the body an improvement in its condition quickly results in strengthening any weak organ. Rich red blood is absolutely necessary to good digestion. If your stomach is weak, if you are troubled with sour risings in your throat, a feeling of nausea after eating, pains or fluttering about the heart, try at once the true tonic treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. So many people have been helped by this treatment that every sufferer from indigestion should promptly try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among the many who rejoice in a renewed digestion through the use of this medicine is Mrs. William Dale, Midland, Ont., who says:—"I suffered for a long time from a severe form of indigestion, and had doctored so much without benefit that I had all but given up hope of getting better. Everything I ate caused me intense pain, and some days I did not touch a thing but a cup of cold water, and even that distressed me. As a result I was very much run down, and slept so poorly that I dreaded night coming on. I was actually growing worse instead of better. Having often read the cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I finally decided to give them a trial. I have had great cause to bless this decision for by the time I had used a couple of boxes there was no doubt the pills were helping me, and in less time than I had anticipated the pills had cured me, and I was again enjoying not only good digestion but better health in every way than before."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canadiens Close Rivals of Ottawa

TONIGHT'S GAME AT MONTREAL MAY MARK GAP BETWEEN THEM.

Montreal, Feb. 8.—Never since the Canadien and Ottawa Hockey Clubs have been booked up in the same league has the contention between the two clubs been so close as in the present season. Tonight's game at the Jubilee Rink will mark the eighth meeting of the pair in the present marathon schedule and may afford an opportunity to one or the other to bring about a gap between their respective scoring records.

Three times have Canadiens beaten Ottawa this season and four times have Ottawa turned the tables on the Flying Frenchmen and emerged from the contest victors. And as though this in itself were not ample evidence of the closeness of the contention between the pair the actual scoring shows Ottawa one goal to the good, the sharpshooters from the Capital having rustled the Canadien twine 26 times while Lalonde's crew have beaten Benedict just once more for 27 goals.

In the opening game of the season Ottawa took the measure of the Canadiens by a score of 5-2 at the Jubilee and again beat the Flying Frenchmen in the return game 7-2.

The next home game for Canadiens saw them break the ice against Ottawa by winning 5-2 which was followed by another win in the next game at Ottawa by 10-6. Following that Canadiens again beat Ottawa in Montreal by a score of 5-3 and the following week by 1-0 on local ice.

The game which was next scheduled brought the pair together at Ottawa when the Senators won by the odd goal in five after sixteen minutes heart-breaking over-time play.

Reduced to a summary these results are shown in the following table:

Dec. 21	...Canadiens	2	Ottawa	5
Jan. 2	...Canadiens	2	Ottawa	5
Jan. 4	...Canadiens	5	Ottawa	2
Jan. 16	...Canadiens	10	Ottawa	6
Jan. 18	...Canadiens	5	Ottawa	3
Jan. 25	...Canadiens	0	Ottawa	1
Jan. 30	...Canadiens	2	Ottawa	3

Lakefield Wins From St. Luke's

Last night the hockey team of St. Luke's Church clashed with that of The Grove School, Lakefield, on the Mark street rink, and the visitors won from the local players by a score of 8 to 6.

After the game the boys of St. Luke's provided a supper for the visiting team, which was very much enjoyed by all the members.

The St. Luke's team lined up as follows: Goal, Ecobichon; defence, Curtis and Maniece; centre, Legon; right wing, Lipsett; left wing, Maniece; rover, Whittaker.

All of the tickets for the Dental-Tiger game tomorrow night at Toronto were disposed of yesterday morning. It is thought likely that the attendance records at the local Arena will be broken.

LOCAL JUNIORS LOSE GRIP ON GROUP CHAMPIONSHIP

Beaten by Midgets at Lindsay Last Night by Score of 17—2—Result of Game a Surprise to Both Sides.

The unexpected happened at Lindsay last night when Peterborough Juniors lost out on the round by a majority score of 6. The game, which was the second and final of the home and home contests for the group championship, went to the Midgets by a count of 17 to 2, and Peterborough's hopes for the semi-finals disappeared in smoke.

With a lead of six goals the Petes went to Lindsay last night full of confidence that they would at least capture the group title. They were by no means sure of beating their rivals in the game, but felt that with half a dozen scores salted down they would have little difficulty in keeping the tally within safe bounds, but things turned out differently and as a result the Juniors are out of the race.

It is difficult to account for the startlingly different showing made by Peterborough in the two recent games. On Wednesday night they passed up the group title when it had been handed to them as a result of a technicality, which justified such an action and chose like true sportsmen to run their chances of victory or defeat upon the ice. In one of the finest games ever played in this city by a junior hockey team they wrested the Midgets and placed six scores to their credit. Last night in Lindsay with the same lines-up on both sides the Petes were handed one of the most unmerciful defeats imaginable.

Peterborough's goal tender was a weak man in last night's battle. The Lindsay fans had packed the rink and their rooters had obtained every noise producing instrument imaginabe from an auto claxon to a brass band and Peterborough's net sguardian let them get his nerve at the beginning of the game.

The Rink Out of Date.

Lindsays rink handicapped the locals considerably. It is one of those built prior to 1905 which does not measure up to the standard required as regards size. Used to playing upon a large sheet of ice, the Petes did not feel at home last night and made a comparatively poor showing.

The first period was a battle rajal from start to finish. The teams at that time seemed to be well balanced and the Petes made the first score of the night. Things looks promising up to the end of this spasm in spite of the fact that the Midgets succeeded in tying the score towards the end of it.

As the second period progressed Peterborough's lead began to melt away like snow in an August sun. Park scored again for the home sextet, but the Midgets sent seven balls past our pet guardian and when the gong sounded the round was tied, standing 8-8.

It was at this time that the eighty or ninety local fans who had accompanied their team to Lindsay, began to lose hope in the result. In the final spell the Petes went to pieces completely and allowed their rivals to run up a count of 9.

Play in the first period was as fast as that of the game staged here on Wednesday night. The Petes were right up on the Midgets all the time and kept the puck hovering about their nets incessantly. Parkes scored soon after play began and in spite of the hard work of the Lindsay team they were unable t oget the disc into the nets until the period was nearly up when Killen was successful.

In the second spasm Peterborough did not get off to a good start. Wilford scored for Lindsay soon after the bell rang and about three minutes later Green landed another goal for his team, which was followed almost immediately by a third talley for the Midgets, the credit for which goes to Wilford. Shortly afterwards Wilford again found the Petes' nets and after several unsuccessful attempts, Park succeeded in netting the only additional goal that Peterborough was destined to get. Garnett and Killen tallied, in close succession for Lindsay, and just before the gong sounded Green shot from the side and the puck glanced from the skate of one of the Petes, lodging in the nets.

From the standpoint of Peterborough the story of the finish is like a bad dream. Frostie was hurt soon after the scratch off and was out of the game for a few minutes. Garnet scored for Lindsay and soon after Wilford made a long shot at the Petes' netes, which got by Flowers, who from that time on seemed to lose his nerve completely. The Petes became discouraged and the remainder of the game was played almost entirely in their end of the rink. The Midgets kept smashing through their defence and every shot told. Garnet Killen and Wilford each tallied for Lindsay in close succession and then after a few minutes during which the Petes rushed the push almost into their nets, the duo repeated their performance. The two last counts of the game were made by Green and Killen.

The last period was a walk over for the Midgets as the Petes had lost all heart in the contest and were making no attempt to turn the tide.

Some Rough Work.

The play was not as clean as that of the game here, on Wednesday night and several of the Petes were hurt slightly, and at the last Park, who had been going strong all through, had his knee badly sprained. In the first period Kelly, Green and Killen of the Midgets were penalized, while Cherrett of the Petes was once.

Garnett, Wilford and Killen starred for the Midgets in last night's contest. The Lindsay sextet got away to a good beginning when they tied the game score in the first period and were as full of "pep" at the finish as when they first took the ice.

The Petes had hoped to rush things in the first spell and play a defensive game towards the last, holding down their score. The result of the initial spasm was not encouraging and had a great deal to do with their defeat.

Jerry Coughlin, the Petes' trainer, had a good team, and his coaching was excellent. His advice last night as regarded the play was good, and his men did their best to carry it out but were handicapped by the knowledge that the Lindsay fans had put their goal tender's wind up and consequently they were forced to play a cover-up game from the start. Under these conditions when once the Midgets got the lead, it was almost impossible to turn the tables.

Cherrett played well last night and showed no signs of discouragement even after his team had blown-up and were completely out-of luck.

Park scored the only two goals for the Petes and he worked hard all night. His jinx was still after him, however, and he was hurt twice, the second time painfully.

Frostie attempted to rush the defence of the Midgets several times, but without his usual success. Williams was following the rubber all the time, while Haggerman, Gerard and Gillepie worked hard to turn the scale in favor of Peterborough.

In looking back upon the record of the local Junior team the fans in this city have nothing to be ashamed of in their performance. In Lindsay the impression was generally held that the Petes would now regret their action in passing up the chance of obtaining the group title when it was handed to them as a result of Lindsay's default in the first contest of the round. This is not the case, and the Petes' reason for playing the game like the good sports they are, should not be attributed to the fear of losing the gate receipts on Wednesday night as was the impression in Lindsay.

Had they decided to abide by the referee's perpectly just decision upon that occasion they would have entered the semi-finals and the first match with Belleville would have been held in this city and would have netted the locals a bigger gate receipt than that which came their way as a result of the last game played here.

MICHIGAN TO BE IN NEW LEAGUE

Brantford, Feb. 7.—According to an announcement made here by President T. J. Nelson of the Brantford Baseball Club, three Michigan cities were assured for the reorganized Canadian League circuit. Flint and Lansing have been lined up by "Knotty" Lee. Another large city is also in line and an announcement will be made when grounds are secured, for which a deal is now under way. "Mickey" Lalonge, the former catcher of the Toronto Leafs, has applied for the job of Manager of the Brantford team.

HOW BOYD, AN OLD TIMER, WON FAME AS JUMPER

This Famous Sprinter's Star Jump Was a Leap Across the Welland Canal With the Population of Merriton in Angry Pursuit—Boyd Talked Too Much.

Jo Loomis, Middle West sprinter and jumper, has been a sensation from the fact that he could both jump and run in championship form. Jo has nothing on Billy Boyd, old-time foot racer, although Jo's jumping was not enforced as was Billy's.

Boyd's most famous jump was a leap across the Welland canal with half the population of Merriton in hot and angry pursuit. The canal was 20 feet wide and for a time it looked as if there was nothing for Boyd to do except surrender to the mercy of the howling crowd at his heels. He didn't, and therein lies the fact that Boyd established a reputation as a jumper as well as a sprinter.

Merriton is a little Canadian town with flanks resting on the banks of the Welland canal. This part of Canada always has been noted for the production of athletes. As a result any one who could show he was a champion as a near-champion at any popular sport was sure of a big following and the best of treatment. For the most part the people are of Scotch descent and the Caledonian pastimes were and are exceedingly popular.

Billy Boyd drifted into Merriton one afternoon early in May, when the athletes of the town and their neighboring countrymen were busily preparing for the big meet to be held on the queen's birthday, May 24, a national holiday. There were all sorts of games, but the principal events of the carnival was the 100-yard dash.

Big Squad Enters Race.

The fastest runners from that section of Canada were entered, and as these sprinters had provincial reputations, interest in the race was correspondingly great. So many entries had been received that it was found necessary to divide the field into two groups and run off preliminary heats in the morning of the day of the race.

Boyd got busy at once. Any runner was eligible, as the promoters were not particular about professionals and amateurs in those days. Boyd soon succeeded in making a hit with the fans around Merriton and his workouts attracted more than the usual attention. It had been years since Merriton had boasted a sprinter who could hold his own with dash men from other towns. Consequently the advent of Boyd, who adopted the name of Cassidy, together with a rich brogue, was hailed with satisfaction by the citizens who at last had a chance to put something over on the rival villages.

Boyd used to tell the fans how he had won hundreds of races in Ireland before coming over a few months before, and that he expected to clean up everything in Canada. The fans who saw him in his workouts didn't doubt his word for an instant.

The betting as usual, began as soon as it was noticed about that at last Merriton had a runner who would be able to do things in the century. There was not a great deal of money put up until the day of the race, as residents from other towns and villages wished to see the touted Merriton runner perform in the preliminaries before they placed their bets. What they saw was enough to turn them cold, for Boyd romped through his heat with such ridiculous ease that he made a farce out of the race, although he was pitted against some of the best dash men in that section.

Betting All On Boyd.

Billy's opponent in the final heat was a youngster from across the border, as only winners of the two preliminary heats qualified for the final. Those who had seen both races did not think the youngster had one chance in a thousand to beat Boyd. The betting stopped completely for a time and the fans from Merriton were loud in their taunts at the sports from other villages who were seemingly afraid to take a chance.

The odds went up until Boyd ruled a 4-to-1 favorite. Still there were no takers. Then 5 to 1 was reached. The only one of the visitors to become angry at the taunts of the Merriton people was a sandy-haired, elderly sport who came forward with a roll of bills and began to peel off tens and twenties for the various bets which were showered at him. He took all the money offered until there was $1,500 against his $300, almost the whole male population of Merriton getting down on Boyd.

After the usual warming up stunts, the runners were sent on their way to a perfect start. Of course, Boyd didn't win. His opponent beat him so badly that after the first force of the blow had passed the crowd got wise. The sandy-haired chap who got the money was Boyd's friend. Boyd didn't even turn back to explain, but kept right on running at an even faster clip than in the race.

After him chased the crowd to little purpose, as the sprinter rapidly drew away in the direction of the bridge over the Welland canal, which would allow him to escape to the open country where he had a team waiting to convey him to a safe point. However, Boyd didn't happen to have the right of way at that particular hour of the day, as the bridge had been swung open to permit a large barge to pass. He seemed up against it. The pursuing mob realized his predicament almost as soon a Boyd did and redoubled its efforts to reach him.

A Leap for Life.

Boyd looked up and down the bank, but escape was cut off in either direction. The lock was over 20 feet wide, but Billy made up his mind to take the chance. Retreating about 20 yards, he got his start and made the flying leap to safety. He landed close to the farther bank and was able to grasp the stonework and haul himself out of the water while the disappointed mob, foiled in the attempt to capture the "ringer," hurled stones at him.

The spot where Boyd made his jump was called "Boyd's Leap" for a number of years afterward, but little foot racing was done in the town of Merriton afterward unless the principals were known.

Eskimo Kayak.

One of the oddest crafts ever seen near Provincetown, Mass., was the Eskimo kayak, in which Explorer Donald B. MacMillan paddled about. The kayak is a man's canoe and is built on a frame on which is stretched skin, water tight. It is handled with a double paddle, is decked over, and, with an expert in it, is one of the safest small craft known.

Success Came Late in Life.

Among the small group of brilliant women journalists of the last century Fanny Fern stands out as a unique figure. For, although she was married and widowed before she ever attempted to write, she became one of the most popular authors of the day, and her first book sold to the extent of 132,000—almost a record for those days.

The Snake's Rattle.

The rattle of the rattlesnake is developed from the single conicle scale of epidermal spine, which in most snakes forms the internal tegument of the anal. The bone on which the roof of the rattle rests consists of the last caudal vertebra and is covered with a cone which is the beginning of the rattle of a young rattlesnake.

Annual Dance of Peterboro Club

The dance given by the Peterborough Club last night was the most brilliant society function of the year in Peterborough. It was held in their spacious club rooms and there were over 225 in attendance.

Excellent music was furnished by Linton's orchestra of Toronto and a dainty supper was served by Mr. Ernest Withers, steward of the club.

A most enjoyable evening was spent in dancing and at the card tables, everything combining to make the function a most pleasing one, from the luxurious apartments to the excellent supper and music.

Those in charge of the entertainment were:

CHARMING IRISH DRAMA AT GRAND

BERNARD DALY AND COMPETENT COMPANY PRESENT "SWEET INNISFALLEN."

Bernard Daly, the popular Irish actor, and famous singer with a competent cast, presented the romantic Irish drama, "Sweet Innisfallen," at the Grand Opera House last night to an appreciative audience. The story of the play is an interesting and deep laid plot by one of the alien parasites that fatten the misfortunes of the natives and who breeds contention among them. Mr. Daly, as Larry O'Connell, the hero, is charged with the duty of saving a man wrongfully accused of murder and of uncovering the schemes of the arch villain. Interest in the play never fags from start to finish, and Mr. Daly incidentally sings during the performance popular Irish songs, including "The Wearin' O' the Green" and the "Call of the Wind." Irish songs are always touching and Ireland is the one country in the world where love making has attained the highest perfection of art, both natural characteristics being brought out in the presentation last night. Once more it was demonstrated by Mr. Daly that the Irishman is the only stage character who can become amorous without growing "spooney."

Mr. Daly was supported by an excellent cast, among whom were Charles H. Elwood, as the heavy villain, Miss Donna Bartlett, as Grace Moore, around whom the matrimonal plot is woven and Mr. Charles Terrance, who plays the part of the pompous and pedantic attorney to perfection.

The Sunday night service in Trinity afternoon and evening is "A Night in Honolulu," another of those charming stories of Hawaii, the "Paradise of the Pacific," with a band of native musicians and dancers.

Picture-Transmitting Set.

An apparatus for transmitting pictures electrically is among the latest scientific toys. It is described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The sending and receiving instruments are synchronized by a steel rod, although another system may be used for longer-range work. A photograph must first be reproduced on a copper plate, which is rolled over the cylindrical plates of the sending machine. A needle held against it travels from one end of the roll to the other, and the picture is reproduced on paper at the other end of the line.

Most Primitive Still.

Probably the most primitive still in use is that used by the Chinese in the distillation of camphor, which is said, however to be very effective. The leaves are placed in a wicker basket, which is fixed over an iron caldron containing water. On the top of the basket a basin of cold water is placed. The steam from the caldron passes through the leaves of the basket and carries over the camphor vapor, which is deposited in the form of camphor on the cool under surface of the basin

Rhubarb Useful to Gardeners.

Rhubarb, apart from its usefulness, has values for its beauty. The giant Chinese variety, with its enormous leaves, is often employed by landscape gardeners to produce bold sub-tropical effects; nor do they always disdain the charms of the more modest pie-plant itself, of which the tall, graceful spikes of white flowers and large leaves, deeply veined and stained, are as certainly handsome as the succulent stalks are palatable.

Up to the Standard.

People who go in for speed records are not as wise as they think they are; speed without accuracy is of no avail. True, time is at a premium in every line these days, and we should not under any circumstances waste a minute unnecessarily. But if we aren't sure about any phase of our work we must take sufficient time to go into it and not skip on chance to help us where we cannot possibly help ourselves.

WAS AFRAID TO GO ON TOP OF HOUSE

PAINTER WAS SO WEAK COULD HARDLY WALK—GAINS TWENTY POUNDS TAKING TANLAC.

"I will cheerfully tell anyone, who is looking for something to build them up, that Tanlac certainly brought me out of the kinks," was the characteristic statement made by John A. Meyers, house painter and decorator of Reardan, Washington, while in Murgottroyd's at Spokane, recently.

"I can't say that I suffered any particular pain," he continued. "I just had no appetite and got into a terribly run down condition. I believe I could have gone a week without feeling hungry. What little I did eat was forced down and seemed to do me no good, as I lost weight and strength all the time. I had gotten down to almost skin and bones and was so weak that I was actually afraid to go up on a house to paint. My energy all left me and I had gotten to where I couldn't hold out to do a whole day's work.

"I had read about Tanlac being fine for people in a run-down condition, and I now know for myself, for it has put me in shape to where I have already gained twenty pounds. And speaking of appetites, I've got the best one I ever had. Meal-times come too slow for me and when they do get around I hardly know when to quit eating. I have gotten my strength and energy back, too, and now I can do as much work as any man my age. I had been losing ground two or three years and nothing ever hit the spot until I got Tanlac, so it certainly is the medicine for me."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. H. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Bowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Soap Economy.

New soap is about the most extravagant thing there is. If you possibly can, buy a dozen bars at a time. Cut it up at once into one and one-half-inch thick blocks. Store these in a very dry, rather warm cupboard, piling them up after the fashion of a child building bricks, i. e., so that they practically do not touch each other. They will then dry and harden right through, and while the cleansing power of the soap will be in no way diminished it will last twice as long.

Accuracy Always Valued.

We all admire the thorough, painstaking person, for the reason that we know such persons place the right kind of an estimate on accuracy. True, they may not be singled out as having attained any speed records, but that fact gives us absolutely no concern. We believe in them because we know that they may in every situation be relied upon and we go our way happy in the knowledge that work turned out by such persons will fully "measure up."

In Every Profession.

Not all the quacks practice medicine. There are a few of them in every other calling.—Topeka Capital.

NEWEST FASHIONS ARE CHIC

Late Styles Are Regarded as More Practical Than They Have Been in Recent Years.

Taking it all in all, the new fashions are more attractive and at the same time more practical than they have been in years. Here are a few salient characteristics:

Belts are either soft and draped or flat and straight. One Paris frock has a belt made of a strip of inch-wide braid with the ends crossed and falling in short tubs. The most graceful sash is of satin, with fringed ends.

The new color is henna, sometimes called rust color. All the browns will be fashionable and certain shades of green. Gray is much liked for street costumes and taupe and gray make a smart combination. Every other dinner gown is black.

A yard and twelve inches will be enough width for the full skirt—if one wishes to be extremely smart. More conservative taste may increase the width as far as a yard and three-quarters—no more than that is permitted by fashion.

Sleeves must be tight as one can stand them, with small armholes and the wrist provided with buttons and loops or other fastening devices, so that one may get into the sleeve without a struggle.

MILLINERY HINTS

Although one occasionally sees a bright red or horizon blue hat, this fall it is the fur tones, brown and gray, that lead in millinery. This means a range of some extent, for the brown furs are rather numerous and there are several shades in the gray grouping. Sometimes a feather fancy in contrasting shade is used for trimming, but more often the one color scheme is maintained.

Fringed silk ribbon is the trimming novelty and on some of the models from Paris it resembles an ostrich feather band.

The minimum of trimming is the rule and often a narrow band of grosgrain ribbon is the sole decoration on a turban or sailor shape of velvet, velour or hatter's plush.

Handkerchief Fad.

A dainty handkerchief has one corner cut off and remade by a triangle of white net on which is one's monogram.

One Way of Escape.

"A woman marries a man who got up and gave her his seat in a street car." Then the only way for a man to escape is to poke his nose into his newspaper when he hears the rustle of a skirt near his car seat.

Source of Amber and Jade.

It is at the source of the Chindwen, or western branch of the Irrawaddy, that the famous amber and jade mines are which have supplied China with those much-prized stones for centuries.

The small border, or treasure, which surrounds the arms of Scotland in the British coat of arms is the emblem of preservation or protection. MILLION AND HALF WORKERS TO TREAT WITH EMPLOYERS

Various Trade Unionists Are Likely to Get What They Asked For and Will Return to Work—Strike on Clyde is Expected to be Settled by Wednesday.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 10.—Miners, railway and transport workers numbering 1,500,000 today began a campaign for reforms. A committee of the Miners Federation was to meet the Government leaders to ask for a six-hour day, a thirty per cent. increase in wages and full pay to demobilized miners during unemployment.

Railway workers will open negotiations Wednesday with the Board of Trade and the Government Railway Committee, on behalf of an eight-hour day, double pay for overtime and other concessions.

The transport workers' committee is ready to report to the union that the employers offer forty six and one half hours' working week.

Electricians are balloting this week in a proposition to enforce the demand for a forty-hour week.

London underground railways, which were tied up the most of last week because of strikes were running on the normal schedules at noon. On the Clyde fifty per cent. of the workers resumed work today. All men are expected to be back at work Wednesday.

Ministers and Laymen Join in Protest

The Ministerial Association held the mot largely attended meeting of the year this morning, the essayist being Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, whose subject was "Business Methods in the Church of Christ." The subject was dealt with in all of its aspects, and the half hour occupied was voted one of the most enjoyable and profitable in the series now in progress as a part of the association program.

Before any one of the ministers had retired and after most careful discussion, the following resolution was unanimously adopted by a standing vote and ordered to be reported in the daily press:

"Resolved, that this association expresses its regret that this city has at the present time no branch of the Social Service Council, especially in view of the fact that during recent weeks plays have been staged in our midst which, in the opinion of many of our most broad-minded and sane men, have been offensive to the moral instincts of both men and women.

"That we further urgently request that the societies in this city so worthily engaged in work for the Empire and humanity, shall in the future be most careful not to encourage any itinerant propagandist who must depend upon the use of our young people for the success of his questionable productions."

POLAND, TOO, FEELS STRAIN OF THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Premier Paderewski Says That His Country Ha Reached First Rung in Ladder of Freedom—Shipping Facilities Necessary in Order th Reduce Cost of Foodstuffs.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Warsaw, Feb. 10.—"Poland has reached the first rung in the ladder of freedom," Ignace Jan Paderewski, Premier and Foreign Minister, said in a statement today. "The union of all parties in Poland," he added, "was shown by the result of the elections, and by the fact that the elections were conducted p[illegible]ably.

"One of the first of our needs is the opening of the port of Dansig so that we will be able to bring in products to lower the terrific cost of living. To bring in products would automatically decrease the cost in the local markets,' said the Premier.

Premier Paderewski is bearing up well under the tremendous strain of the last two months. He lives at the Hotel Bristol, of which he is part owner with Madame Paderewski.

SHORT SHRIFT FOR ALIEN AGITATORS

UNITED STATES IS DEPORTING MEMBERS OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORKERS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Feb. 10. — Fifty-four members of the Industrial Workers of the World passed through Chicago last night in a special train under a heavy guard on their way to an Atlantic port, whence it is said they will be deported at once by the immigration authorities. Forty of the prisoners came direct from Seattle, where, it is alleged, they took part in fomenting the general strike in that city.

The majority of the men were alien labor agitators picked up by officers of the United States immigration service during the year of secret campaigning in the industrial centres of the Pacific coast. The majority of the prisoners will be sent back to Russian provinces. They are principally Norwegians, Swedes and Finns, according to the guards on the train.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Food Controller Thompson Says the Outlook is Bright.

Ottawa, Feb. 10. — Mr. Henry B. Thomson, in the dual capacity of chairman of the Food Board and member of the Canadian Trade Commission, has no misgivings about the outlook for Canadian manufacturers. He assured a gathering of confectioners and others in the sugar industry that there is a bright prospect for nearly all staple manufactures which the Dominion can undertake, either for home consumption or for export. The occasion was the presentation of an address expressing the appreciation of the confectionery, biscuit and chocolate industries of Mr. Thomson's able direction of the Food Board, especially as it concerned the distribution of sugar, which is regarded by the Food Board as one of the most difficult problems the department had to solve.

INDIANS RAVAGED BY "FLU."

No Physicians Near Cross Lake, Man., To Help Them.

Winnipeg, Feb. 10.—Reports from Cross Lake, eighty miles north of Winnipeg, indicate that the ravages of the influenza have nearly depleted the Indian population of that district, virtually every one of them having been stricken with the malady. There are no physicians near to give aid.

Rev. E. B. Gordon, for 20 years a Methodist missionary to the Cross of northern Manitoba, is dead of the disease.

A Hamilton meeting acting under G. W. V. A. auspices, appointed a deputation of five to go to Ottawa and insist upon deportation of aliens and other undesirables.

TROTZKY MAY BE MADE EMPEROR

BOLSHEVISM IN RUSSIA LIKELY TO SHIFT TO OTHER EXTREME.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Warsaw, Feb. 10.—That bolshevism is in its critical stage, either turning to imperialism, with perhaps Leon Trotzky, minister of war and marine, as the new emperor, or shipping back to the idea of the old Nihilism with a sort of orderly disorder, is the impression given by the many refugees of all nationalities who have arrived here from Russia.

"Our chief characteristic," said one informant, "is that we are tired of feeling, tired of killing, tired of fighting, and tired of wandering from pillar to post. There is no doubt that Leon Trotzky is attempting to obtain order and to whip the troops into shape. He is known to be terribly ambitious, and possibly he is dreaming of becoming Czar, knowing that bolshevism has failed."

Two Brothers Are Now Under Arrest

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Feb. 10.—Siang Sun Wan and his brother, T. L. Wan, students at New York University, were formally arrested yesterday in connection with the murder of Dr. Theodore T. Wong, Shsie and Ben Sen Wu, officials of the Chinese educational mission to the United States, whose bodies were found at the mission headquarters here on the night of January 31.

LEPROSY SEIZES SOCIETY WOMAN

PROMINENT RESIDENT OF PHILADELPHIA TAKEN TO ISOLATION HUT.

Philadelphia, Feb. 10.—Philadelphia's fashionable circles were shocked to learn that a woman of wide prominence has been stricken with leprosy.

Her identity is being carefully shielded by the health authorities, and it is known only to her family and a few intimate friends that she is suffering from the dreaded malady.

Hers is the first case to be discovered in this city in more than five years, and efforts are being made to prevent the spread of the disease. It is understood that she contracted the contagion on the recent pleasure trip to the islands of the Pacific.

Her physicians treated her for several weeks before they finally decided that she had leprosy. The Health Bureau was immediately notified, and she was taken to an isolated hut on the grounds of the Municipal Hospital at Second and Luzerne streets.

Here she was provided with every comfort possible in the circumstances. Cut off from communication with her family by letter, efforts are being made to instal a telephone in the hut so that she can find relief from isolation in conversation over the wire.

Wreak Vengeance On the President

Washington, Feb. 10.—The militant branch of the suffragettes had a stormy time of it today on the eve of the vote in the Senate to determine whether the question of submitting the giving of nation-wide suffrage to women shall be placed before the State legislators.

President Wilson was burned in effigy in front of the White House, after a demonstration by a number of women, who charge that the President is to blame because he has not swayed the recalcitrant Senators to his will and thus assured victory for the cause. At least 39 and possibly as many as 47 of the suffragettes who participated were bundled into patrol waggons, and later, on refusing to give bail, were sent to the House of Detention.

IN MEMORY OF COL. EDWARDS.

People's Chimes Were Rung by Choirmaster Devey.

As a tribute to the memory of a former illustrious citizen of this city, the late Col. E. B. Edwards, at one time commanding officer of the 57th Regiment, funeral airs were played this afternoon on the people's chimes at the same hour as that at which his funeral was held in the city of Edmonton.

STRIKE AT DUSSELDORF ENDED.

Cologne, Feb. 10.—The strike of official and professional classes at Dusseldorf is ended, the Spartacans having conceded most of the points demanded. The Bourgeoise delegates who had been imprisoned as hostages have been liberated. According to a Berlin despatch on Friday, the whole city of Dusseldorf had "walked out" in retaliation against the Spartacans.

MAY SIGN PEACE BEFORE MAY 15

WORK OF THE DELEGATES TO BE COMPLETED AT THAT DATE

Paris, Feb. 10.—The task of the Peace Conference will be done in four stages, the first of which will be completed when President Wilson leaves for Washington next Saturday. This is the stage of the preliminary consideration of every question to come before the Conference, with the appointment of special commissions to consider them exhaustively and make definite recommendations.

These investigations, which will occupy the next month, will mark the second phase of the Conference. The recommendations will then come before the Conference bureau, and after revision will be considered in a series of plenary conferences.

By the middle of April the Conference will be transferred into the Peace Congress by the admission of representatives of enemy countries. There is no intention to permit a prolongation of the proceedings by reopening discussions with enemy delegates. This is to be an imposed peace. The conclusion of the conference and the signing of the peace treaty may be looked for about the middle of May. This is regarded here as a fairly accurate forecast.

STRICTER THAN EVER

Will Be Armistice Terms Reposed on Germany.

Paris, Feb. 10.—The Supreme War Council is reported to have reached a decision that it was necessary to impose more severe conditions upon Germany for the renewal of the armistice because of Germany's attitude toward the fulfilment of her obligations. Decisions are also said to have been reached for the control of German demobilization and of the production of plants formerly engaged in producing war material.

It is expected that the means for securing the execution of the conditions laid down will be reached at today's session of the Council.

BREAD PRICES DROP IN TORONTO

LATEST CUT BRINGS IT DOWN TO TWO CENTS LESS THAN HERE

Bread has taken another tumble in price in Toronto, the second within the last couple of days, and can now be bought for nine cents a loaf or 12 tickets for one dollar, which brings it down to 8½ cents as compared with 11 cents charged last week.

The cut, however, is not general. There are some of the smaller dealers who are still selling at 10 cents and when asked if they would meet the lower figure said they were considering doing so. They, too, will probably fall into line.

In Peterborough bread is still selling at 11 cents a small loaf, with no talk of reduction.

Italian soldiers born in 1900 numbering 400,000 are being demobilized.

Four children of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Legault of Sudbury were burned to death in their beds.

EIGHT PERSONS KILLED IN RIOT

NEW SPARTACAN DISORDERS HAVE BROKEN OUT AGAIN IN BERLIN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Zurich, Feb. 10.—Grave Spartacan disorders broke out in Berlin on Saturday evening, according to advices received here. Soldiers and sailors commanded by former Chief of Police Eichhorn are reported to have occupied the Alexander Plats and government troops opened fire upon them. Eight persons were killed and forty wounded, it is said. German censorship is withholding details of the trouble.

QUEBEC JUDGE RAPS ONTARIO

DOES NOT REGULATE CONFERENCE BY WHAT IS DONE HERE.

Quebec, Feb. 10.—Absentees under the Military Service Act are still flocking to the Police Court at Quebec to pay their light fine and escape shrinking from the duty of reporting for military service.

Saturday again a large number of them appeared before the Police Court. After imposing upon all of them fines running from $5 to $10 Judge Charles Langelier of the Police Court talked on the criticism that comes from Ontario because the absentees are too generously dealt with in this section of the Province.

"I hear" said Judge Langelier, "that in Ontario there reigns a dissatisfaction because the absentees here are liberated after paying a light fine. It seems that the sentiment out there asks that absentees be sent to the penitentiary. We do not feel that way. We judge the different cases according to the facts of the case and also according to the dictates of our conscience. We are not to be guided by the conscience of the Judges in Ontario."

"Absentees are classified in three categories, according to the gravity of the offense of each, and according to the particular situation of each absentee. It must be understood that not all absentees stand in the same light. Some of them are more or less guilty, and consequently each individual must be dealt with differently, according to its own circumstances.

"In Ontario this seems to be poorly understood. And this is not the only thing that is not understood there."

TUNISIANT REACHES ST. JOHN

WITH OVER THREE HUNDRED SOLDIERS AND SEVEN HUNDRED DEPENDENTS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

St. John, N. B., Feb. 10.—The steamer Tunisian arrived here today with about three hundred soldiers and seven hundred soldiers' dependents, half of whom are for Ontario points.

MR. F. D. KERR IS RE-ELECTED HEAD OF LAW ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting Held Saturday—The Profession's Local Record in the War Referred to in Report of Executive.

The Peterborough Law Association held its annual meeting Saturday and the following report was presented:

To the Members of the Association:

The Executive Committee beg leave to present the following report for 1918:

The outstanding event in the year 1918 was the cessation of hostilities in Europe following the decisive defeat of the Central powers and the indication of the principle that Governments should be of laws, not of men. It is worthy of note that members of the legal profession have had so much to do with the triumphant establishment of the principles for which the profession has always stood.

Four members of the Law Association responded to the call to arms. One of these, Major S. T. Medd, was invalided home sometime ago and two others, Lieut. C. E. Widdifield and Lieut. J. F. P. Birnie, have recently returned following recovery from wounds received at the front. Lieut. J. F. Strickland has also returned and will soon re-commence the practice of his profession.

The hearts of the members of the profession here were saddened during the year by the news, first of the death in action of the son of Mr. A. E. Dixon, and later by the word that Flight-Lieut. Arthur Huycke, the youngest son of His Honor Judge Huycke, had been reported "missing" while engaged in scout duties as a member of the Royal Naval Air Force.

It is very gratifying to record that during the year the Court House has been completed and the new Court room opened. The profession feels that the County Council have spared no pains nor expense to make the accommodation what it should be and there is no doubt that the Court room will compare favorably with any other Court room in the Province. There is apparently only one defect that of the acoustics, which it is hoped will be remedied very shortly. The new library has also been moved to the Court House during the year, the old quarters having been splendidly fitted up and renovated. A new catalogue is now in the hands of printers and will shortly be available. The library is now acknowledged to be one of the best law libraries in the Province.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. D. KERR, President.
JOS. WEARING, Secretary.

The following officers were elected for the year 1919:

President—F. D. Kerr.
Vice-President—Ozias Leplante.
Secretary—Joseph Wearing.
Treasurer—B. D. Hall.
Librarian—Joseph Wearing.
Trustees—E. H. D. Hall, G. N. Gordon, R. R. Hall.

DEMAND REMOVAL OF ALIEN FOES

HAMILTON CITIZENS FORM IN PROTEST AT MASS MEETING SUNDAY.

Hamilton, Feb. 10—After months of murmuring and silent agitation against the inaction of the government in the matter of alien enemies the citizens of Hamilton at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. in the Lyric Theatre Sunday afternoon unanimously passed a resolution calling upon Ottawa to remove the aliens and undesirable foreigners by immediate deportation. The resolution, which was endorsed by thunderous applause, also called for the appointment of a committee of five Hamiltonians to convey the decision of the gathering to Ottawa, while a subsidiary resolution urged that the government appoint a deportation committee, composed only of Hamilton citizens, to see that immediate action was taken in regard to sending these men back to their own countries.

Great Enthusiasm.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic ever held in Hamilton and equalled the win-the-war gatherings held in the early days of the war. The crowd was large and overcrowded the theatre. An overflow returned soldiers and the employers meeting was held in front of the theatre.

While the meeting was called by the local branches of the G. W. V. A., there were representatives present of the Hamilton Board of Trade, Canadian Club, city council and Trades and Labor Council. F. W. Trusham and Wm. Jordan, D.C.M., moved and second the main resolution, and A. V. Garden, president of the board of trade, moved the resolution calling for the appointment of a deportation committee.

Committee of Five.

Another important resolution was moved by Lieut.-Col. G. H. McCullough and President Hanley, West End G. W. V. A., calling for a committee of five to co-operate with the on the matter of employment.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1919

THE DOUBLE PLATOON.

MR. ARTHUR in another column makes it plain that the firemen of the city have no idea of applying for the eight-hour day in their work, and that they have never asked for it and do not intend to ask, for anything of the kind. There is no use in practicing all sorts of blue flame at us to the taxpayer with such a supposition as the text-hook for a starting point. The only basis for the movement is the avowed purpose of some of the aldermen to secure an eight-hour day for all employes of the city, a reform which cannot be made to apply to the firemen here or in any other municipality. The idea of such a thing in connection with the brigade is a false alarm, and the men themselves should not be held responsible for it in any way.

This false alarm should not be allowed to prejudice the case of the firemen in their demand for the double platoon system. That has been promised them by the conscientious pledges of the majority of the present members of the City Council. The members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, after careful consideration of the question, have decided to report favorably upon it to the Council. The repudiation by the firemen themselves of such an idea as an eight-hour day, which would double the cost of the department, should be sufficient, if an attempt should be made to force such an impossible thing, either, seeing that they themselves are now hard that it is impracticable.

The arguments in favor of the double platoon system have been repeated again and again. The most potent of these is that the system has been adopted and is now in operation in other cities and that it has not called for the extra outlay that some predict, but that the added expense which Chief Grange refers to has been found sufficient.

Chief Grange's annual report of the work of his department has earned the encomiums of the underwriters and the provincial fire marshal. These tributes, official as they are, should be accepted as certificates of the efficiency of the Chief and the members of the brigade.

FARMERS ARE SAFE.

THE EXCHANGE, given to fits of gloom, is alarmed at the socialistic tendencies of the West especially, and predicts that there are men in that section who will eventually make an attempt to possess themselves of the holdings of the farmers of Canada.

In this respect there is little cause for alarm. Men who entertain ravishing of the kind are not socialists, but anarchists, and even with these agitators the farm is safe. Such property is worth nothing except after the expenditure of labor, to which the anarchist has a natural antipathy. He is concerned only with the fruits of the land and it is a bank rather than real estate which interests him.

A LEAF FROM HISTORY.

... a spirit of ingenuity, it must be said, the New York Commercial publishes the following editorial, which will interest Canadians:

Edward de Valera, the Sinn Fein leader, and two prominent members of his party escaped from an English prison with such ease that it suggests the idea that the British Government is trying to get rid of them in that way. Many other political prisoners have been allowed to escape and leave the country during the past century to relieve the Government of worry and to keep them in foreign lands.

This trick of allowing political prisoners to escape has been played in Canada. The United States harbored the famous French half-breed, Louis Riel, for fifteen years after he was allowed to escape from Fort Garry, now Winnipeg, where he lay under sentence of death for participation in the Indian uprising of 1870, which was suppressed by the afterward famous Field Marshal Lord Wolseley. The story of Riel's escape was made public by Sir John A. Macdonald, Premier of Canada, in 1886, to justify his execution for high treason after a second attempt to lead a rebellion in the Canadian Northwest.

When Riel was awaiting death in 1870 Archbishop Taché interceded for him and promised that the Indians and French half-breeds would remain quiet if Riel's life was spared. Sir John A. Macdonald, then in power at Ottawa, ordered his guards to let him escape and to make sure that he crossed the American frontier. Riel returned to Canada in 1885 and headed another revolt of the tribesmen, which failed. He was caught and again sentenced to death. Archbishop Taché was still primate of the Catholic missions in the Northwest and refused to intercede again for Riel because he had broken his solemn promise not to cause bloodshed. This case excited great interest at the time and let Americans learn something about the British system of getting rid of political opponents. The Sinn Feiners are now undergoing a form of death, but it will be interesting to know the story that is rapidly developing in Ireland and England.

The commercial chronicler ... something of the methods of dealing with political prisoners from the experience of his own country. Many men who took up arms against the sovereign Federal American authority in the Civil War was under the law liable to death for treason, and yet not one prisoner was executed and not a single Southern rebel put to death except it may have been for violation of the rules of war.

Jeff. Davis, the leader of the rebellion and the president of the Southern Confederacy, was arrested after the war and held a prisoner for two years on general principles. He was never brought to trial, although he demanded a hearing, and was not even indicted by the grand jury. Finally he was released, chiefly through the intercession of Northern statesmen and journals, the late Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, becoming one of the sureties for his good behavior.

The execution of Jeff. Davis would have roused the spirit of the conquered South to a new flame. That was the view taken of the matter by his conquerors, but if Jeff. Davis had broken his solemn pledges to those who worked to save him from the consequences of his treason, and had headed another rebellion against the North, no power on earth could have saved him a second time.

Under a strict interpretation of law, the South Africans who took part in the Boer war against the British were rebels, and as such liable to the death penalty. Despite such drastic measures were resorted to by the conquerors and everyone is convinced now that this was the part of wisdom. Amnesty achieved the very purpose that retaliation and reprisal would have defeated. But the Boers have never stayed quiet in the same way. The case of Riel is not parallel with that of either of the others just cited. He forfeited his last claim to mercy when he violated his solemn obligation to those who in the first instance intervened to save his life.

WHEN GRAPES ARE SOUR.

IT WAS ONLY AFTER the fox had convinced itself that Nature had never equipped it with the power to climb a vine that the disappointed animal, realizing that the grapes were therefore beyond its reach, accordingly publicly condemned them as unfit for consumption. Many a politician has revised his plans and openly renounced a long-cherished ambition when he realizes that the electors refuse to fall in with his projects for his personal advancement.

Before the employes of the Federal Government, no matter in what branch of the service they are employed, can receive an increase in pay, the money so required must be voted by Parliament. Shorter hours of labor means added expense in connection with the civil list, especially if applied to the railways which will now be operated by the Government. In order to better the conditions of men under the jurisdiction of Parliament, it would be necessary to establish the fact that these conditions are at present satisfactory. By no better agency could this be accomplished than by the appointment of the Minimum Wage Board, for the formation of which Capt. Bentham has given notice of a resolution to be introduced in the House at the next session. Fixing a minimum wage means an increase in the public expenditure, which Parliament alone has the right to authorize, anything that Mr. G. N. Gordon can hold to the contrary notwithstanding. Even if such an amendment to the Industrial Disputes Act were adopted as Mr. Gordon suggests, fixing a minimum wage scale in different trades in certain zones, the additional money required would have to be voted by resolution in Parliament, and members could not be expected to support such a measure until the necessity for it had been established. A Minimum Wage Board, or a board with similar powers, under any other name, would be the logical agency to act in such a matter.

As to the jurisdiction of Parliament outside of its own employes, or the employes of corporations holding Dominion charters, it must be remembered that the Industrial Disputes Act applies to every province in the Dominion, and the conciliation boards acting under the provisions of that Act have power to fix the rate of wages, minimum or otherwise, and not the working hours in any industry with which they are called upon to deal.

Must Pay For Guaranteed Wheat

(New York Commercial.)

Critics of the Administration bill before Congress to appropriate $1,000,000,000 for the purchase of wheat of the crops of 1918 and 1919 delivered by farmers before June 30, 1920, are technically correct in saying that it is an "economic fallacy"; but it is also part of the cost of the war, which the nation is in honor bound to pay, if the bill amounts to that sum. War itself is an "economic fallacy," but we have to pay its cost.

Congress and the President of the United States promised to pay American farmers $2.26 at Chicago for all the wheat they can produce in the year 1919, and gave them until June 30, 1920, to deliver it. If the war had gone on, as most of us expected, we would now be praying for big crops, and the price would be the least of our worries. The farmers have done their part, and every bushel that they can raise will be needed, but the price Congress guaranteed will be higher than will probably be warranted by the laws of supply and demand under peace conditions.

How much wheat Europe will need depends on the political situation. If Russia and the Valley of the Danube remain in a state of anarchy the supply of wheat from other sources will probably fall short of requirements. America may not lose much on its guarantee if real peace is not established throughout Europe, but that is not the great issue. It is a question of national honor and fair dealing with American farmers, and this country cannot afford to break faith with them to save a billion dollars. If the crop is as big as expected, the tax gatherers may collect part of the excess price in the form of income and war profits taxes. Farmers should pay such taxes if their profits are large, but they are entitled to the guaranteed price for wheat in the first place.

Grain trade experts can help the Government and Congress to devise means of marketing and distributing this wheat, but the woes of the brokers and professional operators in the wheat pit of the Chicago Board of Trade will not appeal to the public. It is hard to be deprived of the right to trade in wheat futures for seventeen long months, but it is part of the sacrifices the nation has made for the winning of the war. We cannot complain if we have to pay for the insurance against scarcity of food during the war, now that the war has ended sooner than we expected.

WIT AND WISDOM

Snubbed.

"If, as the poet says, ladies' looks are our books, will you not let me learn from your eyes?"

"Thanks, but my eyes are already supplied with pupils."

A Failing Method.

"I'll give you two dollars for this anecdote about President Wilson," said the editor.

"What's the matter with you?" demanded the hack writer. "You gave me four dollars for that anecdote when it was about President Taft."

Might Help Her Looks.

"My wife looks poorly, you think, doctor?"

"Yes, I do."

"What do you think she needs?"

"A new hat and a new dress."

Sentimental Paradox.

From a story—"Each hour that they spent apart only brought them closer together."

The Lesson.

"He hit me when I wasn't looking," wailed the defeated man, looking for sympathy.

"That should teach you," replied the unsympathetic one, "that when you do anything for which you're likely to be hit you want to be looking."

Result of Work.

"Maud Ketcham's hands do not show any signs of toil."

"The one with the engagement ring on it does."

Little Edwin—Say, father, why do they always have a bandage over the eyes of justice?

Father—Probably because the lawyers have talked the poor woman blind, my son.

Lady—You said I would find that coal an economical kind to buy. Why, it won't burn at all.

Dealer—Well, ma'am, what could you have more economical than that?

Pigs and Pigs.

A barrister, not so discreet as he might have been in the expression of his ideas, was engaged on a case concerning some pigs.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he began, "there were 24 pigs in the drove, just 24; exactly twice as many as there are in that jury box."

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

Acquired immunity, such as one has who recovers from typhoid fever or measles, is merely one phase or stage of infection. Do you know what infection means? It does not mean the entrance of germs into the cavity of the nose or throat that a great many healthy persons harbor germs in these avities or rather on the lining membranes of the cavities, without suffering any disturbance of health. Infection has not occurred until the germs enter the tissues of the body, penetrate through the lining membrane of the nose or throat or elsewhere and take up their abode in the structure of the part. When that has occurred we observe evidence of illness.

Infection, however, does not invariably produce noticeable evidence of illness. When domestic sheep are infected with anthrax bacill the sheep scarcely show any evidence of disturbed health, though they quickly die. Likewise we occasionally see an exceptionally virulent and overwhelming infection of man with the pneumococcus (pneumonia or "cold" germ) which causes nothing more than sudden oedema or accumulation of watery fluid in the lungs which proves fatal in a few hours, drowning the victim in his own secretions.

The greatest obstacle to infection is the mechanical integrity of the lining membrane of the cavities and ducts which communicate directly or indirectly with the outer world, and the integrity of the covering of the surface of the body itself. To vaccinate an individual with cowpox (immunize against smallpox) it is not sufficient to place the virus upon the skin or to administer it internally; it is necessary to scratch or rub the skin sufficiently to remove the cuticle and expose the unprotected true skin beneath. Likewise the germs that cause ordinary pimples or boils (staphylococcus, streptococcus, etc.) commonly exist on the surface of the skin—and always on the surface of the skin of one who has or has recently had such a boil—without causing trouble unless the cuticle is in some way injured or rubbed off. Poulticing with such germs growing masses as charged meal or bread and milk often softens and denudes minute areas of cuticle near a boil and so opens the way for a second boil. More frequently the uncleanly victim handles the infected area and then transfers some of the germs on the fingers or under the nails to a distant part of the body, where he accommodatingly scratches an opening for another boil.

Safety Soap on the Job.

"Please give me some advice for my 2 week old baby. An old nurse who has attended over a thousand cases told me to give her every morning and every evening a teaspoonful of olive oil, as that is what makes babies fat. I began giving it five days ago and the baby has been vomiting a good deal. Should I keep it up? I want her to become fat.

"MRS. S. J. C."

You made a great mistake in giving the baby olive oil. Likely enough it has upset the digestion. Food from the breast, or if you cannot nurse the baby then properly modified fresh milk, is the best thing to make a baby healthy. Of course, if you desire obesity in place of health for the baby, as many misguided mothers do, I have no advice for you.

"Colds" Versus „Flu."

"Is it foolishness for me to keep my children away from children who have ordinary 'colds,' and 'flu' but just common colds or sore throats? The neighbors laugh at my precaution and tell me I am daft about contagion, yet I gather from your talks that there may be some danger in even ordinary 'colds.'

"M. K. M."

Let the neighbors laugh and show their ignorance. You are doing a duty to your children—a duty which too many mothers fail to do. Of course, every alleged "cold," no matter how trifling, is contracted by contagion or infection, and when a child catches such a disease nobody under heaven knows in advance whether it will prove serious or fatal. Keep on with your wisdom. Your neighbors will learn something by and by.

FROCKS OF PELTRY

Gowns for Street and Evening Entirely of Fur

Soft Kind of Material, Superimposed on Silk or Satin—Kinship to Ancient Costumes.

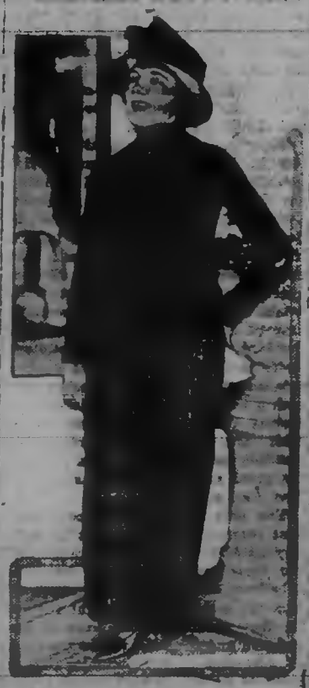
In Paris they delight in medieval gowns of peltry. In such costumery there is not only the determination to be unique, but to be warm. We, at the apex of scientific civilization and hygiene, observes a fashion writer, have been cast down into the depths of medieval discomfort and disease through the failure of mechanical organization during the war. We thought the world forever free from plagues, but we have been visited by one which spread over a world and gathered in its victims as did the dread plagues of a century ago. We who had ceased to think that hunger and cold—both elemental disasters—could ravage our health, have been face to face with both, over three continents. No longer did only the poor and dirty, those easy victims of all disasters, pay the final penalty; but those who had for over a century considered themselves immune through the adoption of all that science and health demanded.

Was it not natural, then, that, under the accumulation of the catastrophes, women should turn to the kind of apparel that kept their far-away ancestors comfortable? At least the French women must think along this line, for they have provided themselves with evening gowns and street gowns made entirely of peltry. It is a soft kind of fur which is used, and it is superimposed on silk or satin; but it pledgees a strong kinship to the costumes of the year one.

When the gowns of fur is not worn there is a new kind of huge fur hat which is supposed to furnish the warm touch. It has a cart-wheel brim and is usually devoid of trimming. Only the oval, slim face can permit it. It is not the hat for the average woman, but it is new, and therefore desirable.

There are also wraps that give more weight than warmth—a high quality in a covering—and which are fashioned somewhat like the dolmans of Victorian days. They have obliterated the ugliness of that period and developed a smart appearance. They contribute to the need for economy in apparel, for they allow the usage of a one-piece frock, and even the full or spring tailored suit. In squirkin, beaver, moleskin, they are at their best. A collar of another peltry can be added if it is considered desirable. There are women who are not happy in a garment that is left unadorned.

AFTERNOON DRESS OF VELVET



The charming afternoon gown of navy blue velvet comes from Lady Duff Gordon. It is fastened high at the neck with an interesting array of steel buttons on the waist and the sleeves.

NO EXTREME FEATURES USED

New Fall and Winter Clothes Are Marked by a General Air of Simplicity.

In viewing the new clothes for fall and winter one is struck by the absence of extreme features, and also by the general air of simplicity displayed. Colors are quiet, browns, blues and black predominating, with here and there a demure costume carried out in gray or taupe. Even embroidery has been subdued, and although in a few cases bright-colored wool or silk is used, the general tendency is toward gray and beige, or a soft coppery red that is new and most attractive.

As inevitable as the season itself is the serge street frock, and its variations are many; so, while at first glance there is a slightly monotonous effect in the costuming of the women who now throng the smart restaurants and shops, a closer inspection reveals an individuality in the arrangement of certain new details of trimming, or in the cut of the neck or fashion of sleeve. To keep to the bad of using as little wool as possible there are many clever combinations of fabrics and one is inclined to feel that this rule, instead of hindering, has been an aid to the creative abilities of designers.

HAT OF BLACK PANNE VELVET

This is an exceptionally interesting bit of black panne velvet. A large flat bow threaded in gold is laid across the front of the rose brim, adding charm to its lines.

BITING NAILS, CHEWING LIPS

Disfiguring Habits Easily Acquired, Young Girls and Older Women Being Among Offenders.

One of the most unwholesome and disfiguring habits is the biting of the nails and chewing the lips. All ages, too, are represented, since two children, young girls and older women are among the frequent offenders.

Chewing the lips, extracting bits of skin from the lips, or biting them is a habit which tends to disfigure the mouth by making it larger and pulling it out of shape. Thus the expression of the face changes for the worse. This habit is easily acquired and grows apace. Some persons immediately start to bite their lips as soon as they are engrossed in a book or with work in hand. Facial distortions are often grotesque, though the offender is totally unconscious of the attention he is attracting.

While this practice of drawing the lips about does not improve the face, it is not in the same class with biting the nails, which admits thousands of germs directly into the mouth, hence to the stomach and intestines, and so on into the blood.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF

The newest veils are of tulle, chiffon or chantilly lace.

Stitching of silk or wool makes a very attractive trimming.

A beautiful cape is of cerise wool jersey, lined with gray silk.

Generals Get Rich Rewards

So many reports of friction between Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig and the British Government, and particularly with regard to Lloyd George, have reached this country that there must be some foundation for them. The official denial that Marshal Haig was not asked to come to London at the time of Marshal Foch's visit was followed by what appeared to be a circumstantial story of a procession arranged in which Sir Douglas was to figure in an inconspicuous place, the arrangement being vetoed at the last moment by King George. Sir Douglas being a soldier, will not make any statement on the matter, and if there is to be a dispute between him and the Prime Minister in public it will only be after he retires from active service.

It is expected that one of the first duties of the next Parliament will be to pass a vote of thanks to Marshal Haig and vote him a large sum of money. Then will follow, no doubt, his elevation to the peerage should he be willing to accept this honor. Parliament in the matter of the money grant is likely to deal more liberally with Sir Douglas than with any of the great British generals who have received monetary rewards, because his task has been far greater than that of any of them. Critical as were the battles won by Wellington, Marlborough, Kitchener, Roberts and Wolseley, if they were combined in one action they would not be comparable to the tremendous engagements that have been fought by the British armies in the past four years, first under Sir John French and later under Sir Douglas Haig. For his share in the campaign Sir John was elevated to the peerage. If Sir Douglas Haig desires to be made a duke there is not the slightest doubt that he can have his wish. If it is contended that there are plenty of dukes now, then the answer must be that one of them be suppressed to make way for Haig.

No country has been more generous in its rewards to its outstanding military leaders than Great Britain. It does not content itself with presenting them with votes of thanks and illuminated addresses. Titles are invariably granted, and since many great soldiers have been poor men, there is also sufficient money voted to maintain the knighthood or peerage that is conferred. John Churchill was made Duke of Marlborough and Blenheim in memory of that "famous victory" and his brilliant campaigns in the Low Countries. Sir Arthur Wellesley became the Duke of Wellington and was voted a huge sum of money to support his state. When Lord Roberts came back after relieving Kimberley and thus bringing the end of the South African war within view he was raised to an earldom, and Parliament voted him $500,000. For his Kandahar campaign, in 1879, he was created K.C.B., G.C.B., and a baronet. In 1892, in recognition of his services as commander-in-chief in India, he was made Baron Roberts of Kandahar and Waterford, and three years later became a field marshal.

After his success at Khartoum Kitchener was made a baron, and a viscount after the South African War. In 1914 he became an earl. When he received his first title it was accompanied by a grant of $150,000, and for winding up the Boer War he was presented with $250,000. Garnet Joseph Wolseley, who was a shrewd, pushing politician as well as a successful general, was made a viscount in 1885 and received two grants of money, $125,000 and $150,000. His successful campaigns were the Red River, Ashantee, Egypt and the ineffectual relief of "Chinese" Gordon, who was murdered by a native at Khartoum. Viscount Wolseley was a general of great personal bravery—although this may be taken for granted in the case of all men who rise to eminence in the army—and unusually popular with with all ranks in the army. His exploits, though they seem insignificant to-day, were important enough, and Canadians may be pardoned for believing that if Wolseley had only the quelling of the Riel Rebellion to his credit he richly earned all his rewards and decorations.

Generous as Britain is to her leading generals, the New York Times is of the opinion that she has not treated those who just missed the first rank as well as they deserved. For instance, Sir Harry Prendergast, who fought all his life on the Indian frontier, was only thanked by her Majesty and the Government of India. Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, who began to fight for Britain in the Crimea, won the Victoria Cross and served with distinction in half a dozen wars in Africa, besides being Sirdar of Egypt for two years, was never made a Parliamentary hero and beneficiary, though he is one of the grand old men of the British army. Gen. Sir Alfred Gaselee is a veteran of many campaigns, commanded the British force in the Boxer expedition, and has innumerable medals and clasps, but failed to achieve the big thing which apparently is necessary before Parliament makes a handsome money grant. These sturdy old soldiers have found their reward in the affection and respect with which they are regarded in the army, and if at times they have felt slighted, they probably console themselves with the reflection that Nelson entertained similar feelings.

CHIC DANCE DRESS

Frock May Be Made of White Chiffon or Other Material.

Garment Is Trimmed Very Simply With Rows of Inch-Wide Glossy Ribbon In Color.

The little dance dress shown in the sketch may be made of white chiffon, net georgette or silk tissue, and it is trimmed very simply with rows of inch-wide glossy ribbon in color. Rainbow colors may be selected for the ribbon, two or three of these dainty pale shades being used with very good effect. If desired, the fabric of the gown may also be in color, and the frock be a genuine rainbow affair.

A foundation of sheer silk should be used for the dress, and it may be made a slipover by running an elastic in at the waistline. Two or three ribbon straps hold it in place over the shoulder, and a ribbon girdle with long ends circles the waist.

A dress of this kind is easy to make and may be very inexpensive. Spending a great deal of money on a dance or evening dress is never really necessary and at present it is poor taste. There will be few formal evening functions during the coming winter season, and the simple dances scheduled call for simple costuming.

An allover lace dress is always pretty, and many lace dresses are being featured for the coming season. Extreme simplicity is the rule in designing these frocks. Frequently the bodice is merely a wide girdle of silk or satin topped by a frill or yoke of lace and with short lace sleeves. The skirt may be a single length of lace, or it may be formed of two or three lace flounces. A ribbon sash or girdle finishes the dress.

Ribbon trimming is extremely popular this season. Plain bands of ribbon are used on frocks for both daytime and evening wear, and ribbon flowers, bowknots, etc., appear on innumerable evening dresses of sheer materials.

Very narrow "baby" ribbon is often knitted to form cuffs and collar for a street suit or frock, and the knitted ribbon sweater has been worn for months. During the summer it was merely a sweater, now it appears as a sleeveless vest to be worn underneath the suit jacket.

APRON DRAPERIES ARE SMART

Tablier Is Really Only a Panel—Arrangement to Be Much in Evidence This Winter.

Apron draperies appear on so many things that they may be considered a distinct fashion. They may be short or long and they may or may not have the slightest connection with the dress proper. It is as if one had really added an apron of brocade or marquisette or satin to the dress one is wearing.

Sometimes they begin at the neck and hang straight down well below the hips and are caught in only with the narrowest of string belts. Again a hem is folded back on the bottom of the drapery, as in a peasant's apron and bright-hued embroidery is added in criss-cross stitches.

In effect the tablier is really only a panel such as appeared on summer frocks. As this arrangement is to be much in evidence this winter it is well to note that any sort of fabric can be used to develop it. With velvet the gold and silver brocades, with a banding of fur, are very smart. As no fullness is seen on the bodice this season, most of them being of the basquetine plainness of the Civil war, the apron tunic may begin at the collar as a waistcoat, spreading out at the waistline, from which it falls free, now and then the tunic tablier buttons in the back or again it is set in quite apart from any relations to either back or front.

Cow Known as Great Mother.

Long before the birth of Christ the way was being prepared for the apotheosis of the cow. The life giving cowry-amulet, one of primitive man's earliest elixirs of life, ancestrally became personified as the Great Mother. In course of time the cow's maternal function in supplying milk for human children brought about her identification with the divine mother. The moon, also, as the controller of womankind, was another of her forms.

OCCUPATION FOR CRIPPLES

Q.—When a fellow is lying in hospital, maybe minus a limb, in any case badly used up, wondering how in the world he is ever going to take his place among men again, can anything be done to improve his mental outlook?

A.—Yes, a great deal can and has been done for such men.

Q.—What is done for them?

A.—They are given what are called "ward occupations."

Q.—What are ward occupations?

A.—Various kinds of light and interesting work which can be carried on by a man lying in bed or sitting in an invalid chair.

Q.—How does this work benfit the man?

A.—First, by engaging his attention and taking his mind off his troubles and drawbacks; by exercising his ingenuity in the manufacture of small trifles without tiring him too much, and, most important of all, by restoring his self-confidence in his own creative ability and power to become again independent by his own efforts, in spite of his serious handicaps.

Q.—Are these occupations intended to provide the man with a means of livelihood?

A.—No. They are adopted as curative measures and incentives to self-help, and have been found very successful.

Q.—What is "Occupational Therapy"? It's going to be quite a common phrase these days.

A.—It is work carried on in the hospitals, with the same primary object as the ward occupations, i.e., that of restoring through light and interesting work the creative ambitions of badly injured men. A man may be said to graduate from ward occupations to occupational therapy.

Q.—Has it any other field?

A.—Yes. In many cases, by reason of the lines of activity taken up, it serves as a basis for vocational re-training, men often discovering an altogether unexpected aptitude in some particular line, as a result of "tinkering" with the many kinds of occupation provided at the hospital to interest and instruct convalescents.

Q.—Does the Soldiers' Re-Establishment Department give a man sufficient training in any of these lines to enable him to earn his living thereby?

A.—Yes. A man prevented by injuries from following his pre-war occupation may choose another, suited to his tastes and present physical condition, in which he will receive a thorough practical training, and every effort will be made to place him in a suitable position where his disability will be the least possible handicap.

Q.—Can such training be obtained in more than one centre, or must all men go to the same place in order to enjoy its advantages?

A.—Yes. There are fourteen centres throughout the Dominion where the technical schools and universities, with their trained staffs and up-to-date equipment, are devoting much of their time and energy to this work.

Q.—Is there any practical work included in these courses?

A.—Yes; a good deal.

—Q. Where is this carried on?

A.—Mostly in shops and factories, under actual working conditions. Employers of labor, both large and small, have placed their staffs and experience at the disposal of the department for this purpose.

Q.—What benefit is this shop experience to the men?

A.—Of the greatest possible benefit? They come in close contact with actual working conditions and find out the degree of proficiency that is demanded. This is particularly in the case of badly maimed or disabled men. If they can make good in this shop work they need have no fear of their ability to hold their own in the labor market in competition with able-bodied civilians.

Q.—Does the department give a man sufficient training along any particular line to enable him to earn his living in that way?

A.—Certainly, the training, along whatever line, is thoroughly practical, the most up-to-date methods being adopted, and the "course' is not completed until the student is able to go out and do good work paying him a living wage.

Q.—What proof is there of this?

A.—The best possible proof, i.e., the fact that 95 per cent. of these re-trained men have become self-supporting in their new occupations.

Q.—Are these courses open to Canadian soldiers only?

A.—No. Ex-soldiers of the British and Allied armies, living in Canada, and coming within the classes for which the courses are provided, are eligible to all the benefits of such courses on the same terms as Canadian boys.

Q.—What provision is made for a man's dependents during his period of re-training?

A.—Both he and his dependents are given adequate pay and allowance by the department.

PLEA FOR CHINESE

Consul-General Makes Protest Against City Order

Toronto, Feb. 10.—Wang Chu Wen, the Chinese Consul-General from Ottawa who is now in the city, called on the City Solicitor, City Clerk and the Chief of Police regarding the recent decision of the Police Commissioners not to issue licenses to anyone but British or British naturalized subjects. He protested strongly against the Chinese being included in this order. He will make his complaint in writing.

The American citizens in this city are also complaining against this order, and a letter has been received by the Mayor from the Belgian Chamber of Commerce, Montreal, protesting on behalf of the Belgians. The Board of Control has decided to take the matter up again with the Police Commissioners.

CERTIFICATES FOR SOLDIERS

Will Receive Letter of Thanks for Service

London, Feb. 8.—(Canadian Press via Reuter's)—It is learned that all demobilized soldiers are now being furnished with a letter of thanks from the army council for services rendered. It is pointed out that the men are not being finally discharged until after peace is signed, and that then every officer and man who served will be given an illuminated certificate, in addition to a service and a war medal.

MR. A. D. HONE FAVORS TEACHING OF RELIGION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Any System of Education Imperfect if it Neglects the Moral Nature of the Student—How Religion Could Be Taught Without Controversy

Mr. A. D. Hone, teacher in the Collegiate Institute, at the session of the Sunday School of the George Street Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, gave an address in which he favored religious instruction in Ontario schools. The subject is especially timely at present as it is one that is likely to be brought up at the approaching session of the Legislature. Mr Hone's address was as follows:

Man is a religious animal. His religious instinct more than anything else distinguishes him from the lower animals. All men have some creed and it matters greatly what a man believes. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." What a man believes largely determines his outlook on life and his attitude towards his fellowmen. Individual beliefs largely determine national ideals and national ideals determine national conduct. The world has just been plunged in a deluge of blood, because Germany believed in the gospel of force

The development of moral character should be the chief aim in education.

Horace Mann says: "Ten men have failed from defects in morals where one has failed from defects in intellect."

J. T. Headley says: "The awakening of our best sympathies, the cultivating of our best and purest taste, strengthening the desire to be useful and good and directing youthful ambition to unselfish ends. Such are the objects of true education."

Ruskin says: "Education is the leading of human souls to what is best and making the best out of them."

Webster says: "Knowledge does not comprise all contained in the large term education. The feelings are to be restrained, true and worthy motives to be inspired, a profound religious feeling to be instilled and pure morality inculcated under all circumstances."

If we educate a viciously inclined youth without improving his morals we are merely increasing his power for evil and making him a greater menace to his community and country. As Horace says: "It is not scholarship impregnated with religion that tells on the great mass of society. We have no faith in the efficacy of mechanics institutes, or even of primary and elementary schools for building up a virtuous and well-conditioned peasantry so long as they stand dissevered from the lessons of Christian piety. Unless your cask is perfectly clean whatever you pour into it turns sour."

Thus, the imparting of knowledge and mental training should not be the chief aims in education, but the development of moral character, so that the individual may be able to put his abilities and training to the proper use, that he may be a blessing rather than a curse, a national asset rather than a national liability.

You cannot properly teach morality apart from religion. I suppose we have all met moral men who were not religious but we must remember that they are constantly under religious influences, they are constantly measuring themselves by the standards of morality constructed by religion and most of them received early religious training. Just as the heat remains for a long time in the boiler after the fire is extinguished so morality may remain long after the religious fires have been quenched.

There must be a religious element in man's nature on which to base the moral appeal. Personal experience and eminent authorities bear me out in this. I spent some time teaching in the western communities where there was practically no religious education of any kind. I found a very low moral condition. The scholars are habitually lied, cheated and deceived. It seemed impossible to make any impression on their moral ability. There was little in their natures to which to appeal. As Froude puts it:

"Morality rests upon a sense of obligation and obligation has no meaning except as implying a divine command without which it would cease to be."

Mark Hopkins says: "Anything like an adequate and complete morality without religion is impossible. The only salvation for man is in the union of the two as Christianity unites them."

George Washington, speaking as a statesman, says: "Let us with caution indulge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion. Reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail in exclusion of religious principle."

Napoleon adds his testimony as follows: "The gospel alone has exhibited a complete assemblage of all the principles of morality divested of all absurdity."

Joseph Roux compares desiring morality without religion to desiring an orange without an orange tree.

Necessity for Religious Instruction.

Granted the importance of religious education let us next consider the necessity for introducing it into our schools. We shall first consider the agencies at work at the present time. The home is the most potent one but, alas, it is far from doing its duty. What ever may be the cause, we must face the fact and this is that the home has largely shifted to other agencies—the responsibility for religious education. Religious teachers have been trying to arouse the home to a greater sense of its duty but have largely failed and conditions are getting worse instead of better. We believe that no greater factor could be introduced to alleviate this condition than the adoption of religious instruction in the schools. Parents are always more or less interested in what the children are doing. If the Bible were studied more in the schools it would be studied more in the homes. But even if the home were doing its full duty, the problem is of such fundamental importance that the home needs all the aid it can get from other sources.

Then there is the church and by the church, I mean, the pulpit. This is a great agency but it means are greatly limited. Many do not attend church. The time is very limited and the pulpit feels it must cover every phase of human activity. Today sermons are mostly topical rather than expository.

All agencies have shifted the responsibility to the Sunday Schools. These are doing the work well, consiging the limitation as to time and means and their efficiency is ever increasing But educators will agree that a half hour lesson, once a week, with practically no intermediate preparation cannot lead to a very thorough knowledge of any subject. All credit to our Sunday School teachers who are voluntarily giving their services to this great cause, but the same efficiency can hardly be expected in them as in trained teachers. The Sunday School alone cannot adequately impart religious knowledge or develop a religious sense.

Then there are thousands in our land who do not come under these influences to any extent. These are found in the outlying districts of our own province—not a thousand miles from Peterboro—and recent revelations in the Police Courts have disclosed an appalling condition of immorality in several such communities.

In our Western provinces, I know from personal experience, that there are vast areas where the means for religious education are very limited. In one school there was not a pupil who could tell the first book of the Bible or had heard of the ten commandments. How can we hope to develop a high type of citizenship under conditions such as these?

Then there are the foreigners in our very midst ,many of whom receive no religious instruction. How can we expect them to become desirable citizens to vote properly to even live properly without religious training?

Do actual conditions point to the necessity? We believe they do. Tests have been made in our schools time and time again and resulted in almost astounding revelations of religious ignorance. Questions such as these have been asked, "What is the second book in the Bible?" "What giant did David slay?" "In what country was Daniel made captive." "Who was the forerunner of Christ," etc. Arthur Wright, B.A., a teacher in Mount Forest is my authority for the statement that not 5 per cent. of the students in our schools could answer five or six such questions correctly. I tried six on a High School student who had taught in a Sunday School and two out of six were answered correctly.

Then what is the moral condition of our people. The medical examination necessitated by military training revealed a deplorable condition of immorality. Anyone who was thrown into contact with large groups of men in our training camps and listened to their conversation and observed their actions will support this conclusion. There is a tendency among the young people of today to consider that the chief sin is falsehood, deceitfulness and sharp dealing lies in being found out. Materialism is still rampant in our midst. It has been largely swamped by a great tidal wave of patriotic fervour but even during the war the ugly monster graft dared to show its head and when the wave has subsided somewhat we must expect to see materialism again revealed. The only sure antidote to materialism is religion, the fixing of the thought upon higher and better things, on things that are immortal.

We believe there is only one solution to the problem of religious education—the teaching of religion by the teachers in our schools—and in the same way as they teach any other subject on the curriculum.

The Aims of Religious Instruction.

The aims should be partly as follows and while listening to these, I want you to note whether you can detect any controversial points:

1. To develop a concept of God as Creator, Father, Law Giver, Ruler and Judge.

2. To illustrate God in these aspects by a study of the lives of the patriarchs.

3. To give a knowledge of the literature of the Bible and of Jewish history. The Bible is the greatest book in the world. Many of our best speakers, notably, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, draws on the Bible for illustrations.

4. To give a knowledge of the outstanding events in the life of Christ as the world's greatest teacher and St. Paul, as its greatest missionary. The life of Christ should be studied as that of any great man, leaving controversial questions entirely alone. All accept Christ as a great teacher.

5. To give a knowledge of Christ's sermon on the Mount. The parables and the Lord's Prayer.

The above could be studied without the introduction of controversial points. To this end a rigid curriculum should be drawn up by representatives of all the churchs, Roman Catholic and Protestant. I believe if our Christian churches would only get together they would be able to greatly extend the above list; they would find more points of agreement than of difference. It is vital to the avoidance of suspicion and religious strife that the curriculum be acceptable to all our great churches and such a curriculum could, I believe, be devised if the churches would exhibit the same spirit towards the question as they have shown towards the great struggle through which we have just passed.

The objection is sometimes made that some teachers may not be morally fitted to impart such instruction but these are few and far between I believe that the majority are anxious for this weapon to fight the evils they observe in the lives of the children and considering the true aim of education, the community has a right to demand a high moral standard among the members of the teaching profession.

In conclusion, this should, if possible, be made a national movement More co-operation is needed between the education departments of our provinces. The lack of uniformity in education in our country is too marked. No better beginning could be made than in the adoption of a national system of religious education. Our country is entering upon a period of unprecedented industrial expansion. As with Germany, this often leads to rank materialism. Germany was industrially efficient, her educational system was second to none; her provision for scientific training was considered a model, but she failed largely because she divorced science and religion. She did not develop a religious conscience as an antidote to materialism. Let us not make the same mistake. Let us not be afraid to perfect our educational system, efficiency and scientific training, but let us also perfect our means for religious instruction and the first step towards this is the adoption of religious education in our schools. To this end, I would appeal to our people to make their petty religius prejudices subservient to the general good, to display that same great spirit of co-operation, which they displayed during the dark days through which we have just passed.

CANADA'S DUTY TO ESTATE OF THE DEAD SOLDIERS

Money Allowed Dependents in the Way of Pensions Held in Trust to be Expended For Intended Purpose.

Canada's first duty towards the estate of a deceased soldier is to insure that his dependents are properly cared for. It was for this end that pensions for widows and children were put into operation but the responsibility of the Government toward these dependents does not end with the mere payment of certain sums of money.

The people's money is held in trust for the welfare of these wards of the country and it is the duty of the Board of Pensions Commissioners to see that money so paid shall be expended for the purpose it was intended and not diverted to other objects.

Pensions in Canada have been put upon a business basis and are operated through a series of departments, each dealing with various phases and aspects of the work.

Among the many departments of administration of the Board of Pension Commissioners is one that might be entitled the "Service Department." It is here that pensioners are interviewed, complaints registered, mistakes rectified, and false notions cleared up, no stone being left unturned that might help the applicant to a rightful understanding of his or her position and the amount of indebtedness to which the country is liable on their behalf.

Cases where the general public hear of a family or individual not in receipt of a pension, who by certain local conditions have been deemed eligible for such, are very apt to be judged offhand, without due regard to all circumstances, each of which has been taken carefully into account by the medical authorities, social workers and others connected with the work of the Board.

It must be remembered that it is the duty of the Board to make a thorough investigation of every case upon its own merits. No pension can be withheld from any person or persons rightfully entitled to such, but a pension may be administered if, in the experience of those who are qualified to judge, its payment in full would not be beneficial to the parties for whose welfare it is awarded.

A case in point is where a mother of a family of several children, who is entitled to a pension for each child; has neglected her duty in providing for them suitable food, clothing, etc. In such an instance the Board of Pension Commissioners, in their Department of Service, undertake to pay the money directly out for the supply of food, clothing, etc., and to see that the children receive all the benefits that should be coming to them.

By such procedures Canada's heritage in the children of her heroes who have sacrificed the greatest thing they had for their country, is kept intact and invested to the lasting good of future generations.

WILL PROVIDE WORK FOR OVER 33,000 SOLDIERS

Provincial Treasurer McGarry Outlines Plan of Ontario Government to Care For Returned Men.

St. Catharines, Feb. 10. — The splendid work being performed by the Ontario Government in providing for the unemployed was explained to two large audiences here by Hon. F. W. McGarry. The Provincial Treasurer was speaking in support of Fred R. Parnell, the Government candidate in the bye-election which will take place next Saturday. Mr. McGarry said he understood that complaints had been made by those opposing the Government that it was not doing its share and he proceeded to show how unfair this argument was.

The Labor Branch

There was at the present time, he said, a Trades and Labor Branch of the Government, with 81 employes, whereas in 1905 there were but eight altogether. In 1905 there had been expended altogether by the Labor Bureau $12,400. but in 1918 there had been expended $222,000. Labor Bureaux had been established in all the cities and in many of the towns throughout the province, and every effort made to provide for the employment of those who were seeking it. The Government had undertaken public works of different kinds, with the object of providing employment for as many persons as possible, public buildings would be constructed during the present year costing $22,00,000. Expenditure on highway construction, including work on provincial highways and in county system aided by the province would reach $5,000,000.

Housing Problem

Mr. McGarry contended that money would be advanced for the purpose of carrying out the Government's housing problem to the amount of $11,000,000 and of this $5,000,000 would be spent this year roads and bridges and construction work in Northern Ontario $1,000,000. building and extension and improvements on the T. and N. O. $1,000,000 or a total of $14,000,000. Very large works were going on under the Hydro Power Commission, giving employment, including the staff to 5,000 persons during the year. There were employed directly in the Government service at the present time about 2,000 people; on the T. and N.O. Railway 1,300, which would be increased to 1,825 when construction commenced. On the housing scheme if the $5,000,000 referred to were spent in 1919 there would be employed in round numbers 10,000 men, and on highway construction another 3,000.

For 33,361 Men

For the Department of Education said Mr. McGarry the Government proposed to erect two buildings in connection with the Toronto University at a cost of $550,000, and it is estimated that the different works referred to will furnish employment directly and indirectly for approximately 11,361 men.

It was clear, therefore, that there could be no possibility, even when all the soldiers returned, of any charge being made that the Government had failed to perform its share in providing a solution of the question of unemployment.

Affects all Centres

Vitally affecting the city of St. Catharines and other important thriving centres was the housing problem. When the Prime Minister was in Ottawa attending the Inter-Provincial Conference he pressed upon the Government of the Dominion of Canada the absolute necessity of immediate action with the result that the Dominion Government appropriated $25,000,000 for this project, to be divided among the provinces according to population. Ontario's share was approximately $9,000,000, which with the 2,000,000 furnished by the province, would make a total of $11,000,000 for for construction of soldiers' and workmen's homes.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darken's Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage, brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of mussy.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation, or prevention of disease.

RELIGIOUS LIFE OF THE KOREANS

REV. D. A. MacDONALD DELIVERS INTERESTING ADDRESS AT ST. PAUL'S.

Rev. D. A. Macdonald, B.A., missionary to Korea, addressed three meetings in St. Paul's Church yesterday. In the morning he spoke on certain phases of the religious life of the Korean church. He said in part:

"In recent years there has been a great awakening up and down the Continent of Asia. In no nation has this awakening been more rapid or more remarkable than in Korea. Korea for a long time was known as the Hermit nation of the world. It was the last nation to open its doors to western influence and to Christianity. While a generation ago the first Presbyterian missionaries entered Korea, today there are 222 ordained, native pastors, 2 600 church buildings, 86,000 communicants, and more than 200,000 Christians.

Bible Study

The Korean Church has many distinctive characteristics.

From the beginning of missionary work great emphasis has been placed upon the systematic study of the Bible, and to-day the Korean Bible study classes are reported all over Christendom. People gather together from long distances and spend a week to a month in the systematic study under qualified teachers, of the Bible and religious subjects. Last year in Korea there were 3000 such classes of from four days upward attended by 82,000 people, all of whom attended these classes at their own expense.

It is a Moral Church

The morality of the Korean Church will compare favorably with the Canadian church. The Ten Commandments are taken seriously by the Korean. Matters of drinking, polygamy, sabbath breaking, and other vices are matters of strict discipline, in which it is the native pastor rather than the Foreign Missionary who is the most insistent.

The Korean Church aims at self support. It will not be long, we hope, before the Korean church, as regards not only money, but men and administrative ability, will be independent of the home church. During the past year the average giving of the Korean church was $2.00 per capita. This would represent at least $20.00 of our money value.

The Korean Church has already become a Missionary Church. It has followed its emigrants into Manchuria and Siberia. A native pastor has for several years been working among the Korean students in Tokio. But it is not only in Home Missions but in Foreign Missions that the Korean Church is enthusiastic.

Six years ago three Korean pastors were sent as Foreign Missionaries to the Province of Shantung in China, and already Churches have been established and a Christian community organized. These are supported entirely by native funds. And the Foreign Missionaries near this district speak in the highest terms of the work of the work of the Korean missionaries. This is probably the only instance in the history of Christendom since the first century when a first generation church has established a Foreign Mission movement.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN CONVENTION

MONSTER GATHERING OF WORKERS TO OPEN IN TORONTO TOMORROW.

Toronto, Feb. 10.—One of the largest convention held here since the international Sunday School Convention in 1905 will open in Toronto tomorrow. The gathering will consist of the Sunday School forces of the whole continent known as the Executive Committee of the International Sunday School Association. It will represent a constituency of 36,000,000 Sunday School members found found in 350,000 Sunday schools throughout the world, of which nearly 21,000,000 are in the provinces of Canada and in the United States. The International Committee number 100 men, whose names bulk large in the business, professional, social and religious life of the two countries.

The President of the International Sunday School Association is Dr. William Oxley Thompson, who has been President of the Ohio State University for more than twenty years and who is recognised as one of the leading educators in the United States.

Justice MacLaren, of this city, is a life member, being of the four living Past Presidents of the Association who have served since 1902.

The initial meeting will be held Tuesday morning, when Mr. William Hamilton, of Toronto, Chairman, will call the Board of Trustees to order for important considerations. This will be followed by a joint conference between the International and World's Committees, on the proposed fund of $20,000,000, to be raised for the organized Sunday school work, if the plans unfold.

FIREMEN ARE NOT LOOKING FOR AN EIGHT HOUR DAY

Such a Proposition Was Never Even Suggested by Local Department—Double Platoon System Explained.

For the benefit of the public it is desirable to give the following information relative to the operation of the Platoon System which will in all likelihood be adopted by the fire department in the near future.

The two platoon system means dividing the strength of the department into two shifts, one shift being on duty in the station constantly and the other shift allowed away from the station, but not off duty. They will be always in touch with the alarm system either by means of the small bell in their homes or by means of the large tower bell. Meal shifts will be done away with—the shift coming on duty will have their breakfast or supper as the case may be before coming on duty, bring one meal with them and have the third meal after they are relieved. The off platoon will be required to answer all alarms promptly, any failure to do so will meet with strict disciplinary measures on the part of the Chief of the Department. The night and day shifts will change at seven o'clock each morning and change from night to day duty every two weeks.

This will greatly strengthen the department for the following reasons:

The health and physical fitness of the men will be improved, because of not being required to live twenty-four hours a day in the fumes of gasoline and the smell of horse stables. The morale of the department will be improved. The man power of the department will be increased. If we take the present staff (16 men) as a standard of efficiency under the present system we have 2 men off duty regularly 3 hours per day per man for meals, and of an average for the whole force of 4 hours be lost through sickness and special leave we have the actual number of hours worked 284 or 74 per cent of the number, 384, required by the standard. Under two platoon with four men added we would have 10 men or 62 1-2 per cent on duty constantly and within a few minutes an additional 10 men when we would be 125 per cent efficient.

No Eight Hour Day

There has been absolutely no agitation for an eight hour day in the local department. The men ask only an opportunity to live, to some extent, as human beings. The position, even with two platoons, is not one of excessive liberty, the off duty platoon being always subject to the call of the bell.

The Underwriters' Association for years past have advocated the erection of three more fire stations in Peterboro and the forming of a salvage corp with four men, team and wagon and tarpaulins. All of these recommendations have been overlooked or ignored, but when a proposition that will benefit the men comes, there is a tendency to count a possible but highly improbable cost improbable in view of the fact that these other recommendations have not been adopted and there has been no raise in insurance rates.

The following Canadian cities now operate the platoon system: Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Saskatoon, Hamilton, Ottawa, Kingston, Guelph, Kitchener, St. Thomas and in a short time London.

Most of these cities are operating without the required man per thousand of population—notably Kingston with a population of 23,000 has 19 men and Toronto with a population of 490,000 has 452 men.

A proof of the efficiency of the system is to be found in the fact that Chief Kenlon of the New York Department heartily endorses it. He has more lives and property depending on his department than any other fire chief in the world. Chief Smith of Toronto endorses it, and at the International Convention of Fire Chiefs it was endorsed with only one dissenting voice.

The following letters were received by Chief Grange from the Underwriters and from Fire Marshal Heaton, in acknowledgment of receipt of his annual report. They speak for themselves.

From the Underwriters

Chief Grange,
Peterboro.

Dear Sir—

I am in receipt of your communication, enclosing copy of your second annual report of the fire department of the city of Peterboro, for which I am much obliged.

It is an excellent and very full report and I trust the council may see fit to act on the recommendations you make, which we consider are very suitable.

Yours truly,
(Signed) John A. Robertson,
Secretary

From the Fire Marshal

Chief Grange,
Peterboro.

Dear Chief:

We have received this morning a copy of your report to the council of your city. We have read it with much interest and thank you cordially for favoring us with a copy.

I have been particularly struck with two things in the report—the first is the rapidity with which you have been able to operate the new chemical and hose wagon and the instance you refer to of the ran to Box 59 and the dwelling close to it. I purpose using the illustration in the February number of the Public Service Bulletin. The second feature worthy of special note is your system of monthly inspection, and I am sure an account of this will make good reading in the Public Service Bulletin also.

I will say frankly that my object in making reference to these matters is to strengthen your hands in your request for additional equipment: I hope the council of this year will accept your recommendations and carry them out, for in a growing city like Peterborough where there are plants of immense value ample protection is necessary.

I congratulate you upon the excellence of your report, and upon your activity in fire prevention, and you may be assured that if we can aid you in any way in your work we shall be only too glad to do so.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) E. P. Heaton,
Fire Marshal.

Acting Sergeant Deenard was upon the recommendation of Chief Thompson promoted to the rank of full sergeant.

Husband Alleges Deception.

A California man testifies in the divorce suit that when he was courting his wife she always met him at the front door with a kitchen apron on leading him to believe she was domestic in her taste and after he married he learned to his dismay that she had never even learned how to boil an egg, and that she gave him the alternative of boarding or clearing out.—Houston Post.

Tom Thumb.

Charles Sherwood Stratton (Tom Thumb) was born at Bridgeport, Conn., in 1838. He was exhibited by P. T. Barnum in various parts of the world. He married in 1863 Mercy Lavinia Bump (Lavinia Warren) also a dwarf. When first exhibited Tom Thumb was only about two feet high, but he grew to a height of 40 inches. He died at Middleborough, Mass., in 1883.

Alaskan Coast Forests.

The coast forests of southern and southeastern Alaska are included in the national forests of Tongass and Chugach, which comprise over 20,000,000 acres, a large proportion of which is covered with trees. Of these Sitka spruce averages about 20 per cent and western hemlock about 75 per cent.

Chief Thompson submitted his annual report, which will be published in tomorrow's issue of this paper.

C.P.R. PURCHASES FAMOUS SITE

PLACE WHERE EVANGELINE WAS BORN TO BE MADE A PARK.

Montreal, Feb 10.—The Canadian Pacific Railway has purchased the site of Evangeline's home at Grandpre, N.S., and will maintain it as a public park. A statue of Evangeline being sculptured by Phillippe Hebert at the time of his death will be completed by his son and will be erected on the land. The story of Evangeline has been immortalized by Longfellow in the poem of that name. Upon the site purchased by the Canadian Pacific remain the well and willows referred to in the poem. The park is within a stone's throw of the birthplace of Sir Robert Borden, Premier of Canada.

SUGAR IN INDIA.

Something About the Crops In That Mighty Country.

Since the opening of the war the imports of sugar into British India have decreased some 400,000 tons, presumably freeing that amount of eastern sugar for the use of the western world. As this decrease is not due to decreased consumption owing to high war prices, but to increased home production stimulated by higher prices, the release is substantial.

The peculiar thing about India is that, whereas it is the second largest sugar producing region on the globe, its production is insufficient even for home requirements. There are 300,000,000 persons in India, and roughly there is an acre of cane and a ton of sugar for every 100 inhabitants of the Empire. This gives each inhabitant about 22 pounds of sugar per annum, which is not enough, so Javan sugars have been drawn upon to make up the deficiency.

The increase in production has been about 1,000,000 tons, of which 500,000 tons were attained in the last crop finished in March, 1918. Since that date Java sugar has continued to go to India in normal quantity, but as shown by H. C. Prinsen Geerligs in the International Sugar Journal, the movement of these sugars inland from Indian ports has been very slow.

As a result of the war, he says, India has increased its import duty on sugar from 5 to 10 per cent. ad valorem. This, combined with scanty arrivals from Java due to lack of ships, had advanced the price of home-grown India sugar to a point which induced the native sugar planters to increase their sugar output.

"For a number of years," he continues, "the Indian Government had taken measures to improve the cane cultivation and sugar manufacture by establishing experiment stations and farms, by introducing new cane varieties, and better mills and evaporating apparatus, in order to try and increase the production of sugar per unit of area. These efforts had on the whole been successful, but the conservative native planters had up to now not shown much interest in the matter. In these days of high sugar prices, however, they see how great the advantages of a better crop may be to them and how they profit by all the work which has been done for their benefit over whole series of years. The consequence is that a large part of the interior of India can get on very well without supplies from overseas and that the supplies lying at the Indian ports have remained to a large extent intact."

The sowings for the crop just opening were estimated by the India Trade Journal of August 23 as 2,550,000 acres against 2,552,000 acres for the last crop, which outturned 3,229,000 tons.

However, growing conditions have not been quite so favorable this year as last, and a smaller outturn is probable.

Seasonal conditions at sowing time were, according to the Journal, not quite favorable in the important cane-growing provinces, and owing to the holding off of the rains the prospects of the crop are still uncertain in the greater part of the United Provinces. Rain is badly wanted in the Punjab. Elsewhere prospects are generally good.

Are Your Children Bores?

The children of the house should not be allowed to monopolize a guest's attention. Mothers are usually blind to their children's faults, as less loving eyes see them, and they fail to understand that a guest's apparent delight in playing with the youngsters is often no more than politeness, and in reality he is bored and very tired of "playing bear," telling fairy stories and examining favorite toys and books.

Going Ahead Too Fast.

The young detective was enthusiastic but inexperienced. Rushing into his chief's office in great excitement he cried: "I've found the assassin! I've got him cornered so that he can't escape!" The chief regarded him with withering scorn. "Allow me," he said, "to draw your attention to the fact that at present we are looking—not for the assassin, but for clues."—Judge.

Water Hyacinth Has Value.

The water hyacinth, which so rapidly fills up certain streams, is found to have a high value as a fertilizer. On account of the large amount of water the green plant contains the material is partially dried before stacking and after becoming well rotted it proves to have about the same composition as farmyard manure, except that it is richer in potash.

Yes, I Intend To But Not Now

Have YOU any idea what that decision is costing you—even if you live? Of course, if you die the cost is much GREATER.

Read the following facts and then decide for yourself:

The premium you would pay for $1000 of insurance at age 60 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $4000 of insurance at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 50 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $2500 at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 35 WOULD BUY YOU $1440 at age 21.

Besides, while you may be insurable at age 21 you may not be insurable AT ANY PRICE at the other ages mentioned.

The one great fate that touches our lives is the verdict of NOW.

VICTORIA WILL SPEND THREE MILLS ON DOLLAR

For the Building of Good Roads in County —This Means a Government Grant of $20,000 to Lindsay.

Lindsay, Feb. 10.—At a meeting of the County Good Roads Board considerable business of importance to town and County was transacted.

Ontario County Council wished to know at what points the Victoria County good roads reached their County.

Clerk McNeillie replied by letter that there were three lines of road leading to the Ontario County roads. Ontario good roads will reach Seagrave, leaving some three miles of roadway not connected.

The opinion was expressed that the two Councils should meet and discuss the question.

Mariposa, Woodville and Eldon representatives thought that the boundary line road between Ontario and Victoria, along Brock township through Manilla to Woodville should be a County road.

Reeve Wilson of Emily said there should be a connecting link at the shortest possible route.

On motion the Committee decided to invite members from Ontario Co. to talk the matter over re a connecting link.

Road Cut Out.

Ex-Warden Hawkins, and Reeves McIntyre and McFadyen expressed the hope that the Provincial good roads should be built north from Balsover and through the Portage Road, as at first proposed and adopted. This road was recently struck out in order to cut down the mileage in Victoria County.

The question will probably come up again at the June session.

Telephones on Road.

In regard to the department and the statutes demanding 60 feet roadways, Reeve Tompkins stated that on some roadways not only fences will have to be moved, but also telephone poles and lines.

Question of Survey.

Supt. Martindale: "It is a question as to who will establish the line of survey—the township or the landowners?"

The clerk will communicate with the Department in regard to narrow forced roads in the County which are designated as County roads, and asked for special legislation regarding these roads being brought under the Surveys Act.

On motion it was decided to spend 3 mills on the dollar on good roads. It is understood that providing the Provincial War Tax is removed 3 mills will be levied.

SAYS CANADIANS ARE IN PLOT AGAINST NEW YORK

Delegation From That City Protest to Congress Against Clause For St. Lawrence Waterway.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The life of New York as America's leading export port is menaced by the pending rivers and harbors bill, according to the statement of the New York delegation to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

The delegation charges that a plot exists between shrewd Canadians and representatives of four Western states who desire to see their lake ports get ocean going ships, to seize the trade of New York and New England.

"Shall the St. Lawrence River, with Great Britain controlling its mouth, become the American Dardanelles?" asked the delegation.

They declared it would if an amendment to the rivers and harbors bill now before the Senate becomes a law. The amendment provides that a joint commission of American and Canadian Government representatives be appointed to determine the cost of providing an ocean waterway from Lake Erie to the sea by way of the St. Lawrence.

"If this project is adopted," said former State Senator Hill, spokesman of the New York delegation, "it would mean that 18,000,000 tons of commerce annual would be diverted from its natural American route to the Canadian route.

"It would ruin New York. All the vast supplies of grain which come from Duluth and other lake ports would be sent to Europe by way of the St. Lawrence River and New York as an export port might just as well close up shop."

Co-ordination of railways and waterways and the overcoming of traffic obstacles incident to rehandling of freight will have the hearty support of the Railroad Administration. Director General Hines told the Congress. He said the Railroad Administration already was working out plans to bring this situation about and pointed out that as long as a waterway had no rail feeders to bring traffic to it, which situation existed under the old form of private management, full economic benefit could not result.

Rail systems should be linked together with all of the important waterways and, therefore, the water-ways problem had an important bearing on the period of Government control of the railroads. Mr. Hines outlined the five-year plan of Government control, which he and former Director General McAdoo presented to Congress.

Algerian Flour Mills.

Algeria possesses some 70 or 80 flour mills, scattered throughout the three departments of Algiers, Constantine and Oran. These mills have a total of 6,000 horsepower, employ between 1,000 and 1,200 workmen, and handle daily about 1,500 metric tons of hard and soft wheat, or approximately 400,000 metric tons per annum. There are also a large number of small, primitive establishments in Algeria, which tend to disappear in competition with modern equipment.

MODERN SURGERY.

Some Wonderful Achievements In the Battle Zones.

Modern surgery dates from the introduction of anaesthetics. It is not easy nowadays to realize the horrors of hospital practice, when every movement of the surgeon's knife severed the patient's soul as well as his body. Prof. George Wilson, the second patient on whom the famous Syme performed his operation of amputation at the ankle-joint (first carried out in 1842), has left on record his emotions during the ordeal.

"During the "operation," wrote Wilson "I watched all the surgeons did with a fascinated curiosity. Of the agony it occasioned I will say nothing. Suffering so great as I underwent cannot be expressed in words, and thus, fortunately, cannot be recalled. The particular pangs are now forgotten; but the black whirlwind of emotion, the horror of great darkness, and the sense of desertion by God and man, bordering close on despair, which swept through my mind and overwhelmed my heart, I can never forget, however gladly I would do so."

Time was torture then, and the long, deliberate operations of to-day were impracticable.

If the hospital was a torture-chamber then, the battlefield was an inferno. The visitor to the scene of a great action (so we are told by one who went over the stricken field of Solferino) had an illusion of being on the seashore; the miserable cries of the wounded resembled the rhythmic clamor of waves; there was a salt tang in the air from the blood that had been poured out. The progress of the surgeons, always far too few, was marked by the breaking out here and there of dismal wailing. War has been purged of half its horror by the invention of anaesthetics and of more than half its destructiveness of life by the aseptic technique which prevents infection, and has put an end to the "hospital diseases" that so puzzled the pre-Listerian practitioners — some of them actually proposed the periodical destruction of hospital buildings as a heroic remedy.

To-day the surgeon can carry out the most complicated example of "reconstructive surgery" with the deliberate carefulness of a chess-player, and he can be sure that the wounds will heal healthily without matter forming to destroy his artistic handiwork. And the present war has so vastly increased his opportunities and experience that he can now accomplish feats of physical reconstruction that were utterly undreamed of in peace time. Nobody who knows the progress made by surgery on every scientific front in the last four years is likely to challenge the saying of a famous military surgeon: "There is something to be said for a great war, after all. A century of peace-time practice could hardly have told us what we now know—and our new knowledge may in the end enable us to save more lives than the war has cost us!"

The transplanting of skin, flesh and bone—often contributed by others—is the new method which most amazes the lay mind. In one military hospital there is a patient whose defects have been made good by bone borrowed from three comrades. The repair of shattered and dehumanized faces is another crowd-compelling wonder. But the making of new joints, the repairing and re-education of nerves, and, above all, the new idea of a useful stump, though less easily explained, are even more wonderful. The last-named advance, which is mainly due to the Italian surgeons, is nothing less than a revolution in amputation. It is no longer a question of preserving a mere stump—every bit of muscle and sinew which can be kept is now utilized as motive powers for the movable parts of wonderfully designed artificial limbs. As a wounded soldier told me the other day: "Why, I can feel and think down this new leg of mine!"—Illustrated London News.

One's Personal Influence.

Every one casts a shadow. There hangs about us a sort of penumbra—a strange, indefinable something—which we call personal influence, which has its effect on every other life on which it falls. It goes with us wherever we go. It is not something we can have when we will; we no more can be a gentleman. It is like something that always pours out from our life, like light from a lamp, like heat from a flame, like perfume from a flower.

TO MAKE CHICKENS LAY

To Make the Stock Pay Feed Concentrates.

Roughage and Roots Give Bulk to the Ration, But Production Depends Upon the Grains, Mill-feeds and Oilcakes.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

MANY people forget that a hen requires feeds other than grain in order to be in good health and to lay.

All-grain rations are neither conducive to health or egg production. At times when hens have the run of the stables and the yards, together with house scraps, they do very well, owing to the fact that an opportunity is given them to pick up bits of clover leaves, roots, and such like material.

A certain amount of meat foods is essential in order to produce the white of the eggs. Too much of such feed is apt to cause trouble with the general digestion of the bird.

Milk as a drink, is, without doubt, the best animal feed known. It gives the best results when sour. When birds are accustomed to it they will not take too much.

Beef scrap and high grade tankage are used very extensively on large poultry plants where milk is not available. These are mixed with ground grain, generally in the proportion of fifteen to twenty per cent. For the general purpose breeds the former amount is sufficient. Breeds such as Leghorns will make good use of twenty per cent. of meat scrap in the ration.

Cooked butchers' meat, green cut bone, cooked beef head, lungs, liver, etc., are all very good feeds and may be fed in a manner similar to meat scrap.

Some people think that because a little of meat feeds are good, more would be better. Experience has shown that such is not the case. Too much often causes serious trouble.

Green feeds are essential for health and for economy. A hen should have all the green feed she will consume. A certain amount of bulky, succulent green feed she will consume. Such feed is usually fairly inexpensive. Where birds are not fed any green feed, in the course of time they become unthrifty, lay poorly and moreover, the eggs from such birds many times are very low in hatching power.

Experience has shown that oats when properly sprouted are a most excellent feed. The hens are very fond of them and the value of the oats as a feed is good. That is, the sprouted oats reduce the grain feed consumption equal to the pounds of oats sprouted and one gains the increased palatability of the oats, as well as the value from the greens.

Thin-leafed greens contain one of the very important elements of growth and health. They are called nature's protective feeds; that is they assist to maintain the birds' health or normal resistance against disease. Health is an essential to profit. In winter we find such feed in sprouted oats, cabbage, and clover leaves.—Prof. R. W. Grandin, O. A. College, Guelph.

Value of Concentrates In Ration.

A cattle feed is valuable to the extent it contains those substances which will repair body tissue, build new tissue and furnish energy to do work. The particular materials in a food which have this power are protein, the flesh-forming substance, carbohydrates and fat, the fat and energy producers and the mineral matter which has a great many functions in the body.

Any feed that carries a high percentage of protein and fat and a large amount of a digestible form of the carbohydrates is called a concentrated feed or a concentrate. Thus grains, mill feeds and oil cakes are concentrates. On the other hand, a feed low in these valuable constituents and high in indigestible carbohydrates, or crude fibre, as, for instance, straw, hay, corn stalks, are called roughage or bulky feeds. Roots may also be put in this class because they contain a very high percentage of water and they are for this reason bulky.

These bulky feeds have their place in the ration, indeed in the case of full-grown animals on maintenance ration, they may form the whole of the food; but it is impossible for a young animal to make rapid growth, a cow to give a large amount of milk or a horse to work hard on such feed. The hard woody fibre of the straw and hay are difficult to digest and much of the energy that should go to production of work or increase is used up in digesting the food. Consequently when production is desired the amount of roughage feed must be reduced and the concentrates increased.

Another reason why concentrates must be used is that to get the largest production we must have the animal digest and absorb the maximum amount of the various constituents which together form a food. A cow cannot long continue to furnish a large amount of casein in milk unless it gets the material from which to form it from the food. Neither can a steer make rapid growth and fatten on a food that does not furnish a large amount of the food constituents essential for growth. These cannot be supplied in the largest and best quantities except by the use of the concentrates. The coarser foods or roughage are necessary to give bulk to the ration, but there must be an abundance of easily-digestible materials if the best results are to be obtained and this is the place of concentrates in the ration. We want some coarse feeds, even if they are poorly digested, but we also want these concentrates to supply the materials for growth and production. Furthermore within certain limits a more of the concentrates is the more the production.—Prof. R. Harcourt, O. A. College, Guelph.

Evangeline Returns to Grand Pre

(1) Evangeline's Well.
(2) Philippe Hebert's Statue of Evangeline.

WHAT lover of poetry has not dreamed of visiting the places made immortal in song? And what song has roused this longing more intensely than the story of the gentle Acadians and their Great Banishment? Many have realized this ambition for Nova Scotia is easy to reach and each succeeding summer sees more hundreds making the pilgrimage to "The Acadian land, on the shores of the Basin of Minas, Distant, secluded, still, the little village of Grand Pre."

There they find the meadows, dikes and orchards of which Longfellow sang, and they try to retrace the action of the poem by using as a guide the still remaining well which the poet described as

"Farther down, on the slope of the hill, was the well with its moss-grown Bucket, fastened with iron, and near it a trough for the horses."

The piece of ground at Grand Pré on which is the well of Evangeline, together with the old willows, has been bought by the Canadian Pacific for the purpose of preserving it for posterity.

Before he died last year, Philippe Hebert, the greatest of French-Canadian sculptors, was engaged on a statue representing Evangeline leaving the land of her childhood and looking back in sorrow.

Philippe Hebert was himself an Acadian and, although a perfectly happy exile in Montreal, entered into the spirit of the poem as no other sculptor could. The model of his statue has been purchased by the Canadian Pacific who have commissioned Philippe's son, Henri Hebert, also a distinguished sculptor, to complete it. The figure in bronze to be erected beside the famous well.

Thus will be added one more attraction to a land full of attractions for artists, devotees of romance and matter-of-fact sportsmen. The artists find an inexhaustible supply of subjects ranging from picturesque long vistas of apple blossoms to unusual but picturesque fisherfolk; the romantically inclined find a land of legends and sleepy beauty; the sportsman find fishing and hunting such as is seldom equalled and never excelled.

Story of Great Cruelty

Of the Turkish Soldiers To British Taken at Kut

THE report on the treatment of the British prisoners of war by Turkey relates in detail the experiences and vicissitudes undergone by the Sixth Division. This division, under Gen. Townshend, was besieged in Kut-el-Amara from December 4, 1915, and, reduced by starvation, surrendered on April 29, 1916. The whole force was by that time naturally very much weakened by long privation. About 1,100 of the worst cases—British and Indian—with four officers, were sent down the Tigris for repatriation forthwith. They alone escaped the experience of becoming — as Enver Pasha presently expressed it to those who remained—"the honored guests of the Turkish Government."

The entry of the Turkish forces into Kut took place in the morning. Within a very short time they were busily thieving, assisted by the Arabs of the town. The kits of both officers and men were systematically rifled, especially for boots and water bottles. Stray looters made their way into the hospitals and seized what attracted them. Some of their officers made unsuccessful attempts to stop them; others were as bad as the men. One held up the officers of a British unit with a revolver and collected their watches and money; many others were seen carrying British swords and field glasses. This went on until nightfall, when the disarmed prisoners had to organize a guard for their own protection, as best they might.

During the night and the following day the greater part of the British force, officers and men, was marched about eight miles up the river to Shamran, where they were to encamp until they could be sent on to Bagdad. They found no preparations for them whatever at Shamran, only a bare piece of the desert ringed by Turkish sentries. Here for a week the men lay about unsheltered in sun and rain. For two days no rations were issued by the Turks; there was nothing to eat but some dates and black bread which Arab soldiers peddled among the men in exchange for boots and clothing, thus bringing their destitution a stage further; the Turks also plied a traffic in their dry and stony ration biscuits. It was, in short, very soon clear—and at the time this came as a surprise—that the Turks had neither the power nor the will to protect the lives of the prisoners they had taken.

Their state of chronic confusion in all matters of supply and transport was a familiar story before long; all necessities had to be demanded and redemanded, argued about, insisted on, and more especially waited for. But over and above all this there appeared one sign after another that the help which the British officers themselves could give was to be hampered and largely rejected. On May 6 when the column of prisoners was to set out on the 100-mile march to Bagdad, these officers learned to their consternation that they were to be separated from their men; by this time they well understood what the consequences would be. They did what they could by urging upon the Turkish commandant the men's condition, by stipulating that they should not be required to come more than eight miles a day, and by setting aside the large number who were unfit to make the journey at all except by boat. This number was much reduced, but the limit of the day's march was expressly agreed to. Thus the officers had to leave the men with whom they had shared the long hardships of the siege, and for all it was a deeply trying moment. They recorded how great was the contrast, even in the wretchedness of the camp at Shamran, between the men's disciplined bearing, and that of the Turkish soldiers around.

It was arranged that the officers and the absolutely unfit should be sent to Bagdad by river, and on May 9 and May 11 they embarked in two heavily-loaded boats. Everyone was gradually relieved of more and more of his possessions. On the day of the surrender a generous weight of kit allowance had been granted to each officer; this was reduced by successive stages, from 200 pounds to 100, and later again to 30, and at each reduction the surplus disappeared, to be seen no more. The river journey was long and crowded, particularly for one of the boats, which was stranded for several days through shortage of fuel.

The Turkish commandant had kept his promise about the length of the day's march for one day. On the second the men were made to march 18 miles, and afterward 12 to 15 miles daily, lying at night on the open ground. They were herded like sheep by mounted Arab troopers, who freely used sticks and whips to flog forward the stragglers. Food was very short, the heat was intense, the clouds of dust perpetual, and a great number of the men had now neither boots nor water bottles. Their escort stripped them still further; by the time of their arrival at Bagdad most of the Arab guard were dressed in odds and ends of British uniforms, stolen during the march. There was little or no control by the Turkish officers, who usually rode at the head of the column. So, after nine days' march, the column arrived at Bagdad on May 15, and were marched for three or four hours through crowded streets before being taken to the place where they were to encamp.

Meanwhile, the boatload of officers had already reached the city, and had likewise been exhibited to the crowd, which received them in undemonstrative silence.

There remains to be told what had happened to the main mass of the prisoners, those who had been judged capable of the journey up country and across the Syrian desert to Asia Minor. Week after week, through June and July, parties of them had left Bagdad, following the route already taken by their officers. They had been seen leaving the city camp and crowded into the railway trucks which were to take them as far as Samarra, the railhead (as it then was) some 70 miles up the river. From there they would go afoot. Their state of preparation for a march of 500 miles can be pictured from what has been described already; and the efficiency of the Oriental care to which they were entrusted is as easily imagined. The officers who were left in Bagdad, and who watched them depart, could only feel the deepest anxiety.

The truth of what happened has only very gradually become known, and in all its details it will never be known. If it is urged that Turkish powers of organization and forethought were utterly incapable of handling such a problem as the transport of these prisoners, the plea is sound enough as an explanation; as an excuse it is nothing. It begins to be evident how it come about that of the men who surrendered at Kut, more than 3,000, British and Indian, have never been heard of at all.

Army Pigeon ...

One of the many uses to which London motor buses are put in France is as a home for pigeons. The outside of the omnibus is roofed in to form a cage, while the men occupy the inside—or rather, three-quarters of the inside, because the front part is also part of the cage, which is entered by a door from the men's room, and also by a door at the top of the back staircase.

There is an opening in the front of the cage cleverly arranged to let the birds enter when they return from their flights, but not to let them escape when they are inside. A board is deftly poised just inside the opening, so that when a bird steps on it an electric bell rings inside the omnibus to tell the men that a pigeon has come home.

The pigeons are taken out in baskets to the trenches to bring messages back in case the wire communications should be cut by the enemy's fire. If not wanted for this purpose they are sent flying back after twenty-four hours with a message, just for practice.

As soon as the bird arrives at the loft a man creeps into the cage, catches it, reads the message, writes it down in duplicate, and sends an orderly at once with a copy to the signal officer, whence it is sent much like an ordinary telegram to its destination. Birds are always sent in couples, each with the same message, in case one should be shot by the enemy.—Tit-Bits.

BIG SHAKE UP IN FIRST BASEMEN IN OLD LEAGUE

Many of the Stars at Initial Corners in National Are Expected to Change Berths

By the time the opening of the baseball season rolls around a general shake up in the ranks of the National league first basemen will have been effected. The transfer of Jake Daubert from Brooklyn to Cincinnati is only the first of a series of expected moves which will affect a number of famous first sackers in the senior major league.

Just who will replace Daubert at the initial corner for the Robins is not quite clear. Clarence Mitchell, now in Germany with the army of occupation, is a remarkable fielder around first base and a sharp and dependable hitter, so that Mitchell may be the first choice of Uncle Wilbert Robinson if through the fortunes of war he is permitted to return to this country in time for the opening of the season. Daubert will, of course, guard the first sack for the Reds, replacing Hal Chase.

Mention of Chase leads to further speculation concerning the immediate future of that brilliant and highly interesting young man. It is expected that he will go to the Giants. Recent utterance of John McGraw indicate it appear that Holke is regarded by him in a more favorable light than he was a few months ago, and if Chase should be rendered ineligible the Giant leader probably will fall back on Walter for the first base job. However, if Chase is obtained, it stands to reason that Holke will be sold or traded to another club, and there is at least one, and possibly two, outfits which can likely to bid for his services.

One of these is Philadelphia, the other is Boston. In Philadelphia doubt is being cast by a number of critics on the ability of Fred Luderus to hold down his old berth in regular, league style in future. Fred, though always a valuable man, has never been very fast afoot and he has slowed down to an appreciable extent in the last year or two. It is reported in the Quaker City that Jack Coombs is on the lookout for a younger and spryer man to replace Fred, and Jack may make an effort to ensnare Holke, who, under favorable conditions, is more than just passing fair as a first baseman.

Ed Konetchy is no longer the first sacker that he was in days gone by, and it may be that George Stallings, who must reconstruct his team along broad lines in order to put the Braves back on a solid basis with Boston fandom, will make an offer for Holke if McGraw decides to put Walter on the market.

Fred Merkle who, like Luderus and Koney, also is slowing up, had a good year in 1918 and is still well thought of in Chicago, so that Fred Mitchell is anxious to have him at his usual post for the coming season, and Gene Paulette is quite certain to play first base again for the Cardinals, but the only "doortender" in the league who has a copper riveted hold on his job is Fred Mollwitz of the Pirates.

Mollwitz, after trials in Cincinnati and Chicago, followed by a term in the minors, has made good with a vengeance in Pittsburg, and the Smoky City fans are strong for him. There is little to wonder at in Mollwitz's popularity in that city, as he is the first good man to fill the position for the Corsair since Kitty Bransfield's day.

When Sullivan Won The Championship

Thirty-seven years ago there was fought the "Battle of Mississippi City," one of the most spectacular contests in the history of the pugilistic ring. Paddy Ryan and John L. Sullivan were the men who faced each other on that bright morning, in a ring pitched on the turf within two-score yards of the Gulf of Mexico, and surrounded by a widely excited crowd of about 2000 sports.

Ryan was two inches taller than Sullivan and had the advantage of nine pounds in weight. After a squabble over the selection of a referee, Alex Brewster and Jack Hardy were chosen to act jointly. The betting was at even money, and thousands of dollars depended on the outcome.

In the first round Sullivan whipped over his right and sent Paddy sprawling to the ground. In the second Sullivan drew first blood, and his backers cheered like a bunch of wild Indians. The next few rounds were slugging matches, with honors even, but it was plain to see that the champion had gained a lot of respect for John L. In the fifth round Sullivan assumed a ferocious look such as he often put on to frighten his antagonist, and went into Ryan as if he intended to slay or be slain. The scheme worked, and Paddy was plainly alarmed. They went to a clinch, and Sullivan sent his opponent hurling with a cross-buttock. In the sixth both were panting for breath and Ryan was shaky on his pins. In the eighth, after an exchange of hard punches, John L. put one over that lifted Ryan high off his feet and sent him to earth all but finished. He managed to get up, but when the ninth began it was evident that unless a miracle happened Ryan would have to write "ex" in front of his title. No miracle presented itself, for in the ninth Sullivan sent a tremendous blow crashing against Paddy's ear, and the champion crumpled up like a punctured toy balloon. After eleven minutes and seven seconds of actual fighting, John L. Sullivan was the heavyweight champion of the world.

Lindsay Boasts Of Hockey Prowess

Naturally Lindsay feels elated over the result of the hockey game Friday night and the Post of that town chortles gleefully as follows:

Lindsay 17, Peterboro 2 — who among the visitors will break the sad news at home? It wouldn't be believed over the wires, we imagine.

Determination, confidence and clean scrapping won the greatest war the world ever knew. Could a hockey game be applied to this axiom?

Lindsay might have been strange on the large ice sheet at Peterboro, but Oh, Boy! who were the strangers up here last night. After all, the good team, is the team that can win on any ice, large, small, keen or soft.

Bitter was the cup, bitterer was the pain. After a loss of six piled high. Their loss is Lindsay's gain.

After all, the small cities are forced to admit that "small town stuff" is good stuff.

Hats off to Manager Martin and Trainer Alf. Gamble, who, in the darkest moments, encouraged the boys, and stayed behind them until their efforts have culminated in a triumph. Now we know why they were so interested. They know the goods was there, and would be promptly delivered last night.

Who were the stars on the Lindsay team? All stars, every man who wore blue and white was a hero, bar none.

Frost and McWilliams delivered the goods for Peterboro.

Referee Lou Marsh handled the bell with good judgement.

No trouble arose out of the game, and no fistic exhibitions were featured.

Here's to Lindsay, may they go far. Congratulations Peterboro, you waged a strenuous war.

After the game, one Lindsay fan asked where a certain Peterboro official was. He wished to see him, being an old acquaintance of his. The wag's answer was, "Sitting down on the Lindsay street bridge, looking at the water."

TWO LOCAL RINKS FOR THE TORONTO SEMI-FINALS

R. Hicks and Wm. Lang the Skips Whose Teams Will Compete for the Big Honors

Messrs. W. H. Taylor and G. Copping are the skips whose rinks are in at the finals of the Vice-Skips' bonspiel as a result of the last game of the semi-finals on Saturday night, when Skip Taylor's rink won out over that of Skip Brownscombe after a closely contested match in which the ultimate winners were two down coming home, but won out by one shot, and Skip Taylor had another stone to play, had it been necessary.

Tonight on the local train the two rinks who were victorious in the district tankard contest go to Toronto for the semi-final games, which will commence there at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. They are composed of the following members of the club:

L. Bowes, W. H. Taylor, A. Kay, R. Hicks (skip).

A. L. Hall, R. C. Sturgeon, R. M. Waddell, Wm. Lang (skip).

On Thursday it is expected that the rinks which won the District Cup will go to Toronto to play off the finals in that series. They are:

H. Hare, J. H. Metheral, P. D. Fitzgerald, J. W. McDermid (skip).

R. L. Dobbin, A. W. Archibald, W. D. Campbell, R. P. Best (skip).

Tonight at the local curling rink the draw will be made in the big bonspiel which is to be played here this week and which will commence tomorrow morning. Clubs from the district far and wide are entered in this competition, and the Brock street rink is to be used as well as the regular one on Charlotte street.

Peterborough will be handicapped in this contest on account of having four of the best rinks of the club absent in Toronto playing in the tankard and district cup competitions. The games will continue for several days, as this is the biggest curling event of the season so far as Peterborough is concerned.

HAMILTON LOST GAME TO DENTALS

DEFENSE PLAYER SHOWS SENSATIONAL FORM—ATTENDANCE RECORD BROKEN

Before 7,573 spectators, Dentals on Saturday night humbled the mighty Tigers by the score of 4 to 2. The victory places the locals on even terms with the Yellow and Black and play-off games will be necessary to decide the group title. Judging by past performances of the teams it is a toss-up which will win the honors and the fans appear to be equally divided on the question.

The crowd was the largest that ever attended a hockey game in this city, there being 7,473 paid admissions and at least 100 who were there in other capacities. Despite the fact that the attendance record was broken, no one was turned away and it is just possible that Saturday night's figures will be bettered before the present season ends.

The game proved one of the most exciting ever seen here, and the result was in doubt until the last six minutes of play. Both teams cut out a terrific pace from the face-off and kept it up almost continuously to the bitter end. The players appeared to be right on edge and gave everything they had in their efforts to bring victory to their teams. The checking was so close that combination play suffered. "Bill" Box, who performed in grand style from beginning to end, repeatedly carried the puck past the Hamilton defense but his passes to the goal mouth were always intercepted by the ever-watchful Matte.

The lineup:

Dentals—Goal, Stewart; defense, Box and Brown; wings, Smylie and McCaffery; centre, Hudson. Subs—Smith and Rennie.

Hamilton—Goal, Rheaume; defense, Reise and Matte; wings, McCarthy and Green; centre, Roach. Subs—Dilleen and Cooper.

Referee—S. Vair. Judge of Play—R. Newtson.

India Tea Chests.

The total number of tea chests required for the Indian tea crop is between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000. The timber required for tea chests is of a very special kind. It must contain no sap that would corrode the tea lead in which the tea is packed, must be free from any odor, as tea will absorb this up readily, and must be well-dry seasoned, as the tea is usually hot when packed, and unseasoned wood will warp. Himalayan [illegible] suitable timber [illegible] is a large question.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

The Young Women's Christian Association membership campaign is drawing near the end. All returns should be handed in by the captains to the office staff by Wednesday, the 11th, in order to be counted in the results. Those who would become members of the association and have not been canvassed are urged to leave their names at the office. Following are the membership privileges:

Membership in the association is necessary before joining any of the classes. In case of removal to another city, membership is transferable, and serves as an introduction and a safeguard to the girl who is a stranger in the city to which she goes. Members are privileged to use the library and reading room at all times and the gymnasium for recreation and basketball on certain evenings. Membership admits to parties, entertainments, mass meetings and the social life of the association, and entitles to enrolment in Bible study classes and dramatic clubs, and also in the Chautauqua reading course. Membership in a club entitles to the use of club rooms for games, meetings and practices. Your membership helps the association to be a more attractive place for other girls because of your interest in it, and offers you opportunities for service in helping other girls and in maintaining the ideals of the Association. 29 NEW MEMBERS

Were Received Yesterday Into George Street Methodist Church

At the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to a large congregation and twenty nine persons were received into the church membership. The pastor's theme was "A house to let" and was based upon the words of Jesus in Matt. 12 : 43-45. It was an exhortation to attain to a goodness which is not simply negative but also positive. The speaker declared that the elements which should be put into life are, a humble acceptance of Jesus Christ, a practice of religious habits, a practical expression of kindness and an investment of our powers for the fulfilment of the divine ideal.

The music of the evening was of a fine order. Mr. Harold Jones and Miss Rathbone rendering a duett which was very much appreciated.

Four Children Perish in Fire

Sudbury, Feb. 10.—Four children of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Legault, a French-Canadian family of Sudbury, were burned to death in their beds when the family home was destroyed. Eight others escaped in their night attire, some of them from upstairs windows.

It was a large frame structure, and had apparently been burning some time before the first occupant awakened. The house is on the outskirts of the town, remote from fire-box or telephone. The funerals of the four children took place today. Civic relief has been extended. An inquest is being held.

The Turkish Government has arrested about 40 members of the Union of Progress party, who are charged with profiteering and massacre of Armenians.

Malt Sand Drifts With Grass Tufts.

Sand is used for railroad embankments in many parts of Holland, but much repair to the roadbed was made necessary by the fact that the freshly piled sand drifted during the high winds. To prevent this, tufts of coarse grass have been planted along the slopes, and as the roots spread, a well-sodded bank is formed.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"Daddy."

A teamster was heard addressing his hard working horse with "Giddap, Daddy!" and to us it occurred that "Daddy" is a mighty good name for a work-horse, most daddies being under a steady drive all the time.—Chicago Daily News.

Principal Geyser Regions.

Geysers occur in most volcanic regions; most notable specimens are in Yellowstone region of Rocky mountains, New Zealand, Tibet, the Azores and in southwestern Iceland.

Native Music At Grand Opera

"A NIGHT IN HONOLULU," CHARMING PICTURE OF HAWAIIAN LIFE.

"A Night in Honolulu" at The Grand on Saturday night drew a large attendance. The setting was in the Hawaiian Islands, and in the play pathos and comedy were blended with the latter characteristic predominating.

Mr. Ray Simmons as "Bubble" played the part of the light hearted young man just out from America, whose effervescent spirits led him into many ridiculous situations and drew upon him the reproof of his elder brother, the staid owner of the Wilkar Sugar Company.

The other members of the company took their parts well, and there were the usual complications as regarded the love affairs of Bubble, his brother and the sugar company manager. As usual with every pleasing story or play, the tangles were straightened out in the end and they all lived happily ever after.

There were four native Hawaiians who sang, danced, and played upon the ukulele the peculiar sweet and weird music for which the island musicians are noted.

Tonight at The Grand there is a special picture program of twelve reels. Mae Murray in "Modern Love" is one of the features. On Tuesday and Wednesday a popular play, "A Little Mother," will be the attraction. This afternoon the performance in the interest of the MacIntosh fund was given, at which the new non-inflammable asbestos curtain was displayed for the first time.

OTTAWA LOSES TO CANADIENS

SENATORS MAKE MISTAKE OF PLAYING DEFENSE GAME AGAINST FRENCHMEN

Montreal, Feb. 10.—By defeating Ottawa, 4 to 3, in a scheduled National Hockey League fixture at the Jubilee Rink on Saturday night, Canadiens put a crimp in the Senator's victorious march in the second half of the schedule.

Until Saturday night Ottawa had scored five straight victories, four of them being in the second half of the schedule, the leadership of which they now have at their mercy. Although defeated, the Senators are assured of a play-off with Canadiens at the end of the season, and the remaining games between these teams will be watched with interest.

The exhibition on Saturday night was one of the best witnessed in Montreal in several years. Notwithstanding the fact that the ice was sticky after the first period, there was no let-up to the fast pace at which the players started. Perhaps the mistake of devoting too much time to defensive tactics defeated the Senators. With the score 2 to 1 against them they played three men back on the defense, allowing only two forwards to go up the ice at a time. Again with the score 3 to 1 they played the same style of game.

The teams:—

Canadiens—Goal, Vezina; defense Corbeau, Hall; centre, Lalonde; wings, O. Cleghorn, Pitre.

Ottawa—Goal, Benedict; defense Cleghorn, Cameron; centre, Nighbor; wings, Darragh, Dennenay.

Substitutes—Canadiens—Couture, Malone, MacDonald and Berlinquette. Ottawas—Boucher, Gerard and Broadbent.

Referee—Ernie Russell. Judge of play—J. Marshall.

Sneezing Superstitions.

In Scotland it has been maintained that idiots are incapable of sneezing, and the power to do so has been deemed evidence of the possession of a certain degree of intelligence. It was a Flemish belief that a sneeze during a conversation for a bargain proved that what you said was the truth. The Chinese believe that a sneeze on New Year's eve means bad luck through the coming year. The Japanese hold that one sneeze means that some one is praising you, two show blame, whereas, if you sneeze three times, you are merely ill.

Earthquakes in Italy.

Statistics gathered in Italy throw some light on the question of the relative frequency of earthquakes by day and by night. It has been alleged that the supposed greater frequency of nocturnal quakes is only apparent, being due to the fact that quiet conditions at night make the shocks more readily perceptible. It appears, however, that considering only those shocks which were so intense that they could not have escaped notice at any hour, 565 occurred during the 12 night hours.

GENERAL STRIKE ON ELECTION DAY

CALLED IN CHICAGO FOR CHANCE TO WORK FOR CANDIDATES.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Feb. 12.—A call for one day general strike of Union labor in Chicago on April 1, the date of the municipal election, was issued today by Morton L. Johnson, executive secretary at headquarters. The election day strike is not alone to enable the union workers to vote, but to give them an opportunity to spend the day at the polls, working in the interest of the labor nominees.

DOES NOT WANT TO LEAD PARTY

HON. ROBERT ROGERS SATISFIED TO SERVE IN RANKS

Montreal, Feb. 12.—In discussing the rumor his friends were aiming to make him candidate for the leadership of the Conservative party, Hon. Robert Rogers said to an interviewer today:

"One can't prevent people from talking through their hats. I assure you I am not aiming at the leadership of a party, and would not accept such a position under any circumstances, no matter what the prospects of success might be. I am a Conservative, always have been a Conservative, and in the event of a party election I would do my bit to secure the success of that party."

While the reporter was talking to Mr. Rogers for fifteen minutes, he received four telegrams asking him to speak at important points. "I will not accept any of them," he said. "because I would be misunderstood and stir up mischief, and this would be the last of my thoughts, although a section of the Liberals are working as if an election were at hand. If a struggle comes I will do what I think is right to save the country, but I am not going to start trouble."

The trial of the Turkish officials responsible for the Armenian massacres has begun at Constantinople.

Premier Borden May Be Ambassador To United States

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 12.—The Daily Express says that Sir Robert Borden, Prime Minister of Canada, has been offered the post of British Ambassador to the United States.

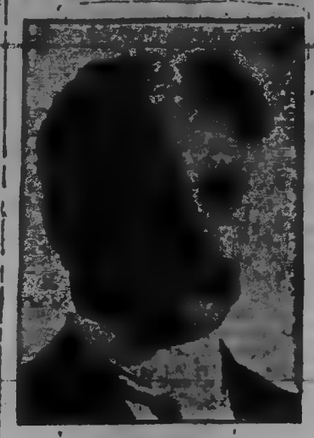
Enquiring at 10 Downing street today regarding the Daily Express' report that Sir Robert Borden had been offered the American Ambassadorship, a representative of the Canadian Associated Press was told, "We know nothing whatever about it. It doesn't sound very probable, but we shouldn't like definitely to deny it."

The correspondent adds that while the report may seem surprising, there is not the least doubt that several leading statesman are firmly convinced and have privately expressed the conviction that Canada is bound to bear a predominating influence in promoting the Anglo-Saxon entente. Sir George Perley, the Canadian High Commissioner, also stated that he had no information nor have officials of the colonial office.

While there is no official confirmation at Ottawa of the despatch that Sir Robert Borden intends returning to Canada no surprise is expressed at the statement. It is now quite probable that the Premier will be present before the legislators actually get down to business. It is considered likely that he will counsel a shelving of certain controversial issues pending the settlement of peace terms. The Premier's visit will not likely be an extended one as there is still much to be done at the conference.

Sir Robert Smiles

Paris, Feb. 12.—Sir Robert Borden Canadian Premier, when asked today regarding the report from London connecting his name with the British ambassadorship to the United States, thought a moment and then replied with a smile: "I do not believe I have any observations to make regarding the report."



SIR ROBERT BORDEN

Expected in Ottawa

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Official advices asto the return of Sir Robert Bordes from overseas are still lacking here, although it is expected that he will be back early in March. The Prime Minister's movements depend on developments at the peace conference, and on the work of the committee (of which Sir Robert is a member) appointed to consider delimitation of boundaries of Greece and Rumania. Sir Robert is also British representative on the allied delegation to meet Russian representatives on Prince's Island, Sea of Marmora, should the suggested conference take place.

Premier for Session

With the imminent return to the United States of President Wilson, it is felt here that there is every probability of Sir Robert Borden being in Ottawa for a large part of the session in that event, it is likely that one, or perhaps two, of the Canadian ministers now overseas would remain there to watch Canadian interests. Hon. C. J. Doherty and Hon. Arthur Sifton are suggested in this connection.

Miners Hold Out For Six Hour Day

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 12.—A conference of Miners' Federation of Great Britain at a meeting at Southport today decided against the acceptance of the terms offered by the Government for the settlement of demands made by the Federation, which has 80,000 members and wants a six hour day and thirty per cent. increase in wages.

BELGIAN CLAIMS BEFORE COUNCIL

LITTLE KINGDOM ASKS FOR CHANGES IN TREATY OF 1839.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 12.—The Supreme Council gave its attention today to Belgium, hearing representatives on the Belgian claims for an international readjustment and for changes in the treaty of 1839 delimiting the frontiers of Belgium and providing that it be a perpetually neutral state. It was this treaty which was declared to be a "scrap of paper" when Belgium was invaded. The modifications which are now asked [illegible]

First, The freedom of commerce through the lower Scheldt, le[illegible] from Antwerp to the sea, with the internationalization of the river or the acquisition by Belgium of its left bank.

Second, The cession of the Province of Southern Limburg in Holland for defensive purposes.

Third, The amalgamation of the Duchy of Luxembourg, preferably by assent of the people.

LABOR MEN BRING IN AN AMENDMENT

ASK MORE THAN IS PROMISED IN SPEECH FROM THRONE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 12.—While the press generally approves of Premier Lloyd George's Labor program, it fails to satisfy the Parliamentary Labor party, which has prepared an amendment to the reply to the speech from the throne regretting the absence of definite proposals dealing with "the present cases of industrial unrest for securing, as regarding wages and working hours, conditions of Labor which will establish a higher standard of life and social well-being for the people."

Harold Rolf Lost Bout With McGoorty

EBERT ELECTED FIRST PRESIDENT

WILL DRAW YEARLY SALARY OF MILLION MARKS OR $200,000.

London, Feb. 12.—A German wireless despatch recording the election of Herr Ebert as president of the German State, describes his post as "Provisional State President."

It adds that there were fifty-one abstentions from voting. Philipp Scheidemann and Mathias Erzberger each polled one vote.

After the election Dr. Edouard David in a speech said the empire for the first time had a chief who, by virtue of his election, was empowered to speak and act in the name of the German people. The mouthpiece which spoke by inherited right had disappeared and in his place stood a leader chosen by the people.

Prevented Bolshevism.

It was mainly due to Herr Ebert, the speaker continued, that the revolution in Germany had not followed the example of Russia, leading to bloody chaos and complete dissolution of right and order. The German people would have confidence in Herr Ebert's skill, activity and firmness to protect their freedom from every danger, either from the Left or the Right.

The Majority Socialists applauded this statement, but the Independent Socialists expressed dissent.

Herr Ebert, in his speech accepting the presidency, declared that his purpose would be impartially to dispense justice without favor or prejudice.

$200,000 a Year.

The annual salary of the president of the German republic, who may be elected this week by the National Assembly at Weimar, will be limited to 1,000,000 marks, or about $200,000, according to a despatch from Berlin. The president will reside in Berlin. He will select his executives from all parties.

LLOYD GEORGE ISSUES NOTE OF WARNING TO LABOR UNIONS

If They Go Too Far Government is Just as Ready to Fight Them as It Was to Crush Prussianism.

London, Feb. 12.—If industrial unrest continues the consequences will be grave to trade and industry, Premier Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons. The Government, he said, would agree to any kind of an investigation into the causes of the unrest.

Special war conditions: the Premier thought, had contributed to the unrest. Among these conditions were the strain of four years of war and the fear of unemployment.

The Premier said that bills would be introduced next week dealing with housing, health, the revival of rural life, land settlement for soldiers, land reclamation and afforestation.

Mr. Lloyd George said there would be plenty of opportunities of employment if confidence was given those responsible for starting industries, and unless the cost of production went so high that it reduced the purchasing power of the community or put them out of the world market.

Housing Conditions

Discussing housing conditions, the Premier referred to overcrowding in many districts which had been aggravated during the war by congregating in already crowded areas. The Government would do its best to alleviate such conditions. Hours of labor he said, already have been fixed in industries involving 3,000,000 persons.

Before the war, the Premier said, Great Britain exported more than 1,000,000,000 tons of goods and it was computed that half the cost of the goods was wages. The difference of a few shillings on a ton of a commodity like coal, he added, might deprive the country of hundreds of millions of pounds and might throw hundreds of thousands out of work.

Before the war the railways were making profits of fifty millions, according to the Premier, but their expenses were now increased by ninety millions, largely in wages. To reduce the hours of labor while paying the same wages, he contended, would be to increase unemployment.

Will "Fight "Prussianism"

Referring to "demands put forward not to obtain fair conditions, but to overthrow the existing order, to destroy the Government," the Premier declared:

"I say in all solemnity on behalf of the Government that we are determined to fight Prussianism in the industrial world exactly as we fought it on the Continent of Europe.

"If all classes of the community are prepared to make the necessary sacrifices for the stability, security and freedom of industry, I am prepared to say, with full knowledge of the consequences, that no section of the community, however powerful, shall be allowed to hold up the whole nation."

The Premier concluded with an appeal that the victory won by battles should not be wantonly dissipated in a few weeks' frenzied strife.

RUSSIANS AGREE TO CONFERENCE

AT LEAST FOUR FACTIONS WILL BE AT PRINCES' ISLANDS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 12.—Prospects are brightening for the assembling of at least four of the Russian factions at the conference to be held on Prince's Islands. Word has come from Ukraine that the government of that former part of Russia will participate in the conference and the government of General Denikine will also join. The government of the Crimea already has accepted the invitation as has the Russian Bolshevik government.

Postal Employes Suggest Reforms

Saskatoon, Feb. 12.—Resolutions asking for immediate payment of wages in case of sickness, the abolition of the window envelope, the placing upon the upper left hand corner of address of papers mailed by publishers, the reinstating to their former positions of employes returning from active service, were some of the resolutions passed at the opening session of the first annual convention of the Federation of Western Postal Employes in this city.

A weekly half-holiday for the whole year was demanded for all employes. The convention will wind up on Friday.

Another Victory Loan Next Autumn

PRESENT RATE OF NATIONAL EXPENDITURE MAY MAKE THIS NECESSARY.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Judging by the government's lavish program of expenditure for this year, which parliament is asked to vote, there will have to be another large final "Victory Loan" of some hundreds of millions floated next autumn. The prospective expenditure of at least eight hundred million dollars is contemplated.

The items are as follows: For military expenditure, demobilization charges, pay, transport, etc. 275 millions; for ordinary domestic expenditure, 175 millions; for ordinary domestic expenditure, 175 millions; for shipbuilding 60 millions; for public works, capital expenditure, 20 millions; for railways (betterments, new equipment, branch lines, etc.), 60 millions; to meet deficit on operative government lines, pay guaranteed bond interest, etc., 25 millions; gratuity pay to soldiers on discharge, 75 millions; pensions, 50 millions; good roads, five millions; housing scheme, five millions; vocational training, two millions; interest on nations debt and sinking fund, 70 millions; advances to soldiers for land purchase implements and stock, five millions.

The total revenue from taxation will, it is estimated be about 200 millions for the year.

MILD EPIDEMIC OF DIPTHERIA

PROMPT MEASURES BY HEALTH OFFICER PREVENTED SERIOUS RESULTS

Last night the report of the Isolation Hospital for the past month was tabled at the Board of Health meeting. It showed a mild diptheria epidemic which had broken out at St. Vincent's orphanage and resulted in 16 cases of the disease, all suspected of having it being removed to the Isolation Hospital.

There were 23 patients in the institution during the month. Four of these, who were suffering with scarlet fever, were 1913 inmates and during the past month there have been three others admitted, suffering with the same disease. The remaining 16 were the diptheria sufferers and suspects. These cases were mild and little difficult, was found in treating them. There were no deaths in the hospital during the month.

Emergency Hospital.

A final statement compiled and submitted last night at the meeting of the Board of Health showed the total expense connected with the opening and operating of the Emergency Hospital during the recent influenza epidemic to be $1831.52.

As the probable cost of carrying out such a project had been set at various wild figures such as $15,000 when the idea was first discussed the final results as shown in last night's report are very gratifying. All claims in connection with the Emergency Hospital have now been settled.

POLAND STANDS TRUE TO ALLIES

FRIENDLY SPEECH OF MILITARY LEADER CHEERED IN POLISH ASSEMBLY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Warsaw, Feb. 12.—During his address in the Polish assembly today, Gen. Joseph Pilsudski, former military dictator of Poland, referred to the close bonds between his country and the Allies. His words were cheered. Just before the afternoon adjournment Prince Radziwill, senior member of the assembly, read a telegram announcing that Brest-Litovsk had been occupied by Polish troops.

Ex-Kaiser Hopes To Regain Throne

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Amerongen, Holland, Feb. 12. — There have been various indications during the past week that Count Hohenzollern, the former German emperor, is maintaining communication with his former supporters with the hope of returning to the German throne.

Another half billion addition to the national debt is in sight for the first reconstruction year.

ORDER IS NO REFLECTION ON CANADIAN SOLDIERS

Sale of Squirrel Whiskey is Forbidden For the Men's Own Protection From Sharpers.

Ottawa, Feb. 12—That the order-in-Council just promulgated providing for the infliction of heavy penalties upon persons selling liquor to soldiers in uniform is not to be regarded as reflecting upon the men in the army was vigorously asserted by Major-General S. C. Mewburn tonight. "Far from being a reflection on the men," said the Minister of Militia, "it was enacted at the instance of many of them for their own protection. The order-in-Council is designed to apply particularly to the operations of bootleggers. I had many complaints of their operations in meeting trains and selling them poisonous liquors, high wines or wood alcohol. Several cases of serious illness resulted. In some places men went to low-class saloons near discharge depots and were served as badly. Some of them were robbed. I have no objection to a man taking a drink in a proper place, but the order that was passed is aimed at the vendors of poisonous liquors who operate around trains and discharge depots. The action taken was largely at the instance of war veterans."

The new order referred to provides stiff penalties for the sale of liquor to officers or men in uniform and provides that any person, other than a medical officer, physician or surgeon, no matter whether licensed to sell liquor or not, who sells liquor to men in uniform may be tried by military court-martial, and if found guilty be sentenced to a term of imprisonment not exceeding 12 months, or a fine of $200 or both.

The order-in-Council which was passed on the recommendation of Gen. Mewburn, Minister of Militia and Defence, draws attention to the fact that in view of the great number of troops returning to Canada it is necessary in the interests of military discipline and efficiency and for the protection of soldiers generally, that further restrictions be made in regard to the furnishing of liquor to men in uniform and not on duty.

FEARS RENEWAL OF OFFENSIVE

FRENCH PRESS UNEASY IN VIEW OF CONTINUED DEMOBILIZATION.

Paris, Feb. 12.—The demobilization of the French Army has not been suspended, contrary to persistent rumors, but is proceeding on schedule, according to a statement made to the Associated Press today by a French official.

Since Marshal Foch's announcement before the armistice commission that the Germans could mobilize 2,000,000 men in 6 weeks, there has been a feeling of uneasiness expressed by the French public. Pessimistic views have been openly discussed as have also been apprehensions of the renewal of the German offensive. The newspapers had commented upon the situation in a manner such as to call for frequent blanks in their pages, due to censorship.

FEDERAL GRANT TO HELP BUILD HUNTER ST. BRIDGE

Mayor Duncan Wires From Ottawa That Prospects Are Bright After Conference With Cabinet.

The following telegram was received from Mayor Duncan this afternoon:

The deputation of the City Council saw the Minister of Railways and Canals this morning, and the Minister advised the deputation that he would bring the matter of a contribution by the Government towards the cost of building the Hunter street bridge before the Cabinet, and that the contribution would not be in any way curtailed by the city passing the by-law for the full amount of the cost of the bridge.

The deputation feels satisfied that a contribution proportional to the cost of a swing will be recommended to the Cabinet and Parliament in due course.

STATE OWNERSHIPS PAY

Government Experiment in Australia Has Been Successful

Ottawa, Feb. 12.— Government ownership of steamships has paid in Australia, according to advices received here. In 1916 The Commonwealth Government purchased 16 cargo steamers at a cost of approximately $10,000,000. The first year's operation of this fleet showed surplus earnings of 4,500,000. At the present time the original cost of the vessels has been entirely paid and there is a surplus of nearly 100,000. This good showing was made despite the fact that two of the ten steamers were torpedoed by German submarines.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1919

IN NORTH ONTARIO.

IN NORTH ONTARIO the Government candidate is Major Cameron, while the farmers have put up a candidate, a Mr. Widdifield, who is a straight follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, although he lacks the official nomination of the Liberals in the riding for the very good reason that Leader Frankfoot is living up to his agreement to a political truce until the Legislature is dissolved.

North Ontario is ostensibly a farming community, but it is a community that holds an enviable military record. According to population, it has sent to the front a larger percentage of men than any riding in Ontario, a record that is all the more creditable when it is remembered that the riding contains no cities and very few towns. The majority of the people are farmers, but the farmers' sons of North Ontario have made their community famous in recent military history.

The late Col. Sam Sharpe, who represented the riding in the Dominion House, led overseas one of the finest battalions that ever left Canada. It was one of the few Canadian contingents that was sent to the front as a unit, and Col. Sharpe led his men to many a gory victory. His untimely death was due to his gallant service.

While Col. Sharpe was still overseas he was nominated for Parliament in 1917, and was triumphantly returned, although Mr. Widdifield, then, as he is now, a Laurier Liberal, left no stone unturned to accomplish the gallant colonel's defeat.

That is the record of the politician who is now asking the support of the electors in a riding in which hundreds of homes have sent representatives to the war and where scores of those who went across the seas wearing the uniform of the King will never return.

Major Cameron is a man whose military record is as bright as that of any Canadian who won promotion in actual service. His election will be a tribute to that service as well as to that of every officer or private who did as he has done, while his defeat would be a rebuke to the entire fighting force, returned or yet overseas. The contest in North Ontario is of wider import than the usual bye-election to fill a vacancy in the Legislature.

A LIST OF BLUNDERS.

TO ALLEGE with true partisan sycophancy that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was the only fountain head of light for the Canadian people, the returned soldiers' one hope for a square deal.

To gravely assert that the nomination of Major Cameron, one of the most distinguished officers in the Canadian army, as a candidate for the Legislature in North Ontario, was a miserable attempt at flag waving.

To attack by the dark lantern route the religious faith of a distinguished visitor to the city and to reflect on those who invited him here.

To make a bid for the favor of the anti-prohibitionists under the mistaken belief that it was rendering its party effective aid.

THE GERMAN ARMY.

THE NEW GERMAN Government has been organized, the provisional constitution has been drawn up, and yesterday a president was elected. Something like order is at last being brought out of the chaos that has prevailed ever since the signing of the armistice and the fall of the monarchy. The rival factions that were making war on the Ebert regime have been in a large measure suppressed. There is something like cohesion at last among the various elements of the population.

The German army is still maintained at a force estimated at nearly three million men, and the hand of Hindenburg can be seen quietly shaping the organization. The German factories, according to reports, are still engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war.

These facts are significant, and especially so when on the one hand Premier Ebert declares that Germany will accept no humiliating terms of peace and that she will insist upon the return of her colonies, and a son of the fallen Kaiser declares that the day is not far distant when the dynasty will be restored. Germany may be beaten, but the proud spirit of leaders and people is by no means crushed. Every minute of delay on the part of the Peace Conference in deciding the final terms gives Germany that much time to recover her breath and to prepare for another demonstration of force.

In the face of all these conditions, the Allies are disbanding their armies, as though the last vestige of danger were past, and the delegates to the Conference are holding academic discussions on new theories of peace, especially those brought up by the President of the United States. Canadian and American troops are being brought back by the shipload, the Government of this country being inclined to boast of the celerity with which this work is being done, even though every transport load of returned soldiers in Canada complicates the employment problem to just that extent. Other colonial troops are being sent home as fast as ships can be secured for their transfer.

For years before the war broke out a large percentage of the population of the civilized world, Canada included, were living in the fool's paradise of imagining that a conflict with Germany was impossible, if not impossible. Even the British statesmen relied too much upon the Empire's awe-inspiring navy. To all these dreamers there came a rude awakening, and they should guard against the danger of falling into the same peaceful slumber again.

There is danger ahead when the final terms of peace are submitted to the German representatives for their signatures. There is sure to be a Teutonic protest, and there is always the risk that there may be another display of forceful resistance to the conditions insisted upon by the Entente. Germany, it is true, has been shorn of her navy, her merchant fleet and her colonies. But Germany for four years waged a bloody land war, her fleet imprisoned, her merchant ships useless by reason of the blockade, and her sub active, it is true, in piracy, but this piracy did not render any real support to the work of the three land forces.

DANGER FROM JAPAN.

MORE THAN ONE personal combat has grown out of an attempt to arbitrate a difference between two neighbors. Wars have been born in peace conferences before today, while others have been narrowly averted.

When the nations' representatives met to attempt to settle the last Balkan wars, trouble over territory arose between Austria and Serbia. Russia championed the cause of the latter. Von Jagow, at that time the German foreign minister, in a speech in the Reichstag, openly defied the nations in an alliance against his own. If Russia, he said, took up the cause of Serbia, Germany would by the terms of her agreement be forced to aid Austria, even if this step did, as it certainly would, provoke France and England to combat. The Hun gauntlet was thrown down before the Entente, and if Russia had made the move at that time that she did in 1914 the Germans would have been furnished with an excuse, and the late war would have started one year earlier than it did. Trouble was averted by concessions made by Serbia to its overshadowing neighbor.

In the present peace deliberations, Japan is likely to become a disturbing element. The Japs have already threatened to make war on China unless they are in every way regarded as the heirs to everything lost by Germany in that quarter of the world. The Japanese delegates to the Conference are certain to insist on the last pound of flesh as the fruits of victory, and in this contention are sure to clash with the representatives of the United States. Again, Japan is likely to insist that her people be allowed to migrate to any civilized country in the world and to live there on the same terms as the natives or other aliens. If this point is raised, trouble will be inevitable. In the ointment pot on the peace table the Japanese are already regarded as the flies.

THE ALIEN MUST GO.

THERE ARE enemy aliens holding comfortable jobs in this city, while native Canadians, including returned soldiers, are idle. This condition must be remedied, but in this city there will be no riots to disperse the foreigners. The returned soldiers themselves will see to it that the peace of the city is preserved, and if necessary will aid the police to attain this end.

About a week ago there were rumors in the city of a riotous demonstration against the aliens, and members of the G. W. V. A. were the very first to report these rumors to the police, and so put the officers of the law on their guard. Coupled with the report was an offer of help from the soldiers.

All the returned men ask for is a square deal. All over the country they are asking that the aliens be deported by the peaceful and official action of the Government instead of being made the victims of disturbances that will only tend to create popular sympathy for the strangers, especially those who are living here as law-abiding citizens. Any individual who imagines that by taking part in an uprising he is aiding the cause of the soldiers has mistaken the sentiments of the latter. They are for law and order at home just as they fought for the restoration of civil law and order abroad. The returned men will prove themselves not social disturbers but a force that will make for peace and safety in the community.

Any newspaper or individual that views up differently the returned men is laboring under a misconception, and by parading false views is likely to create mischief. It is not justifiable to infer, either, as so many appear to do, that the soldiers as a class are opposed to the prohibition enactments, either in Province or Dominion. Those who rush to this conclusion made a sad error in judgment a year ago when they took it for granted that the men overseas would vote against the conscription law in force in Canada.

The newspaper that advocates the repeal of the war-time election Act may pose as the friend of the returned soldier, but, while it professes solicitude for his welfare, it has a knife up its sleeve. The disfranchised alien during the war was denied the right to carry arms even in the professed defence of his country. In the hands of some of these men the ballot would be as dangerous as a rifle.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

WHILE SO MANY soldiers are looking for jobs, hundreds of men go on strike.

RETURNED MEN AND PENSIONS

Many mistaken notions regarding the situation of returned men with reference to pensions may be cleared up if it is clearly understood that the system of pensions arranged by the Government of Canada is not based upon any procedure previously followed in the Imperial army. The system has been evolved to meet present needs and the peculiar conditions arising out of the war. No pension is awarded according to the term of service but is based entirely upon the degree of disability that a man has contracted while on service and payment is graded according to his handicap in the field of labor.

Pension administration, as operated by the Canadian Board of Pension Commissioners, does not begin or end with the bare payment of certain sums of money but involves an amount of personal work and interest upon the part of those concerned, which is equal to that of any department of social service.

Back of every plan set in operation by the Government for the welfare of the returned man is the idea that it is far better to assist him to make the most of his life and talents in the labor market that to put him in a position of entire dependence upon the Government. In the former condition he has an opportunity of progress and a chance to make what he will of his life and is given every assistance to this end.

The medical documents and all particulars relative to the disabilities of each returned man are kept on file in the Medical Branch of the Pension Board. These papers constitute the history of the man upon which evidence the amount of his pension is determined.

An example of some of the difficulties experienced by the medical advisors is shown in the following story, exemplifying a phase of war sickness which, though not very common, is by no means unknown.

A soldier who had been buried by a shell explosion was invalided to Canada with an almost complete paralysis of his legs. This condition had lasted for nine months. He was able to get about on crutches but was useless without them. Upon examination of his medical documents it was noticeable that the descriptions given therein were not completely in accord. The medical advisor therefore asked that the man be examined by a specialist in nervous diseases. This carried out it was discovered that the paralysis was purely functional or hysterical in character, that is to say there was no real injury of the brain or nerves, although the man himself was quite sincere in the belief that he was permanently paralyzed. In two weeks a complete cure was effected and the man was able to walk as well as he could before the shock.

The value of additional advice and re-examination in this case was, that instead of the patient being awarded a one hundred per cent. pension and living more or less as an invalid on an income paid entirely by the Government—a circumstance which in such cases have almost invariably been found to prevent the carrying out of a cure—he is able to earn his own living with as good a physique as that possessed in pre-war days.

The medical advisors of the Board of Pension Commissioners have made a special study of such cases and have become expert in their detection. When such a peculiar condition is discovered they ask to have the man re-examined by a specialist and if the case proves to be genuine a full report is made by which the pensionability of the applicant can be determined.

In the various cases of hysteria, which take on such appearances as that stated in the story, a specialist is generally able to effect a rapid cure.

TODAY'S STORY

Private Sam Browne landed at Liverpool with an American contingent. Like all the rest he was keenly anxious to see the sights, and had chosen Chester for a startoff.

An old Chestonian tavern keeper, wishing to impress him, invited him into his private parlor, and, waxing enthusiastic over his native city's good points, suggested the best route.

"One of the first things to do," he said, puffing away at his pipe, "is to walk on the walls in the moonlight. It's a splendid sight then, my man!"

But the American hadn't heard of the Roman wall, and thought the tavern keeper was indulging in a little leg pulling.

"No y' don't, sonny," he remonstrated. "I'm not a blinkin' cat, y' know!"

INSURANCE MEN HOLD BANQUET

LOCAL UNDERWRITERS ENTERTAIN OFFICIALS AT THE EMPRESS HOTEL

On Monday evening the Central Ontario branch of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada held a banquet in the Grill room of the Empress Hotel. The occasion being in honor of Mr. P. A. Wintemute, of Calgary, president of the Dominion Association, who, accompanied by Mr. J. H. Castle Graham, of Toronto, general secretary, are making a tour of all the local branches from coast to coast.

After a splendid dinner served in the usual first-class style of the Empress and the general business meeting was concluded, the program of the evening was opened in good style by Mr. Castle Graham, who gave a very interesting and instructive address in connection with work done by the man of the rate book in many ways beneficial to the people and the country.

The next item on the program was the star number and was listened to very attentively by those present. This was an address given by Mr. P. A. Wintemute, who is a very forceful and eloquent speaker. His remarks were the result of a great deal of thought and study of his subject.

In opening, the speaker complimented the local association on the spirit displayed by the members. Those who were present will long remember the visit of their 1919 president. The main points of the address were as follows:

Every era has some characteristic.

The benefit of old life insurance.

Th profession. A dignified and growing fact.

The field of operation.

New forms of insurance, such as income, compensation, group and providing for succession duss.

Encouraging savings and thrift.

Insurance men's work in Victory Loan.

Sound investment and protection.

The volume of insurance in force is entirely inadequate.

Agents are responsible.

General agent's work meets with opposition, criticism, etc.

Sayes fortunes from get-rich-quick schemes.

Mr. Wintemute went into some detail of the work done by the association and gave some splendid advice along this line. When the speaker finished it was visible on the faces of the listeners that every one was fully satisfied with the remarks and the information received and only regretted that the treat had come to an end.

The following items of the program were well received and given good applause:

Addresses by Mr. Flett, Imperial Life; Mr. Patterson, Excelsior Life; W. Widdess, Canada Life; Mr. Roberts, Metropolitan; Mr. Robinson, Canada Life; Mr. Dawson, Imperial; Mr. J. J. Allen, Prudential Life; Mr. Ferguson, Dominion Life; Mr. Ward Patterson, Great West; Mr. Touchburn, Metropolitan; Mr. Morrison, Imperial Life, and Messrs. Lee, Middleton and Porteous.

A very enjoyable reading was given by Mr. Hughson Johnston.

Songs by Mr. Ketchenson, "The Ship That Carried Me Over"; and Mr. Roy, "Give Me Your Smile."

After a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the visitors, the evening was concluded by singing the National Anthem.

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

A young woman declares that in all the months she has been reading this column nothing has ever been printed about the nature of anaemia. I hasten to correct the omission.

Anaemia means lack of blood.

It is a consequence or symptom of a great many different conditions. It is not a primary disease or condition in itself, and it cannot be remedied until the underlying cause is determined and removed or corrected. To take medicine which purports to "build rich blood" is a very popular pastime which does not alter the state of the blood. It is conceivable that, through some extraordinary circumstances an individual's ordinary food supply failed to furnish all the iron the blood needs (which is about one-fourth of a grain a day, which amount is present in four ounces of prunes, four ounces of beef or four ounces of peas), some benefit might accrue from taking iron in medicinal form, just as we know that medicinal iodine sometimes accomplishes good effects in conditions due to inadequate iodine-containing foods. But it would be difficult to select a diet that does not furnish an ample amount of iron to the blood.

Among the more common underlying causes of anaemia are incipient (perhaps unsuspected) pulmonary tuberculosis, occupations which confine the workers indoors through most of the sunshine hours, night work and day sleeping, late hours and insufficient sleep, the poisoning or toxaemia of neglected or occult foci or depots of infection in the tonsils, the teeth and elsewhere, latent syphilis, latent malaria, the frequent use of acetanilide and similar pain killers in "grip" and "cold" and headache and magrim dope, the frequent use of aspirin (acetylsalicylic acid) for aches and pains, the abuse of cathartics (especially salines), Bright's disease, diabetes, and constipation.

In anaemia there is not as popularly imagined, so much a failure of the body to manufacture red blood, but rather a too rapid destruction or breaking down of red blood. Find the cause of this excessive destruction, correct it, and the blood will be normal in a few weeks.

Whole, Wholesome Wheat.

"I note that a prominent miller, as set forth in the clipping inclosed, declares that the constant use of whole wheat bread always produces direful results and never fails to send the consumer to the doctor or to a hospital. In our family we use almost exclusively a real whole wheat flour which we grind at home, have used it now for more than a year, and thus far we have failed to summon a doctor or an ambulance. How about it? Is the whole wheat a bad thing to get after all? R. N. C."

Theoretically whole wheat and wheat bran and such articles are likely to "irritate the stomach and intestine," but in practice they seem to have only happy effects. I dare say many dyspepsia and constipation have been cured by whole wheat bread than by any other remedy.

Tender Feet.

I [illegible] remedy for [illegible]

Avoid tight garters, belts and bands about the leg, and tight shoes. Avoid washing feet with warm or hot water, but use only cold water, and the less of that the better. Powder feet and insides of shoes with powdered alum. Wring out stockings in a saturated solution of boric acid in water (all the water will take up) and let dry for wearing.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.

Fishing a Risky Pastime.

India, we take it, is a subtle and perilous land.

Fishing, all Canadians know, is a placid sport, involving no suspicion of dangers save in the way of drenching, probable colds, fish-hooks in fingers and other parts, overdosings of the old famous snake medicine and injury to the cause of decent language through the lack of bites and other mishaps.

Not so in India, where, we are informed by the faculty, everything, even fishing, involves danger, and where the catalogue of terrors includes poisonous fish.

M. L. Kamath (Madras Medical Journal) draws attention to the dangers which await newcomers even in the simple art of fishing. He gives three or four case of infection through a prick from the scales of the tadu, which is a fresh water fish found in Malabar, four feet seven inches in length with a spine on either side the oral cavity, which it uses in attacking, something like our own catfish, we take it. Within a day or two violent cellulitis sets in with much redness, swelling and pain in the fingers and palm. The pus has a peculiar stench. Recovery is slow.

A Bad Risk.

Pte. Lewis made down his bed in the corner of a building that was just in the edge of what would have been No Man's Land had the armistice not intervened. "I sure didn't think I'd ever sleep here," he said to a comrade. "Why, I was popping away at a sniper from that hole there in the corner just a couple of days ago. Gee, but it seems queer!"

"And what was the sniper doing to you?" some one inquired from the other corner.

"Well," said Lewis, "he was sure raisin' hell with my life insurance."

Was Quite Likely.

A Boston man says that an exacting housewife in that city telephoned to a meat dealer's place of business that the next order "you receive from me will be the last." The man at the other end of the wire agreed with her. He said that he was an undertaker.

Amethysts.

The best amethysts are brought from Cambay, in India, and from Siberia, Ceylon and Persia. The chief supply of the blue turquoise is drawn from the peninsula of Sinai, the great mining district of the ancient Egyptians.

Found.

"Aha!" hissed the Pullman porter. "I have found the secret of his berth!" And he took a flask from under the passenger's pillow.—Cartoons Magazine.

FASHIONS IN WASHINGTON

WHAT SOCIETY LEADERS WORE RECENTLY AT AN AFTERNOON TEA GIVEN BY WIFE OF SPEAKER.

(By Margaret Wade)

Washington, Feb. 12.—While no effort has been made to restore "cabinet days" to the official calendar where in past seasons it assumed not only national but international importance, the fact of Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Champ Clark and a score of senatorial matrons announcing days at home without the formality of issuing cards has brought the custom of afternoon visiting back to a pre-war basis.

The well appointed tea table is again restored to every hospitable home with maid or matron in smart attire and of gracious manner selected to pour just as in the old days.

With this revival also comes a new era in afternoon dress which during the nineteen months of war was practically abandoned, with the simplest of tailored suits or a service uniform doing duty from breakfast to the dinner hour. Even in war time, Washington dressed for dinner.

Not only are the hostesses and their assistants wearing smart demi-toilets but the average visitor is making a great distinction in the costume in which she goes to market or to a charity meeting at 11 o'clock in the morning and that in which she makes visits or attends even the most informal afternoon company.

Mrs. Clark welcomed her afternoon visitors of last week in a gown of dark blue voile made on graceful, becoming lines, with the skirt just one inch from the floor and the bodice opening over a narrow vestee of cream tulle, with the long revere collar of satin in the new magenta tone. The sleeves were of the dark blue, long and close from the elbow.

Mrs. Marshall's most becoming reception dress is also dark blue, but of georgette, with smartly draped skirt and handsome self-embroidery on the bodice and the half length transparent sleeves.

Two interesting figures in the throng of visitors were Mrs. J. P. Spencer of Missouri and Mrs. Joseph I. France of Maryland, both recent additions to the senatorial circle.

Mrs. Spencer wore a smartly tailored suit in dark burgundy cloth with becoming round hat covered in dwarf dahlias of rich red tones.

Mrs. France wore a dark gown showing a modish silhouette with a long satin coat with deep collar and cuffs of black fox and a small high turban trimmed in black wings.

Mrs. William Alden Smith of Michigan and Mrs. George McLean of Connecticut are wearing particularly smart semi-toilets, in which the new bead embroidery forms a significant part.

Mrs. Smith who wore her much beaded gown when assisting at Mrs. Marshall's day at home, has the gown of black satin, with a long overdress of beads in French blue, with touches of black and crystal introduced in geometrical pattern.

Mrs. McLean's gown of the same general character as the Michigan hostess' is also black satin with the embellishment of harmonizing tones in green and pink. When Mrs. McLean wore this becoming and smart toilet at her day at home she had Mrs. George Howland Chase to pour tea, which added to the picture as well as the pleasure of the afternoon.

Mrs. Chase, who is much in demand for this graceful service, wore a modish gown of gray georgette and self-colored satin, with string of pearls.

A smart black gown of georgette worn by Mrs. Montgomery Blair shows the new length round skirt, as well as an effective trimming in black and colored beads. The gown worn for afternoon visiting or for the theater is almost to the ground and possibly four yards wide at the hem, but mounted on a narrow satin foundation. The georgette skirt is encircled by jet beads in parallel lines about an inch apart, while the girdle is of jet and colored beads, the colors being rich green and crimson. With this Mrs. Blair wears a broad brimmed black satin hat trimmed in paradise.

Mrs. Walter McLean, wife of Rear-Admiral McLean, U.S.N., late in command at Norfolk, whose return to Washington is a matter of general congratulation to society, is also wearing a modish visiting toilet showing the toilet to the ankle. This is one of the latest shades of French blue georgette, with drapery and bodice embroidered in several tones of the same general color. The foundation is presumably self-colored satin, with the narrow line at the ankles well preserved.

One of the smartest of debutante frocks is a superlatively fine serge worn by Miss Oliver Graaf, which is almost covered in the new embroidery inspired by the spider web, but in this particular case a harmony of delicate silk threads showing blue, gold, pink and green.

With this on a round of visits with her youthful looking mother, the pretty little bud wore a small round hat of sand colored velvet, with a cluster of ostrich of the same shade extending downward from the back.

EXTRA WARM EVENING WRAPS

Favored Garment Folds Around Figure and Has Double Thickness Over Chest.

Certain economists buy a semi-formal frock that will serve for gay hours between four and twelve p. m. with its own coat, which relieves them from the purchase of an extra evening coat, or keeps the one they possess for use for special occasions. This is after all, an extravagant trick, the critics say, for one warm long coat should serve.

The wrap of the hour is warm and heavy. It is no longer of chiffon nor does it show itself in cape form. It folds around the figure and has a double thickness over the chest. There are heaped on it, and, often, there is a return to the fashions of Charles II in the loose underalsleeve of fur that comes out from the wide upper sleeve. This idea, by the way, is carried out in a few street clothes, and it catches the fancy of those who abominate the hiatus between the edge of a flaring sleeve and the hand.

And such sleeves are warm. They act like a padded muff.

A Meal Throne Survives.

The Maharajah of Mysore has a throne made of solid gold, beautifully chased and set with precious stones, and resting on four huge lions, also of solid gold. Above the throne, which is covered with a thick cushion of cloth of gold with pearl tassels is a gold umbrella shimmering with pearls and precious stones on top of which is a golden peacock encrusted with diamonds and emeralds, holding in its beak a large emerald pendant. Silver steps lead up to the seat.

OLD LANDMARK IN TORONTO CHANGES

SALADA TEA COMPANY ARE FORCED TO FIND LARGER QUARTERS.

The "Salada" Tea Co., have surrendered their building at 32 Yonge street to the Bank of Montreal, the purchasers, and are moving out to 459-467 King street west—a few doors west of Spadina Avenue on the South side.

There is hardly a resident in Toronto or neighborhood who does not know the "Salada" warehouse, and many of us who have visited Toronto by boat will remember the large Electric Sign flashing over the bay the six letters automatically spelling the word "SALADA"

This will be missed by hundreds of thousands, as it had become to be looked upon as a 'Beacon Light' but the premises had become altogether too small to handle the immense business of the "Salada" Tea Co. Twenty-one years ago they moved from Front Street East to their Yonge Street place and after three or four years occupancy the volume of their trade increasing, compelled them to put on three extra stories, thus making the building a six-story one.

The growth of the demand continuing, their warehouse again became congested which necessitated them erecting a new warehouse in Montreal, corner St. Paul and St. Sulpice Streets. Previous to this a branch had been opened in Buffalo, the business, however, being handled from Toronto. A year or two afterwards a branch was opened in Detroit; then one in Boston, Chicago, New York and other points in the United States.

The new Toronto warehouse the "Salada" Tea Co. are now entering stands on a lot 100 x 431 the building having a 60 feet frontage on King street by 300 feet deep and four stories and basement, thus giving about 70 thousand square feet floor space—one of the largest warehouses in the Dominion and by far the largest tea warehouse in America outside of the Boston premises of the same concern.

In the new building there will be light from three sides and sufficient office accommodation to handle the head office business of the "Salada" Tea Co.

Nurnberg Birthplace of Thimble.

As far as we can be certain of anything, the thimble is to be traced to the inventive and ingenious artisans of Nurnberg, who were the acknowledged manufacturers of it in the fourteenth century. It was not, however, until 1684, that the thimblemakers became what is called a corporate body, although for a whole century previously the Nurnberg merchants had carried thimbles with them for sale on their yearly expeditions to the great fairs of Leipsic, Hamburg and Lubeck.

Many Uses for Kapok.

Kapok is the name applied to the silky fiber found around the seed of the silk-cotton tree (Eriodendron anfractuosum). This tree is found in all tropical countries and is very abundant in Java, which furnishes a large part of the commercial supply. Kapok is imported into the United States in large quantities, principally from Java, and is used as filling for mattresses, pillows, cushions and life preservers of various kinds, and as an upholstery material.

BRITAIN'S FISH INDUSTRY.

Present Situation Contains Splendid Opportunity.

How many people are aware that the Norwegian "sardine" is simply the small sprat or "brit" taken in millions off our own coasts?

The Norwegian canners have to import all their tin-plates for making the tins and also the oil in which the fish are preserved. Not only this, but they have also been in the habit of buying large quantities of sprats from the Scottish fishermen to augment their own catch. In spite of these handicaps they make the business pay hand-over-fist — a fact which is self-evident from the vast quantities of their goods exported to and consumed in this country.

Surely we can do better than export our own products to buy them back at a greatly increased price under another name? The amount of tinned fish which we consume is enormous. In 1913 the British imported from Canada, France, Newfoundland, etc., well over three million pounds' worth of canned fish, chiefly salmon and sardines. About £900,000 worth was re-exported, but the value of what was actually consumed in our own islands was £2,200,000.

The Germans have been much too clever to buy abroad what they could make at home. Within a 50-mile radius of Hamburg there are no fewer than 56 factories for smoking, canning, or otherwise preserving fish. Here a few pilchards are put up in oil, and there chards are put up in oil, and there is a firm which tins an excellent mixture of herrings and tomatoes. Apart from these, the fish-canning industry hardly exists in the British Isles.

Now, the prices of imported sardines and salmon are not going to fall much for some years to come. Freights will be high enough to prevent that. Fresh fish, on the other hand, will soon be plentiful again. Here, then, is a grand chance for a new British industry. Let us seize it at once.—London Daily Mail.

The Victoria Cross.

The intrinsic value of the Victoria Cross is a few coppers. Apart from the immortal honor, it carries with it a pension of £10 a year in the case of non-commissioned officers and men, £5 being added for each bar.

Unlike the ordinary medal, which is turned out by the thousand by means of a steel die, each V.C. is made separately. There is no die in existence, the bronze part of some of the Russian guns captured in the Crimea, being weighed out to the workmen as carefully as if they were so much gold.

The first Victoria Cross was modelled in hard wax, and after the design had been approved a model pattern was cast. This is preserved with the greatest care, and from it are made the moulds from which every other Cross is cast. The bronze is heated in a clay crucible up to a temperature of 2,000 deg., and then poured into the mould through the little tube left for that purpose. Every drop of spilt metal is carefully saved.

When it comes out of the mould the Cross is rough at the edges, the design is flat and dull, and the color that of a dirty penny. Skilled workmen do all the finishing by hand. The edges are filed, and the design brought up by the "chaser," who works with small punches and a light hammer.

The Cross, when finished, is sent to the War Office for inspection, and its ribbon is attached.—Tit-Bits.

Paris-to-Channel Canals.

Construction of a canal to give Paris direct communication with the English Channel at Dieppe is receiving serious consideration. The plan is by no means a new one. It was originally suggested in 1694 and has since been re-proposed on several occasions. The congestion of traffic on the Seine makes the project one of considerable importance at this time. According to the plans that have been prepared, the waterway will accommodate vessels of about 1,400-ton cargo capacity. It will be approximately 102 miles in length, as compared with the Seine's devious route of some 219 miles. Tracks will be laid parallel with it so that barges may be towed by electric locomotives. —Popular Mechanics.

WAIST OF FLESH GEORGETTE

Simple yet extremely becoming is this bijou waist of flesh georgette. The double collar of knife plaiting, the turnback cuffs, held by bows of moire silk and the box plaits with an interesting line of hemstitching through the center are items worthy of note.

The Limit.

Apropos of the Northland enquiry, the following story is told concerning Gen. Sir H. Plumer:

It appears that a French liaison officer came to him and lodged an informal complaint concerning the quality of the rations that were being issued to some of the French troops.

"Do you ever get diseased meat in your command, sir?" he asked.

"Worse," replied Plumer, blandly.

"What do you mean, worse?" cried the surprised Frenchman.

"The meat served out to us is dead," confided Plumer, in a stage whisper.

Economy.

A North of Ireland man wanted to send a telegram to a friend in a remote part of the island. The clerk told him the charge would be one shilling and sixpence. "How do you make that out?" "Sixpence for the wire and a shilling for delivery outside the radius." "That be hanged!" retorted the Irishman, "You send the telegram and I'll write and ask him to call for it."

BUDGET WILL SHOW CANADA IS STILL FINANCIALLY STRONG

There is a Surplus of Nearly Million Dollars to Place Against New Expenditures.

Ottawa, Feb. 12—Although there are twenty Cabinet Ministers, only ten will be in the Commons to carry on the work of the session. It will be a busy session for those ten ministers.

There are now three ministers in the Senate. Sir James Lougheed, Hon. Gideon Robertson and Hon. Pierre Blondin. There are five ministers overseas, Sir Robert Borden, Sir Edward Kemp, Sir George Foster, Hon. Arthur Sifton and Hon. C. J. Doherty. Two ministers, Hon. C. C. Ballantyne and Hon. Frank Cochrane will be absent a large part of the session owing to illness.

With the opening of Parliament ten days away the Government legislative programme is practically complete. The work of the session promises to be mostly embraced in measures of re-construction. There will be a new soldiers land settlement bill, a Federal aid to Highways measure, a bill providing a Dominion grant to technical education and important railway, financial, commercial and labor legislation.

Aid to Railways

The appropriation to provide rolling stock and general repairs for Government railways will amount to $60,000,000 and at least $20,000,000 will be voted for public works. The budget, which will likely be brought down early in March, will show the country to be in a very strong position financially. The statement will show that after paying all current and capital expenditure, including interest on war loans and pensions, something like $90,000,000 will be left to place against war expenditure. In other words practically thirty per cent of the 1918-19 fiscal year war expenditure will have been paid out of current revenue, something which all things considered, is regarded as a most satisfactory achievement.

The total revenue for the year will be known to exceed $300,000,000 the largest in the Dominion's history—with customs duties supplying the lion's share. Miscellaneous revenue however, including the war profits tax will supply something like $55,000,000.

Big Loans for Soldiers

The soldiers land settlement measure will provide for larger loans for soldiers desirous of going on the land. The highways measure will likely set aside about $25,000,000 to be distributed among the various Provinces for construction and maintenance of good roads, the Dominion contributing something like equivalent contributing something like 40 per cent. toward construction of main or trunk highways. The bill providing a grant for technical education is understood to be upon the basis of a Federal 50 per cent grant toward all expenditures incurred by the Provinces; that is to say, the Dominion Government will contribute a dollar for every dollar the Provinces spend on technical instruction.

CITIZENS MUST USE GARBAGE CANS AS REQUIRED BY ACT

Board of Health Gives Sanitary Inspector Stapleton Authority to Enforce Law—No Pigs to be Kept Within City Limits This Year.

Miss Alice M. Price was appointed acting matron of the Isolation Hospital to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Reid at the meeting of the Board of Health last night. The motion was introduced by Dr. Amys and Mr. Morgan and the salary was set at $700.

Sanitary Inspector Stapleton complained about the varied and unsatisfactory receptacles people were using for their garbage. Furthermore they were not draining it and the frozen mass could not be dumped out of the can or box, which caused exasperating delays to the collectors. The cans, contrary to the provisions of the bylaw, were uncovered and dogs, which are running loose, despite the law to the contrary, frequently knock over the cans and the men will not shovel up the scattered refuse.

Thou Shall Not Spit.

Mr. Stapleton was given power to enforce the regulations bearing upon proper garbage cans. He complained about posters being scattered through the market building which ultimately found their way into the square and were blown about the streets. This matter will be taken up with the market clerk.

In the market building, according to Inspector Stapleton, on Saturdays there is a noble band which collects about the big box stove and discusses the current topics of the day chewing and smoking tobacco the while. There are two large cuspidors provided for these gentlemen, but Mr. Stapleton declared that judging from the appearance of the floor after their meeting adjourns, tubs would be quite inadequate for their accommodation. They are so engrossed in conversation that they have no attention left to devote to aiming at the spittoons therefore the floor is a disgrace every Saturday and the matter is to be taken up with the police at once as there is a bylaw which prohibits spitting on the floor and while there are no copies of it posted in the building at the present time, as one gentleman remarked last night, that is no excuse for failure to observe it as there are no notices on the walls prohibiting stealing and yet it is recognized as strictly against the law.

A practice of bringing in fowl with the heads on is being complained of by the patrons of the market upon the grounds that it is so much useless weight to be paid for by the buyer. Mr. Stapleton brought up this matter, but the Board felt that as there was nothing unsanitary about such a way of dressing fowl the question was outside their jurisdiction.

Pigs in the City.

Whether Peterborough citizens will or will not be allowed to keep a pig on their premises this year was considered by the members of the Board of Health last night. Dr. Amys was bitterly opposed to it, advancing as one of his reason that if the people were given liberty to rear one porker, they would have a dozen of them in their pen and would create a nuisance and a menace to public health.

It was decided to leave this matter to the discretion of the Medical Officer as had been done last year.

Caring for Orphans.

An interesting question developed in regard to the advisability of treating patients from St. Vincent's Orphanage and the Children's Shelter at the Isolation Hospital free of charge. Dr. Amys made the suggestion and Chairman Buller at once took exception to it upon the grounds that these children were in many cases from other parts of the country and that it would be ridiculous for the city of Peterborough to pay for their treatment when the law required that their own municipality be made to bear the expense.

"If a Peterborough child in a shelter or home in another city is taken ill and is receiving treatment, our council is notified by letter of this fact and is held responsible for the payment of treatment of the case. Why should we treat children of other municipalities free of charge? As far as taking care of inmates from the Children's Shelter or St. Vincent Orphanage, who are from the county or city is concerned, I am heartily in accord with such an idea," concluded Chairman Buller.

A motion was passed instructing the clerk to notify the municipalities of Smith, North Monaghan, Douro and Otonabee that the Board was desirous, at its next meeting, of meeting committees from their respective councils to discuss the advisability of throwing open the Isolation Hospital to cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria from their townships under the per capita payment arrangement.

Sewing Meeting at Shelter.

There will be a sewing meeting held in the Children's Shelter tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. All ladies interested will be welcomed and are urged to attend.

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD, HE SAYS

MILWAUKEE MAN SAYS MOTHER SUFFERED EIGHTEEN YEARS —TANLAC RESTORES HER.

"If everybody in Milwaukee knew how much good Tanlac has done my mother there isn't a one who wouldn't think just as I do—that it's worth its weight in gold," was the interesting statement made by Frank J. Passage, brakeman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, living at 25 25th Street, Milwaukee, recently. Mr. Passage's mother, Mrs. Minnie Passage, at the time she came to Milwaukee, four years ago, had been a resident of Shannon, Illinois, for fifty years, and is beloved by all who know her.

"For eighteen or twenty years," continued Mr. Passage, "my mother has had trouble with her stomach, and I can truthfully say that Tanlac is the only medicine I have been able to find in all that time to do her any good. Nothing she would eat agreed with her, and she was subject to frequent attacks of acute indigestion. In a little while after eating, her food would sour and bloat her up with gas and cause her to suffer for hours. At times this gas would press on her heart, almost cutting off her breath, and I actually thought she was going to die. She complained of awful pains through her stomach and left side and would belch up sour gas for hours. I have often had to get up in the middle of the night and doctor her on account of this gas and I don't believe she ever got a good night's rest on account of the pain she suffered. During the past year she lost twenty-five pounds in weight, or more, and all her strength seemed to leave her. During the past six months she has failed very much faster. All she was able to eat was a little soup or milk and soft boiled eggs, and even this would hurt her. Her condition became so serious that on December 7 I quit work in order to stay home and take care of her.

"One day I noticed a Tanlac testimonial in the paper which was so straightforward and convincing that I told mother I wanted her to try the medicine. She agreed, and at the time she started taking it she had been down in bed for five weeks and couldn't stand on her feet but a few minutes. If she tried. Well, she has taken two bottles now, and you may believe it or not, she is up doing all her cooking and household work and is just feeling fine. She is now sixty-nine years of age, but I declare she gets around like one many years younger. She sleeps like a child, eats anything she wants, and that gas and indigestion have stopped bothering her almost entirely. I have never seen such a change in anyone as Tanlac has made in mother. I am very grateful for it, and she is feeling mighty happy herself. We can't say too much in behalf of Tanlac and have been telling everyone in the neighborhood about it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. G. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

JUVENILE COURT FOR PETERBORO

JUDGE HUYCKE OFFERS TO PRESIDE OVER IT WITHOUT COMPENSATION

At a meeting of the Children's Aid Society held in the Bank of Montreal Chambers yesterday afternoon the following members were in attendance: Chairman Peck, Dr. King and Messrs. Wearing, Powell, Major Medd, Chief Thompson, Adjt. Bunton, Father Phelan, Warden MacIntosh and Mesdames Gibbs, Reid, Sanderson, Stocker Evans, Hopwood and Kimberly.

Mr. Powell, the agent, submitted his monthly report and Mrs. Gibbs tabled that of the Purchasing Committee for the past two months which showed minor disbursements amounting to the sum of $216.65.

Mr. Powell suggested the advisability of having a detention room in the shelter in which to keep children who were prisoners awaiting trial but too young to be lodged in the jail.

Mrs. Read, who is in charge of the shelter, made a statement in regard to conditions prevailing at the home and the prospects of the garden this season.

Chief Thompson, Major Medd and Alderman Edgar were appointed a committee to look into these matters and especially the question of a detention room and arrangements for taking care of the garden.

The Purchasing and Finance Committees were struck for the year with the following membership:—Purchasing—Mrs. Gibbs, chairman; President Peck, Secretary Wearing. Dr. King and Mrs. Stocker. Finance—Father Phelan, chairman; Adjt Bunton and Alderman Edgar.

Mrs. Gibbs, who had been the representative of the local branch of the society at the Social Service convention recently held in Toronto submitted her report of the proceedings which appears in this issue of the paper.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into ducts which would suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the blood stream, through the lymph of the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have billious attacks and stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

President Wilson plans to return from the U. S. to Paris by March, which involves a short stay at Washington.

It was stated that Judge Huycke had signified his willingness to assume the responsibilities of conducting the much needed juvenile court in this city without remuneration and this question, together with others relating to child welfare, will be taken up in the near future.

Although the warden of the county has been a member of the society for a great many years Warden MacIntosh's visit yesterday marked the first appearance at the meetings of the local organization of this city official in the history of the Children's Aid Association. He received a hearty welcome and expressed himself as being well pleased with the meeting and in sympathy with the work.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

SAYS WE MUST KEEP FEET DRY, AVOID EXPOSURE AND EAT LESS MEAT.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

DR. CODY TALKS ON RURAL SCHOOLS

BELIEVES THAT CONSOLIDATION IS THE ONLY HOPE FOR EFFICIENCY.

In an address in Toronto Hon. Dr Cody, minister of Education, directed his closing remarks to educational matters in the Province. The system, he said, was considered one of the best in the world, but that did not mean that we might be self-complacent, but that we must go on to perfection.

The main lines of betterment would be in the cities and larger towns, said the Minister of Education where more schools of an industrial and technical character would be formed.

Touching on the problem of the rural schools Dr. Cody stated that some scheme for consolidating these was being worked out, and inquiries from all parts of the Province were coming in in that connection all the time.

The health of the boys and girls in the schools of the cities and larger towns was also given consideration and regular medical inspection had been established with splendid clinical rooms. In conjunction with the Department of Health and the Women's Institute, Dr. Cody said it was hoped that in the course of a year a thorough survey of the health of the children of the entire Province would have been made.

"There is no investment that brings forth in the long run greater results than the investment made in education," said Dr. Cody, and added that salaries commensurate with the work should be paid to the teachers.

DONT PAY TAXES ON POOR MATCHES

The war-tax has practically doubled the price of the best grades of matches, and has more than doubled the price of the cheaper kinds.
And the tax adds nothing to the value of the match. You can't light your pipe with the tax, yet you pay as much on a poor match as on a good one.

The annual short course for East Durham was favored with excellent weather and ideal roads. A. A. McMillan, B. S. He gave a good review of the live stock situation encouraging the farmer to continue in producing prime steers and choice lambs. "Export Trade" he said, "will continue to pay a good price for these." Thirty-Five Years In Public Service

An item that seems to have escaped much notice is the fact that the new chairman of the Library Board, Mr. John R. Corkery, is a man who has devoted as much time in the service of his fellow citizens as anyone in the city. With the possible exception of Mr. Dumble, our esteemed magistrate, there seems to be nobody who can lay claim to such length of consecutive service. A fact not generally known is that Mr. Corkery has not only been interested for the long period of thirty-five years in library work in Peterborough, but that he was also for a short time Mayor of Peterborough.

LONDON WOMEN SMOKE

And Drinking is General in British Capital.

London, Feb. 12.—The cigarette habit which is growing among women, especially those who have been engaged in war industries, is provoking as much criticism as are the garments some women are wearing. Many persons attending jazz dances lately have been astonished by some of the costumes displayed, others been shocked at fancy dress dances by the scantiness of attire, especially by the ladies who wore only highly colored pyjamas. Physicians say there has never been so much smoking by women as at present. It is a common experience to see well-dressed women walking away from theatres in the evening smoking with their male escorts, and even in daylight it is common to see women smoking in limousines or taxicabs. The great popularity of cocktails is traced by physicians to this over indulgence in cigarettes.

ARENAS DEFEAT THE CANADIENS

SCORE AT TORONTO 6 TO 4 IN FAVOR OF HOME TEAM

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The Arenas defeated the Canadiens here last night by 6 to 4 and have still an outside chance to overhaul Ottawa and figure in a play-off for the title. However, to do so they will have to play much better than they did last evening. They won the game strictly on their merits, but they did not show any extraordinary ability.

Randall and Noble again bore the brunt of the work for the Blue Shirts, and both were prominent at all times. The former notched three of the six goals after clever end-to-end dashes, while the latter did some two counters. Lindsay showed up well in the net, while Mummery blocked in his usual stellar style.

The game proved exciting in the final thirty minutes, but previous to this it was a listless affair. Canadiens did not extend themselves at first, but they were going strong at the finish. "Newsy" Lalonde was again prominent, while Pitre played better than is usual for him on local ice. He made many spectacular dashes but was unable to outguess the local defence.

The best hockey of the night was shown in the final period. Lalonde repeatedly led dangerous attacks on the local citadel and was ably assisted by Pitre. However, try as they would, the Arenas had a slight edge and outscored Canadiens 2 to 1. The line-up:

Arenas—Goal, Lindsay; defense, Mummery and Randall; wings, Skinner and Crawford; centre, Noble. Subs—Adams, Dennenay and Meeking.

Canadiens—Goal, Vezina; defense, Hall and Corbeau; wings, Pitre and Cleghorn; centre, Lalonde. Subs—Coutu, McDonald and Berlanquette.

Officials—S. Vair and L. Marsh.

READY TO FIGHT LEE'S NEW LEAGUE

FRANK SHAUGHNESSY REPORTED IN FIELD WITH RIVAL ORGANIZATION.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Frank Shaughnessy of Ottawa, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the proposed Ontario-Michigan League, and who, it is said, will be offered the management of the Hamilton team, said he had no connection whatever with "Knotty" Lee's circuit.

Shaughnessy has been working toward the organization of a league to include Montreal, Ottawa, London, Hamilton, Brantford and another Canadian town, which he thinks would be a big success. He believes that the proposed Ontario-Michigan League would be a financial "bloomer," pointing to the failure of Erie when admitted in 1914 to the Canadian League. "Shag" says that baseball is dead in Michigan, and that the international loop would never go. He intends to call a meeting shortly of those interested in the proposed all-Canadian League.

Oshawa Gains An Easy Lead

Gravenhurst, Feb. 12.—A very fast second round O. H. A. intermediate game played here last night between the locals and Oshawa ended in a score of 11-3 in favor of the visitors. Gravenhurst had much of the play, but were unable to get many goals past Childs, who starred for the visitors. The return game will be played at Oshawa on Friday. The teams:

Gravenhurst—Goal, Hayton; defence, Roe and Groh; centre, Lafraniere; wings, Christenson and McBrien. Substitutes—Shane and Stafford.

Oshawa—Goal, Childs; defence, Jacobie and Kemp; centre, Bone; wings, Rowden and Jacque. Substitutes—Hamley and Blanchard.

Referee—Lawson Whitehead, Toronto.

KITCHENER TO STAY IN LEAGUE

PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS MEN BEHIND THE ONTARIO-MICHIGAN CLUB

Kitchener, Feb. 12.—Great satisfaction prevails in Kitchener baseball circles at the inclusion of this city in the Ontario-Michigan League.

AN AMERICAN ABROAD.

A Candid Confession of a Man in London.

According to an American writer, the American stops boasting when he arrives in London. He stops patting himself on the back and filling the air with ecstatic mispronunciations of Chateau Thierry. The streets are jammed with soldiers—Australians, Arabs, New Zealanders, Canadians, Tommies. They drift by the thousands through Piccadilly and the Strand. They are in all the restaurants and on all buses. Slowly it dawns on the American that "Tipperary" is an older song than "Over There."

This dawn is followed by the sudden realization that there are no black gowned wives and mothers mourning in the streets of London—that there is no daze over the heart of London. Cheerful, crowded, busy London swarms around the American as if there never had been any air raids, any Ypres, any Belgium or any Flanders.

There is only one outstanding oddity in London—woman. Something has happened to her. It is not so much that she wears boots and bloomers and washes restaurant windows, that she tends bar, runs buses, works behind most of the counters in the city, or that she smokes in the street. It is that in four years she has grown up into a man. A London woman dares look at the American as she sells him a package of cigarettes and her look is unfeminine. It is not hard. It is the look of one who says "I belong to the race of human beings and not to the weaker sex." Regarding the London woman the American feels less inclined to boast than ever. Under wooden crosses in France lies a generation of Englishmen. Their women have taken their places in England.

Because the American no longer boasts his way through London the Londoner no longer smiles tolerantly at him. And pocketing his change at the tobacconist the American feels a fellowship that his history and the story of Bunker Hill have never taught him.

Australia's Sweet Tooth.

When the war broke out in 1914, and the world's sugar market became dislocated it affected Australia as well as other countries. The Commonwealth Government at once took a hand in the business and through the Queensland Government acquired the whole of the 1914-15 output for 3.90c. per pound, an advance of 1.00c on rates ruling during the former season. In the following year (1915) the crop was again purchased by the Commonwealth, the retail price to Australian consumers remaining at 7c a pound.

However, wages had meanwhile advanced to a point which made the prices allowed farmers insufficient to pay even the cost of harvesting the 1916 crop.

Consequently much cane intended for that harvest was carried over to the next and the Commonwealth imported 70,000 tons of sugar.

Those who did harvest their crops at a loss were later reimbursed by the Government, which had made about $2,400,000 out of its handling of sugar.

The whole position was then reexamined and for the third season's crop (1917) the Government guaranteed the growers 4.56c per pound and further offered to pool all profits accruing.

Most of the Australian crop is produced in the state of Queensland.

Popular belief that the United States consumes more sugar per capita than any other country in the world is incorrect, as Australia has been surpassing the United States by at least 25 per cent. for many years.

An Allenby Story.

Gen. Allenby, the hero of the victorious British campaign in Palestine, is fond of telling a story concerning the guilelessness of a certain Indian soldier of his army.

There is, it appears, a good deal of counterfeit coin in circulation out there, and one day the soldier in question tendered at his canteen a ten-piastre piece which on examination was found to be bad.

The canteen steward called his attention to the fact, and at his request handed the coin back to him in order that he might examine it.

He turned it over and over, scanning it closely. Then he said, quite innocently:

"You may this coin is counterfeit, sahib. I think you must be mistaken, for the date upon it, you will observe, is 1900. If it were false, surely it would have been found out before this."

Systematic Effort Wins.

If we take our days and reduce them to the essentials we shall find that there are many real things to do, needful things to do, and we shall go about these tasks quietly and earnestly, not expressing our energies through a hundred trifles, but through true effort, properly directed, doing whatever our hands and hearts and minds find to do, godly and well.

Compliment for Kathleen.

Kathleen told some stories to a little niece and nephew. At a family dinner party grandpa referred to these same nursery tales, but not following the exact lines, when Margaret piped up: "No, no, grandpa, that is not the way Kathleen tells the stories and Kathleen is a good knower."

The men who are behind the enterprise in this city are young and progressive business men who are confident that with a good team of ball players Kitchener will be one of the best cities in the circuit, the claims of Guelph notwithstanding.

It is not known as yet who will manage the Kitchener team, but lines are out for a manager who knows ball players and with executive ability. Arrangements will be made to provide new grand stand and bleacher accommodation at the Victoria Athletic Grounds.

British Leader of Labor

Began His Life as Pit-boy, Now Leads the Opposition

WILLIAM ADAMSON, who as chairman of the British Labor Parliamentary party becomes virtual leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, is a miner, having started work in the pit when eleven years of age, and continued work in the mines for twenty-seven years. Fifty-seven years of age he is, with his deep-set eyes, close chestnut hair and toothbrush moustache, a typical Scotchman. His early education was obtained at a village [illegible] school.

Mr. Adamson has represented West Fife since 1910. He was assistant secretary of the Fife Miners' Association for six years, and in 1908 was appointed general secretary. In December, 1917, he was selected chairman of the British Labor party, his election being somewhat of a surprise.

One of the shrewdest and most level-headed men in the Labor movement, the new leader is cautious to a degree, and never opens his mouth unless he is sure of his facts. He has a habit of thinking silently before he speaks, and will never let his party down by talking too much.

Mr. Peter Wright, the chairman of the British Seamen's Union, who visited Canada recently, evinced great satisfaction at his appointment.

"I am pleased to hear that Billy has been elected to such an important position," said Mr. Wright. "It means sanity, common sense and progress in this critical and transitory period.

"It will be interesting for the Canadian people to know that he is a worker who started his toiling profession at eleven years of age, and is now a Privy Councillor like our great Jimmy Thomas, the leader of the railway workers and M. P. for Derby. Billy Adamson has the reputation of a clear-headed capable leader, in whom the Trades Unionists of Great Britain place their entire confidence. He is a born fighter who is admired by his greatest opponents for his integrity, honor and sterling character.

"Politically he believes that the workers can work out their own salvation through the House of Commons. He believes that the spirit and tactics of the growing philosophy of Bolshevism must be crushed by the workers themselves. He believes that the attitude of capital and labor towards each other is too largely one of mistrust born of fear. At the Trades Congress at Derby last year he stated that if industry is to serve humanity this attitude of distrust must be changed to one of trust inspired by faith. The changes will involve patience, but nothing short of it will solve the problems which must be faced, and I am assured with "Billy" in the House of Commons at the head of our Labor party great success will be obtained in leading his followers to a constructive policy and bring into being a happy and brighter future for the workers of Great Britain. He is a fighter of the first order, and a sound diplomat, in whom the workers have entire confidence and place fullest trust."

Safety-first Colors.

Has the war beautified or disfigured the merchant ships of the nations?

Ships of the Allies are either camouflaged or painted grey, and are armed—no beauty about this. It is when we see neutral steamers that we get something of the colors of war. With great dignity these vessels flaunt their national colors on bull and stern.

The iron-ore ship from Bilbao has red and gold bars painted on her side, while the timber craft from Brammen or other Norwegian ports bears a large red patch down her hull, on which there stands a deep blue cross.

Greece has her blue and white stripes, and Denmark her red with white cross. Sweden boasts a golden cross on a marine-blue background, and Holland bars of red, white and blue respectively.

It does not seem so long ago that he trim American merchantman clamored her identity to the seven seas by means of a mighty "star-spangled banner" on her hull.—Tit-Bits.

GOWNS AND HATS OF WHITE

These Promise to Be Prime Favorites This Winter, Velvet to Figure Prominently.

White is to have a vogue this winter. Long white coats are very smart indeed. So much is white to be in evidence this season that smart milliners are bringing out many hats of white velvet, or at least showing some trimming of this sort introduced here and there. After one has left youth far behind white needs most skillful treatment to be worn becomingly. It is always best to subdue it wherever possible with some beading or overdraping of latticed effect.

Nothing could be prettier than the new dinner gowns of white velvet. They are unrelieved by any sort of ornament. Now that well-dressed women do not wear jewelry of any sort, there is not even a gleaming diamond permitted to be worn with these dead white frocks. No sleeves, no corsage decorations and no sashes appear. One can readily see that only the freshness of youth and the most pronounced beauty can successfully carry off a white velvet frock. They may be summed up in the brief verdict: Beautiful—at least to behold.

Along with the vogue of white is that for a combination of black and white, always much favored, but again a fashion demanding skillful treatment to be successful.

BEADED NOVELTIES ARE HERE

Wrist Chains for Neck Wear Among the Attractive Trinkets Which Have Been Imported.

Among the trinkets which have been imported to this country and are selling in various places are chains to be worn around the neck. To say that they are woven does not in the least degree describe the intricacy of the patterns and designs.

One, for instance, of electric blue and silver beads, is woven in patches about an inch and a half long by a half inch wide, strung together by a dozen or more strands of the beads, on straight strings, these strands being, again, about two inches in length. At the end, for a pendant, there is a square, dangling midway between the [illegible] and [illegible], [illegible] in the largement of the pattern displayed in the other bits of weaving. The pattern is not distinct. It has an elusive way with it, being a design in the silver with a background of the shimmering blue beads.

This chain, or whatever you wish to call it, was worn with a street gown of black satin. The gown itself was entirely without trimming and it had one of those very popular and beautiful neck lines reaching in a straight line from shoulder to shoulder. This enabled the chain to show against the whiteness of skin for a space, and then to appear shining against the shiny blackness of the satin. The effect was decidedly interesting, and the beads held one's attention as a beautiful jewel might have done.

Lesson for Pig Raisers.

Efficiency in pig raising was shown in Louisiana, where two men selected litter mates eight weeks old. At the end of the fattening season one pig weighed 520 pounds, the other only 61. The expenses were respectively, $15.54 and $5; and the one sold for $58, the other for $8. This means weight in the proportion of 1 to 8; expenses, 3.11 to 1; selling price, 7.25 to 1. Thus, scientific raising can eliminate the notorious "razorback" hog.

A Puzzler.

A Frenchman, boasting in company that he had thoroughly mastered the English language, was asked to write the following from dictation: "As Hugh Hughes was hewing a yuleog from a yew-tree, a man dressed in clothes of a dark hue came up to Hugh and said, 'Have you seen my ewes? If you will wait until I hew this yew, I will go with you anywhere in Europe to look for your ewes,' said Hugh."—Tit-Bits.

Ability of the Aged.

It has often been said that a man cannot learn a new trade after he is forty, but this statement has frequently been disproved. Peter S. Du Ponceau was eighty when he wrote his valuable treatise on the Cochin Chinese language, and had only then recently taken up the study; and the late John Bigelow was still an author turning out a book when he passed his ninety-fifth birthday. — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Effigies Thought to Bring Luck.

The scarab of the land of the Pyramids is the expression of the hope of resurrection and the desire to live long. As the beetle was supposed to be always born anew, so the carrying of the beetle or its image came into the customs of the ancients. The warriors of an older day hung the images of gods about their necks, and many of the brooches and pins of the old fighters were the effigies of luck-bringing divinities.

Some Fish Not Eatable.

While there are many varieties and great quantities of curious fish in the abysmal depths of the ocean (some have been trawled up from depths of three miles or more), none of these are eatable. The limit to which fish fit for food is found is 1,600 feet.

A Paradox.

"Strange as it may seem," launched out the man of observations, "when the young lady of the house declares that a certain young man is after her own heart, and father says he is after his, too, there is no chance whatever for an argument."

AMERICAN RING TITLES NOW SEEM TO BE IN GREAT DANGER

Enlisted Men Returning to Civil Life May Have Something to Say in Connection With Fistic Championship—Pugilistic Critics See Jack Dempsey's Weakness.

When World's Champion Benny Leonard and his manager, Billy Gibson, returned recently from the Pacific coast, where they had made a round of the training camps in aid of war charities, they made a most remarkable statement. "Six months after the war is over there will not be a ring champion of any class who will be game of his title," was their surprising statement. "You can make it as strong as you please," added Gibson. "We know." Their idea was born of a trying experience. Leonard, to boost war charities, had gone into the camps and boxed any enlisted man whom his officers would nominate. There was no argument over weights. Frequently Benny would give away ten or fifteen pounds; Again some of the huge ambitions would scale less than the champion.

One little red-headed fellow sailed into Leonard as though the latter was a mere preliminary fighter. He nearly toppled the champion in the first two rounds. In the next two experience began to count and play its part.

Leonard won out, but he will never forget what a close call he had. It was that bout that led Billy Gibson and the champion to make the assertion. Had the youngster known half as much about the scientific side of boxing as does Leonard, there might have been a different story to tell.

When the two million men return to civil life after the rigors of war training there are going to be thousands who will continue their boxing. It will be these men who will likely have something to say about ring titles. The writer last week stated that it was a far cry to the heavyweight throne for Jack Dempsey, and the statement is being accentuated as each day passes. Young heavyweights have been developed at the army and navy camps by the score. They have been kept under cover. When they are unleashed Dempsey, Miske, Meehan and every other heavyweight aspirant, and even Champion Willard will have to be in his best trim to maintain his ring standing.

There is no more sincere student of boxing than Jack Skelly, who in the early nineties was the peer of all amateur featherweights. In regard to Dempsey he writes as follows: Jack has not been handled wisely. Imagine a rolypoly fellow like Billy Meehan holding three decisions over him, and his manager making no effort to secure a return match with "Beefy Bill" in order to wipe out this blemish on Dempsey's record. Surely, the latter does not fear the fat boy of San Francisco, but why don't he go after him and wipe out those black marks?

Then there's two unsatisfactory fights with Billy Miske. Dempsey should demand a twenty-round contest with Miske in order to prove his superiority over such a formidable opponent. It's quite evident that Jack cannot beat Billy decisively in six or ten rounds, so it behooves Dempsey to take Miske on for twenty sessions—nothing less will do, boy.

Probably the greatest handicap Dempsey is under is his lack of scientific boxing. He's a great hitter, very speedy, game, has fine endurance and great stamina, but he's not an accurate puncher and does not time his leads well. He misses too often, and before a real skillful opponent Jack is very apt to whip himself by his great exertions and useless blows in the air.

If his manager is wise, he will secure the services of some of the old ring artists to teach him the many fine points of the game. No man was ever a Queensbury champion who was not more or less clever in ringcraft. Even old John L. Sullivan, who was frequently called a mere slugger, had a certain amount of skill and wise fistic tactics which made him a great world beater. They can say what they like about the old gladiator, but he was a man of more than ordinary intelligence and used his brain as well as his immense physical power to win many a close battle. That he was a scientific boxer and studied defence was borne out by the fact that when he was carried to his grave his face had no marks of his many ring battles.

PETERBORO TEAM LOSE PROTEST

OLIVER WAS ELIGIBLE TO PLAY HOCKEY WITH THE LINDSAYS.

Peterborough's protest against the result of the round with Lindsay on the grounds that Lindsay's goal tender, Claude Oliver, was not eligible to play under the residence rule was dismissed and the local team officials notified to this effect last night.

The communication from the O. H. A. executive stated that the status of Oliver had been enquired into and that it had been found that he was eligible to play in as much as he was attending the Technical School in Lindsay where he was taking a course in telegraphy. It cost Peterborough $25 to have the claim investigated. The local officials claimed that Oliver was employed at Severn Bridge and that he was playing for Lindsay contrary to O. H. A. regulations.

Mrs. Kitchen of St. Joseph's Island poisoned her three children, and after two frustrated attempts to drown herself ended her life by poison also.

Senator King of Utah, a member of the Propaganda Committee, told the Senate he had conferred with Department of Labor officials and had been advised that as soon as tonnage was available the Department planned to deport "many of these alien anarchists and bolsheviki."

SOCIAL WELFARE CONFERENCE FAVORED MOTHERS' PENSIONS

Mrs. Gibbs Submits Report of Toronto Gathering at Meeting of the Children's Aid Society.

Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, who as delegate for the Children's Aid Society attended the recent Social Welfare Conference in Toronto, read the following interesting account of the conference at the meeting held yesterday afternoon:

The Social Welfare Congress opened with hundreds of representatives from all parts of Canada. It was held in the Guild Room, Toronto, on January 14, 15, 16, 1919.

The part I was most interested in was child welfare, in which I give a short report on the different papers.

On Tuesday at 2.30 the meeting opened with Mr. Harkness of Winnipeg in the chair. In his address he said: We are not at the begining of this agitation. Such a bureau has been advocated for years, especially by women's organizations, but Canada as a whole is now taking a deeper interest and beginning to place the emphasis on preventive rather than remedial measures. As to the illegitimate child he hoped to see the day when the phrase would be banned from the language.

Allowance for Dependent Mothers

Mr. Falk claimed there were four classes to whom he would not have the allowance apply. First, the deserted woman, because she not infrequently contributed to her husband's delinquency. The woman whose husband is in jail, where he should be made to work to support her and his family, and for the case of the unmarried mother. The father should be brought to book. In Manitoba he certainly is. Why not here? We have a case now. It is hard to force the relatives of the woman or girl to recognize their responsibility.

Then there was the organization which looks after the inspection of children's foster homes. Mr. Bryce suggested that some means be taken to indicate to the public the real function of the juvenile courts, stating that there were only six juvenile courts in Ontario. He also urged that public opinion be sought in favor of increasing the funds of the C.A.S. and thus increasing the efficiency of that organization.

The Feeble Minded

Dr. Hincks, who spoke on "Feeble Minded," in giving evidence of his observation in Public Schools, said he had examined 10,000 children. Approximately 2 per cent were not fitted for ordinary Public School classes, owing to the fact that feeble-minded children could not pass into higher grades in a period of 4 to 5 years; were 761 feeble-minded children convicted of thefts, 234 unmarried mothers who were mentally deficient, 231 guilty of immorality, 86 of whom were under 15 years of age. The influence of inter marriage upon mentality was a serious thing, as he had examined a family, man and wife and six children all feebleminded, ages from 2 to 12 years. Surely this is a case where the government is to blame. They are not fit for Children's Shelter or Detention Homes. What is needed is a home for feebleminded. Dr. Hincks was a committee to wait upon the government to lay the blame. We will give it our serious consideration.

Child Labor

Miss Whitton gave a splendid paper on Child Labor. Statistics being unavailable in Canada, those from the United States were used and a comparison made. In Canada there has been shown a heavy tendency on the part of parents, children and employers to apply for permits to work in factories for women and children, with a persistent tendency to ask for permits for children under 14 years of age. The census for 1911 showed males of 10 to 14 years of age to be 74 per cent, of the total, and females 212 per cent, 3 times as many little girls as boys.

Child Welfare Work

Mr. Stapleton gave valuable suggestions as to organization of child welfare work. The object of these demonstrations is to transfer to the many the knowledge possessed by the few. Child welfare is not merely a matter of health, but also of recreation, education and moral training. He also suggested co-operation with all agencies in the community, churches, Sunday Schools, Women's Organizations and the like.

There were many more good papers for child welfare which I may take up again and not infringe too much and take up too much time.

"A LITTLE MOTHER" A PLAY WITH HIGH MORAL LESSON

Without Condeming the Sin the Friends of the Erring One Give Their Sympathy to the Sinner.

Lem B. Parker, author of the play, "A Little Mother," which was presented at the Grand Opera House last night, knows human nature, especially that phase of it that is portrayed by the people of New England and which has changed little since the days when the scantimonious Judean mob gathered up stones to cast at the woman who sinned. Mr. Parker takes as the basis of his drama an incident that is all too common in the records of the past four years and has made a story, the recital of which cannot but force the audience to the conclusion that after all there is more good than evil among the people of the earth, more real tenderness than censure for the erring.

There is a local interest in this play as Oscar O'Shea, a former Peterborough boy, takes the leading male role, that of a delightful old small town resident as shrewd in his business dealings as he is strong in his affection for his family and for the erring grand-daughter especially. His own daughter, a typical spinster of the down-east school, has a bitter tongue, but in the end, she reveals a heart of gold. There is humor and pathos in the play from start to the final drop of the curtain and a touch of realism is given the performance by the introduction of a live baby upon the stage. As a contrast to the charitable forgiveness of the all but heart-broken old grandfather when he learns of his grand-daughter's sin there is made to stand out in bold relief the censure of the church elders who would banish her from the town, deprive her of the care of her own child and visit her offence upon every member of her family.

Good as was the work of every member of the cast it must be said that Oscar O'Shea carried off all the honors of the evening and Peterborough has reason to be proud of its native son. Denham Thompson in his best day, never appeared to better effect in "The Old Homestead" than does Mr. O'Shea as Milo Stevens, a true gentleman of the old school in "A Little Mother."

Miss Cecelia Jacques, who had the role of the "little mother" had a difficult part but handled it admiredly. Her best work was done in the last act when she gave an excellent rendition of the sacrifice a mother is at all times willing to make for her child.

Miss Esther Evans, as Martha portrayed the spinster, whose natural warm-heartedness causes her to forgive at the right time and was equal to the demands upon her, while Miss Constance Neilson as Cherry Bash, "a breeze from Wyoming" invested her part with the hoydenish abandon it called for and gave an altogether delightful performance.

Charles Greiner, as Johnny Stevens was furnished comedy. Charles Ohimeyer, as George Wood, was sufficiently spineless to meet the requirements of his part, while Earl Jamieson, in the leading juvenile role, looked as well as he acted. It was not hard to imagine his success when he left the peaceful country village for the European battlefield.

The play will be repeated tonight.

TRINITY CHURCH TAKES ACTION

SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT APPEALS TO LEGISLATURE AND PARLIAMENT.

The Social Service Department of Trinity Church have sent the following memorial to Premier Hearst, at Toronto and Acting Premier Sir Thomas White at Ottawa:

The Official Board of Trinity Methodist Church, Peterboro, unanimously request the Premier and Government of Ontario to enact such further legislation that will remove entirely the bane of patronage from the field of party manipulation.

The time is most opportune, with a strong Government of good record, public opinion strongly endorsing such action and the Federal Government co-operating the day of this hindrance and reproach to good government should cease.

Respectfully submitted.

A. B. CUNNINGHAM
Chairman Social Service Dept

To Sir Thomas White

The Official Board of Trinity Methodist Church, Peterboro unanimously recommend:

That the Prime Minister and Government of Canada be requested to take the steps necessary to continue in force the provisions of the order in council of March 11, 1918, relating to the prohibition of the liquor traffic, by having the same embodied in legislation to be enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

That the legislation so enacted be continued in effect until such time as the vote of the electors of the Dominion of Canada shall have been taken on the question of continuance or discontinuance.

That the vote on this question be taken on a date fixed by the Government at least six months prior to the day of voting and with due regard to the restoration to civil life in Canada of the Canadian soldiers now overseas.

To make effective the overthrow of the traffic in our own Dominion, and in view of prohibition coming in force in the United States, it is imperative that we protect our country from an incursion of the lower elements of the traffic, who deprived of action in the United States would seek to make our country a place of rendevous and source of illicit operation.

MARRIAGE

"Marriage" is one thing we all try to enter, avoid and escape. It is a luxury for the rich, a necessity for the poor and nuisance for the majority. "Jerome," the noted New York attorney in the Thaw case said: "If husbands and wives were not so anxious to fine errors in one anothers past lives, nine cases out of ten would be eliminated." "The Other Man's Wife," which ran for six solid months at the Republic Theatre in New York, tells a beautiful story of the "two paths" when it is unfolded at the Grand next Saturday afternoon and evening.

UNION OF MINERS DECIDE TO TAKE A STRIKE VOTE FEB. 22

If Demands Is For Strike Men Will Be Called Out March 15th Unless Employers Grant Demands.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 13.—The miners federation of Great Britain in the conference at Southport today decided to take a strike vote returnable on February 22. The Federation yesterday voted to reject the proposals of the Government to meet the miners, demand for a six hour and a thirty per cent increase in wages. The statement on the strike vote declares that "should the ballot be for a strike notices will terminate on March 15." The executive committee of the miners' federation decided by unanimous vote that the government reply did not answer any of the miner's demands and in a statement strongly urged all miners to vote for the stoppage of work until the demands are conceded.

PEACE LEAGUE TO MAINTAIN ARMY

THIS IS FRANCE'S IDEA FOR MAKING WORLD PEACE PERPETUAL.

Paris, Feb. 13.—The French Government formally presented to the league of nations commission an article creating an international military force. The introduction of this article for inclusion in the league of nations plan closely follows the disclosure by Premier Clemenceau, in his recent interview with The Associated Press, of his conviction that the league of nations must be supported by the determination of each nation entering into the agreement to be willing to renounce its traditional aloofness from other peoples and willing to employ the national strength outside its own country in both time of peace as well as under the pressure of war.

M. Bourgeois, alluding to the apprehension existing in France, as regards Germany, insisted that there was grave danger confronting France if an international force was not constantly in being and organized for instant action. The French view, he indicated, was that a league of nations which did not include a permanent collective force might be a beautiful example perhaps, but an experiment too great for a nation to risk unless it had in addition defensive frontiers sufficient to meet a sudden shock.

It was easy for the British, and with an enormous navy, or for the Americans with the ocean as their defensive frontiers, he argued, to regard calmly the worving of a league which did not provide for an international force. France, however, being separated from Germany only by an international line, must receive the first shock if Germany should decide to pass beyond her frontiers.

The contention of those who do not believe in a permanent organized international army, these including the American delegates, is that to create such an army would require changes in the several countries which may become members if the difficulties in the way are not of a character to be solved quickly. They argue that the society could be maintained effectively by its members being absolutely bound the moment a hostile movement was made by any nation, to co-operate with their forces against the aggressor. The idea is advanced by some of the delegates of the society of nations that should Germany for example, send a single military unit across the French frontier, that act should automatically be a declaration of war against all the other members of the society who would thus be bound automatically to set in motion their collective military and naval forces.

Radek Arrested By Berlin Police

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Basle, Feb. 13.—Karl Radek, the Russian Bolshevik emissary, who has been accused by the German authorities of being the instigator of numerous radical outbreaks in German territory, has been discovered and arrested by the Berlin police, according to a Berlin despatch today. His whereabouts had been a mystery for some time.

JAMES COLLINS UNDER ARREST

YOUNG FARMER IS CHARGED WITH BEING A MILITARY DEFAULTER

Thomas James Collins, a young farmer of Emily Township, was arrested yesterday afternoon at a sale at Spence' farm, near Omemee, by Dominion police, charged with having been a defaulter under the Military Service Act. The information was laid by Inspector H. F. Ward, of the local detachment.

This morning Collins appeared before the police magistrate. He was accused of failure to report to the 1st depot battalion when ordered to do so on May 17th, 1918. The case was remanded until Feb. 20th and the young man allowed his temporary liberty upon $2000 bail; $1000 advanced by the accused himself, $500 by the father, Patrick Collins, and the remaining $500 by John Mulloy.

This is the second arrest made in this district by Dominion Police within the past two weeks.

BREAD IS SCARCE WITH BOLSHEVIK

TWENTY - THREE THOUSAND TROOPS OPPOSE THE ALLIES IN SIBERIA.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 13.—The Bolshevik force fighting the Allies in Northern Russia comprises 23,000 men, with 151 machine guns, 66 field guns and nine six-inch guns, according to a statement from authoritative quarters here. An attempt is being made to standardize the organization and equipment of the Soviet armies and schools for officers and aviators have been opened. General Vetrikis, Lett, has been appointed commander-in-chief of all the Soviet armies. The bread ration of the Soviet troops has been reduced from two pounds to one pound daily, the information shows, and there are other indications that the Bolshevik are suffering from a food shortage.

MUST BE BROUGHT BEFORE HOUSE

QUESTION OF FARES OF DEPENDENTS WHO RETURNED BEFORE ARMISTICE

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Although the Government is receiving many letters from soldiers' wives and dependents who returned to Canada before November 11th, paying their own way, no change has been made yet in the decision to pay only the fares of those who came to Canada after the armistice was signed. The tenor of the letters received is to the effect that those who came to Canada last spring and later, did so in response to the invitation of the authorities in order to lessen the British Isle, and that in braving the submarine dangers of that period they took a risk which entitles them to great consideration rather than less. For a week the matter has been understood to be under consideration, but your correspondent is informed tonight that no change will be made in the present arrangements unless made as a result of Parliamentary debates on the subject.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL ORDER AMERICAN TROOPS TO TAKE UP ARMS AGAIN

If Germans Fail to Observe Terms of the Armistice in Which Event Hostilities Must Be Renewed—Armistice is Extended For Short Time.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 13.—The commission on the Society of Nations resumed its sessions this morning with a full attendance of members. It was hoped to reach a final adjustment at today's sitting. It may be possible to submit the program to the plenary session of the peace conference on Friday.

The supreme war council has decided, says a Havras report, that the armistice with Germany will be renewed on February 17, for a very brief period, with the Allies reserving the right to suspend it at any time in the event of Germany's failure to carry out new clauses or those which have hitherto not been executed.

It is said the terms will provide that the Germans must cease hostilities against the Poles and maintain their forces within fixed limits. During the brief period of a renewed armistice which will last till the signing of the peace preliminaries. These terms, it is understood will be communicated to Germany so that the national assembly at Weimar will have time to deliberate upon them, until the provisional armistice expires.

President Wilson, according to the report, is understood to have declared in conversation that the resumption of hostilities was a grave eventuality to which he would agree only on the most absolutely essential considerations, and not for any secondary motive. The report states that, in Mr. Wilson's opinion, the non-execution of the terms of the armistice by Germany would be an incident of such a nature as to justify a resumption of the war and it is said that he would not hesitate in that case to order the American army to take up arms again.

"LONG LIVE THE REPUBLIC" SHOUTS ROUMANIAN MOB

Royal Party Assailed in Streets and Palace Attacked by Mob Who Wound King Ferdinand.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, Feb. 13.—A general insurrection is in progress throughout Roumania, according to a special despatch from Vienna. Workmen blocked the roadway from the royal palace when the royal family attempted to flee to Jassy and King Ferdinand and his family were forced to return. The King was wounded when the workers fired upon the royal palace. Rioters in the streets of Bucharest are openly demanding the overthrow of the dynasty, crying, "Down with the Puppets, long live the republic."

The village of Budapest learns that the revolt is part of the Bolshevik propaganda. In a clash between the military and the demonstrators at Bakorst sixty persons were killed and 150 wounded. The discipline of Rumanian army, the newspaper adds, is collapsing. The food and economic situation is rapidly growing worse the Bratiano Cabinet is declared to and the country's finances are completly demoralized. The position of be untenable.

DANES HOLD ON TO GREENLAND

COUNTY OF LEE WILL NOT BE CEDED TO CANADA.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Formal denial was made yesterday by the Danish Legation of rumors that Denmark is ready to cede Greenland to Canada. The statement issued by the Legation says that the Danes, on the contrary, are extending their "dominion" in Greenland, and asserts that when the Danish West Indies, now the Virgin Islands, were ceded to the United States, Secretary Lansing went on record as not objecting to the extension of the political and economic interests of Denmark to the whole of Greenland.

The Legation's statement says:

"Rumors to the effect that the Danes are willing to cede Greenland to Canada have occasioned not a little surprise in Denmark. The Danish Legation in Washington states that no such transaction has been contemplated, and that Denmark would not think of parting with Greenland."

Over Ten Million Aliens in U. S.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Approximately one-tenth of the population of the United States is composed of unnaturalized aliens, according to Raymond F. Crist, Deputy Commissioner of Naturalization, who declared that such a condition would not be permitted by any other country, and appealed to American citizens to help in making citizens of alien residents. He said there were 10,500,000 persons in this country who still retain their allegiance to the land of their birth.

TO DEMAND FULL COSTS FROM HUNS

BRITISH DELEGATES ARE INSTRUCTED TO INSIST UPON LAST FARTHING.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 13. —British delegates at the Peace Conference have been definitely instructed to claim an indemnity which will include the cost of the war as well as damage actually caused, it was announced in the House of Commons today by Andrew Bonar Law, Government Leader. A commission is now considering the amount to be claimed, the method by which payment should be made and the means of enforcing payment, Bonar Law added.

RAILROAD FLYER LEFT THE RAILS

EARLY REPORTS RECEIVED OF SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON PENNSYLVANIA ROAD.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Franklin, Pa., Feb. 13.—The Pittsburg and Buffalo express, northbound, on the Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was wrecked at noon at St. George, twenty miles south of here. Early reports said the entire train went over the embankment into the Allegheny River, but a statement issued by the company declared that only one car left the rails. A relief train carrying physicians has left Oil City.

OTTAWA TAKES STOCK IN RUMOR

INCLINDED TO BELIEVE PREMIER IS STATED FOR WASHINGTON POST.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—While there is no official confirmation of the report that Sir Robert Borden has been offered the position of British ambassador at Washington, there is strong inclination here to place credence in it. In the first place the report appeared in The London Daily Express, Lord Beaverbrook's paper, and in the second place, Sir Robert himself, given an opportunity to do so, has not denied the report. Lord Beaverbrook is known to be very close in the councils of the administration, and it is not believed that his paper would make the statement unless it was properly based. Sir Robert has a habit of giving frank denials to anything which is without foundation, in the present instance he evaded the question by stating that he "had no observation to make."

If the offer has actually been made its acceptance by Sir Robert as an honorable culmination to 22 years of public life, would not cause surprise here. Sir Robert entered politics in 1892 and was appointed leader of the Conservative opposition in 1900. The position of ambassador to Washington is a highly honorable one, and if it has been offered to Sir Robert, the offer is a high compliment to the Dominion.

Premier Borden is comfortably wealthy and with the exception of Lady Borden, has no domestic ties in Ottawa.

CANADIAN TROOPS ARE NOT SUFFERING COLD IN SIBERIA

Are Comfortably Housed in Barracks in Vladivostok and Weather is Milder Than in Eastern Canada.

(By W. E. Playfair, Canadian Press Correspondent.)

Vladivostok, Feb. 13.—Reports published in America of alleged hardships endured by the Allied forces in Siberia this winter are absolutely untrue, according to thorough investigation conducted by the Canadian Press Limited. The Canadian troops held in Vladivostok pending the decision on the matter of the Allies' policy toward Russia are well housed in comfortable barracks, and the weather on the Siberian coast is milder than in Eastern Canada. The British units at Omsk suffered from severe cold, but the health of the Canadians is excellent. The chief complaint is of the infrequency of the mail service.

TWO CHAPLAINS KILLED AT FRONT

MANY MINISTERS IN THE SERVICE WERE DECORATED FOR VALOR

London, Feb. 13.—The total number of Canadian chaplains now serving in the overseas forces is 426. The number of honors gained include five C.M.G.'s, nine D.S.O.'s, thirty-three Military Crosses, thirty-five mentions in military despatches and thirteen brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for War.

Two chaplains were killed, one died of wounds, one was drowned on the Llandovery Castle, which was sank by a German submarine, two died of illness and 21 were wounded.

CANADIAN UNIT BUSY IN SIBERIA

ARTILLERY HELPS BRITISH AND RUSSIANS TO DRIVE BACK BOLSHEVIKI

(By Associated Press)

Archangel, Feb. 13. — American reinforcements, marching over thirty miles of forest trail, reached hard-pressed British and Russian forces in the region of Gredmakrenga yesterday. The result was that the Bolsheviki, who had been launching strong attacks in this region, retired to the southward, apparently abandoning their offensive move. The Bolsheviki evidently feared that they would be cut off in the rear. Conditions on other sections of the northern Russian front were unchanged today. There is a Canadian artillery detachment with these forces.

HOSTS GATHER AT OTTAWA FOR MEETING OF HOUSE

Capital Will Soon be Filled to Overflowing With Members and Visitors.

Ottawa, Feb. 13. — Ottawa will soon have to hang out the sign "Standing room only." It is already a problem where the senators, members of Parliament and sessional employes, numbering all told one thousand people, are to eat and sleep. The city is crowded now to capacity and yet hundreds and hundreds of people will be here seeking accommodations next week.

Usually there is room at the top. In any city however crowded you can generally get a place to sleep and plenty to eat if you are willing to pay the price. But just now in Ottawa the most expensive hotels and apartments are densely crowded. The Capital city is swarming with high-salaried officials, who are willing and perhaps required to live at the top of the heap. "Boards" and "commissions" have multiplied beyond number and extravagant salaries as a rule are paid. Fifty dollars a week seems to be the minimum wage, and you meet men here from all over the country who are domiciled in Ottawa as officials or employes of this, that or the other board or commission at salaries from $350 a month up.

Everybody Spending.

"Spend and spare not" is the rule in Ottawa. Not long ago a well-known woman was appointed to one of these commissions, and on arriving at Ottawa was asked whether she preferred a salary or a living allowance. She replied that she preferred a salary. Possibly her answer was misunderstood, for she was told she would be paid $250 a month, but would have to live at a certain expensive hotel. She would have preferred a less expensive abode, but complied with the request of her superior officer. At the end of the month her government cheque and her hotel bill nearly balanced but not quite.

This particular case may be unique and may have been the result of some misunderstanding, but the gentleman officials on the various boards and commissions are living in princely style, and they are to be found in the clubs, the fine hotels and the most expensive apartments. How many they are and how much they get nobody is able to quite figure out, but they seem to the visitor to be in numbers as the sands of the sea and rival the lilies of the field in their apparel. They dispense with the purple, but they enjoy the fine linen, and, like the rich man in the Bible, they dine sumptuously every day.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1919.

"PIGS IS PIGS," BUT—

IT WILL BE with a feeling of relief that the majority of the citizens learn that the war-time permission for any resident who chooses to keep a pig in his back yard is to be rescinded and that no such enterprise will be permitted this year. The Board of Health has left the matter to the discretion of the Health Officer, and Dr. Moyn is a stickler for civic cleanliness as the basis of all physical well-being.

Of course, everyone knows that the price of pork is still high, but the human body is worth more than any single article of diet. Public health comes first and civic reputation next. There can be no assurance of safety for the first if the atmosphere of the city is polluted, and the latter cannot reach a very high standard if it becomes of common report that in Peterborough the fashion prevails of maintaining pig-styes within the city limits.

THE RELIGION OF SYMPATHY.

DOES THE MODERN playwright aim to satirize the church of the present day or does he paint a picture of actual life, does he stick to the truth when, in the story presented from behind the footlights, the church's influence in human affairs is made to appear infinitesimal in comparison with that of other agencies? An example of this came recently under the notice of the theatre-going public of this city.

"A Little Mother" is a play the plot of which is based upon an unfortunate incident that has been noted from time immemorial in every community under the sun and which, unfortunately, became more frequent during the four years of war. And there has been no change in public sentiment with regard to these harsh and sordid events in so many lives.

In the play in question the members and officials of the church are held up in anything but a favorable light as illustrations of what the people who profess the Christian faith should be. The tendency of the times is shown when a progressive and large-hearted minister, a man whose spirit has evidently been touched by the truths which he holds up to others, preaches a sermon in which he recommends Christian charity for the sinner and fair treatment for the innocent offspring of illicit relations. The officers of that minister's church hold a meeting in which his philosophy is regarded with horror, and steps are taken to have him cast out of his pulpit.

The unfortunate girl who "has loved much" finds little consideration among those who, had they followed the precepts of the Nazarene, would have been the first to extend to her a helping hand, who would not have condoned the sin but would have pitied the sinner. The good people of the church were ready to cast at her the stones of so-called righteous censure. There was no second chance for her. Had she been a victim of leprosy or some other foul disease, she could not have been more rudely and openly shunned by those who should have sought to draw her back from the path into which she had wandered. She was condemned, and those who were righteous over much not only would have erased her name from the books of the church, but would have driven her out of the community as they would a victim of a pestilence. Heaven help humanity, if the Judge before whom they pass in final review has as little mercy as the average church court.

But the sinner did not lack for mercy. The love of kindred prevailed and true Christian charity held sway and triumphed. The self-constituted judges were shamed into silence. The church people threw down their rocks and slunk away, no voice raised in condemnation. And in that little country village, where every man knew the inmost secrets of his neighbor and sat in harsh judgment upon them, there floated again those immortal words, "Neither do I condemn thee."

Can it be that the Church has failed in its treatment of such human frailties? Had the officers of the church in this case had their way, the sinner would have been cast adrift without a friend on earth and would beyond a doubt have sunk deeper into the slough. It was sympathy that saved her, not a strict interpretation and application of the Mosaic law that the Nazarene Himself suspended when He found as frail a creature in a similar situation.

The story of the play is a chapter from real life. If it reflects on any institution, it is because the playwright recites hard facts as he finds them. The story, however, is incomplete in that it fails to give a religious organization that deals especially with the outcasts of humanity credit for which it is entitled for taking paternal care of just such cases as this and of a church which specializes in the same Christian service.

THE RURAL SCHOOLS.

It is evident that Archdeacon Cody finds reform of the schools not as easy as he thought. He announces that no important amendments of the school laws will be proposed at the coming session of the Legislature and that he will make a survey of the rural schools as to which complaint is made of the school attendance and of the inadequacy of the teachers' salaries. In the course of his survey he will learn that rural school attendance and the teachers' salaries are not conditioned by the will of the people or by penal laws, but by nature and the economic conditions of the whole country. Neither the people nor the Legislature can alter the weather or shorten the distance to school or increase the endurance of children under ten years of age. Nor can the Legislature alter the means at the farmer's disposal for the improvement of his school and the payment of teachers. His whole, total gross earnings, we have noted, are on the average not more than a thousand a year, out of which he lives and pays his taxes, his teacher, preacher, doctor and all the professions and trades which serve him, and also repairs and improves his plant and equipment.—The Weekly Sun.

IT IS BARELY POSSIBLE that Dr. Cody knows more of actual conditions in the rural schools that the Sun imagines. Raised in the country as he was, the new Minister of Education was first a pupil and afterwards a teacher in the schools in the welfare of which he now takes such an interest. He has been handicapped in securing and again in imparting education by the very forces of nature to which the Sun now refers. He has been forced to make his way to the temples of learning over snow-blocked roads or highways that were so many seas of mud. Weather has kept him out of school when he was a boy and has interfered with the attendance of his pupils when he became a teacher. The winters were just as severe and all conditions were about the same a quarter of a century ago as they are today.

Yes, Dr. Cody knows the rural school problem. He seems, too, to have the solution. Consolidation has been tried out in other places with success. Dr. Cody will give the rural districts of Ontario better schools on the same educational basis as those in the cities. The reform may be slow in coming, but it will arrive eventually. The question of expense will be solved and the forces of nature of which the Sun complains will be overcome. Man has been fighting such forces since the earliest days of history, and there is no reason why he should submit to them in the case in point and permit the rising generation of the country communities to continue to suffer.

AN ASSERTION AND A DENIAL.

A QUEBEC JUDGE who was criticised for permitting military defaulters to escape with a nominal fine when brought before him, alleged that when he did so he was acting under instructions from Ottawa.

This assertion is officially denied. No such instructions have been issued by the Militia Department, the Department of Justice, or by the Dominion Police, and no other branch of the Government has authority to act in the matter. There is a grave misconception — of something infinitely worse—somewhere.

At all events, there is no justification for the virtuous and guileless protest put up by a local contemporary in its juvenile attempt to make a little political capital to enrich its present depreciated stock. There is no use in putting up a man of straw and bravely buffeting the effigy. Our contemporary was one of the few misguided journals that a year ago was constrained to stand sponsor for the very conditions in Quebec of which it now complains. Let us be charitable and concede that it knew better. But there were considerations before which even conscience had to give way.

AN EXCESSIVE SALARY.

THE PRESIDENT of the United States, the richest country in the world, is required to worry along on a salary of $75,000 a year and a free house, furnished, and with a staff of servants to look after it. The presidential salary started at $25,000 a year and reached the present figure as the duties of the office and the wealth of the country increased.

President Ebert of the new German republic is to be paid a yearly salary of $250,000 with a royal castle and other perquisites. In the interests of harmony, the figure is too high, especially in a country that has just dumped its expensive royal family and is, besides, emerging from four years of costly warfare. Even democratic government, especially the brand that President Ebert will be able to serve out to the people, is not worth the price he is charging for it. His excessive compensation is sure to furnish his enemies with an excellent excuse for making active trouble for his administration.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

EVEN IF HE IS a player of long standing, Paderewski in his new job is certainly not playing for time.

NO ONE CAN TELL what a day or even an hour will bring forth these times in the way of argument in favor of a third party.

ONE WAY to get even with the enemy countries is to send back to them their children who wandered abroad to make trouble in other nations.

TALKING of private matters, has a contemporary any objection to state what revenue it derives from publishing letters at advertising rates?

SOME MEN have managed to corner wheat, but before all is over that cereal may have some public man fenced up in a corner of its own creating.

GERMANS are asking for a six-hour day, but at that rate they can never hope to pay those huge indemnities certain to be levied upon them.

SOME REFORMER proposes to make over the calendar and put thirteen months in every year, but the extra pay days would simply be offset by the present high prices of necessities.

"MR. WIDDIFIELD has the Government on the run," says an exchange. The Germans had the Allies on the run, too, in the closing days of the war, although the direction of the race was not that chosen by the former.

WRITING of this paper, the veteran editor of the Bowmanville Statesman says: "The Review has an excellent editorial page; one of the best of the small city dailies." Recognizing Mr. Parnes as a competent critic, we appreciate his compliment.

"WE MIGHT consider with profit," says the Chicago News, "the consistency of those who urgently demand immediate demobilization of our soldiers and then emit roars of protest when the war department does release men, only to increase the volume of unemployment." We have the same type of journals in this country, journals that never appear able to get their own political bearings.

Canada And League Of Nations

(Journal of Commerce.)

The movement for the creation of a League of Nations capable of preventing war so bristles with difficulties that one is not surprised to find in some quarters a strong conviction that it cannot be successful. A few years ago it seemed a dream only. Tennyson gave the world a beautiful picture when he wrote of a time when the war drum would beat no longer, when the battle flags would be furled, when there would be a parliament of man, a federation of the world; but few who read his words had any hope that his dream would be realized. The awful war through which the world has just passed must make everybody understand more fully how great a blessing a League of Nations to prevent future wars would be. The work of forming such a league, reconciling and harmonizing the interests and aims of the different nations, and devising ways and means of enforcing the League's decisions, is a tremendous one. That it has now been gravely taken up at the Peace Conference, that it has, in principle, at all events, the support of the leaders of all the great nations of the world, is a situation for which everybody should be profoundly grateful. It is too soon to speak with confidence of the success of the movement. At any stage of the proceedings obstacles may present themselves that are insurmountable. But the fact that the statesmen at Paris, after discussing the whole subject from every point of view, are able to send out encouraging words as to the probable outcome is very gratifying.

A late despatch from Paris, not of an official character, states that the Dominions—presumably Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa—are claiming a right to be represented in the proposed League of Nations as independent nations. It is stated that the British Government are willing to endorse this claim. Whether the representatives of the other nations will give their assent remains to be seen.

There is a disposition on the part of some Canadian journals to regard with favor this proposal that the Dominions, as separate entities, shall become partners in the League of Nations. It is treated, as respects Canada, as an important recognition of the greatness of Canada. On a question of such large importance it is well that conclusive judgments be reserved until there is before the public full information of the constitution of the League of Nations, showing just what the League is to undertake, how the work is to be done, and who is to pay the cost. Meanwhile, it will not be well for us to be carried away by the glamour of what is written respecting a recognition of Canada in the eyes of the world. There are forms of recognition which are worth contending for. There are others which may easily be more productive of trouble than of advantage. There is room for grave doubt as to the wisdom of any international arrangement which contemplates the treatment of Canada as a country apart from the British Empire. Canada has indeed become an important country. It is "getting to be a big boy now." But the big boy will have to be on guard lest he forget that he is still a youth, still a member of the family, who will not be improved by an artificial expansion of chest or swelling of head.

Let us see what is this big job he wants to take on before we rejoice over the prospect of it.

WIT AND WISDOM

On Another Track.

"What's become of all the young men Edith used to have in her train?"

"Oh, one by one they switched off."

"Caught."

Mrs. Footlitest: "You don't give me presents now like you used to before we were married."

Mr. Footlites: "Now, look here, my dear, did you ever hear tell of a fisherman giving bait to the fish he had caught?"

Easily Explained.

Wife—I used to like the smell of cigar smoke before we were married, but I don't now.

Hub—Well, you see, my dear, I could afford to buy quite a different brand before we were married.

A man in New York says he can tell a woman's disposition without marrying her. That may be true, but the hard part is to tell her disposition after marrying her.

An Ashtabula man was asked by his wife to get her some yarn. He took a story book home with him.

"I hear you ride horseback on and off."

"Yes, mostly off."

Showing Up His Family.

A grammar school teacher having asked for a short essay employing certain words ending with "tion," a pupil handed in this astonishing production:

"Father's hair is a recollection; mother's is an acquisition; sister's is an aggregation; brother's is a conflagration, and baby's is a mere premonition."

The Bad Egg.

William Howard Taft said at a banquet in Washington, apropos of Germany's invitation to President Wilson to visit Berlin:

"Germany doesn't know it, but for the next generation the rest of the world is going to find her as unpalatable and hard to stomach as—as—well, it reminds me of a story.

"Little Willie was at breakfast, stalled on his boiled egg.

"Eat your egg, Willie," said his mother.

"The urchin sighed and went at the egg obediently but languidly.

"'Willie, eat your egg!'

"Another sigh, and another languid attack.

"Thus five minutes passed. Then Willie looked pathetically at his mother and said:

"'Oh, ma, have I got to eat the beak?'"

THE BIBLE IN SCHOOLS

Editor Review: What possible objection could there be to using the Bible as a textbook in our schools, to be read by the more advanced pupils, without anything like an attempt at comment on the part of the teacher? In this way the children could get the benefit of the literary beauty which you seem to place above the spiritual truths of the sacred volume.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

(By Lee Pape.)

If sumthing hits you on the hed with just a dry pancfill bump, you know its not a liquid and would feel better if it was.

Wattir is the most famous liquid. If it wasent for wattir nobody would bild ships, and thus thousands of people would be thrown out of work. If it wasent for wattir all the oceans would jest be big holes, and if you tried to drowned yourself in one the best you could do would be to brake your neck on the bottom, wich enyway by that time you wouldent know weather you was drowned or jest ded.

If you jest see some wattir in a glass in frunt of you wile youre eating dinner it dont look like so much, but as soon as you spill it it spreads all over the table cloth so if it dident even have eny ideer itself how mutch it was till it got started.

The thirstier you are, the better wattir tastes wen you drink it, but if a boy was as thirsty as he could get and sumbody offered him wich he wunted, a glass of water or a glass of lemminade, he would probubly take the glass of lemminade, proving that jest because we know wats best for us, that dont say wot we're going to do.

Milk is another well known liquid. It comes out of a cow, but has to be helped out. It is usefill to put on the nuts at brekfast and comes in bottle on frunt door steps. Babies wouldent know what to do without milk. Meny of them also wouldent know wat to do with it unless sumbody stuck their bottle in their mouth for them.

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

In this country, home of beautiful women, the average height of the adult woman is five feet and four inches and the average weight is 133 pounds. The villain, who plays successively the roles of a deceiver, suitor lover, slave and hired man is, on the average, three inches taller and fifteen pounds heavier, and yet she rules him with a firm hand, or at any rate it is her own fault if she doesn't These figures apply to persons old enough to have sense—30 years old.

Our sculptors, apparently unwilling to be deceived by corsets and French heels, to back a way for data and base their inception of the perfect female form of Greek statuary. They tell us that the perfect woman is five feet and five inches tall and weighs 138 pounds. With her wings extender she measures from tip to tip of middle fingers five feet and five inches, her own height. Her foot is not quite nine and one-third inches long, and her foot is exactly the length of her face. The distance from the top of the head to the perineum (crotch) is equal to the distance from the perineum to the ground. The knee is exactly half way between the perineum and the ground. The waist circumference is twenty-five inches; the circumference of the hips is thirty-four inches. The circumference of the torso, including the arms, is forty-three inches. The circumference of the arm is thirteen inches and of the wrist six inches. The circumference of the thigh is twenty-five inches, the calf is fourteen and one-half inches and the ankle is eight inches. All of this refers to a woman at the age of 30 years.

From 30 to 45 a woman is or should be in her acme of physical perfection, and so we find her as a general rule, but, alas, Mrs. Gamp she often manages to persuade her that she is an old woman at this age, and old age is chiefly a state of mind.

The tendency is for superfluous fat to accumulate about the abdomen, hips and flanks and the thighs in women between 30 and 45. With the insidious deposit of slacker issue in, between and over the atrophied or unused muscles there occurs a simultaneous loss of efficiency in the general musculature of the body, including, of course, the muscles of the heart.

A lady wrote me recently that in the fifteen months she had done without corsets and taken six somersaults night and morning she had saved nearly $40 in money formerly expended for laxatives and such dope. And that was only trifle. She felt and looked ten years younger. You see, she was again oxidizing fuel, and so slacker flesh naturally went first.

Karell, Accent on the 'ell.

"What is the Karell treatment? How is Karell pronounced? What is the derivation of the word? I ask these questions because it seems that one must be prepared to discuss everything you write about when one attends any gathering of more than two individuals in this neighborhood.

Disease is an undesirable subject of conversation, but health is an ideal thing to talk about. Karell, accent on the second syllable, was once physician to the Russian czar. The regiment named after him is a skimmed milk regiment of great value in the relief of various troubles, such as obesity, uraemia, dropsy, biliousness, stomach and intestinal troubles.

Women's Wages In German Factories

There are still some people, even in Canada, who admire the conditions of labor which the German Government secured for its people. In the case of the women of Germany, these conditions are beyond description. The working-woman in Germany must toil long hours, at the cost of health and strength, to win a mere pittance.

According to the Statistical Annual for Berlin, issued in 1907, the last year for which figures are available, women's wages in Berlin amounted to:

	Per week
For tailoresses	2.16
For seamstresses	2.28
For hand button-hole makers	1.75
For machine button-hole makers	3.37

The average weekly income of woman factory employes throughout the German Empire was a little more than six marks, about one dollar and fifty cents.

Under the circumstances the result is only natural. In Frankfort, 98 per cent. of the prostitutes were factory employes, while in Berlin an insurance fund placed it on record that waitresses made up one-half of those of its members who were venerally inflicted.

As is probably well known, the theatre in Germany is run by the Government, and admirers of the German method of doing things have often mentioned this as being greatly to Germany's credit. Perhaps they didn't know that in 1914 the directors of the Court Theatre, of Hanover, paid their women dancers two dollars and fifty cents a month! At the Court Theatre, at Eisenach, the salary of the leading lady for a season of six months is three dollars and seventy-five cents per month.

The German author, Dr. Iwan Block, writing on the subject of women's wages, says:

"The insufficiency of the German woman's remuneration . . . drives her to seek accessory earnings from vicious sources. . . . It is well known that employers of female labor throughout Germany reckon on this fact in drawing up their pay-lists."

Wilbrant, another German author, states that if any respectable girl complains of her salary being insufficient to keep body and soul together the employer will invariably reply. "Why should you need any salary at all? You are a pretty girl."

THE BOBBIES' STRIKE.

Police of London Get Their Grievances Remedied.

London, at the end of August of last year, experienced a two-days' strike of the Metropolitan Police, the famous "Bobbies" known and admired throughout the world.

Their demands were for increased wages, recognition of their union, and the reinstatement of a discharged man who had been active in union affairs.

Their organization was the "National Union of Police and Prison Officers," formed in 1913, affiliated with the Trades Council and other labor bodies, who supported the police in their demands, and in the strike.

The Metropolitan Force is under the direction of the Home Office, but the strike was dealt with, not only by Sir G. Cave, the Home Secretary, but by Gen. Smuts, acting for the War Cabinet, and by the Prime Minister himself.

As a result of the strike the men obtained an increase in pay, increased pensions, and, a new feature, pensions for widows. As to the recognition of the union there was difference of opinion on the result, but, at any rate, the men were not dismissed for belonging to it.

The police claimed that when the Prime Minister received the executive of the union he gave the union recognition. The Home Secretary placed a different interpretation on this phase of the settlement.

"With regard to the Police Union," he said, "both my predecessor and I had been asked to recognize the union and had declined. All the Secretaries of State for the Home Office have declined to recognize it, not because they have been opposed to unions in general — quite the contrary—but their view was that the police are a disciplined force responsible for the order of the country, and there was a risk that the Police Union might lead to divided allegiance and possibly to police strikes. It is true that the existing union provided by its constitution that in no circumstances should a strike be called, but when this trouble arose, that particular clause was abrogated.

"The Prime Minister said to the deputation of policemen that he could not, in war time, sanction recognition of a police union. He pointed out that the trouble in Russia had to a great extent risen from the existence of a union or a committee among the soldiers. He thought the police were a semi-military force, and that to a great extent the same conditions applied to them, and he would not have a repetition in the country of what had happened in Russia. He added that he thought there should be some machinery under which members of the police force could bring before the police authorities any grievances. Subject to this, they should have no kind of power to interfere with the discipline of the force."

During the strike there were remarkably few criminal outbreaks, in spite of the depleted police protection. "The strike of the London police in 1918," said the Times, "will probably have a lasting place in the social annals of the country for the reason that it afforded proof of the people's ingrained respect for law and order." There was some thieving in the Strand and in Aldgate, but these were exceptions to the rule.

"The absence of regulation for traffic was an inconvenience, but even here the Londoner showed that under the long training of the 'bobby' he had contracted the habit of orderliness to such an extent that he could 'navigate' almost automatically."

The visit of the police to Lloyd George was one of the most spectacular features of the strike. Downing street, a short blind thoroughfare, is one of the places the police keep clear of any congestion, but on this occasion they themselves packed every inch of the roadway, and overswarmed into Whitehall.

While they waited they fraternized with companies of the Grenadier Guards, who had been called out in the emergency. They also entertained themselves and the soldiers with music, supplied by the "police minstrels." A policeman, whose hobby was the bagpipes, led the procession on its march through the streets of Westminster.

Shelley's Prophecy.

A prophetic vision of the America of to-day was seen by the English poet, Percy Bysshe Shelley, in his "Revolt of Islam," written in 1817.

The poet's great-grandfather, Timothy Shelley, had emigrated to America, and his grandfather, afterward Sir Bysshe Shelley, Bart., was born in Newark, N. J. It may be assumed, though direct evidence is lacking, that Percy Bysshe Shelley learned from his grandfather something of the possibilities for the land which in that day was little more than a wilderness. This is what the English poet said of America more than 100 years ago:

There is a people mighty in its youth,
A land beyond the oceans of the West,
Where, though with rudest rites,
Freedom and Truth
Are worshiped. From a glorious mother's breast
Who, since high Athens fell, among the rest,
Sate like the Queen of Nations, but in woe,
By inbred monsters outraged and oppressed,
Turns to her chainless child for succor now,
It draws the milk of power in Wisdom's fullest flow.

That land is like an eagle, whose young gaze
Feeds on the noontide beam, whose golden plume
Floats moveless on the storm, and in the blaze
Of sunrise gleams when earth is wrapped in gloom;
An epitaph of glory for the tomb
Of murdered Europe may thy fame be made,
Great people! As the sands thou shalt become;
Thy growth is swift as morn when night must fade;
The multitudinous earth shall sleep beneath thy shade.

Australian Heroes.

A statuary group in the main entrance of Australia house, in London, which was opened by King George recently, is a memorial to the pioneer explorers of the southern continent. It represents Burke and Wills, who, in 1861, with two companions, surveyed the desert from Melbourne to the Gulf of Carpentaria. Only one of the four, King, returned, the others succumbing one after another to the hardships of the journey back. Burke died in the desert, lying with his face to the sky. Wills, the expedition's astronomer, to whose memory an obelisk has been raised in his native town of Totnes, wrote in his diary just before he died: "Though starving on nardoo seed is not unpleasant, I would prefer a little sugar mixed with it."

New York's Systematic Growth.

A remarkable forecast of population of New York is brought to light in copies of the Scientific American for September 8, 1900. A statistician for the mayor of the common council shows the population of the city to increase until 1905 would have made the population of New York 5,257,403, a figure almost in accord with the census of that time.

NO BAN ON STYLES

Infinite Variety and None Are Built Alike.

Straight and Narrow Most Prominent, With Only Sign of Any Breadth at Waistline.

The dresses are the great achievements of a season that is still young. Among them there is an infinite variety and no one is built exactly like the last one. For general lines they use those that are straight and narrow, the only sign of any breadth being seen at that unexpected place, the waistline. The line of the waist has also dropped perceptibly and no more do we see on the daytime frock that waistline that starts from a point somewhere under the arms. More likely is it to be seen running around the hips or somewhat above them—never an inch above the normal placing.

The coat dress is new—and useful in the extreme. It is tailored quite formally, but it has probabilities for the insertion of feminine diversions, that add much to its interest. There is one, for instance, made of the popular blue serge, that is wrapped about the form from shoulder to hem. The only variety it shows is where one side of the skirt laps over the other when there suddenly appears a soft satin lining of vivid green tone.

Another one is made of dull green velours, chemise incut and with wide open kimono sleeves. At the waistline, by way of a belt, a narrow piece of skunk fur is seen, and, to repeat this note of black, another bit of the fur is used at the left side of the standing collar, where it buttons tightly under the ear.

Many of the collars on these dresses are made high and thick in appearance. None of them fit the neck as in seasons past.

It is almost necessary now to use two materials in the shaping of a modish frock. The idea was started from a thought of conservation and it survives largely because of its sheer beauty. For afternoon and dinner gowns, printed silks and chiffons are used in combination with plain silks and chiffons. Then for more workaday occasions combinations of wool and silk are more usual.

The straight flat panel is one of the successes of the day and is seen in every possible phase. Usually, though, it must hang from shoulder to hem at back, without any interruption as to waistline. In the front, however, it may be confined or not according to whim or taste.

NARROW SKIRT, TUNIC BLOUSE

Substitute for Tailleur Promises to Be One of Season's Most Popular Garments.

As a compromise between the coat suit and the slim frock which many women choose for autumn street wear there is a costume which may soon be overridden by popularity. It consists of a narrow skirt and a tunic blouse that falls below the hips and is loosely girded with a monastic cord. The blouse has no visible fastening. It apparently does not open. In truth some of them do not open.

They slip over the head and adjust themselves with the carelessness of a peasant's smock. If they were tightly banded at the waistline with yards of brilliant material they would be definitely Arabian and quite brilliant in effect. They do not permit a girdle to touch them.

They have a monk's cord carelessly twined below the waistline, knotted and dropped in tasselled ends at front or side.

AFTERNOON GOWN IN BRONZE

The basque has reappeared. Here is an interesting illustration of the use in an afternoon gown of bronze-gold crepe. The side opening is an attractive feature, and the oddly cut buttons with the finishing touch of moire at the neck add to its beauty.

Often the apology is worse than the offense.

ROYAL PALACES ARE FIRELESS.

King George and Queen Mary Are Playing Their Part.

"The King and Queen and their court have returned to London and to a fireless palace," says the London Chronicle. "This was according to plan—a plan to economize fuel, which is in operation in all the royal palaces. It is by royal command that the household fires had not yet been set going for the winter.

"The recommendations of the Coal Controller's Advisory Committee for cutting down domestic fuel consumption were last winter in large measure forestalled in the royal palaces, and that on the direct initiative of their Majesties. Now that the coal crisis has become acute, further restrictions have been imposed at court. In Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, and Sandringham the grates have been 'bricked up,' and the number of fires has been greatly reduced.

"Lighting of passages, corridors, and ante-rooms has been cut down by more than half. In their Majesties' private apartments a similar practice has been followed.

"Officials of the court have been instructed to see that no unnecessary fires are used or lights kept burning, and, generally, to supervise an economy campaign.

"In the Royal Household an organized scheme for the salvage of waste material is in operation. Fruitstones and nut-shells (they go to make carbon for gas masks), empty pots and tins, waste paper, worn out linen and woollen materials, are collected and sent to agencies for conversion to some purpose useful in the national interest. Ashes are sifted, and the recovered cinders are used for fuel and fire banking. Buckingham Palace gardens have been for long a market garden. The garden refuse is collected and used for fuel.

"The palace laundry list has been revised with a view to economy, and there has been a marked reduction in the work."

Sinn Feiners Trapped.

A good story has leaked out regarding the early days of the unrestricted U-boat warfare. In those days it was commonly reported that the German under-water craft had secret bases on the West Coast of Ireland, where they were able to put in and replenish their stores. The people were anti-British, and the most investigation by the Admiralty could extract no information from them. Presently a story gained circulation that a yacht flying the American flag, but manned by Germans, was cruising off the coast, and there were hints that a reward might be paid to anyone giving information of her whereabouts. By and by the yacht put in at more than one secluded spot on the west coast, and was warmly welcomed by the Sinn Feiners. The officers had heart to heart talks with Germany's Irish allies, and the U-boat activities were discussed at great length. Strangely enough, the British navy failed to locate or capture the yacht, which in due time left the coast, and sailed apparently for Germany. Nothing more was heard of her whereabouts, but the war against the U-boats soon met with increasing success. It was scant comfort to the Sinn Feiners to learn that the yacht had nothing to do with Germany, and that as a matter of fact she was a British boat manned by a crew of British officers masquerading as Germans. Under this guise they had pumped the Sinn Feiners dry, and when the yacht left the coast her officers and crew had full information regarding the U-boat activities.

Written Before Christ.

All the books of the Old Testament were written long before the birth of Christ, some of them as much as 1,400 years before, others from 500 to 1,000 years before, and none less than 300 to 400 years before. The Gospels and other books of the New Testament were written from 33 to 60 or 70 years after the birth of Christ.

Reasons Slowly Unfolded.

The answers to our impatient questioning of life's problems come but slowly. Today may show us what yesterday meant, but it is dumb about itself. We must do and bear as best we may, and always wait for tomorrow's answer to our clamorous "Why?"

Great Britain's War Efforts

WHAT has Britain achieved in aerial warfare? In August, 1914, the Lion had in service 130 aircraft of all types and 900 men. It is not possible to tell exactly how many aircraft Britain now has, or the numbers in its personnel, because loss of aviators and machines is a varying quantity. But some idea may be gained by the official statement that in a single month British airmen dropped 7,566 bombs on the western front, fired 269,000 rounds of ammunition from the air, and took 15,837 photographs from above the earth, all being taken under heavy shell fire. In one week—from August 8 to August 15, 1916—British air forces brought down [illegible] machines and dropped 320 tons of explosive bombs on enemy batteries and ammunition dumps. During the night of August 21, alone, British aviators bombed five German towns, dropping 104 tons of bombs. To-day Britain maintains the largest air forces of all the Allies. During the night of August 24 two of the Lion's air squadrons attacked Constantinople; while his air squadrons have taken the lead on the French front, the Italian front, on Balkan fronts, in Persia, Palestine and Mesopotamia.

So much, briefly, for what the Lion has done by sea and in air. How about "Britain's contemptible little army" of whom 100,000 arrived in France by the middle of August, 1914, and coming with all speed at the most critical moment in modern times unquestionably saved France from certain and speedy defeat? When Europe was thrown into convulsion of war, four summers ago, the British army consisted of 250,000 regular troops, 200,000 reserves, and 250,000 partly trained volunteers composed of "Territorials" who since have done such heroic service; in all, a total of 700,000 trained soldiers and partly trained volunteers. With these men the Lion had to safeguard his vulnerable isles and his enormous Indian possessions.

It was on August 6, 1914, that Kitchener sent forth his call for "the first hundred thousand"—and they volunteered within a fortnight. A month later 175,000 had been enrolled, of whom 30,000 enlisted in a single day. At the end of the war's first year 2,000,000 had joined the colors, toward the close of May, 1916, King George made public announcement that more than 5,000,000 men (all volunteers) had entered the army and the navy. Yet, instead of diminishing, the stream of British manhood became a veritable flood, so that in August of the present year Lloyd George was able to state that the British Empire had raised for the army and navy a total of more than 8,500,000. Of this grand total India had contributed 1,500,000; the British dominions, 1,000,000; Great Britain itself 6,250,000!

"To-day," says a statement from the British Government's Bureau of Information, "every third male of any age in the British Isles is in some war service"—that is to say, one out of every three in a male population which includes men of eighty, ninety, and over, as well as boy babes in arms.

And what have been Britain's sacrifices in life thus far according to the latest obtainable official figures—which do not include the results of recent furious fighting?

The first expeditionary force called forth by Kitchener, that handful of 100,000 men hastily mobilized and somehow sent across the Channel, was almost annihilated. A single division lost 10,000 men out of 12,000, while out of 400 officers only 50 escaped casualty. By December, 1915, sixteen months after Britain entered the war, British casualties had mounted to practically 78 per cent. of the entire original land forces. An official statement made in London, 66 August 15, 1916, announced that up to that date 900,000 British soldiers and sailors had suffered death since the war began. More recent losses bring the total of British dead well up above 1,000,000. It must be remembered that British forces have been fighting not only in France, Belgium, Italy, Russia, Siberia and the Balkans, but also in Kiaochau, New Guinea, Samoa, Mesopotamia, Egypt, the Soudan, Cameroons, Togoland, East Africa, Southwest Africa, Aden, Persia and along the northwest frontier of India. It is probable that at no time have more than 1,750,000 British troops actually been engaged on the French front and in lines of communication connected therewith.

As for the fleet, we have the authority of Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, for the remarkable statement, publicly made by him on a recent Pilgrims' Dinner in New York, that the British navy has 230 warships, big and little, and in addition 450 auxiliary ships, [illegible] of mine sweepers, etc. Yet to-day the wonderful fleet is bigger and stronger than ever!

At the same dinner, by the way, the First Lord of the Admiralty made the unqualified statement that from January 1, 1918, down to and the British forces—military and naval—had sustained 750,000 casualties, which would be, at the rate of about 83,000 per month; and that this always or number than the total reported suffered during the [illegible] all the other allies. THRIFT IS BEING TAUGHT IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Suggested Lesson in Arthimetic With the Answers to the Various Problems.

Thrift is now a recognized subject of study in the schools of some of the provinces and gratifying results are being secured from the teaching of it. The following is a suggested Thrift lesson taught in arithmetic, the answers being worked out:

A Thrift Stamp costs 25 cents. A War-Savings Stamp (W-S.S.) costs $4 in the month of January and in each other month it costs one cent more than for the preceding month.

Stage 1 (Forms I. and II. or Grades 1 to 4.)—

1. How many Thrift Stamps are equivalent to a W.S.S. bought in the month of January? Ans.—16.

2. Find the total cost of 12 W.S.S., if one is bought during each month of the year. Ans. 48.66

3. A girl gets 5 cents from her father on each Tuesday between January 1st and July 1st of this year. How many Thrift Stamps can she buy with the money? (The pupil should be allowed to use the calendar.) Ans. 5

4. A man saves 7 cents every week day by walking instead of using the street car. What must he add to these savings during the first two months of the year that he may be able to buy a W-S.S. in the month of March? Ans.—45c.

5. In a school one class bought 124 Thrift Stamps, another bought 137, and a third bought 139. If all the money had been invested in W.S.S. (Jan.) how many would it buy? Ans.—25.

Stage 2 (Forms III. and IV or Grades 5 to 8.)—

1. A man earns 67 1-2 cents per hour. In how many hours would he earn enough to buy 3 W-S.S. in June? Ans. —18

2. If the price of 7 gal. of milk will buy a W-S.S. (July.) what is the price per quart? Ans.—14 1-2c.

3. A boy gets 15 cents per day for carrying papers each week day, beginning on the first Thursday in January of this year until the second Saturday in April. How many W-S.S. (April) can he buy with his earnings? How many Thrift Stamps with the balance? How much will then remain? Ans.—3, 3, 21c.

4. How many Thrift Stamps can I buy with the interest on $120 for 3 months at 5 per cent. per annum? Ans. 6

5. A man's monthly rent was $62 1-2. In order to save he took a smaller house, the rent of which was 16 per cent. lower than the other. How many W-S.S. (Jan.) could be buy for each of his two sons and three daughters with the money saved in a year? Ans.—6.

Stage 3 (High School Pupils, Grades IX., X. XI.)—

1. On January 1st, 1919, a man had $400 in the savings bank on which he gets 3 per cent. interest per annum payable half-yearly. If he leaves the interest on deposit until January 1st, 1924, what would the bank balance be? How much more would it have been if he had withdrawn the 400 and invested it in W-S.S.? Ans.—464.22, 35.78.

2. When a father had added 16 2-3 per cent to the money which his boy saved there was sufficient to purchase 2 W-S.S. (July.) How much did the father pay. Ans.—$1.16.

3. I buy 10 W-S.S. (Jan.) Show how the $40 grows in 5 years by adding 4 1-2 per cent. compound interest. What is the value at the end of each year? How much extra interest do I get during the fifth year to make the $50? Ans. 16c.

4. A man earns $1644 a year and spends 80 per cent of it. What per cent of his savings during a year will be sufficient to buy 10 W-S.S. (Dec.)? Ans. 12 1-2 per cent.

LABOR ASKS FOR 40 HOUR WEEK

TORONTO UNIONS WILL ALSO DEMAND 25 PER CENT INCREASE

Toronto, Feb. 13.—The committee from the different trades unions of Toronto, which had been instructed to draw up a program for the meeting called for the purpose of discussing unemployment decided last night at a meeting in the Labor Temple to ask the Friday night meeting to endorse a forty-hour week with a twenty-five per cent increase in wages.

Trades union bodies throughout the country are to be asked to endorse the decision of the Toronto meeting, which is to be followed by a meeting in Toronto of trades delegates.

There is some difference of opinion regarding the demand for increased wages, the committee having drawn up the program which puts all shades of opinion to the test upon the five day week. Solutions were sent on to the meeting. Other than those mentioned the shorter work day means higher wages they call for dark, public work, and the appointment of commissions to investigate has a scheme which would have the effect of "PEBBLING" Labor upon them. The next meeting will be composed of accredited representatives of trades unions throughout the country.

BOARDS TO DEAL WITH ALIENS

SIR THOMAS WHITE MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT TO FOREIGN DELEGATION.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—After a Hamilton deputation representing manufacturing, mercantile and labor interests had asked the Government to take some action in view of the unrest created in their city by the presence of several thousand Austrians and Bulgarians, Sir Thomas White, Acting Prime Minister, informed the deputation that local boards or tribunals would be created to determine in a summary manner which enemy aliens were undesirable and dangerous, with a view to their internment and ultimate deportation.

There are very few Germans in Hamilton, it was stated by the delegation, but the presence and employment of enemy aliens were a constant source of irritation to war veterans and the labor community generally. It was stated that a study of criminal statistics in Hamilton showed that a large number of these aliens figured prominently in the police courts for disturbances and offences of one kind or another.

It was suggested to the Government that a local board composed of representative elements of Hamilton's life should be created to pass on the desirability of the continued residence of the enemy aliens in question in Canada.

It was pointed out to them by the Acting Premier that to deport these enemy aliens was impossible at present because of lack of ocean tonnage, and because they could not be passed to their respective countries until a policy with regard to them is formulated by the Peace Conference. The Government, however, could intern all those whom special tribunals to be appointed decided were undesirable or dangerous, with a view to their subsequent deportation.

Among the ministers present were Sir Thomas White, Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. J. A. Calder, Senator Robertson, Hon. J. D. Reid, and Hon. A. K. Maclean.

SAYS BELL TELEPHONE CO ENTILLED TO RAISE RATE

But Expert Says Increase Should Be Less Than 20 Per Cent—Rates Proposed in Canadian Cities.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Continuing his evidence before the Dominion Railway Board regarding the Bell Telephone inquiry, Mr. Hagenah observed that the weight of authority is in favor of allowing a fair interest return on all of such investment, and that such a policy is really in the best interests of the public. Otherwise, he said, people would not put their money into any company placed on a special basis. While approving of an increase in rates, Mr. Hagenah asserted that the company is not entitled to the 20 per cent. asked for. Such an increase would mean an increase in earnings of over two millions per annum.

Dealing with the increase in salaries paid by the company in Toronto, Montreal and other large cities, the expert noted that, while the expenses of operation had increased more rapidly in Montreal, the revenue in that city had also done so. Dealing with items which he had struck off the company's statement of expenditures for 1918, he expressed the view that the company and not the subscribers should pay the business war tax. This, because the purpose of the Government was to get at individuals receiving good returns on investments.

The advisability of revising the telephone rates so as to equalize the cost of service in different towns and cities, and the additional revenue which could be raised thereby, were discussed. Mr. J. W. Hagenah presented a table of revised rates which, in his opinion, would not only equalize the cost of services but would also result in an increase of $1,000,000 for the company at an added cost of from 25c to 50c per month per subscriber. He advanced this plan as a substitute for the proposal of the company for a straight increase of 20 per cent.

Proposed Rate Changes.

The following are the changes proposed for business services in the places named:

Toronto, from $50 to $60 for individual lines, and from $42 to $51 for two party lines.

Montreal, from $55 to $60 and from $44 to $51.

Ottawa, from $45 to $51 and from $36 to $42.

Hamilton, from $45 to $51 and from $36 to $42.

London, from $45 to $48 and from $30 to $36.

St. Catharines, from $35 to $33, and from $28 to $27.

Guelph, Sarnia, Niagara Falls and Galt, from $30 to $33 and from $24 to $27.

The proposed changes in the rates for residence telephones were as follows:

Toronto, from $30 to $36 for an individual line, and from $24 to $30 for a two party line.

Montreal, from $35 to $36 and from $28 to $30.

Ottawa, from $25 to $30 and $20 to $27.

Hamilton, no change for a single line; from $24 to $27 for two party lines.

London, $25 to $30 and $20 to $24.

"Would these changes provide the necessary $1,000,000 additional revenue?" asked Commissioner Royce.

"I calculate that these changes would yield $821,000 without being a burden to the public," was the reply.

DAN O'CONNELL DEFENDS WEBER

FORMER PETERBOROUGH RESIDENT PUTS UP SPIRITED FIGHT FOR CLIENT.

Owen Sound, Feb. 13.—Reeve Weber of Neustadt has been found guilty of saying that the British, describing them with vile epithets, were licked, and they knew it. He also said that before his sons would go to fight, they would die in the hardware store, and that if they wanted any fighting let them come to Neustadt and they would get it. This was the decision of Magistrate A. D. Crasor today at the conclusion of the trial of Reeve Weber in the local Police Court. The prisoner was remanded for eight days for sentence, and meanwhile is out on $10,0000 personal bail and two bonds of $5,000 each, provided by Jacob Walter and Jacob Huether, both of Neustadt. Reeve Weber is also on bail totaling $10,000 to appear on February 24 at the local Assizes, to which he was committed yesterday on four charges under the War Measures Act and the Military Service Act.

The accused sat with head downcast during the summing up by the Magistrate. He appeared dejected throughout the trial, and when in the witness box his answers were somewhat hesitating. He showed great emotion when his counsel was appealing for leniency, because of his son, who was sentenced by court-martial last week to ten years for not reporting under the M. S. A.

The trial began with N. F. Davidson, K.C., of Toronto, and T. H. Dyer, of Owen Sound for the Crown and D. O'Connell and F. W. Callaghan of Toronto conducting the case for the accused. The witness for the prosecution was Arthur Mutton, a salesman for Mitchell's Ltd., of St. Marys, who testified as to Weber making the statements.

"It is a recognised fact," someone asserts, "that people in general sing a foreign language better than their own because, being a foreign language, they take more pains with it." It is hard to see how that can be construed to make an argument against the demand for more singing in English.

GOVERNMENT IS FRIEND OF LABOR

HEARST ADMINISTRATION IS WARMLY ENDORSED BY ORGANIZER OF UNIONS.

St. Catharines, Feb. 13.—"If Mr. Parnell was defeated in this contest it would not embarrass the Government," stated W. Stockdale, a prominent Toronto Labor organizer, speaking in the interests of Fred R. Parnell, Government candidate, to a crowded and enthusiastic meeting in the town hall at Merritton, "but it would certainly embarrass the electors of this riding if they returned a representative who had no outside support. As a Labor man, he would not have appeared on this platform if he were not confident that any deputation in the interests of Labor that might go to the House from this riding would have the hearty support of Mr. Parnell. Mr. Parnell was heart and soul with the workingmen of this riding.

No Government, he stated, had been more attentive to the requirements of Labor than the Hearst Government. Every deputation from the ranks of Organized Labor had been attentively received, and better enactments had been granted than the legislation asked for.

Several interruptions at this point ensued by Joseph Marks, editor of the Industrial Banner, Toronto, who is aiding the Labor candidate in his campaign, and Mrs. Singer, of the women's auxiliary of the Toronto Machinists' Union. In reply to a demand from Mr. Marks for his qualifications to speak on behalf of Labor, the speaker retorted that he was as qualified to speak for Organized Labor as Mr. Marks was.

Deputy Ministers To Get Increase

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—It is understood that in harmony with the reorganization of the Civil Service the estimates will provide for a raise in salaries of Deputy Ministers from $5,000 to $6,000. Such Deputy Ministers as get more than $5,000 would also get a considerable raise.

Vincent Massey Succeeds Daly

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—It is officially announced that on the expiration of the three months which he agreed to devote to the work of repatriation, the Director, Mr. H. J. Daly, requests the committee of the Cabinet that he be relieved of the work as the preliminary organization has been completed. It is understood that his services will still be available in an advisory capacity.

Mr. Vincent Massey who has been closely associated with Mr. Daly from the beginning as assistant director will succeed Mr. Daly.

GAMBLERS DRESS AND FEED VICTIM

WINNINGS WERE $15,000 WHILE LOSSES AMOUNTED TO ONLY $200.

New York, Feb. 13.—Two alleged gamblers, who maintained luxurious quarters on the upper west side, who were said to have required their "guests" to wear evening dress, and whose records, according to the police, showed evening's winnings as high as $15,000, and mapimum losses of $200, were arraigned in the Police Court here today by detectives, who seized their paraphernalia, including roulette wheels and loaded dice, and a set of gilt-edged books listing society prominent persons in various sections of the country, and their occasional movements toward New York.

Th prisoners, who said they were Frank Jones and Grant Fisher, apparently were of middle age. They were held as peepers of a gambling house after Magistrate Corrigan had inspected their gaming apparatus and equipment of tools and materials, which the police declared were used for loading and falsely marking dice.

In the house, the detectives told the court, were costly furniture and paintings ranging in value from $1,000 to $10,000, and a buffet well stocked with liquors and choice cuts of cold fowl and other delicacies. A notice in a bedroom, it was stated, requested guests to appear in evening clothes, and to wear rubber heels. In this chamber, the police asserted, were forty dress suits, and patrons who came in business clothes were fitted out from the stock.

Says King Edward Caused State War

London, Feb. 13.—In one of the most remarkable statements made from the German side since the close of the war, the former Crown Prince blames the late King Edward VII for provoking the conflict. John T. Parkerson, correspondent of the Daily Express, wires an interview with the younger Hohenzollern from his place of exile, Wieringen, Holland.

In defending his part in the world's greatest drama, the Crown Prince said: "If you want to know who started the war I will tell you: it was Edward VII. I have talked with him for hours at a time, just as we are talking now. I know perfectly what was in his mind. He did not want to fight Germany; he wanted to squeeze her, but the creation of the Entente was the beginning of the world war. Neither my father nor I began it."

SMALL SHIPS BETTER

Premier Gives Reason for Withdrawing Big Vessels

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 13.—Mayo Hawkins who, on behalf of the city protested the withdrawing of big steamers such as the Olympic and Aquitania from the service of transporting Canadian troops home from England, has been advised by the Premier's secretary at Ottawa that he has received the following cablegram from the Prime Minister:

"Am advised that transportation of Canadian troops by small ships insures greater dispatch in entraining troops for disposal centres and prevents congestion and confusion. The action alluded to was based on this consideration."

Cobalt's War Funds Totalled $200,000

Cobalt, Feb. 13.—The Cobalt $5,000 Club, which since early in the war has been the clearing house in the Cobalt camp for all funds collected for war purposes, is ceasing its activities at the end of February. Through the agency of the club during its life over $160,000 was collected for patriotic purposes, which together with about $50,000 raised previous to the formation of the $5,000 Club, brings the total money raised by the people of the silver camp to over $200,000.

And some church members seem to think it is up to the minister to make good for the entire congregation.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

SHOULD CONSULT THE ELECTORS

BRITISH MEMBER SAYS PEOPLE SHOULD VOTE ON PEACE TREATY

London, Feb. 13.—The view that the terms of peace with Germany should be settled before the organization of a Society of Nations is dealt with was expressed in the House of Commons this afternoon by Horatio W. Bottomley.

The speaker declared that the Government would lose a large part of its majority if it brought to the House the draft of a peace treaty which had to be accepted or rejected without alteration. The preliminary treaty, he said, should be initiated and then submitted to the peoples of each country.

Mr. Bottomley said he was not sure that if that were done President Wilson would find that he spoke with such absolute authority for the United States. He said he supposed that in any case President Wilson, on his return to America, would find American idealism taking a very practical form in securing food contracts throughout the world and "scooping the pool while we are talking about a League of Nations."

If there had been no disagreement at the Peace Conference, as had been said in the King's Speech, Mr. Bottomley added, then the question of freedom of the seas had gone, the Dominions were to be supreme regarding the German colonies, and the Premier's promises as to indemnities were to be carried out, or "someone had sold the pass."

Twenty-Five Millions For Work in Ontario

Toronto, Feb. 13.—Definite announcement was made yesterday by Sir William Hearst that the Ontario Government had decided to proceed this year with the expenditure of approximately $25,000,000 on buildings and various construction works. This is a considerable increase over the expenditure forecast by Hon. T. W. McGarry in his speech at St. Catharines on February 8, when the total given by him was fourteen millions. The Government is getting these projects under way at once so as to provide employment for the large army of laborers now seeking work. In some cases preliminary work is already under way, and main construction will commence as soon as the weather opens up sufficiently.

A typical instance of Hapsburg policy was when, in 1784, the Czechs and their choral societies suppressed by Joseph II. These choral organizations not only kept alive the people's love of music but their very national life.

Describing how participation in music has affected whole communities, a gentleman describes one town where the man who drives you from the station will likely be singing Elgar's "Caractacus" to you the same evening.

Picking the hits in the popular song world is no sinecure. But they usually have a catchy title, a story that rings true and an easy flowing melody that is easily whistled, hummed and sung.

Yes, I Intend To But Not Now

Have YOU any idea what that decision is costing you—even if you live? Of course, if you die the cost is much GREATER.

Read the following facts and then decide for yourself:

The premium you would pay for $1000 of insurance at age 60 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $4000 of insurance at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 50 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $2500 at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 35 WOULD BUY YOU $1440 at age 21.

Besides, while you may be insurable at age 21 you may not be insurable AT ANY PRICE at the other ages mentioned.

The one great fact that touches our lives is the verdict of NOW.

KILL AMENDMENT TO MARRIAGE ACT

COMMITTEE REFUSES TO ACCEPT PROPOSAL FOR COMPULSORY EXAMINATION.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—Dr. Forbes Godfrey's proposal to amend the Marriage Act by making the presentation of a medical certificate of physical and mental soundness essentially precedent to the securing of a license to wed, received its death-blow at this afternoon's sitting of the Legislative Committee, which consideration of the medico legislator's proposal was delegated by the House last session.

The suggested amendment was refused on motion of Mr. Ducharme, seconded by Mr. Cameron, Dr. Godfrey's voice being the only one raised on the chairman's call of "contrary."

The rejection of the proposed legislation was based upon expressed conviction that the adoption would impose upon the medical profession unfair and heavy responsibility, would not necessarily operate to prevent the spread of venereal disease, while very possibly resulting in increased immorality, and because the legislation proposed in present form was held to be over-drastic and in advance of crystallized public opinion.

The committee agreed, however, to meet again during the first week of the coming session for the consideration of any further amendments that may then be offered.

Prior to the presentation of the determinative resolution, Dr. Jacques expressed his conviction that such an enactment would unfairly overload physicians with responsibility. At the same time he gravely doubted if placing the proposed restriction upon marriage would not increase rather than diminish the spread of venerial disease and incidentally create new conditions of widespread immorality more difficult to bring under observation and control.

This opinion was shared by Mr. Ducharme, who viewed the proposal as over-drastic and unwarrantably interfering with individual liberty of action.

Mr. Sinclair concurred herein and held that if such legislation be deemed desirable in the public interest its enactment should necessarily be preceded by education of public opinion to receive it.

WAS READY FOR GERMAN FLEET

BRITISH NAVY'S POSITION ASSURED IN NINETEEN EIGHTEEN, SAYS JELLICOE.

London, Feb. 13.—Lord Jellico's book on the Grand Fleet, which is just published dwells on the dangers to which the fleet was exposed when it was short of cruisers and destroyers and with bases defenceless owing to submarines, mines and torpedoes. He points out that the German sea fleet possessed eighty-eight destroyers compared with the Grand Fleet's forty-five. It is revealed that owing to the submarine menace, the Grand Fleet moved to Lough Swilly and only returned to the North Sea when the Scapa flow anchorage was rendered reasonably safe. Lord Jellicoe says that neither in 1914 or 1916 did the British margin of superiority justify him in disregarding the enemy's torpedo fire. The position gradually improved after 1916 especially as light cruiser and destroyer forces with the Grand Fleet increased steadily after the battle of Jutland, considerably reducing the danger of successful torpedo attacks, while the inclusion of the K class of submarine made it probable that the enemy suffered more severely from submarine attack than the British. Regarding 1918 Lord Jellico says:

"The position was assured and we could have afforded to take risks which in 1916 would have been most unwise. If the German fleet had come out ot battle a terrible punishment awaited it.

"One third of the book is devoted to the battle of Jutland. Summing up the lessons of this fight, Lord Jellico dwells on: "The danger involved in leaving too much to chance in a fleet action, because our fleet was the one and only factor vital to the existence of the Empire and indeed to the allied cause.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

WHEN CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

TO INVESTIGATE THE STATEMENT

OF JUDGE LANGELIER AS TO INSTRUCTIONS WHICH HE RECEIVED.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—The Department of Justice is mystified as to where Judge Langelier of Quebec secured his alleged instructions to treat leniently military defaulters. No instructions of such a character were issued either by the Justice Department, the Military Service Council or the Dominion Police. The only explanation Ottawa can see is that the Dominion Police Officer stationed at Quebec on his own initative issued such instructions to the judge. An inquiry is being made and an official statement will be issued giving an explanation as far as the Justice Department a concerned.

No word has been received from Sir Lomer Gouin, Attorney-General of the Province, as to what action he proposes to take and apparently he is still "considering" the matter. He was sent a strong wire of protest last Friday in which the action of Judge Langelier was described as "scandalous." This was before Judge Langelier had made his statement.

GEN. MEWBURN'S CIRCULAR

To Officers Commanding Units of the Canadian Militia:

Demobilization is proceeding steadily and troops will be returned at the rate of thirty thousand per month during February, March and April, forty thousand in May; forty-five thousand per months thereafter. If this program is carried out, practically the entire C.E.F. should be in Canada by the end of August. On or about the 1st March the first units of the Canadian Army Corps will leave Great Britain for Canada and the balance will follow rapidly.

In view of the foregoing I am daily more impressed with the opportunity which is presented to old regiments of active militia of Canada to offer to their returning comrades a suitable welcome and to play an important part in consolidating and perpetuating the military traditions of our country. The active militia had an honourable history previous to the great war. It bore its part in the defence of Canada in 1812 and 1866; in quelling rebellion in 1885 and in the South African war, 1899-1902. Its members of all ranks who were physically fit went forward to the present war almost to a man. Many fighting battalions are closely affiliated with old regiments of the militia and every battalion contains officers, non-commissioned officers, and men who in days past gave of their time and effort without stint to prepare for the country's defence.

It is hoped that the returning soldier, whose record overseas will be a glorious heritage forever, will regard the militia regiments from which so many of them proceeded as in a real sense their military homes. It is most fitting that the members of those regiments, recognizing the honor which has been gained for them and for Canada by their comrades in arms, should prepare to receive them and incorporate them into the regimental life. Every militia regiment should aim to be a centre of interest to which soldiers from overseas will naturally turn for comradeship and if need be for assistance.

A committee, of which Major General Sir W. D. Otter, K. C. B., C. V. O., is chairman, is giving special consideration to the problem of reorganization of the active militia, upon a plan which will at once preserve the history of the militia regiments and perpetuate the identity of overseas battalions. In a recent letter, Lieut.-General Currie, K.C.B., G.O.M.G., Commander of the Canadian Army Corps, says in part as follows "I am all with you in your desire to link up the units constituting the overseas force with the old units o Canda. We must work together to see that this is done, for it would be to our lasting disgrace if we were to allow a system which would get perpetuate the traditions so hardly won in the field." Pending a settlement of this intricate question it is hoped that all returned soldiers, even though they do not wish at present to enroll in militia regiments, will associate themselves with them and give them the advantage of their active interest and prestige.

Meanwhile it is hoped that all ranks of the militia will devote themselves in putting their regiments in order increasing their strength, perfecting their organization, and generally making ready for the important task which lies before them. This should be a labour of love and I have no doubt every officer, N. C. O. and men of all regiments will so regard it.

Major General.

Italy's Foreign Minister Is a Very Brilliant Man, But Not Modern in Views

WHILE he was in Italy President Wilson had a conference with Baron Sonnino, the Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs, and unless all reports are at fault, found him as hard to convince as Clemenceau regarding the advisability of a League. Sonnino is a statesman of the old-fashioned sort, who believes that to the victor belong the spoils and who places no confidence in altruism or abstract justice as a workable proposition.

For many years Sonnino has been a commanding figure in Italian affairs and has won the respect even of his opponents for his courage and honesty. He has been Premier of Italy twice, each time for only 100 days, and has held other Cabinet positions at various times. He has been a journalist, diplomat and politician all his long life.

Sonnino is the second son of a wealthy citizen of Pisa, of Jewish extraction, who professed Christianity. The baron was born in Alexandria, Egypt, in 1849. His mother was an English woman, and this may explain the pro-British attitude which Baron Sydney has always shown. The family returned from Alexandria to Pisa, where the younger son received his education. He received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Pisa at an early age, and entered the diplomatic service two years later.

He won a post in the Foreign Office, and was attached in turn to the Italian legations of Madrid, Vienna, Berlin, and Versailles. In 1873 he returned to Italy, and, with his friend, Leopold Franchetti, and Pasquale Vilbari, made an exhaustive inquiry into conditions in Sicily, and published a two-volume report of their work. Afterward Sonnino and Franchetti founded in Rome a weekly review, the Rassegna Settimanale. Sonnino remained editor from its start, in 1878, until it was merged into a daily, in 1882. In 1880 he was elected a deputy from San Casciano, Valdi Pesa, near Florence, to the Fourteenth Congress, and has ever since represented that district.

Sonnino's first appearance as a Cabinet member was in 1887, when he succeeded Gerardi as Under Secretary of State for the Treasury, in which post he remained until the fall of the Crisp Ministry, in 1889.

In 1895 Sonnino made a famous attack on the Fortis Ministry, which drove it from power. Sonnino succeeded as Premier, but was soon himself overthrown.

Not until 1909 did Sonnino again regain his power, and then his Premiership lasted, through a queer coincidence, but 100 days. As before, he was overthrown through a vote on a question of general policy, and again Giolitti, his opponent throughout his political life, succeeded him.

In 1901 Sonnino launched Il Giornale d'Italia, a daily newspaper, upon a successful career in Rome.

He has been Italy's Foreign Secretary since the war began.

BETTERING GRAPEFRUIT.

Experiments Tried to Improve the Quality of the Fruit.

Who has not been overcome with confusion when, breaking his fast at a strange table, the juice of the grapefruit squirted into his eyes or over his clothing as he pressed the spoon home between the seed segments?

And who, even admitting that many a good breakfast has been spoiled by such an outward incident, would expect one of the biggest agencies of the United States Government to devote its energies to producing a grapefruit that would not squirt?

And, as altruistic effort wisely directed, is never wholly lost, the result has been not only a non-squirting fruit, but one that has many other good points.

It has always been recognized, ever since old Capt. Shadock introduced the grapefruit into England from the wild groves of the East Indies, and gave it his own name, that neither the pear-shaped fruit that he found nor the round pomelo was all that it might be. The combined bitter-sweet flavor of the juice was attractive to many palates, but the sour was a little too pronounced and all but epicures insisted upon adding sugar. Horticultural experts devoted to citrus fruit culture and propogation saw in the tangerine, with all its condemning characteristics, others that might make it a desirable joint parent with the pomelo of a new fruit combining the good in both. Of course, the union might bring out only the bad qualities in both, but that is a chance to be taken in all propagation.

For years the Department of Agriculture has been testing crosses between various varieties of citrus fruits, few of which have proved to be worth while, but the cross of the tangerine and the grapefruit, to which the most attention was given, has proved to be worthy and has been named tangelo.

As a class, these fruits resemble oranges more than either of their parents and are exceedingly variable, sister fruits from seeds of a single cross-pollinated fruit even being very unlike. Second-generation seedlings, however, reproduce the parent variety almost as closely as though grown from a bud of the parent tree.

Two well-recognized varieties have been thoroughly tested, and for a number of years have been distributed to co-operators for further trial. These tangelos are called the Sampson and the Thornton. The Sampson is, under normal conditions, a decidedly late fruit, maturing in Florida through March, April and May. The Thornton is considerably earlier, the time of ripening, however, seeming to vary in different sections, though it usually is not mature before January or February. Some trees, however, have lately come to notice, the fruit of which is distinctly early ripening in November and December.

Gaza.

Gaza has played a rather more important part than Beersheba in the history of Palestine. With it are prominently associated the life-works of many of the prophets, while Samson's connection with it is well known. Destroyed in 634 by the Arabs, it was restored by the Crusaders and passed into the hands of Saladin in 1470. It has come into the hands of the Allies during the last year.

Theodore Roosevelt Was Explorer and Naturalist, Beloved by Out-door Folk

THERE was a side to Theodore Roosevelt which was almost forgotten by men who write his obituaries. Not so many people knew Roosevelt the explorer and naturalist. Yet this was the man whom out-of-door folk loved and whose word scientists listened to and respected.

As a recreation, during the strenuous years of his diversified life, Col. Roosevelt made himself one of the foremost authorities on American fauna, penetrated the darkest regions of the Dark Continent, to reappear with a notable collection of animals of that land, and plunged into the trackless wastes of the Brazilian hinterland, to return with the story of the discovery of a new river, which now is marked on maps with the legend "Rio Teodoro."

Roosevelt the naturalist was always a surprising quantity to his friends. He amazed the veteran ornithologist John Burroughs by his familiarity with the birds of the United States. He was continually confusing visitors at Sagamore Hill by leaving grave conferences to pursue a strange bird call or an unfamiliar flash of wings until the owner had been identified. To serious and painstaking students of natural history he was friend and brother; to the tellers of long tales concerning the intelligence and prowess of wild creatures he was a terrible enemy. "Nature faker" was the word he coined to describe them, and he attacked their statements with his usual energy in battle.

From the time when, a little lad, he besieged the minister of his church with a demand to be told about that fearsome creature the seal, his interest in the beasts of the earth grew with his body and brain. "What is a seal?" demanded the flabbergasted parson.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"You read about him yesterday," said small Theodore calmly, "in the Psalms."

The minister took down his Concordance. There he found the answer: "For the seal of thine house-hath eaten me up."

It is not on record whether he was branded as a nature faker, forthwith.

His almost feverish love for out-door life was the salvation of Theodore Roosevelt for many years, and eventually was a contributing cause of his death. He never completely recovered from a fever contracted in the Brazilian wilds, but his early delight in nature in the rough developed him from a puny, asthmatic child into the tremendously vigorous man of his later years.

During his years at Harvard he was especially interested in natural science. Here he laid the groundwork for his knowledge of nature and her children, and at one time seriously considered making the study of natural history his life work. Politics intervened and claimed the greater share of his life, but never could divorce him from himself love.

After his preliminary schooling in statecraft in the New York Assembly he retired to his cattle ranch in North Dakota, where he spent the years from 1884 to 1886 living the hard, outdoor life of a rancher and building up that philosophy of existence that found expression in his volume of living close to nature, "The Strenuous Life."

Time and again in his later years, when the tremendous battles that he waged had tired him, the old longing for the open trail returned and sent him forth on lengthy hunting or exploration trips. In 1903, during his first term as President, he went to the Yellowstone on a camping expedition. Several naturalists accompanied him and were astonished at his deep and thorough knowledge of birds and animals of the west. At the end of his second term, in 1909, he made the first of his two great expeditions of scientific investigation. Accompanied by his son Kermit, he penetrated the depths of Africa, hunting the lion, the rhinoceros, the buffalo and the lesser animals of this untouched country, and eventually emerged richer in knowledge as a naturalist and with a collection of skins and heads that has been of tremendous value to students since that time.

In 1912, following his "battle for the Lord" as head of the Bull Moose ticket and the minor but successful legal combat against persons who had accused him of drunkenness, Col. Roosevelt, again accompanied by his son Kermit and numerous naturalists, embarked on what was destined to be the most dangerous and most important of his explorations.

Late in the year, with several Brazilian guides and army officers, his party plunged into the jungles of Brazil, following the Paraguay river to its head waters and then striking into utterly unexplored country. It was here that he discovered the "River of Doubt," so named by him, which provoked a scientific controversy before its existence was finally established. Later the stream was renamed by the Brazilian Government in honor of its discoverer.

The river was a thousand miles long and flowed from a spot 13 south latitude and 59 west longitude, through many doublings and twistings, into the River Madeira. Roosevelt's party followed it for the greater part of its length, passing through stretches of country where the feet of white men had never trodden before. During the journey the Colonel and his fellow naturalists collected more than 2,100 birds and mammals, many new to science.

The expedition passed through the most terrible hardships. For a long time they were on reduced rations, and many of their number, the colonel among them, came down with fever. This attack, it is believed, sapped his hitherto splendid constitution so that he never fully regained his former vigor.

Blood poisoning developed only a year ago, and abscesses formed in his ear, which eventually robbed him of the use of one of these organs.

THE RUSSIAN SOVIETS.

They Do Not Represent the People of a Community.

George Kennan, whose knowledge of Russian affairs is as complete as that of any man on this continent, says in reply to an enquiry from the Outlook:

"The Soviet of Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates in any city, town or village does not represent the people of that city, town or village. It represents mainly the industrial proletariat and the peasant soldiers. Business men, professional men, all the landed proprietors, all the so-called "intelligentsia," all the Constitutional Democrats, Octobrists, Progressives and Monarchists are excluded. There is a sprinkling of Social Revolutionists (pre-war Socialists of the Kerensky type), but they are outnumbered by the Bolsheviki."

The word "soviet" (pronounced 'sovyet,' with the accent on the second syllable) is equivalent to our word "counsel" (advise) and "council" (an assemblage of people, temporary or permanent, for consultation); but in Russian the same serves for both. It was so as well in early English. The distinction between "counsel" and "council" in our language is comparatively modern. "Soviet" means primarily "advice." It was the name of the old Russian Cabinet, and also of the upper house of Parliament under the old regime.

The word "soviet," however, is not used in Russia to designate a town council or a semstvo. The town council (meaning a board of aldermen) is always called a duma (from dumat, to think), and the word "city" or "town" is added to it to distinguish it from the Imperial Duma, or lower house of Parliament. Consequently there are many municipal dumas in Russia as well as the national or Imperial Duma, the lower house of the Parliament. Neither is the word "soviet" applied to a semstvo. "Zemstvo" is derived from "zemlya"—land—and means primarily an assemblage of land holders or owners. With these two exceptions the word "soviet" is applied to any body of men that we should call a "council," as, for instance, the Soviet of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates.

Weather Prophets.

Undoubtedly there is a great relation between the elements and certain complaints, in the same way that some seasons of the year render certain people liable to illness more than others.

The lower we investigate in the animal world the more prone are its subjects to be affected by the weather. A cat for as much as three days beforehand feels a coming storm; a horse's fine nostrils can sniff approaching rain in an uncanny manner. The birds of the air have but to be watched to see the way in which they seek their nests at a hint of danger in the air.

The very trees and plants tremble in a peculiar manner before a severe storm. Many human beings are just as sensitive to the marked of the elements, but do not always realise the significance of their sensitiveness. People who suffer from gout, rheumatism or neuralgia know at once when bad weather is approaching.

Old wounds will [illegible] at certain times, and the stumps of members long since amputated give pain.

Medical men have never satisfactorily explained these strange phenomena, neither can they tell why some people instinctively become restless and excited, or moody and sullen, before a thunderstorm.—Tit-Bits.

The Reason.

The honors of war do not always rest with the brave. A good story is told of a certain [illegible] judge, who tried [illegible] counsel. Finding [illegible] regarded, and tired of counsel's interminable argument, he at length remarked: "Mr. McQuirter, it's all simply going in here"—indicating his right ear—"and coming out here," pointing to his left. For a moment counsel paused, then quietly retorted in his rich brogue: "Just so, my lord—just so! But what is there to stop it?"

WINTER PARASOLS.

They Are Becoming a Fad With the Fashionable.

A man, describing a smart feminine costume noted on the street for his wife's benefit the other day, completed his list of furs and coat and hat and boots by saying, "And she carries a green silk parasol."

"A parasol—in February," protested one of his hearers, doubtfully. But it really was a parasol. A winter parasol, or, in other words, one of the new umbrellas that are so pretty and so dainty that they masquerade as sunshades on stormy winter days. They have long, decorative handles, with bracelet loops of cord or rings of pyroxlin, smart, stubby ferrule ends and slimly folding silk covers in gay hues.

Trouser Button of Old Germany

THERE stands in the North Sea, strongly fortified and bristling with guns, the little island of Heligoland. An impregnable outpost of the German Empire, it has abundantly proved its worth during the four years of war.

Proof against attack from the sea, it has been an unpierced shield of defence for the mouth of the Elbe and the Kiel Canal. Without the efficient protection which Heligoland afforded, the German submarines would not have enjoyed half the freedom of movement which has been theirs. Nor could the Kaiser have dreamed the pleasant dream of making the Baltic a Prussian lake if he had not known himself the island's master. He at any rate did not undervalue what to some has seemed an insignificant island. "To-day this trouser-button," said he a year ago of Heligoland, "holds our whole suit together," and he was right.

And less than thirty years ago Heligoland was ours. Deliberately we gave to Germany what seemed a barren piece of earth, set in the sea, and she lost no time in converting it into a stronghold against us. If we want a text for a sermon on the thoughtlessness of politicians we may find it in the history of Heligoland.

For the best part of a century it belong to the British, and Britain acquired it in 1807 because had it remained in the hands of Denmark or been seized by Napoleon it would have gravely endangered our mastery of the sea. After the Treaty of Tilsit George Canning discovered that Napoleon and Alexander had resolved to force Denmark into a maritime league against Great Britain. "If Britain refuses to accept the Russian mediation," said Napoleon, "Denmark must declare war against her or I must declare war against Denmark." Canning lost no time; he would not risk the starvation of the British Isles. He bombarded Copenhagen, after due warning and with excellent reason, and captured Heligoland.

Thus he put an end to the vast smuggling trade which Denmark carried on for the profit of France, and gave a practical answer to Napoleon's demand for the freedom of the seas. In 1815 Heligoland was formally ceded to Great Britain, in whose peaceful hands it remained until 1890.

For seventy-five years Heligoland lived a life of idleness and of peace. And then she was made the poor victim of such a bargain between Great Britain and Germany as I hope will never be made again. The Germans, always troublers of the feast, were doing their best to thwart Great Britain's policy of expansion in Africa. If they could not colonize themselves, thought they, they might at least prevent others from colonizing, and knowing that we had ambitions in Zanzibar they demanded Heligoland in exchange for their complaisance.

This was not the first time they had attempted to lay hands upon the island. In 1883 Bismarck announced that Germany intended to make a canal to the Baltic, "which would offer great commercial advantages to England," and that a good fortified harbor in Heligoland was necessary for the security of this canal. Germany was ready, said Bismarck, to build the harbor at her own expense and to grant all its advantages freely to England! For some reason or another the project fell to the ground in 1883, to be revived in 1890, and it is hardly worth while to add that the advantages of the fair, commodious harbor were not then shared by the too amiable Great Britain.

To read Lord Salisbury's speech on the cession of Heligoland, delivered in 1890, is to marvel at our simplicity. In exchange for an indispensable "rock," as Bismarck was careful to call it, we received a promise that Germany would not oppose our assuming the protectorate of Zanzibar or controlling the Sultanate of Witu. Of what value, I wonder, have these privileges proved to us? Lord Salisburg, as in duty bound, painted the advantages which we should reap in glowing colors. We should be able, by Germany's leave, to increase our commerce and to suppress the slave trade. And, after all, of what use was Heligoland to Great Britain, a barberless, unfortified islet? Were we at war with Germany it could easily be taken from us, and its loss would expose us to a grave humiliation. Then, by a fine irony, Lord Salisbury expressed the fervent hope that the bargain, which gave neither power an advantage over the other, "would cement the friendship of the two countries and remove all danger of future conflict."

Had he but foreseen, as the Germans foresaw, that in the conflict which was sure to come Heligoland would be the trouser-button which held the German suit together, how gladly would he have sacrificed the protectorate of Zanzibar and let other hands suppress the slave trade!

But if the cession of Heligoland and its consequences were ill understood in England, the news of it caused the wildest enthusiasm in Germany. The Kaiser, in those days a master of spectacle, was at Osborne when the agreement was signed, and set sail for Heligoland attended by his fleet. After a pompous ceremony he assumed the sovereignty of the island, and forthwith set about the work of fortification. The harbor was built, and no more was heard of the commercial advantages which Great Britain and Germany were to share. What had been a mere friendly watering-place was swiftly converted into a stronghold which no strangers might visit, upon which no alien eye might ever look. Truly Germany had the best of the bargain.

GREENLAND A PRIZE.

May Be Awarded to Canada by Peace Conference.

In making a new map of the world, the task of the Paris Peace Conference, it is quite possible Canada may extend her territory in the Far North. Denmark is anxious to obtain North Schleswig and is indifferent to the future of Greenland. In fact, it is useless territory to the little European country, and the Danes would welcome being relieved of responsibility of their last colony in exchange for a portion of the territory wrested from them by Prussia in the sixties. It is quite possible that Canada may be asked to assume, with the consent of Denmark and the Allied powers, authority over Greenland. Certainly with the development of the submarine and the danger of foreign submarine bases in proximity to another country no other nation will be permitted to occupy Greenland but Canada if a change in the sovereignty of that country is determined. Nor should any people be indifferent to the acquisition of this territory. Their chief knowledge of Greenland is drawn from that old hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains." It should be remembered that one of the great prizes in the national real estate market is Spitzbergen, despised for centuries and known only as a base for Polar exploration or whale fishing. Its mineral wealth has been discovered to be enormous and European countries are coveting this "northern waste." So, too, the mineral and sea wealth of Greenland may be of equal, or even greater value, and Canada might find in "Greenland's Icy Mountains" and seas an indemnity for a considerable portion of our war expenditure.

Signifies Honorary Promotion.

Brevet is a French word, meaning commission or warrant. In military usage it gives an officer higher nominal rank than the one for which he receives pay. It is an honorary promotion. The first time it was used in the United States army was in 1812, when Capt. Zachary Taylor, who afterward became president, was made major by brevet for his brave defense of Fort Harrison against the Indians, near Terre Haute.

Rivetless Ship.

There has been much discussion of late about the feasibility of building electrically-welded steamships and thereby avoiding the time and expense consumed in riveting. From England comes word of the completion of a rivetless 275-ton barge, supposedly the largest electrically-welded craft so far produced. It is 125 feet over all, and 16 feet of beam. The hull is rectangular in section amidships—only the bilge plates being curved. All water-tight joints as far up as the latter are continuously welded on both sides, while those hereafter are tack-welded on one side. The process permitted an estimated saving of from 25 to 40 per cent. in time and 10 per cent. in material. The expense of welding amounted to $1,500, $890 of which was for electrodes. In normal times this item would be less by about 60 per cent. Another experimental barge, with certain parts riveted and others welded, is to be built.

Many Soldiers Insane.

On account of the fact that there are likely to be in Canada many men permanently disabled, the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is likely to continue for a long period of years to come, according to Sir James Lougheed.

"We have, unfortunately, between 800 and 1,000 insane soldiers on our hands, who will require attention for many years, as well as many tubercular patients, and in addition to that there will have to be institutions for the permanent care of men who are totally disabled," said Sir James recently, in answer to a question as to the duration of the work of the department.

"About a year after demobilization is concluded," he said, "the re-educational work of the department should be completed. I understand that it will be eight or nine months before demobilization is completed on account of the fact that we cannot absorb the men any faster than that. There are difficulties of the carrying companies to be got over, and twenty thousand men a month is all that we can expect during the winter months."

Sir James explained that the number of amputation cases which require attention means delay in the winding up of the work of the department, as these men must be restored to the maximum amount of efficiency before they are discharged."

In regard to the large number of insane, he said that while many of them will ultimately recover their sanity there are many who will not and must be looked after for years, if not all their lives.

"We are trying to do everything we possibly can for the soldiers, but I do not know of anything special that has not been announced," he said in reference to the immediate plans of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, over which he presides.

An Ancient Church.

The old Church of All Saints in the little village of Witley, in Surrey, England, has often been filled on a Sunday evening with Canadians from the camp, and four of the battalions have deposited their colors in it for safe keeping. Last spring some men of the 134th Battalion started the idea of placing some memorial in the church as a token of the good-will which has existed between them and the villagers. The idea was received with enthusiasm and £77 was quickly subscribed. As a result some oak paneling has been placed all along the south wall of the nave. This wall was built before 1050 A.D., in Anglo-Saxon days, when Edward the Confessor was King. It will bear the following inscription, "To the glory of God, this oak paneling was placed in this ancient church of the Motherland by Canadians in Witley Camp, 1918. United by loyalty in sacrifice and faith."

On Dec. 6th, the gift was dedicated by the Right Rev. Edward Talbot, Bishop of Winchester, in the presence of the Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who took the place of Sir Robert Borden, who was prevented from being present. After the vicar, the Rev. E. J. Newitt, had told the story of the gift, the service began with the singing of "O Canada." The bishop made the dedication, other prayers followed for the fallen, for peace and for the Empire.

PATRIOTIC CONVICTS.

Those In English Jails Responded to Calls Made on Them.

Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, director of the English convict prisons, finds that the British prison population has been extremely loyal during the war. Inmates of prisons have not only responded to the call on them for increased manufacturing output, but many of them on release have volunteered for military service. Examples are not infrequent of men with the gravest criminal records performing acts of sacrifice or gallantry, while several have been decorated and a number have been killed in battle.

Sir Evelyn told the story of a man who had received three sentences of penal servitude, and whose whole history showed him to be a man of violent character, embittered against society, enlisted on his release in 1914, invalided after service in the fighting line, he volunteered to have another man's life by giving his blood for transfusion. During the operation he contracted blood poisoning and was very ill. After recovery he obtained a first-class certificate as bombing instructor and returned to the front, where he won the Military Medal and Distinguished Conduct Medal. His officer reported: 'He is one of our best N.C.O.'s and has rendered splendid service throughout, and that after three months in the hottest part of the line'."

The following are the figures of the average daily prison population in England for the last year before the war and for this year:

	1913.	1918.
Convict prisons	3,704	1,893
Local prisons	14,353	7,355
Borstal institutions	924	726
State inebriate reformatories	61

The average value of prison labor has increased nearly 50% since the war, according to Sir Evelyn.

A Mistake In the Bill.

The late John Morgan Richards was known to fame as the father of John Oliver Hobbes and as the biggest patent medicine advertiser of the past generation. Richards hated doctors, but he was taken down with the grippe during the epidemic of 1889, and a fashionable London specialist pulled him through. "By the way, doctor," he said, "is it true that you physicians have abandoned bleeding?" "Quite true," the doctor agreed, "we haven't done any bleeding for a hundred years." "Very well, then, doctor," he said, "there's a serious mistake in my bill."

The Value of Poetry.

According to Alfred Noyes, the war has caused a dreadful slump in poetry. Everything else has gone up 300 to 400 per cent., but it is said that before the war a sonnet could bring $24.80 on the market. Mr. Noyes laughed delightfully as he did proverb so as to hide its point. "Poets are born, not paid."—London Opinion.

MAJOR BELMONT LOOKS FOR RENEWAL OF RACING

Chairman of New York Jockey Club Says Race Horse Has Distinguished Himself in the Great War and Predicts Brilliant Future For Sport in America and Abroad.

Major August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club, who recently returned from abroad, is more than ever convinced as a result of his observations of the necessity for racing as an essential in the improvement of the horse product of the country. He found the keenest interest manifested in the thoroughbred in France and England, and looks for a renewal of racing abroad and something of this same scale as prevailed before the war.

As far as the sport at home is concerned he anticipates a successful season, and the news that he will take the same active interest in the turf as formerly will be welcomed by all those who have the best interests of the sport at heart. "Everybody abroad concedes the all important part cavalry played at decisive moment in the great struggle," said Major Belmont a few days ago. "The thoroughbred is the prime factor in the production of this type, and no less an authority than Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander-in-chief, himself a cavalryman and a sincere lover of the horse, whose charger is the thoroughbred Croesus, has indorsed the wisdom of breeding horses for the two military virtues of hardiness and activity. He is on record as expressing the opinion 'that the best animals for army purposes also are the most valuable for agriculture, commerce and sport.'"

Illustrating the adaptability of the thoroughbred as a trooper's mount, Major Belmont said:

"My son, Lieut. Raymond, of the headquarters mounted troop of the 78th Division, rode all through the heavy fighting in the Argonne during the last seven weeks of the war a three-year-old filly by Rabelais, out of Field Mouse, bred at my Haras de Villers. He writes me that she was absolutely fearless under fire, and stood the campaign and exposure better than the cold blooded horses. He says that many French officers ride thoroughbreds, some of not great substance, but the universal opinion among those who practice it and do not theorize, as many of our best horse men are apt to do at home, is that the thoroughbred is tougher and more courageous than his less well bred brother. The only thing is that he must be educated to his calling as a cavalry mount and not be a graduate of the race course.

"Our officers," resumed the Major, "have in many cases attempted the use of race course castoffs. It was done on the Mexican border with unfortunate consequences to the reputation of the thoroughbred. There always will be exceptions, but a thoroughbred should be brought up and trained for his career, whether it be polo pony, hunter, charger or light draft, just as much as the human, if a proper average of success is to be achieved.

"Raymond was short of a mount when his division was stationed not far from my Haras de Villers, and I cabled him he could have whatever he might find to suit him. The three-year-old filly Fickle had been turned out and never broken, destined for the sale. Raymond took her because of her substance, broke her as he went along and within a few months she was doing regular field service, campaigning with the best of them and holding her own in health and flesh."

In commenting upon racing and its connection with breeding, Major Belmont said:

"Racing cannot exist without its faults and weaknesses, which are well known, although grossly exaggerated, but its usefulness and necessity for the preservation of the light horse must now more than ever be recognized as of national importance. I hope it will be finally favored by our governments, state and national, and encouraged in a rational and broad spirited way. Stop calling it the sport of kings; it is a sport of the people, and for the good of one of their most valuable assets for all time.

"I hope," said Major Belmont in conclusion, "to become more useful to the thoroughbred interests than I have been heretofore, if peace, as I believe it will, bring me more leisure."

HORSE COST $50 AND WON $14,000

EARLY OWNERS OF PRINCE LAREE BELIEVED HE WAS USELESS.

The all-aged trotting champion of 1918, which won over $14,000 in purses, was once sold for $50.

Walter Cox, the New Hampshire trainer, owned Prince Loree as a yearling, but thought so little of him that he included him in the "to boot" part of a trade. The Pastime stable which next owned the gelding, decided he was a "bust," and sold him to Al Pennock for the sum of $50. The latter gave Prince Loree a tryout, decided he was no good, and then sold him to Capt. David Shaw, the Cleveland horseman, for $125.

Shaw campaigned Prince Loree in the amateur events in Cleveland for a while, discovered his ability, and then started him over the Grand Circuit. Under the skillful handling of Mike McDevitt, the gelding soon rounded into a world-beater, and finished the 1918 season with a mark of 2:04½ and with $14,000 of winnings to his credit.

RESUME SPORTS AT COLLEGES

REORGANIZATION MEETING CALLED FOR KINGSTON, WEEK FROM SATURDAY

Montreal, Feb. 13. — That all branches of sports will be revived at the various Canadian universities is assured by the announcement of the annual meeting of the Canadian Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association. The meeting will be held at Kingston on Saturday, February 22, when plans for the coming season will be decided on.

A movement to revive football has been carried on for the past two or three months and arrangements have been completed at McGill, Queen's R. M. C. and the University of Toronto to take up the gridiron game next season. This also will be dealt with at the meeting at Kingston.

McGill and Queen's Universities favor a complete resumption of sports on a pre-war basis, while R. M. C. will follow with Queen's in whatever stand they take. No announcement has been made from Toronto other than that the University Athletic Association would be ready to take up sports next autumn. That announcement was made following an effort of McGill to reorganize the hockey union.

AMENDING RULES OF JOCKEY CLUB

MEETING OF MOMENTOUS INTEREST TO TURF WORLD TO BE HELD TODAY

New York, Feb. 13.—At the meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club tomorrow afternoon several propositions which are particularly important to the turf world will come up for adjudication. Chief of these will be the Hitchcock amendment in the barring of unsexed horses and the proposed new scale of weights.

The proposed gelding amendment, which has been framed to read that "no gelding three-year old and upward shall be qualified to start in any race closing 72 hours before the date of running, except handicaps and selling races.", will probably be thrown into the discard along with many similar contemplated amendments which have not been considered as being for the welfare of the turf.

The proposed new weight scale has many meritorious features and is expected to take care of the various divisions as the season progresses in a manner which will work satisfactorily for all concerned.

In addition to the foregoing, the questions of officials, licenses and the Maryland dates will probably be acted upon. As to the latter, it is more than likely that Bowie will be allotted the period from April 1 to 16, inclusive; Havre de Grace from April 16 to 30 and Pimlico from May 1 to 17, with the Preakness, the stellar three-year-old attraction of the early year in the East, slated for decision on May 14.

Tchaikowsky, the most distinguished representative of modern Russian musical compositions, was born on Christmas Day. That event was quite fitting as Christmas and music are inseparable.

Tankard Goes To Stratford Curlers

Stratford, Feb. 13.—E. A. Cash's rink of Startford lifted the Western Ontario Tankard by defeating Taylor of Galt by 14 to 6. This rink has put up a consistently good game all through the tournament. It consists of Tubman, McKay, Mallion and Cash. The fight in the finals for the Victor Challenge Trophy narrowed down to Miller and McFadgen, both of Stratford, McFadgen winning by 4 to 3.

In the contest for the Windsor Trophy the finals were between Tovell of St. Marys and Milne of Plattsville. The ice had much water on it for the latter part of the play, but, notwithstanding this, there was some fine curling. Tovell won by 3 to 1.

Kitchener Is Put Out of Running

Woodstock, Feb. 13.—Kitchener Union Jacks were vanquished by the local juniors here last night in a fast game by the score of 5 to 1. The Red and White overcame the one-goal lead obtained by Kitchener in the latter city Monday night, and thus proceeded to win the round by a margin of three goals.

The Kitchener boys played good hockey but were unable to keep up with the Red and Whites. The Schnarr brothers played great hockey for the visitors, while Bill Carson, Frank Carson, King and Shea starred for the locals.

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd of the season. The first period ended in Woodstock's favor, with the score standing 3 to 1. The second frame was a draw, and in the final period the locals notched two more, making it 5 to 1. The teams:

Woodstock — Goal, Dunlop; defence, Shea and King; centre, Trump; wings, F. Carson and W. Carson. Subs—Dubrule and Johnston.

Kitchener—Goal, Schmelis; defence, Trunshinski and Gildner; centre, W. Schnarr; wings, Fritz and G. Schnarr. Subs—Hans and Schell.

Referee—Tom Munro, London.

It was estimated that more than 1,500 horsemen attended the sale.

War Cost All Powers $193,000,000,000

Washington, Feb. 13.—The total cost of the war to all belligerents, including the Central Powers, was placed at $193,000,000,000 by Secretary Baker in an address here last night at the American Women's "Victory Dinner." This estimate, the secretary said, was based on figures just compiled by the War College.

AUSTRALIA TO AID FARMERS

STATE PROMISES ADVANCE OF 97 CENTS A BUSHEL ON WHEAT.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Some interesting particulars of the steps taken by the Givernment of the Australian Commonwealth to assist the wheat growers of the island contenant are contained in a report to the Department of Trade and Commerce from Mr. H. D. Ross, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Melbourne. He states that, independent of earlier guarantees made by several State Governments, owing to the Federal Government not having come to a decision in the matter, the Commonwealth Government has decided to make advances of 97 cents per bushel to farmers on the 1918-1919 crop of recognized quality. This guarantee immediately relieved the State Governments from any liability in making advances to farmers.

The advance will involve a payment by the Government of more than $60,000,000, in addition to railway freight and all expenses in handling, but will afford prompt relief to wheat growers, who, through an unfavorable season, will have a much restricted production.

An estimate made by the Australian Wheat Board puts the available supply of wheat in Australia at 156,266,000 bushels. Many steamers have been released to load the purchases made by the British Government, which, however, did not buy any of the 1917-1918 crop, upon which the Commonwealth Government advances now total $55,000,000.

CARNEGIE'S RICH GIFT TO QUEEN'S

MAKES GRANT OF $250,000 AS A MARK OF FRIENDSHIP

This grant is related to that made by the will of Dr. James Douglas, and is conditional upon the raising of the residue of the $500,000 necessary to secure the entire amount of the $500,000 legacy contained in Dr. Douglas' will.

ATTRACTIONS AT GRAND TONIGHT

PICTURE SHOW AND VAUDEVILLE—"THE OTHER MAN'S WIFE" TOMORROW.

Last night the play "A Little Mother" was presented at the Grand Opera House for a second time. It is one of the finest of its kind that has been seen in this city for a long time. Oscar O'Shea, a former Peterborough boy in the leading role, excelled. His make-up approached perfection and his impersonation of the character he represented was beyond criticism.

Today and tomorrow at the Grand there will be a good motion picture show and vaudeville. The movie attractions are a six reel feature entitled "After the War" in which Grace Cunard plays the leading part and an O. Henry story featuring Alice Howell in "A Cabbage Queen." An instalment of the British Gazette will be shown and an 11 reel performance has been arranged for in addition to the vaudeville by Birch and Birch which takes the form of a singing, talking and musical novelty.

On Saturday at the Grand "The Other Man's Wife" a play which ran for six months at the Republic Theatre in New York will be presented afternoon and evening. This is an attraction of a most superior kind and everyone should see it.

HAVE MOVIES IN THE PRIMARIES

EVERY KINDERGARTEN IN TORONTO TO BE MADE PICTURE HOUSE.

Every kindergarten in the public schools in Toronto is to be fitted up with dark blinds so that it may be turned into an afternoon "movie" room, if the recommendation of the Management Committee, agreed on yesterday afternoon, passes the Board of Education. Dr. Noble and Caroline Brown were enthusiastic in their praise of the educational possibilities of pictured lectures, and agreed that the best method of installing the machines in school was to let the children pay for them gradually on the basis of a 1-cent admission fee.

Upon motion of Dr. Noble it was decided to ask the City Council to submit to a vote of the people the question of whether it was desired to pay salaries to school trustees. Dr. Hunter, the father of the salary scheme, said he had no objection to securing the opinion of the voters.

It was decided to recommend the appointment of a Director of Household Science who would have charge of all the domestic science centres

MONTAGUE LOLE AT THE EMPIRE

A master picture is "The Cross Bearer," in which Montague Love, the immensely popular star in World-picture Brady-Made tells an intense story of love and hate, treachery and divine devotion, cowardice and courage in Belgium at the time of the German invasion. It tells of one of the world-famous portraits in which he saved his ward, Lilma de Merode, from the Hun hordes and united her to her sweetheart after the most thrilling of experiences. "The Cross Bearer" is an altogether exceptional picture. It is a tremendous offering, an attraction altogether extraordinary picture. It is one you must not miss. See it tonight at the Empire Theatre.

LORD CECIL DENIES

Report That There is to be Intended Army.

Paris, Feb. 13.—Lord Robert Cecil, the British representative on the League of Nations Commission, emphatically denied the report spread in Paris today that the League of Nations Commission had approved the creation of an international army, and that the United States and Great Britain had conceded a point to France.

Lord Robert said that, in his opinion, the Commission would decline, moreover, to approve such a plan. He added that such a report must have originated from an enemy of the Peace Conference.

FOUR YEAR AGO CANADIAN UNIT LANDED IN FRANCE

Local Veterans Celebrated the Anniversary of This Country's First Direct Participation in the War—Pleasing Entertainment Last Night in Victoria Hall.

There was a good attendance at the first annual renunion of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association in Victoria Hall last night to celebrate the anniversary of the landing in France of the first Canadian contingent.

An exceptionally good representation of returned men was on hand and the band rendered several splendid selections which sounded well in the big hall.

On the platform with President Morrison, who presided, were the guests of the evening—the veterans of 1866, represented by the president, Col. Miller, and Messrs. R. Sanderson, H. Rush, John Kylie, R. Tivey, C. Bourne, P. Thompson, J. McCombe, J. D. Collins, Anderson Nesbitt and Geo. Stanton. Alderman Turner, chairman of the Reception Committee, and Alderman Edgar, represented the city; E. A. Peck, ex-M. P. P., Jos. Wearing, G. N. Gordon, G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., Rev. Father Phelan, E. G. Patterson, R. R. Hall, ex-M.P., Col. Mills, Col. Johnstone and Capt. Finnimore, of Lakefield.

President Morrison proposed the toast to the king, which was loyally responded to and the National Anthem sung.

In proposing the toast to the British Empire, Mr. G. N. Gordon spoke eloquently. Messrs. E. A. Peck and Jos. Wearing responded.

Th toast to our city was proposed by Alderman J. J. Turner and Mr. G. A. Gillespie replied.

Mr. Herb Rush contributed a song at this point in the proceedings which was much appreciated as was evidenced by the hearty encore.

Col. Joseph Mills proposed the toast to the veterans of 1866. In a short address, he dealt with the events of the first contingent's landing in France, the anniversary of which was being honored at last night's meeting.

He referred to everyone present as comrades, for while they might not have all been comrades in arms, he felt that the kindness and support of the friends who were the guests of the evening had been such as to justify their inclusion under that term.

He outlined briefly the journey of the first contingent, which had taken so long to reach France, from the time when they broke camp at Salisbury Plains on the evening of the 7th of February, until they embarked at the port of Bristol on the night of February 8th. They sailed for the port of St. Nazarre in the Bay of Biscay, which was at that time the British base in France and landed there on the 11th.

On board box cars, they left St Nazarre on the same day and reached Merris on the afternoon of the 13th where they went into billets.

In proposing the toast to the veterans of '66 the Colonel eulogized the spirit they had shown in their day and expressed pleasure at having an opportunity of toasting their health upon such an occasion.

He referred to Col. Miller, their president, as a veteran of the American civil war, in addition to the border raids and stated that age alone prevented him from having taken an active part in the recent struggle He had been well represented, however, by a son and a grandson.

Col. Miller made an able response briefly describing the events of 1866 and praising unstintingly the valor of the men of the great war, which has recently drawn to a close.

Mr. Chas. Coleman contributed a song, which was well received and heartily applauded.

Rev. Father Phelan, in proposing a toast to the fallen comrades, paid a feeling tribute to these valiant heroes who have laid down their lives for their country and civilization.

President Morrison, in accordance with the custom of the association, asked those present to remain with bowed heads for a short space of time as a tribute to the dead.

A selection from the band was followed by a song by Mr. J. E. Firth, which was much appreciated and drew an insistent encore.

Col. Johnstone proposed the toast to the G.W.V.A. and outlined the aims and the need for such a society.

Secretary Whatley, in responding told of the good accomplished by the association in the righting of many agrievances, which had assailed the returned soldiers and their dependents and which are bound to creep in from time to time.

A monologue by Mr. J. Primeau and Mr. V. Morphet was one of the most interesting numbers upon the program. It was followed by a recitation by Mr. Thomas Williams.

Light refreshments, consisting of sandwiches ,ice cream and coffee were served during the evening and furnished a climax to a memorable and pleasant event.

Messrs. Jno. Crane and Jno. Firth were the able accompanists of the evening.

A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, the entertainment committee and the band was placed on record and just as the clock struck twelve, the National Anthem was sung and the happy gathering dispersed.

SKIP HOWSON, KEENE, WINS THE PETERBOROUGH TROPHY

Event is Decided When Skip Brightman's Rink Loses by Score of 11 to 10—Bonspiel Will Probably End To-Night.

Interest grows as Peterborough's big open bonspiel draws to a close, and it is expected that tonight will see the final game played. At six o'clock the finals in the Matthews-Blackwell competition will be staged and some time during the evening, depending upon the success of Mr. Best in the semi-finals of the other game, the Morrow competition will be ended.

R. P. Best and his rink have met with remarkable success during the bonspiel. They have won eight consecutive victories and are the only rink which have not been beaten in either competition up to 3 o'clock. Mr. Best's lead is R Dobbin, second Alex. Archibald, and his vice-skip is W. D. Campbell.

NO MORE BIRTHS IN STATE PRISON

NEW YORK LAW TO SAVE HELPLESS CHILDHOOD FROM SHAME

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13.—No more children are to be born in the prisons of New York State. The bill forbidding such births was passed by the Assembly and undoubtedly will go to Governor Smith for Executive approval before the end of next week. The measure was introduced in the Senate by Majority Leader J. Henry Walters. There can be no speculation as to whether the bill will pass the Senate or not, for it is a particular hobby with Senator Walters, and, of course, he has things pretty much his way. Assemblyman George R. Fearon of Syracuse fathered the bill in the lower House, where it was rushed through without any debate.

The bill directs that a woman confined in a State prison, reformatory, penitentiary or jail, about to give birth to a child, shall be removed to a suitable environment a reasonable time before the anticipated birth, so that her child may be born without a stain upon its name The mother is to be permitted to remain away from the institution until her health has been regained.

If there are funds available by the institution for hospital purposes these shall be used for the maintenance and medical care of the mother and her child; otherwise, the woman herself or her friends or relatives will be required to meet the expense. If none of these financial sources are available the county from which the woman was committed is to pay the bill.

GERMANY IS READY TO DISARM AND DEMOBILIZE HER TROOPS, EBERT SAYS

Bernstorff Will Not Go as Delegate to Peace Conference—Government to Maintain People's Army Raised by General Conscription—Willing to Pay Debts.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Weimar, Feb. 14.—Count Von Bernstorff will not go to the Peace Conference as a German delegate, Germany's plans for a time being at least are for a peoples' army on the basis of general conscription. Germany will announce within a few days her intention to carry out complete disarmament and demobilization and a commission made up of the Centre, Democratic and Socialist parties is now discussing the details of the new Governmental program.

These points were made by Friedrich Ebert, the new president of Germany, in an informal talk with foreign newspapermen today. They answered the questions of American and English correspondents, asked after he had read a formal statement which virtually followed the lines of his address on Wednesday, in which he emphasized Germany's intention to rehabilitate herself.

"Germany will be glad to pay, honorably and uprightly, as soon as possible," declared Ebert, in connection with past debts and future obligations.

JUDGES ARE GIVEN POWER TO MAKE WAR PRISONERS

Government Issues Order-in-Council Dealing With the Alien Problem.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—The Government, it is announced, has taken decisive action in the matter of dealing with alien enemies. Indications have been most pronounced for some time that a growing feeling of hostility was developing in various portions of the Dominion against alien enemies, most of whom have profited during the war and have not so conducted themselves as to show appreciation of the citizenship they were enjoying and for which others were fighting. On the other hand, the behavior of many was creditable in every way. Already the force of public feeling has shown itself in some larger cities.

Special regulations have today been enacted by the governor-in-Council under the powers conferred by the war measures act, 1914, and now have the force of law, whereby, with respect to localities to be designated by the minister of justice, power is conferred upon the country and district judges of the superior court, to direct the internment as prisoners of war of persons of alien enemy nationality residing or being within the designated localities. The procedure is of a summary character and very simple. The judge of the locality, or, upon his request, any judge having like powers for another county or district, may, upon summary complaint by any municipal or local authorities or by any person who in the opinion of the judge is sufficiently representative of the feeling of the community to lay a complaint, enquire and determine summarily whether it be expedient for maintaining or securing the public peace or safety, or for the prevention of any disturbance, that such person should, in view of his hostile nationality, be interned as a prisoner of war.

If the judge be of opinion that such person ought to be interned, he is to grant an order to that effect, whereupon the person may be apprehended and interned by any peace officer or by any military officer, non-commissioned officer or man thereunto deputed. For the purposes of this enquiry the judge may, in his discretion, either cause the man to be brought before him or he may proceed in his absence and with or without notice. And the person charged is not to be represented by counsel unless by the special authorization of the judge. The persons whom the judge orders to be interned are to be subject to like custody, detention and treatment as prisoners of war interned in ordinary and due course of law.

It is anticipated that in cities or other localities where the alien enemy question is provoking agitation and exceptional difficulty, committees of representative citizens will be locally constituted, whose duty it will be carefully to review the cases of aliens of enemy nationality who are living in the locality, and to inform and assist the judge by bringing to his attention and submitting for the exercise of his powers, all cases with respect to which he should, in the opinion of these committees, adjudicate. In this manner it is apprehended that they can be disposed of expeditiously and with due regard to the merits and requirements of each particular case.

The minister has already designated the city of Hamilton as a locality within which the powers above described may be executed.

M'DERMID WINS MORROW TROPHY FOR PETERBORO

Clifford of Oshawa Takes the Matthews-Blackwell Cup in Finals Againgt Millbrook

Mr. J .W. McDermid's rink captured the Morrow Trophy for the Peterborough club in the final game of the series, which finished last night about 6.30, and in which a Port Hope rink skipped by Mr. McCullough of that town went down to defeat.

The contest was close at first, but towards the last Skip McDermid and his players began to draw away from the Port Hope curlers and finished with a lead of five points, the score standing 20-15.

Mr. McDermid's rink, which played remarkably well throughout the 'spiel, and won seven games, was made up of Mr. Herb Hare, as lead, James Metheral, as second, and W. J. Thompson, as vice-skip.

In the fours of the Matthews-Blackwell contest, Skip Clifford of Oshawa worsted Skip Best of Peterborough, who had remarkable success throughout the bonspiel in both competitions. In the finals the Oshawa four were successful against Skip Steele of Millbrook, and carried off the coveted trophy. The standing was 16-6.

This ended Peterborough's big open bonspiel for this year, the largest in the city's history and one of the largest of the Provincial series.

The play throughout was keen, but the feeling of good sportsmanship was apparent at all times, and everyone was well satisfied, whether successful or running in hard luck.

Covenant of League of Nations

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 14.—After reading the draft of the League of Nations' covenant at the plenary session of the Peace Conference this afternoon, President Wilson was to speak on what had been accomplished by the Conference. He was to be followed by Premier Orlando, Premier Clemenceau and other leading figures of the Conference.

The Conference will not be asked for the present to adopt the covenant, which will remain open for further consideration. President Wilson was not present when the final result was reached late in the day. He had attended the morning session, which passed only six articles, leaving twenty uncompleted. The President then decided to attend the afternoon session of the Supreme War Council, leaving Lord Robert Cecil to preside over the League of Nation's Commission.

It was under Lord Robert's skill and guidance that the final session achieved the completion of its task at 5.22 o'clock Friday night. The members separated with an outburst of good feeling and congratulation after the period of tension through which they had just passed.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 14.—The Executive Council of the proposed League of Nations, as outlined in the covenant, read by President Wilson today, will consist of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, together with representatives of four other states to be selected by all the other nations. The Council shall meet as often as is necessary, but at least once a year at whatever place may be designed. Any matter within the sphere of action of the League or affecting the peace of the world will be dealt with.

The first meeting of the body of delegates and Executive Council shall be summoned by the President of the United States.

LANDING PLACE FOR AIRPLANES

BORDER CITIES GETTING READY FOR COMMERCIAL USE OF FLIERS.

Windsor, Feb. 14.—Recommendation that plans be made immediately for a landing place for airplanes for commercial purposes by the border cities was made in the annual report of A. H. Healy, president of the Border City Real Estate Board at the annual meeting.

This action is imperative for a progressive city, said Mr. Healy, as Sir Edward Kemp, overseas minister of militia, has been given 15 airplanes to be used in the Canadian mail service. This is only the beginning of airplane service for commercial purposes, Mr. Healy said. He pointed to 20,000 Canadians who learned to fly during the war. Mr. Healy suggested an option on the Windsor race track as a temporary place.

The annual report also recommended the immediate purchase of the Windsor Railway system. There are several franchises held by the company, all expiring at different times.

BRITISH PAPERS PRAISE BORDEN

SAYS HE AND WHITE "HAVE CULTIVATED BEARING OF STATESMEN."

London, Feb. 14.—Nothing further has transpired here regarding the reported offer of the American Ambassadorship to Premier Borden. The report naturally aroused considerable interest, such comments as have appeared being quite favorable. The Yorkshire Post says that among our leading statesman there is understood to be a strong feeling that one of our great aims of the immediate future must be the promotion of Anglo-Saxon unity. It is recognized that for the carrying out of this idea Canada stands in a highly favorable position. Whether Sir Robert Borden could accept such an offer, adds The Post, is another matter.

The Daily Despatch remarks there is nothing inherently improbable in the report. Sir Robert has always been an agreeable personality to the higher rank of our own statesmen. He knows the United States well, like its people, and is in turn liked by them. The Despatch adds that in such an event Sir Thomas White would succeed Sir Robert Borden. Sir Thomas, like Sir Robert, has the cultivated bearing of a British statesman of the old school, is exceptionally clever, and would command the same respect as the present Premier.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—The storm, accompanied by snow, wind and rain, which for twenty-four hours has demoralized wire communication and railroad traffic in this territory between the Missouri River and the Rocky Mountains and from the Canadian border to Oklahoma, early today was still in progress and moving eastward, though with decreasing severity. No fatality reported cold weather, the temperatures being well above zero.

FIRE BRIGADE MAKES RECORD RUN TO THE DE LAVAL PLANT

Answer Alarm Rung by Underwriters' Inspector in Exactly Three Minutes—Splendid Showing Wins Official Commendation.

This morning N. R. Wilson, the Underwriters' inspector arrived in the city to conduct his tests as to fire brigade efficiency.

At 10.41 he rang in an alarm from Box 19, at the corner of Park and Princess streets, near the De Laval plant. In exactly three minutes the brigade were upon the scene and in three quarters of a minute they had a line of hose laid and water turned on. The entire operation was accomplished in the almost incredibly short time of three and three-quarter minutes.

With the Inspector at the scene from which the alarm was rung were Mayor Ducan and Chairman Morrison of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. The Underwriters' representative expressed himself a well pleased with the splendid showing made by the brigade and the speed and assurance with which they went about their work.

Peterborough's brigade established something like a record this morning when they reached one of the most distant parts of the city in three minutes. The Inspector chose about the most unexpected box imaginable as the scene of the test and was well satisfied with the result and so expressed himself to Mayor Duncan, Chairman Morrison and Chief Grange.

As a second test the brigade were required to lay twelve lines of hose on George street between Brock, Simcoe and Water streets. This they did without any apparent trouble and the results as noted by the inspector will appear in his report to the Fire Water and Light Committee of the city council.

This afternoon he will accompany Chief Grange in a round of inspection of the hydrants of the system and will be in the city until tomorrow night.

HOMELESS BOY IS HEIR TO FORTUNE

SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS IS FREE WAITING FOR U. S. SAILOR.

New York, Feb. 14.—In a jackie's uniform, penniless except for the money lent him to come east from Chicago, "Danny" Tolman, grandson and missing heir of the late Daniel H. Tolman, "King of the Money Lenders," who died intestate a year ago, is on his way to this city to claim a fortune of $7,000,000. Danny's father had been estranged from the boy's grandfather since marrying against the money lender's wishes.

When his grandfather died at Montclair, N.J., on February 12, 1918, "Danny" was ragged and almost friendless and hungry, ignorant of the fact that he had a grandfather a millionaire, and never dreaming a search had been instituted for him as the heir to the great fortune.

For years he has been wandering through the Middle West, working at odd jobs, trying to make a living as best could a lad who at thirteen had lost both his parents. He was in Milwaukee then, and he enlisted at the Great Lakes Naval Training School.

There were wounded of every degree. Fifty-five men were unable to walk, and 30 were suffering from shell-shock. The latter will go to the Canadian Infirmary at Ste. Cunegonde for treatment. The men reported a smooth passage and were in excellent spirits. There were no deaths.

WILL REDUCE ARMAMENT TO THE POINT CONSISTENT WITH NATIONAL SAFETY

League of Nations Finally Organized and Powers of Executive Council Defined—Wars or Rumors of Wars Shall Call Forth Prompt Preventative Action.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 14.—The covenant of the League of Nations says that any war or threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the high contracting parties or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the League, and the high contracting parties reserve the right to take any action that they may deem wise and effective to safeguard the peace of nations.

"It is hereby also declared and agreed to be the friendly right of each of the high contracting parties to draw the attention of the body of delegates or of the executive council to any circumstances affecting international intercourse which threatens to disturb the international peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends.

"The high contracting parties agree that should disputes arise between them which cannot be adjusted by the ordinary processes of diplomacy, they will in no case resort to war without previously submitting the questions and matters involved either to arbitration or to enquiry by the executive council, and until three months after the award by the arbitrators or recommendation by the executive council, and that they will not even then resort to war as against a member of the League which complies with the award of the arbitrators or the recommendation of the executive council."

Other provisions of the League state: "The high contracting parties agree that whenever any dispute or difficulty shall arise between them which they recognize to be suitable for submission to arbitration and which cannot be satisfactorily settled by diplomacy, they will submit the whole matter to arbitration.

"The executive council shall formulate plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice, and this part shall, when established, be competent.

"The contracting nations realize that the maintenance of peace will require a reduction of national armament to the lowest point consistent with national safety, and the enforcement by common action of international obligations."

TOO MUCH TALKING ABOUT TROUBLES OF VETERANS

Hon. Frank B. Carvell Says This is One Cause of Present Labor Unrest.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—"I think that there is a great deal too much talk in some of the newspapers and amongst the public about the troubles of the returned soldier," said Hon. F. B. Carvell, Minister of Public Works, at the luncheon of the delegates to the Engineering Institute Convention in this city, "and when the Government passes an order-in-Council which it firmly believes is for the good of the soldiers and which will prevent them from being exploited, there is a great outcry about the insult offered to the returned soldiers. This also causes unrest and discontent." In the course of his address Hon. Mr. Carvell forecasted the future policy of the Federal Department of Public Works in regard to expenditures.

Unemployment.

Hon. Frank Carvell said in part: "We realize that there is unemployment in Canada. It is not so apparent east of Montreal, but increases as one goes west. Therefore, we find unrest all through the West. We must also realise that demobilization will be completed in the near future and most of these men will want work within a few weeks after discharge. The Government is not responsible for caring for all the troubles of the country, but we feel it our duty to take steps to spend the public money to remedy these causes of unrest, and we are going to spend their money where it will do the most good towards relieving unemployment and for the benefit of the returned soldier."

"I know of no way in which money can be so advantageously used for both unemployment and value as in the making of good roads.

"We have troublous times ahead unless we practically eliminate unemployment, as this condition is the source of bolshevism. Therefore it is the duty of every employer to see that every man possible is employed at a fair wage. This should especially be done by the great corporations who have made money during the war. There is no country concerned in the war that is in a better economic conditon than Canada, and notwithstanding the fact that the war has caused a very large public debt, I have absolutely no doubt that Canada will arise to the occasion and continue to be one of the most prosperous countries in the world."

Reports of Trouble Are Not Confirmed

First Step In Task Is Now Competed

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 14.—The plenary session of the Peace Conference held in the famous cloak room of the foreign office this afternoon marked the conclusion of the first, and possibly the most important phase of the work of the world's greatest international gathering. Subjects of great importance are still pending but the adjournment of today's session may reveal that her formulation for the settlement of all questions that will follow has been laid in the adoption of the society of the nations' program.

ENFORCING THE HEALTH ACT.

IT IS A MISTAKE to refer to the law which among other things provides for, the collection of garbage as a local, Hardy-Rogers provincial Act, one that was passed by the Legislature almost unanimously in the session of 1912. All a municipality has to do is to pass a bylaw putting it into effect and arranging for its enforcement. The law itself is more than local in its scope, as a district health officer, in this case Dr. Clinton, of Belleville, is appointed to see that it is carried out in every municipality under his jurisdiction.

The law in question has been in effect in Peterborough for the past seven years. All of its provisions are clear. Among these is a clause which states that garbage shall be kept in a metallic receptacle tightly covered. Probably not half the residents of the city have complied with this section of the Act, but insist upon using wooden boxes, barrels or tubs,, in fact anything that comes handy.

Sanitary Inspector Stapleton very properly objects to some of the receptacles in use, and he has been given authority by the Health Board to see that there is an improvement. There should be no difficulty in this regard. The law is explicit and a few police court cases would convince the people that it is the part of wisdom to live up to it.

THE FLESHPOTS OF EGYPT.

IT IS LITTLE WONDER that the Examiner indulges in retrospection and gives way to occasional fits of gloom. It is only natural that it should long at intervals for the fleshpots of Egypt, for the onions and the leeks, for the days when beer was up to strength and bars were open everywhere. Those were the palmy days for the Examiner and its party. The path that they trod in common was lined with primroses. The grade was very easy and the road broad, even if it did wind occasionally into the wilderness of political chicanery. The liquor business was at its best—and the Government for which the Examiner stood was responsible for one of the most damnably iniquitous license systems ever tolerated in a civilized world.

The liquor interests in those palmy days were the Liberal Government's one best asset. Every time the party stood in need of pocket money all it had to do was to "call" for "contributions" under a plan which smacked of blackmail. In this party prosperity the Examiner as a humble camp follower indirectly shared, being regaled with the sops thrown to it now and then from the table of the chief banqueters.

The "booze" era was the harvest time for the Liberals. They fattened on the traffic until their abdominal dimensions grew beyond all reason, their cheeks being heavy with fatness and their eyes protruded with the opulence of success. The party perpetrated and perpetuated another iniquity, the numbered ballot, by which it was possible to hold their followers in line. Heaven help the man who sought to assert himself by voting as his conscience prompted him. If he was holding a favor from the Government he promptly lost it.

Of course, for appearances sake, to placate the growing temperance sentiment, there were liquor laws on the statute books, but these enactments were broken with impunity. So long as a man voted right and came down with his "contribution" promptly when called upon, no questions were asked. The party did, however, have occasional spasms of righteousness when even its enemies hoped that it was truly penitent, but these exhibitions were only side plays to attempt to deceive the crowd watching the proceedings from the gallery. When all else failed the party, it could always fall back on talk of prohibition, but glittering generalities were as far as it ever got.

But all these things were too good to last indefinitely The anachronism died a natural death. The sun rose upon a new day in Ontario, and "Oh, what a difference in the morning." The once blasted Liberal Government passed to the chilly shades of Opposition, to the leanness of the ribs separated from the platter. In a word, the Liberal party died of senile decay, and the sorry ghost of its greatness is all that is left.

The late Sir James Whitney was a man of deeds rather than of words. He set out to correct the abuses that had grown up under his predecessors. He abolished the marked ballot and so divorced the liquor interests as a political adjunct. He enforced the law, cut down the number of hours and days that bars could be kept open. He gave the Province a sane local option law that assured successful operation to any municipality that adopted it. More than that, he promised provincial prohibition as soon as he received a mandate from the people. He did not live to see that day, but when the mandate was given, the executors of Sir James Whitney implemented his solemn pledge.

The Examiner always fought the temperance and every other policy of Sir James Whitney, preferring the ghastly compromise of the issue that provided for the abhorred bar and the open shop. It never raised its voice in favor of even war-time prohibition until its adoption was assured. Then it joined the procession, and with true Pickwickian cautious tossed its sombrero into the air and yelled lustily with the larger crowd.

But what is bred inwardly will show on the surface occasionally. The Examiner cannot forget those former days in Egypt, but must at times lapse, just as the porker that has been washed, and call for a beverage that contains a punch.

WAVING THE FLAG.

ACCORDING to the dunderhead philosophy of a local contemporaty, to praise a man's military record these days is a mistake, especially if that man is a candidate for office and his work in the service of the Empire is held up as something deserving of reward.

Major Cameron, candidate for the Legislature in North Ontario, is in every way, aside from his military record, worthy of the position which he seeks. His service at the front is only one of a score of reasons that could be cited for his election.

But the Examiner wants none but a man who can be relied upon to oppose the Hearst Government, even though that Government stands for a principle that our contemporary has found it but recently expedient to adopt as a tenet in its creed. It makes no matter who the man is, so long as he is of the Opposition. Even the traditional canine of despised hue would find favor in the blinded eyes of the Examiner so long as he could be trusted to snap at the heels of the Administration.

Flag-waving has a place in the affairs of the present day. It is especially appropriate seeing that Major Cameron and so many men of his class risked their lives to keep that flag at the top of the pole, the flag which would have been trampled long ago in the mud of German trenches if the faction and the principles for which the Examiner stands had prevailed.

THE PROSPECT FOR BUILDING.

"NO BUILDING until after the war" became a familiar phrase before the signing of the armistice. With the return of peace it was generally believed that wages would drop out of sight and that the cost of material used in construction work would decrease in proportion. A building boom was prophesied and cheap dwellings were to be put up by the score everywhere. How is this forecast likely to turn out now that the war is over?

Labor unions, the building trades included, are asking for shorter hours and more pay. Carpenters and other mechanics are talking of a working week of forty hours with a holiday all day Saturday and an increase of about twenty-five per cent. in wages. Bricklayers and the members of every craft whose services are required in building are agitating along the same lines. There is little prospect of a fall in wages, and the man who purposes to build can figure with this fact in his mind.

Building material is not likely to be any cheaper, either. The stock of lumber now on hand has been produced under war conditions, which means an increase in cost of fully one hundred per cent. Lumbermen operating this winter are paying their best hands in the woods $76 a month. Six years ago the highest rate was $35. All other expenses connected with production have increased in the same ratio, so it is little wonder if the present price of lumber appears excessive. It is higher than it was ever known to be before, it has been produced at an infinitely greater cost. The dealer cannot submit to a reduction and save himself from bankruptcy.

When the lumbermen of the country announced at the beginning of the cutting season that they could furnish ten thousand men with work and asked the Government to help find them, the Labor Department lent its co-operation, but only on the understanding that there should be no cut in the rate of wages, the same rate as prevailed during the war. These terms were accepted and the men went to work.

There is little prospect, then, for building next summer on anything like a cheaper scale. The material and the labor prices set the cost, and it has been shown that the prices of these give no sign of a drop. If a building boom comes to Peterboough or any other city in Canada next summer, whether as the result of municipal or private enterprise, it is likley to be featured by high wages and expensive material. No other plan seems possible, and it is just as well for the public to face the facts.

Lumbermen report business quiet as there is no export market for the stock they have on hand. Canadian lumber is wanted in Europe, and orders worth millions of dollars have been placed with dealers in this country. The lack of shipping accounts for the present depression, but this difficulty cannot last forever. Once the stock begins to move across the ocean the lumber industry will revive and probably enjoy the boom of its history.

Private contractors and the manufacturers that have been urged to take up the Government's housing problem excused their delay by pleading war conditions. They find themselves today confronted by the identical set of circumstances, dear labor and material.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS MEANS BETTER PAY FOR WORKERS

Ex-President Taft Discusses His Favorite Theme With Chicago Interviewer.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—"The league of nations is going to mean better wages more secure homes and greater happiness to the working men of the world by the gradual elimination of cutthroat industrial competition between nations. This result will come about not because of any direct provision in the constitution of the league bearing upon international commercial relations but as the reaction to the political co-operation established, which will naturally and inevitably extend its influence into the other fields of contact between nations."

This is the opinion of Former President Taft, head of the League to Enforce Peace, upon the effect of the establishment of a league of nations on the workingman. He gave it in an interview with a reporter.

Mr. Taft was presiding at the congress on a league of nations at the Congress hotel gold room, with 1,500 delegates present, when the reporter asked him for an interview.

Calls It Fundamental Question.

"What will the effect of a league of nations on the average man of the street, his home, his job, his happiness?" was the question written on a "scrap of paper" and handed to Mr. Taft while he was in the chair. He left his seat and went into the anteroom, motioning the reporter to follow him. There he expressed his views.

"That is a fundamental question," he said, "and I am glad to answer it. I find the man in the street wants a league of nations because it makes war, which he fights, next to impossible. He believes it will make his home and family secure and that is what he wants.

"And it will do all that and more The waste of war will be eliminated, and the workingman will find that his laborious accumulations are not to be scattered to the four winds every decade or generation. It will cut down oppressive taxes. It will give him a chance to accumulate and enjoy the proceeds of his labor, and not feed it into the maw of destructive forces.

"But it means still more. The cutthroat competition between nations in the past has resulted in the cutting of prices by industry in all nations to the bone so as to win the world's markets In turn, wages have been cut to make this possible. It has meant slums, and in places starvation.

"Era of Co-Operation"

"Now the era of co-operation between nations is being established. It is political at first, of course. But it will extend until the era of wholesome competition reigns—the era in which competition is a stimulus to better and greate rproduction, but does not invade the realm of a living wage. In other words, competition will stop at the point that it endangers the welfare of the health and home of the worker.

"And by such international co-operation industry will be bettered and the workman will realize more of his share of production. It will result in a higher standard of living in all countries ultimately and the workingman will be one of the first to benefit under such a change of conditions.

"Because of these advantages I find that American workingmen, while they have a great willingness to get into another squabble are willing that the United States should contribute its part in the future toward maintaining the peace of the world, by moral suasion at first and then by force if necessary. My information is that the workmen of France, Italy, and Great Britain have the same attitude.

Hot shots at reactionaries in the United States senate opposing the league of nations were taken by Dr. Charles R. Brown of the Yale school of religion. He spoke on "Religion and the League of ations."

"Eyes in Back of Their Heads"

"There are men in the United States Senate now with eyes in the back of their heads," he said in the course of his address. "They see backward but not ahead. In the days of cannibalism they said people ate each other and always would In the days of slavery they said there were slaves and always would be; in the days of drunkenness they said there was drunkenness and always would be. Now they say men have always slaughtered each other in war and always will. Thank God for those who saw a better way ahead in the past and see it now."

TODAY'S STORY

One afternoon the Empress Catherine of Russia noticed from a window overlooking her palace gardens a particularly lovely rose on a tree, and with the intention of cutting it with her own hand in the morning, ordered a sentry to be put on the garden path as his "go." During the night, however, she forgot all about it, but the placing of the sentry was down on the book of orders of the day, and the soldier was regularly replaced straight on, though the rosebush died, and the Empress, too, and Paul succeeded Peter and Peter Paul. But whosoever wore the crown of the double-headed eagle, still the warrior gravely paced that garden path. A hundred years later a foreign traveller remarked the man trudging through three feet deep of snow, inquired the reason, and then laughed heartily at the pigheadedness of Russian discipline. But they laugh best who laugh last, and on the following night—even whilst the wit was making a facetious anecdote of the fact—an incendiary regicide, who had eluded the watch at all other points, climbed over the wall into the rose garden, as least likely to be guarded, and was promptly shot as he was clapping a bomb to the palace wall.

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

Although the sack grows smaller and smaller day by day—it is not now much larger than an operable gallstone—there is probably no more wholesome, more appetizing, more nourishing or more digestible food you can buy today for three times the price you pay for a sack of peanuts.

Peanuts are rich in protein. Compare them with the well known protein foods:

Beef—Protein, 19.8 per cent.; fat, 13.8 per cent.; carbohydrate, none; water, 65.5 per cent.

Graham bread—Protein, 8.9 per cent.; fat, 1.0 per cent.; carbohydrate, 52.1 per cent.; water, 35.7 per cent.

Peanuts—Protein, 25.8 per cent.; fat, 38.6 per cent.; carbohydrate, 23.9 per cent.; water, 9.2 per cent.

Ask your butcher or your baker for one-third of the food value of a 5 cent sack of peanuts and he'll sell it to you for about 15 cents, unless he is a charter member of the Profiteers.

The protein in peanuts is of a type especially adapted to replace that which the butcher deals out at such prodigious prices. It yields a liberal quantity of certain amino-acids which give meat, eggs and milk their high place in human nutrition.

Peanuts, like mince pie, cheese, lobster and other concentrated and very nourishing foods which are often taken as so much excess nourishment, have the reputation of being "difficult to digest." Anything in the way of excessive food is difficult to digest, of course, even if it be a snack of hospital broth guarded every second by a special nurse. Men whose diet consisted largely of dishes prepared from peanut flours experienced no digestive trouble, according to bulletin 717, United States department of agriculture.

It is up to the efficient housewife to devise ways of utilising peanuts, peanut flours and peanut butter in the bill of fare. This exceedingly economical, nourishing and digestible food should go far toward meeting the protein needs of the body which have been met at too great a cost in recent years with meat and wheat.

Radical Cure of Piles.

"I have suffered severely with external piles for more than a year, and I am desperate. Is there no cure for piles besides an operation? Do they return and get as bad as ever in a few years and have to be operated on all over again? H. M. L."

Piles are dilated veins about the orifice of the bowel, precisely analogous to varicose veins in the legs. Nothing under heaven but removal or destruction of the portions of vein involved can cure piles. Once surgically removed, the pile, of course, can never return. Even if operation gave relief for only a few years it would be well worth having at that.

Tobacco Blindness.

"I have smoked cigars for years. Lately I am troubled a good deal in the evening by my eyes getting tired and blurred when reading. However, I never inhale; I smoke six cigars a day. Is this caused by the smoke, and would a long cigar holder prevent it? C. J. R."

A cigar holder half a mile long, with leaks here and there, might prevent it. The symptoms suggest tobacco poisoning. It is immaterial whether a smoker "inhales" or not; the mouth is the most active absorbing surface in the body. Send a. a. e. for monograph on conquering the tobacco habit.

PREFERENCE TO VETERANS?

In Road Construction And All Other Matters, says Premier

Toronto, Feb. 14.—"It is the policy of the Government to give preference to returned men in all matters," Premier Hearst said in regard to the request of the G.W.V.A. that first consideration be shown returned soldiers in employing labor for Government highway construction. Further than that, Sir William would not say. He stated that he had not received the request of the G.W. V. A.

In regard to the request of the veterans for a minimum wage of 50 cents per hour for highway work, the Premier stated that this was a question which had received no consideration as yet.

Four million three hundred and seventy-three thousand, five hundred and eighty-one dollars had been expended on the new Manitoba Parliament Buildings, and an additional expenditure of $1,524,769 will be required.

COUSINS STILL FREE TO MARRY

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE VOTES DOWN BILL TO PROHIBIT SUCH UNIONS

Quebec, Feb. 14.—The proposal of Mr. J. N. Francoeur, M.L.A. for Lotbiniere county, to have a civil law to prohibit marriages between cousins, was short-lived. It came for study before the Legislation Committee of the Provincial House, and was then and there killed.

The Attorney-General of the Province said that the bill was ultra vires, that the Provincial Government could do nothing in this matter of marriage between cousins. Mr. Francoeur insisted, stating that eminent doctors and physicians had urged on him the necessity of such legislation, and he suggested that the Provincial Government approve this measure, with the view of then asking the Federal Government to act upon it. But the proposal was rejected by the committee.

HUMOR IN CHURCH MUSIC

In the days when the church music was in the hands of precentors, at least in the Presbyterian congregations, it was the custom to give out one line of a piece at a time. One Scotch precentor announced the line from the seventy-first Psalm "To many I a wonder am." This caused a titter to go over the whole congregation. It partly unnerved the surprised gentleman; but he made another attempt and announced the line a second time. Again there was general laughter. The minister, taking in the situation at a glance leaned over the pulpit and said to the precentor: "You are a wonder, Thomas, you've got your wig on wrong way about."

Another story is told of two judges in the early days of this country, who were on their way from one circuit to another. En route they had to stop at a small town over Sunday. They arrived at church for the morning service unexpectedly to the people. The minister hurriedly looked up something appropriate to sing. Scanning the index of the hymn book he noticed "Speak, O ye Judges of the Earth." He announced this hymn, thinking to do honor to the distinguished guests, but the words were as follows:

Speak, O ye judges of the earth.
If just your sentence be;
Or must not innocence appeal
To Heaven from your decree?

Your wicked hearts and judgments are Alike by malice swayed;
Your gripping hands, by weighty bribes,
To violence betrayed.

The thoughts that flashed through the judges' minds are not recorded.

MAKE IT INTERESTING

The study of music from the very beginning, should be made interesting and thorough. Even the child can be made to play with expression in his own atmosphere, and by degrees the study will become a source of real pleasure and inspiration to him. The really good teacher must have a positive technical plan to teach. It will not do any good to feed the pupils on old, worn out doctrines. What we need is teachers all over the country who know the foundation principles of technic according to approved methods and can teach them. Then there will be no need of "beginning over again" because the foundation was badly laid, should such a student enter the classes of an artist teacher.

POPULARIZING GOOD MUSIC IN RUSSIA

It seems that even poor disorganized Russia had lined up with other great nations in an endeavor to give the masses every opportunity to progress musically. Maria Moravsky gives a glimpse into this movement in an article in Pearson's magazine in the course of which this writer says.

"A few years ago some of our enthusiastic young musicians started a campaign in Russia to introduce serious music to the ordinary, everyday people.

"They organized small street bands with soloists who sang and played the music created by our best composers. They would have their improvised concerts in the courtyards (almost Every Russian house has a big courtyard) and the audience consisted mostly of servants, children, janitors, salesmen and so on. Instead of the ragtime and the popular sentimental love songs they played Tschaikowsky, Rachmaninoff, even Moussorgsky and Scriabin. They played the foreign composers too: Chopin, Grieg and —don't be frightened—Wagner. Programs were very varied and the results—splendid. The audiences, the poorly educated, plain audiences liked them better than the music from movies, which is as light in Russia as everywhere.

REGULATIONS MODIFIED

Price Limitation for Brand and Shorts Removed.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—It was decided at a conference between the Wheat Export Company (which is buyer in Canada for the allied Governments), Canadian millers and the Canada Food Board that the regulations of the milling industry in the Dominion should be modified.

This has been done in order to ameliorate the situation and to try to get Canadian mills operating again. In view of the fact that the Wheat Export Company was willing to place orders at prices on a competitive basis with other countries, there has been no purchase for export since December 12th, and there remains at Canadian seaboard points some 72,000 tons of flour.

SOUNDS STRANGE

Soldiers Decline Invitation to Attend Banquet.

London, Ont., Feb. 13.—Soldiers of London camp claim that they are trifling of being feted by church organizations, and as a result it is claimed that the custom is soon to cease. The matter came to the attention through the experience of the young ladies of the First Presbyterian Church, who spread a banquet for 100 and provided professional entertainers. The whole strength of a local unit had been invited, but not a soldier appeared. Word was sent to district headquarters and an offer was made to provide automobiles for all soldiers from the camp who would go down in the emergency, but none would go. Then an expedition was organized to impress soldiers from the without avail. The soldiers simply explained that they had tired of church entertainments.

USING FOR LEISURE.

With the tendency of the day to shorten working hours, the problem of how to make the best use of the leisure time becomes more involved. So often one hears it said, eight hours to work, eight hours to sleep and eight hours to play. How to utilize the time for work and sleep is pretty well decided for us. But the play time is our own. If it is to be used rightly, then we must be taught from childhood its proper use.

There are few questions in the social life of today that need more thought than this one of how the people should spend their recreation hours. Whatever else finds place in a reasonable program for the leisure period, surely music merits a very large place. There is no other human agency that will benefit people physically, mentally, morally and spiritually to as great an extent as music. It rests the body, muscles, nerves, and all. It rests the brain. It creates thoughts of the higher things of life. It enriches the spirit. If we had far more music in our schools, far more music among the children in our homes, if people generally gave themselves over more to music in the home and in concerts, the problem of seeing to it that the people spend their leisure in the best possible way would be much less of a problem.

In a debate in the B. C. Legislature Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.P.P., said tubercular meat is being sold in coast cities.

PEACE CONGRESS DEALS WITH LABOR

REGULATIONS ACCEPTABLE TO ALL NATIONS ARE NEAR FINAL STAGES.

Paris, Feb. 14.—The agreement by the commission on international labor legislation of the peace conference yesterday to accept article IV. of the British draft of measures to settle the future status of international labor marks the passing over safely of an obstacle which the labor leaders expected would provoke a bitter contest for the reason that it is the most radical of the projects organized labor is seeking to graft upon the constitution of the society of nations.

This article provides that at the proposed international labor conference the representatives of the Government, the employers and working people shall be entitled to speak and vote independently without regard to the views expressed by the other representatives of their nation and to have power to draw up conventions binding on the nations represented.

The rapid progress made upon the balance of the British draft, into which will be incorporated certain features of the French labor plan, appears to warrant the belief that the essential aims of the delegates of both nations will be accepted in their entirety by the commission, although final action by the peace conference is predicted.

The British Draft.

The British draft covers a wide field, including the following provisions: "Uniformity of the rights of workmen employed abroad, their protection against loss when in a foreign country through the lapse of state insurance against sickness, old age, accidents, unemployment and similary cases.

"Prevention of unemployment through the adoption by the different governments of a policy of distribution of orders for public works so as to keep the demand for labor at an approximately uniform level;

"The relief of the unemployed through a system of registration and co-operation between employers in different lines of industry to meet fluctuating labor demands;

"Opportunities of unemployed young workers for the continuance of their education at established centres;

"A system of inspection of factories and workshops to insure the enforcement of labor laws;

Women and Youths.

"The protection of children, youths and women with educational opportunities for the children and the regulation of night work for the youths;

"The limitation of the working shift for young persons to half that of adults, with no overtime or night work;

"The recognition of the rights of workmen to combine and the right to peaceful picketing;

"The recognition of the right of workingmen to combine politically, and the right to trade unions to participate in politics;

"Working hours to be fixed by laws in each state with an international standard as the minimum;

"The regulation of home work in small workshops, or sweat shops, to be attended to by each State, in view of the difficulty of settling this problem by international regulation.

"An international code regulating labor conditions in the mercantile marine under every flag to be worked out by a special maritime commission of the league of nations in continuous session to take up new points.

"It seems to be agreed that the wholly different wage and money standards of the last and the west would make the definite fixing of conditions as to these matters impossible.

"As to the right of workingmen to combine, the British view is that this at least should be insisted upon by the working classes, although it is now denied by Japan.

"The measures of hygiene, insurance and the regulation of the work of children, it is also contended, ought to apply to native Asiatic labor.

"The British plan also contemplates the creation of a permanent international commission to fix wages according to the conditions in the various regions and to make a special study of native labor problems."

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if you Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poisons, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

TAKES VACATION IN CALIFORNIA

REV. T. H. MITCHELL AND SISTER ARE ON A TRIP SOUTH.

Rev. T. H. Mitchell, formerly minister in charge of St. Andrew's Church, and who recently resigned as pastor of old St. Andrew's Church in Toronto, has gone to California where he will spend three months in the hope of regaining his health which has become impaired by a too close application to duty. He will be accompanied by his sister, Miss Belle Mitchell, who while in this city, was as popular as Mr. Mitchell himself. At the end of his vacation Mr. Mitchell will resume church work.

Referring to Mr. Mitchell's resignation of his Toronto charge, the Presbyterian of that city says:

"Rev. Thos. H. Mitchell tendered his resignation of Old St. Andrew's, and in deference to his own request the congregation acquiesced in his desire for release. He had only begun his work, and both Mr. Mitchell and his people expressed regret that he will not be able to carry through the plans that have been initiated. The Presbytery expressed its appreciation of his strong leadership, and of the place he had already secured in the affections of his people, and its hope that, after a period of rest and recuperation, he may find a suitable field where his fine powers of organization and leadership may be used for the furtherance of the work of the Church in Canada."

TWO SOLDIERS WELCOMED HOME

DRIVER H. J. DEVEY AND PTE. COLEMAN ENTERTAINED BY ST. JOHN'S CHOIR.

St. John's choristers again had the pleasure of welcoming one of their number returned from the great war in the person of Harold J. Devey, who landed in Canada last Saturday on the Campania, arriving in Peterborough on Wednesday last at 6.30 a.m. Enlisting at Kingston in the 33rd Battery on Jan. 25, 1916, less than three weeks saw the young 18-year-old soldier in England, and July 14th saw the draft in France, taking part in many of the severe actions, including those of the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Paschendaele, Amiens, and Drocourt Devey was finally knocked out by gas at the Canal du Nord last September. Pte. James Coleman, a former member of St. Luke's choir, was also given a hearty welcome after four years absence from the city, of which time two and a half were spent in hard service in France.

Mr. R. J. Devey, on behalf of the choir, welcomed the soldiers back to civil life, and hoped that all with whom they came in contact would do all in their power to help them forget the awful scenes of France and Flanders. An hour passed pleasantly in song, dance and refreshment. The health of the soldier guests of honor was musically honored and very short speeches of thanks were given by the guests.

The pleasant re-union dispersed about 11 p.m., following the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and the National Anther.

FINDING JOBS FOR VETERANS

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT BUREAUS ARE DOING FOR THE RETURNED SOLDIERS.

"Want a position?"

"What is your trade? Wish to stay in the city or will you go out of town?

"Yes we can help you. Fill out this form."

It is the interior of a Government employment bureau in the Province of Ontario. Along the front of a glass covered counter rail stand a line of men. Only upon one coat does the badge of a returned soldier shine out conspicuously. The waiting room at the back is scattered with some twenty-five other job seekers—men of every type and requirement are represented—bookkeepers, machinists, clerks, laborers, men in the building trade, men with fine kid gloves and natty attire jostle shoulders with their brothers of the hoary hand and collarless. But one thing is remarkable about every applicant, in this particular office at least. The air is calm, and while expectant there is no appearance of over-anxiety on the faces of the waiting men. It is apparent that the employment situation has not yet reached an acute stage.

Two interviewers walk up and down the counter taking particulars. Fifteen minutes in some cases seems to be the average time given in which to dispose of the business. The man is put in touch with the employer who needs such qualifications as he possesses and leaves the office for the interview.

The men who interview the applicants are not merely clerks in the Government employ. They are chosen as possessing special qualifications, fitting them for their work of interviewing and placing. Intuition, tact, sympathy and a good knowledge of human nature must be the outstanding characteristics of those who aspire to such positions.

The duty of the interviewer is to fit the man to the job. This means employer satisfaction and a happy and successful employe.

An interviewer has stopped in front of a young returned man not yet out of khaki, who has stepped up to the counter and his manner of addressing the applicant displays sympathy and interest. A bright conversation for a few minutes and the man goes away satisfied that his case will be well handled. Not everyone is so quickly appraised and placed, but this boy has wisely chosen the life of a farmer, having had a little previous experience before the war.

There are cases which would require far more time than fifteen minutes in which to get at the real capabilities of a person and to select them for a job in which they will make the most success.

Many who apply have very scattered notions of the kind of position they want. Often some guidance and suggestion upon the part of the interviewer will save an applicant from making a mistake in his choice of vocation and help him to reconsider his position and to make the most of his natural gifts. This end of the work to the enthusiastic worker is intensely interesting and the time is well spent in fitting an applicant to a position where he can find true happiness and ideal in his work.

So much for the employment bureau's contact with the man seeking a job. To make the service complete however, an equal interest must be taken in the employer who is looking for the man and to this end the various Government employment bureaus are conducting a continual campaign calculated to attract the interest of all employers of labor.

Here is an organization run upon strictly business lines, which at no cost whatever to the employer will select the best type of men for the positions he has to offer. Every man is personally selected with as much an eye for the progress and welfare of the business as if the employer himself were conducting the interview. Employers in the past have not co-operated sufficiently with such bureaus.

Cards issued to employers distinguished as follows:

"Red" for farm operations;

"Yellow" for miscellaneous trades or professions;

"Blue." for placements of women.

A chart upon the wall shows the entire labor situation at a glance. Arranged with trades and grades of work, marked by alphabetical signs in the margin, it is marked out daily by means of red pins, showing the number of positions available. In some instances there are no positions to the season. Carpenters, bricklayers and the allied building trades have a strong line of positions wanted, for instance, and no openings recorded.

The man who applies for a job is asked to give particulars as to qualifications, age, experience, references, etc. He is also asked to state some secondary position or further positions which he could take pending placement in his own particular line of work. This gives every man an opportunity of having some work to carry him over the dull period.

Many people are under the impression that the employment bureaus operated by the Government deal only with such class of work as laboring, building, etc., or skilled mechanics, but the fact is that every bureau is equipped to deal with every class of worker. The Ottawa bureau for instance, has placed people of such varying capacities as that of char lady to an opera singer, though of course the latter placement is not a very common one, owing to the fact that such professions have their own privately operated bureaus.

HUNTER STREET BRIDGE WILL BE SUBSTANTIAL STRUCTURE

Mr. Frank Barber, the Designer, Explains His Ideas of Bridge Architecture at Meeting of Engineers' Club.

Mr. Frank Barber, the engineer who is to supervise the construction of the New Hunter Street bridge, addressed the Engineers' Club of this city last night in the Public Library hall upon the subject of concrete bridges.

Mr. Canfield, the president of the club, presided and intimated that as Mr. Barber had built some of the finest bridges in the country and had been engaged to construct the new one over the Otonabee river, the club while it endeavors to have lectures of interest from the standpoint of engineers is not unmindful of the interests of the people in general had decided to have Mr. Barber address them in connection with concrete bridges.

Views of the finest bridges in the country were thrown upon the screen last night and their points of interest explained by the speaker. Many of them were the results of his own work. He explained the difference between the full spandral arch design and the other usual forms of construction.

He strongly condemned the practice of making the design of a bridge too fussy. It was not well to go in too extensively for ornamentation and he demonstrated his point by showing views of the proposed new bridge for Peterborough which is plain in its appearance almost to severity.

No Frills.

He felt that there was nothing included in the plans which could be dispensed with as the hand rail was quite plain and cutting down the height resulted in very little saving and spoiled entirely the appearance of the structure.

The regulations of the Dominion Railway Board in regard to double tracking the bridge had to be observed and the platform of the structure could therefore be made no narrower. Someone had sugfested cantilevering the sidewalks, but as the adoption of this principle while narrowing the peers would result in a consequent broadening of them upon the basis that the peers must be of a certain size in order to place the pressure over a wide enough area, it would mean little, if any, difference.

The design of the new bridge as shown upon the screen last night depicted a noble structure which fulfilled the ideals of its engineer that it should depend for its beauty upon its massiveness, and simplicity of outline. He showed that the peers will be pierced so that if at any time deemed advisable the sidewalk can be run below the main floor of the structure, making it a double decker.

Architects Helped With Places.

In concluding his address, Mr. Barber stated that he had had ever since undertaking the contract of designing this bridge, associated with him an eminent architect. He felt that engineers had made a mistake in the past in endeavoring to do the work of an architect and had marred the beauty of many otherwise beautiful works by building them along ridiculous lines of design.

It was ineffectual to call in an architect after the plans had been completed by the engineer. They are then unalterable and all the artist can is to add a frosting of beauty which not being a part of the work itself is fussy and displeasing to the eye.

The task of the engineer is to submitt plans of an economical and suitable structure and the architect can then take this design which, though inevitable, is elasticable and can improve the appearance without in any way weakening the work from the standpoint of usefulness.

Mr. Barber dealt with a criticism which he stated had been made regarding the information obtainable by contracting firms which had been termed inadequate. He stated that three borings had been made at the points where the peers would have to be sunk and that the contractors who applied for it had been furnished with the most dtailed information regarding this and other points in connection with construction which would help them to arrive at a figure.

LAUGHTER IS ONE OF BEST REMEDIES KNOWN TO MAN

And Mr. Lou J. Beauchamp in His Lecture Last Night at the Conservatory Applied This Prescription to the Audience.

The third attraction of the Chautauqua Course was held last evening in the Conservatory Hall when a large audience enjoyed the well selected lecture given by Mr. Lou Beauchamp. The first item on the program was a selection by the orchestra accompanied by Miss Agnes Logan.

Mr. Beauchamp first dealt with the relation existing between nations. In explaining he quoted a story of the essay on "Men." A teacher having asked her pupils to give an essay on "Men" asked one of the little girls to read hers which ran, "Men are things that women marry. men smoke, drink, chew and swear. Women don't. Men and women both sprang from monkeys but women sprang the farthest."

This is the same way with the nations of today. All people in the beginning were the same but some have strayed from the right road and settled down in a different country. He compared the friendship of two nations as a fellow courting a girl on the west side. That was no way, you should court her all around. Another instance is the hand shake of a candidate after election. It is sometimes very cold.

The speaker then went on to explain the ways of experience. In modern times you have to be well up in the names of certain articles. At a certain meeting of a church board the subject of buying a chandelier was brought up but one old gent did not agree with the rest. He said, "What is the use of a chandelier if there is no one here who can run it." Sometimes it takes a long time to become experienced. One instance: "A man had lost four wives and had married again. In speaking to a friend one day he told him of the loss of his fifth wife who had eloped, and when the fellow told him he ought to be used to it now he said, "yes, but this is the first one that I have lost alive."

The experiences of many are great. Some are pleasant to relate, others no so pleasant. One widower receiving the words of sympathy from the minister who had had charge of the funeral of her husband replied, I have one consolation. I know where John is at nights now," Another was that of a lady whose husband lay in a drunken stupor on the kitchen floor. When she looked at him she cried, "Thank God, he is no blood relation of mine."

The Armenians, who are one of the finest and most artistic races in the world have been down trodden by the Turks. They have suffered more than almost any other nation in the world. Many lives have been sacrificed and many more ruined.

Mr. Beauchamp has travelled all over the world, he lectured to many nations. He has spoken to many individuals. He has received letters from overseas from the boys "over there." In one was told the story of the sailing to a cross of a British sergeant and when his brother saw him he shot him through the brain to end his misery and then led the British forces against the Germans and killed every one of the Germans in the trench. Do you wonder at it when they themselves were treated so cruelly.

Many of the returned soldiers who are maimed and who returned before the armistice repeat the desire to return to the trenches and help those who were still over there. "Over there," all men are comrades. The poor and the rich share the same cup. All share each other's sorrows and joys. There is no distinction between the two parties. All is friendship.

The next generation—what is it going to be when the mothers of children are playing progressive euchre to win cut glass and prizes of all kinds. It is said that the "iniquities of the father shall be visited upon the children of the third and fourth generation." The people of the Methodist Church play euchre for prizes, those of the Presbyterian play bridge and the Baptist "peanut." All of these are played for prizes. Who are the race left who are the true religion it is the race from which Christ came. It is the Jewish race.

Why are churches separated so much? In a small town where there were only three churches if you went along the main street where these churches were situated you would hear the Methodist singing "Are there going to be any stars in my Crown?" the Presbyterian singing "No, not one," and the Baptist singing "That will be glorious for me," and so this is the way that religion spreads.

The speaker then referred to the salaries paid to the clergy. Some were paid below the living wage. One minister from Indiana said that the people talked of the way his wife dressed. They expected her to dress in a seal-skin sack when they paid him a musk-rat salary. Why should not ministers get a living salary anyway?

In conclusion the speaker referred to his own life and of the Ohio flood in which he lost all he had and only saved his wife. All his great library which can never be replaced and all his money he had saved on which to live after he had retired, but he was happy to have saved what he had.

Aura Lee Winners Over Parkdale

Toronto, Feb. 14.—Showing combination that resembled the team work of other years, Aura Lee landed home in front of Parkdale last night, 4 to 2, in the first home-and-home games, total goals to count, for the championship of junior groups No. 6 and 7 combined, and carry their lead of two goals into tomorrow afternoon's contest.

Aura Lee took the "track" showing a wonderful three-man combination that proved the undoing of Parkdale, who resorted to the individual style of play throughout. Led by the elusive and shifty Hodden, they showered down upon Spring and Batstone, beating them time and again, but Worters showed a wonderful game in the nets and only his grand work prevented the north end lads from piling up a good lead for the return affair. In the other citadel young Deavitt turned in a sterling performance and had far from a quiet evening. He landed "Deadwood Dick" shots with his hands, pads and feet and was an honest successor to Vernon Forbes, who so capably looked after the net interests for Aura Lee during the past three seasons.

RAISE PAY OF POLICE

Galt, Feb. 14.—Galt Police Commission, at a meeting today, granted increases to all members of the force and decided to eliminate the bonus system. Chief Gorman now receives $1,800 a year, sergeants $1,030 and policemen $950 to $1,000

Council of Smith Elects Officers

The Members of the Municipal Council of the township of Smith met in the county council chamber, Peterboro, on Monday, February 10th, at eleven o'clock. All the members were present with Reeve Nichols in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The following officers were appointed.

Auditors—Messrs Young and Edmison at a salary of ten dollars each.

Medical offices of health—Dr. J. A. Morgan.

Assessor—Mr. C. O. Northey at a salary of $150 and postage extra.

Sanitary inspector, relief and tenant officer—J. N. Telford, Bridgenorth.

There being no applications for the position of Collector the clerk was instructed to ask for tenders. Applicants to furnish bonds for $12,000.

Mr. Thos. Eyers addressed the Council and stated that the road known as the side line between the seventh and eighth concessions was in a very bad state of repair and needed considerable money expended upon it next year. Reeve Nichols promised to go over the road during the annual inspection of roads next spring.

The Treasurer was instructed to pay the following accounts:

Ernest Roseborough, timber	$41.00
Mrs. Whitby, rebate dog tax	2.00
Chas. Forsyth, rebate statute labor	1.10
A. Sanderson, wire fence	20.20
John J. Ayotte, work with engine	1.50

The council then adjourned to meet again on Monday, March 10th, at 11 o'clock.

CANADA' TRADE SHOWS DECREASE

AGRICULTURIST, EXPORTS FELL OFF DURING MONTH OF JANUARY.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—A decrease of $340,644,631 in the total of Canada's trade for the ten months of the fiscal year ending January 31, as compared with the same period last year, is shown by the monthly trade statement issued by the Customs Department.

The further development of the iron and steel industry will, however, in the opinion of the British Columbia advisory committee, depend to a considerable extent upon the development of cheap electric smelting processes and cautious expansion only as justified by the commercial results from well-considered beginnings, and after adequate further investigation of natural resources and economic processes.

WAR PICTURES AT THE GRAND

DEAL WITH CRAFT OF GERMANY AND BRUTALITY OF AUSTRIA

There is a splendid chance offered the public to enjoy a pleasant and profitable entertainment at the Grand Opera House tonight where an exceptionally good program of moving pictures is offered. This includes the well known movie stars, Alice Howell in the "Cabbage Queen", a racy comedy, and Grace Cunard in "After the War." Both films being based on war stories, the first dealing with the craft of Germany and the latter with the brutality of those high in the affairs of Austria. There is also an exciting scenic representation of other charities in one of O. Henry's charming stories of life in the west.

The vaudeville act has been cancelled by the management as not up to the standard set for the house, but there is ample entertainment without it.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the attraction will be "The Other Man's Wife," a production which ran for six solid months in New York.

NATION'S BILL AGAINST HUNS

CANADA'S WAR CLAIM IS ELEVEN HUNDRED AND FORTY MILLIONS.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—Canada's claims against Germany, including war expenditure to date, now total over eleven hundred and forty million dollars. War expenditure alone from the beginning of the war to the end of last month totalled $1,122,000,000. This represents accounts which have passed through the books of the Finance Department. In addition, claims for actual enemy damages against Canadians—claims for damages by submarines and in other ways—now total about nineteen million dollars. About a month ago the Government cabled to Sir Robert Borden that Canadian claims for enemy damage totalled $16,500,000. Since then claims have been coming in steadily to the extent of probably another two and a half millions.

The figures are of particular interest in view of Mr. Bonar Law's statement in the British House of Commons today that British delegates at the Peace Conference intend to claim an indemnity which will include the cost of the war.

M'GRAW ON IVORY HUNT FAILS TO FIND PLAYERS

Tried in Vain to Settle Chase Case With Cincinnati—Stars Who Say They Are Through With Baseball.

Vice-President-Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants has just returned from an "ivory" hunt through the wilds of Missouri and Indiana.

McGraw failed to make any progress in his negotiations for First-baseman Hal Chase and he learned from personal contact of the retirement of Southpaw Slim Sallee, on whom he was banking heavily for the pennant fight of 1919. However, re did snare Shortstop Arthur Fletcher, the captain of his team.

Fletcher was more than pleased with the terms of the contract which had foreatalled McGraw on the trip west, and had the signed papers all ready for mailing when Mac hove in sight.

The Little Napoleon had intended to call upon some dozen or his players, but contracted a heavy cold on the train going west and decided to beat it back to the big winter resort before the flu had a chance to flirt with him. Consequently he saw only two players—Fletcher, who signed, and Slim Sallee, who refused to sign.

Tries to Settle Chase Case

On the way back he dropped off in Cincinnati to talk business with Garry Herrman for the services of Hal Chase.

The case of Chase is a somewhat unique one. For the sonce Garry Herrmann is exhuming the recipe of his old running mate, Charles H. Ebbetts of Brooklyn. Before the Flatbush Squire would consent to the transfer of Jake Daubert, who had fallen out with him, to the Cincinnati Reds he insisted that friend Jake withdraw a civil suit for alleged back salary from the courts.

Chase is now suing the Cincinnati club for back pay and also for the salary in full representing the term of his suspension on charges of which Prince Hall was exonorated after official investigation by the National League.

In the meantime McGraw has two signs to his bow. Walter Holke, himself a pretty able firstatacker, will come to town tomorrow or Thursday to talk terms with the big boss. Holke is very anxious to make his peace with the club.

Contrary to reports from Lexington, McGraw was unable on his short visit to arrange a conference with Ferdie Schupp, his star lefthander, who was incapacitated last year.

The Giants have released to the Indianapolis club of the American association, Thirdbaseman E. M. Hemingway, who finished the past season with the Phillies.

Plank Is Through

Edward Plank, pitcher, returned an unsigned contract to the New York American league club yesterday with the announcement that he had retired from major league baseball to give all his attention to business at Gettysburg, Pa. Plank, who is 42 years old, was traded to the Yankees by the St. Louis Americans last year, but signed with a team in the Bethlehem Steel league instead of reporting to New York.

Another Pitcher Quits

Pitcher James Scott, a veteran with the Chicago Americans, announces his retirement from professional baseball. He has employment in Beloit, Wis., and in addition will play independent ball. Scott enlisted in the army before the close of the 1917 season and won a commission as captain.

Plays in Fine Masks

The first baseball game in which the players, umpire and spectators wore "flu" masks was played when the Pasadena and Standard Murphy clubs clashed at Pasadana. The went eleven innings and not once during that time did any of the players remove their masks.

The rooting of the fans and their "kill the umpire" cry was somewhat muffled by the gauze masks, but otherwise they appeared to enjoy the contest.

Among the many big league stars taking part in the game were Fred McMullin of the Chicago White Sox, Carl Sawyer of the Washington Americans, Bill Piercy and Truck Hannah, New York Americans; "Irish" Meusel, Philadelphia Nationals, and Otie Crandall, the former Giant.

The game was won by the Standard Murphy club 10 to 9. Each club got 17 hits and each made two errors.

Chess Expert Is Dead at Budapest

The London Field announces the death of Carl Schlechter, one of the greatest chess masters of modern times. Schlechter passed away at Budapest on Dec. 27 last, at the age of 45. He was the only player who ever emerged undefeated from a match with the world's champion, Dr. Emanuel Lasker, whom he held in a contest for the world's championship with the final score of one victory, one defeat and eight draws.

Schlecher was generally regarded as the chief exponent of the Vienna school of chess, which attaches less importance to agressive combination than playing for a sound, strong position, and he became so expert at this that it was very difficult, if not impossible, for the very best players to win against him, although, on the other hand, it was comparatively easy for them to effect a draw. He played through a number of international master tournaments without losing a game but making an abnormal number of draws, and this earned him the title of "Master of the Vienna Remis Monde"—remis being the French word for draw. Nevertheless, he was apt at times to cast aside the precepts of his own school and to play va banque, and some of his games, when he did this, are amonf the most brilliant on record.

Well Up in Chess Openings.

Schlechter was noted for his thorouyh knowledpe of the theory of chess openings, and he edited the last revision of Bilbaer's famous "Handbook of Chess," the largest and most authoritative work on the game extant.

Few among international players have been so much liked as Carl Schlechter; his true modesty, amiability and quiet, unassuming demeanor made him a favorite with all who knew him.

Schlechter came to America in 1904 to take part in the International Chess tournament at Cambridge Springs, Pa., which was won by the United States champion Frank Marshall. Schlechter tied with the Russian Champion Tschigorin, who is also dead, for sixth prize. It was Schlechter's defeat of Emanuel Lasker that helped Marshall materially in gaining first prize in this tournament which was one of the strongest ever held.

OTTAWAS CINCH LEAD BY BLANKING THE CANADIENS

Cameron of Ottawas Badly Injured When Kicked by Corbeau of the Canadiens.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—By defeating Canadiens Eddie Gerard and his Ottawa Senators tightened their grip on the championship of the second half of the National Hockey League and incidentally shoved the Flying Frenchmen down into third position. After a stick that was replete with spectacular play and which gave the locals an opportunity of giving the best display they have shown this season, the home team skated off the ice, victorious by the decisive score of 7 to 0. Canadiens met their most humiliating defeat of the season as they were outplayed, outskated and outgeneralled.

Play took place in the presence of a capacity crowd and on a good sheet of ice. Every seat was again occupied and four or five hundred had to be satisfied with standing room. His Excellency, the Duke of Devonshire, accompanied by one of his daughters; Lord Minto and a party of guests from Government House attended and were among the happiest of the local fans when Ottawa pressed ahead.

Ottawa Scores Early

Play was very fast from start to finish. Though Ottawa scored a lead of three goals in the first period and held Canadiens scoreless again in the second while they themselves failed to tally, the interest was sustained right up to the finish and the Senators staged in the last ten minutes of the big match a rally which netted four goals and which set the spectators wild with delight. The score at the end of the first period was 3 to 0 for Ottawa and neither team tallied in the second.

Canadiens started full of determination in the third but they again failed to solve the remarkably strong defence system of the locals and were completely shut out. On the night's play Ottawa were the better team. Canadiens uncovered some terrific bursts of speed at times, but they were skated and checked to a standstill and after the opening session they were not dangerous, and the game lacked the excitement of previous clashes between these famous rivals.

Cameron is Injured

While the Ottawa victory was clean-cut and valuable, as it may mean the play-off honors for the local team, it may prove to have been costly as the club lost during the second period the services of Harry Cameron, their brilliant cover-point who may be out of the game for a week or so owing to an injury sustained when Bert Corbeau kicked him on the right foot. It was in the second period and Corbeau's skate pierced so deeply the thick leather and heavy woollen stocking that it cut a vein and caused Cameron intense pain and loss of blood. Harry skated around with blood streaming from his foot, and then signalled to Manager Smith. Cameron then secured the puck and tried to go down but had to stop. He was hustled into the Ottawa dressing room and attended by Dr. Lorne Graham, the club physician. Dr. Graham sewed up the wound and Cameron was able after the match to return to his home. It is likely that he will be laid up for a week or so. Cameron's injury was regrettable and he received a rousing cheer when he skated off. He had been putting up great hockey and his absence at this stage of the game might prove serious. Cameron showed remarkable pluck while Dr. Graham was fixing up the wound.

The teams:—

Canadiens— Goal, Vezina; point, Corbeau; cover point Hall; centre, Lalonde; right wing, Cleghorn; left wing, Pitre. Substitutes—Berlinquette and Couture.

Referee—Harvey Pulford. Judge of play—Charlie McKinley.

WILL WIN BOUT WITH KNOCKOUT

JACK DEMPSEY HOPEFUL OF VICTORY OVER JESS WILLARD.

New York, Feb. 14.—"It will be a knockout and a fast one."

This is the opinion of Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, who signed articles for a bout with Jess Willard to be held "somewhere in the United States," some time in July—probably July 4.

"Dempsey will not need much training," said Kearns. "He's young—only 23—and takes good care of himself all the time. When he's on the road in vaudeville he goes right to the hotel from the theater and climbs into bed.

"In the morning if he feels like it, he goes out on a long hike. He loves to work and knows what he needs to keep in the pink of condition.

"After he finishes this theatrical engagement he will go out to the mountains to play around a while and then go into intensive training for about two weeks before the bout."

Dempsey does not smoke and all he drank yesterday before and after the articles were signed was a tall glass of lemonade. "I won't need more than eight or ten days' training before meeting Willard," he said. "It doesn't made any difference to me whether the fight is a long one or a short one, but I think the championship fight should be long. However, the longer it is the better I'll like it."

Dempsey, in discussing the projected bout, talked and laughed about his plans and hopes with the enthusiasm and candor of a school boy.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

DOUBLE WEDDING

A very pretty double wedding was solemnized at Elmdale Farm, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graham, Smith Township, on Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock, when their daughters, Miss Jessie Isabel Graham was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Flett, of Verulam Township, and Miss Grace became the wife of Mr. James Park, of Saskatchewan.

The ceremonies were performed by the Rev. John Galt, of Gilmour Memorial Church, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties, who were unattended.

The brides were attired alike in battle-ship grey Georgette crepe and wore corsage boquets of sweet-heart roses and sweet peas. The interior of the home was beautifully decorated in pink and white effect.,

A dainty wedding breakfast was partaken of at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Flett will reside at Fenelon Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Park will remain in the east for a short time before leaving for their Western home.

VALENTINES FOR THE VETERANS

MANY OF THEM RECEIVED BACK PAY THIS MORNING

Some returned soldiers of Peterborough received a most acceptable valentine this morning in the form of their back-pay gratuities. There are many veterans in Peterborough who are entitled to this and who have not as yet received their money which would be of great assistance to them in tiding over the dull period through which the workingmen of the country are passing.

NEW POLICY FOR RED CROSS

The regular meeting of the Executive Committee of the local Red Cross Society was held in the Public Library on Monday afternoon, Feb. 10th. Some letters were read from headquarters, Toronto, giving instructions as to the use of materials and cash on hand. The policy recommended to the different branches is in brief:

"No further cash expenditures upon supplies and materials of any kind, unless needed by the Canadian returned soldiers in Military or I. S. C. Hospitals in Canada.

"The collection by provincial and district branches of all supplies and materials in the hands of local branches and auxiliaries before Mar. 15th.

"The shipment of all such supplies to the warehouse, between that date and March 31st, retaining only such material and made-up goods as are estimated to be necessary, in each province or district, for the needs of hospitals within its own area of jurisdiction."

Conditions Overseas.

The chief commissions overseas reports that the conditions in the Allied countries are so distressing, partly owing to the terrible influenza epidemic that good use can be made of any quantity of clothing which may be administered at the discretion of the commissioner and the Advisory Committee for the relief of the needs of the Allies.

EDITOR'S MAIL

THE HUNTER STREET BRIDGE

Editor Review:—With other citizens I listened last evening to the very interesting address, illustrated as it was with many excellent slides and views, given by Mr. Frank Barber, the designing engineer and consulting engineer of the proposed Hunter street bridge.

Mr. Barber's address was descriptive of what had been done in the way of concrete construction during the last ten years especially. But while he told the meeting many things about strains and compressions, of weights and pressures, of temperatures and finishes, He did not touch on the one vital condition that faces the city, the cost of the bridge that he has designed. He frankly said that his business was to design a bridge, the function of the city council to find the money to pay for its construction. Candid, but depressing to a community that hopes to build at less than the tendered prices.

He did not take the meeting of citizens, men who have to pay for the bridge, into his confidence and tell what might be done to lessen the cost. Did not suggest any modification of the contour, width, length or other dimensions such as would tend to modify the estimates. His view was that purely, of the consulting engineer and nothing of the economist. He did not even foreshadow that he might be in consultation with the council as to proposed changes, if any.

Coming from the meeting I found that others were much of the same mind, that there was an absence of confidence in the proposition, other than that we had before us plans for a handsome and important structure, and that it should be so built, that posterity should admire and commend. It would be regrettable, it is true, that if when finished we did not have something in which we could take civic pride.

The admission made by Mr. Barber, that if the sidewalks one on each side of the bridge were narrowed one foot each that a saving of $16,000.00 might result, opens up the question as to what the ultimate saving might be if the plans were thoroughly scrutinized with a view of further elimination of things not exactly essential, leaving the practical to stand. The audience rather expected to be given certain information which was not forthcoming and the meeting adjourned less than satisfied.

Respectfully,

F. H. DOBBIN.

EYE FOR EYE IN ROYAL TONIGHT

"Eye for Eye" is a mighty drama transferred to the screen, starring peerless Mme. Nazimova. A picturization of the play, "L'Occident," by the great Belgian dramatist, Kistemaeckers, it shows the vital difference between the ideals of the Occident and the Orient. Nazimova plays Hassouan, a wayward rose of the desert, who is true to her own ideals of right and wrong. But those ideals are not those of the French officer, Capt. Cadiere, to whom honor and love of his country's flag represent the highest good. Scenes of the greatest brilliancy and dramatic value are shown in the desert. In Tangiers, in the French circus where Hassouna becomes a dancer, and in the captain's villa on the Bay of Marseilles. "Eye for Eye" is a screen triumph no one can afford to miss. See it at the Royal tonight or tomorrow.

FRENCH ARE DISAPPOINTED WITH TERMS OF COVENANT

Some Newspapers Condemn Agreement With Faint Praise Others Openly Disapprove—Comment of New York Papers More Favorable But Original Draft Must Be Revised.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 15.—The constitution of the Society of Nations arouses little enthusiasm in the French press. At best it is "damned by faint praise."

The Socialist newspaper Rumanite is even less pleased than the Bourgeoise papers. Deputy Marcel Cachon writes in this publication: "It is impossible to conceal the impression of disillusionment that the first examination of the long convention makes on us. It is clear to the dullest that we are far from President Wilson's first proposals. We find in the document neither the general spirit of President Wilson's message nor the necessary clear information as to the composition of the society and the role it is to play. The project cannot in any way command the support of the Democrats and the people's parties, which placed such hopes in the idea of Mr. Wilson constituted himself an eloquent defender."

American Press Comments.

New York, Feb. 15.—The American press comment on the covenant of the League of Nations shows for the most part approval mixed with a warning not to expect too much from the League at the beginning, but expressing the hope that the League would ultimately develop into an international force making for world peace.

The Tribune says: "There is no direct safeguarding of peace. To each nation is reserved liberty of action. There is no limit alone on armaments, no international police force under the control of the League. Every serious question is referable to home governments for the real decision.

"But indirectly there is gain. We have before us something in the nature of an entente cordiale such as was established between Great Britain and France when they agreed not to act together, but to confer with a view to action when trouble threatened."

The Times says: "The decision to make the draft public in order that it might have full consideration was wisely taken. It is in accord with Mr. Wilson's principle of 'covenants openly arrived at.' The draft must undergo severe revision. It must be reduced to statutory precision; it is too wordy and clumsily put together."

End of Secret Diplomacy.

The Providence Journal says: "There is one feature of the new plan that has been little discussed, if at all, in the advance despatches from Paris. This is the provision that no treaty between individual nations of the League shall be effective unless it has been registered with the permanent secretary of the League. This embodies the growing sentiment against secret diplomacy, and in principle at least will be widely indorsed. Whether it will survive in the final and accepted draft is a question, but it certainly marks an ethical advance on the dangerous diplomatic intrigues of the past."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says: "There can be no doubt of the reception of the proposed constitution in America. It will receive vigorous approval from people regardless of whatever political efforts may be made to harass President Wilson or discount his work."

Women Will Have Voice in League

Paris, Feb. 15.—The Inter-Allied Suffrage Congress has adopted a resolution proposed by Mrs. Juliet Barrett Rubles, of the United States, and seconded by Mrs. M. G. Fawcett, of England, declaring that the coming peace should be of people's peace, which it cannot be if women are not consulted, and that the League of Nations should not be an alliance of Governments only, but a general alliance between the peoples of the world.

The resolution declares that working people and women must be made to feel they are a part of the League of Nations.

A delegation of women called on Sir Robert Borden, George Nicoll Barnes and Henry White and were promised support in securing the adoption of the recommendation that the League of Nations should consider the international condition of women and children. The commission will invite a committee from the Suffrage Congress to work with it in fixing details.

ALIENS KEEN TO QUIT.

400 Prepaid Passages Booked in One Toronto Office.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—"The aliens themselves are keen to leave the country. I understand that one steamship office in Toronto has 400 prepaid passages booked. The difficulty lies in getting boats."

Mr. H. J. Daly, director of repatriation, who made this remark, went on: "The Government has been working some time on a solution of the alien labor problem, but it is meeting with many difficulties that don't appear on the surface."

ANOTHER ALLEGED DEFAULTER.

This morning another man of this district charged with being a defaulter under the Military Service Act, who was taken into custody yesterday by the Dominion Police, appeared before the police magistrate. His case was remanded until February 22.

No Shipbuilding In This Country

CANADA CANNOT COMPETE WITH CHEAP LABOR IN BRITAIN.

Vancouver, Feb. 15. — A warning that "it will be difficult, if not impossible—" to maintain the shipbuilding in Canada because of the high cost of producing ships as compared with the cost in Britain, especially if it is to be interrupted by labor disputes, was conveyed by Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, in a telegram to Mr. Justice Murphy, who is investigating wages difficulties in the Coughlin yards.

Confirming this information, Hon. Mr. Robertson, who is in Toronto, stated that any attempt to further increase employes' wages in shipbuilding concerns in this country will jeopardize the shipbuilding industry in Canada. There is a danger already, he said, of it not becoming a permanent industry in the country.

Now that the war is over conditions are approaching their pre-war state, and Great Britain will be able on account of her supply of iron and coal and cheap labor to underbid Canada in the making of ships.

DOUBTING RUMAN REVOLT

Bucharest Despatch Does Not Mention Any Trouble.

Paris, Feb. 15.—In discussing rumors of a revolt in Rumania, the Petit Parisien, in an editorial, says that the reports should be received with caution.

It says that official circles have no knowledge of an insurrection. A Bucharest despatch, dated Tuesday, has been received by the Rumanian Legation here. It made no mention of any trouble in Rumania.

French dreadnought Mirabeau ran ashore outside of Sebastopol in a snow storm.

AIDED IN MURDER OF NURSE CAVELL

MAN HELD IN PARIS SAID TO HAVE FRAMED CASE.

Paris, Feb. 15.—French military authorities now hold, on a charge of dealing with the enemy, a man named Krien, who is alleged to have played a leading role in the tragedy in which Miss Edith Cavell lost her life.

A report made on Krien for Judge Advocate Grabault by Police Inspector Cholet states that the man was in jail at St. Quentin at the beginning of the war. He was released by the Germans and went to the mansion of Prince and Princess Croy in Belgium, where he denounced the prince and princess as having aided French prisoners of war to escape. As a result the princess was condemned to ten years' imprisonment at hard labor.

Krien is said to have then gone to Brussels where he went into Miss Cavell's hospital service and helped to "work up" the case against her.

WOMEN TEACHERS ASK EQUAL PAY

MEMBERS OF TORONTO STAFF PRESENT PETITION TO SCHOOL BOARD.

Men teachers' minimum wage $1,200 year.

Women teachers' minimum wage, $300 year.

Men teachers' maximum wage, $2,000 year.

Women teachers' maximum wage, $1,400 year.

No matter how good a woman Public School teacher in Toronto is she can't get as high a salary as the poorest man teacher. This is the principal grievance of the members of the Women Teachers' Association as voiced through the Secretary, Miss Mabel Zimmer. The teachers met in the auditorium of the Central Y.M.C.A. in Toronto when they drew up a petition which was presented to the Board of Education.

The petition states that: 1. That the women teacher's increase be $100 per annum every year instead of just being given this year as a war measure. After this year it will go back to $50 which has previously been the regulation.

2. THat an adequate increase be made in the maximum salary for women, which now stands at $1,000 a year against the men's $2,000 maximum.

3. That the Board of Education establish as soon as possible the principle of equal pay for equal work with the men and women teachers.

LUMBER PRICES ARE JUSTIFIED

DEALER EXPLAINS WHY THE COST HAS BEEN INCREASED.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—"The price of lumber has increased less than any other commodity," declared Mr. John Oliver, of the Oliver Lumber Company, replying to a statement made by Mr. John M. Skelton, who claimed that because lumber cost no more to grow the increase in the price was not justified.

Mr. Oliver states that the present retail price of hemlock is -45 and not $55 per thousand, but he adds that this price is th basse price, and that as high as $55 is paid for larger lumber.

The increase in the cost is entirely due to the increased cost of getting the lumber out of the woods, said Mr. Oliver, and he explained that there has been an increase of over 200 per cent. in the Ottawa district in producing raw lumber.

"It is not fair to make such statements as that, because the base price for lumber in carload lots today is $30 to $36 per thousand, and not only that, but only one-third of the cost of a house is for lumber. I have been all through the business, and I know. The cost of a house may be divided into one-third for labor, one-third for brick, and one-third for lumber," he concluded.

PROPOSE CHANGE IN DAIRY TRADE

FARMERS MAY DECIDE TO TAKE CONTROL OF CHEESE FACTORIES.

Recently in this city a meeting was held which was attended by the representatives of the cheese factory associations of the district and other men interested in the dairy business. It was called to organize a movement which had as its objective the taking over of the cheese factories and creameries of the Province by the farmers, who will operate them in their own interests.

The meeting was well attended and the consensus of opinion favored the proposition, and a local committee was appointed to carry out the spirit of the meeting, composed of Messrs. H. B. Cowan and Alexander McGregor of Peterborough and William Anderson of Warsaw.

It is proposed that as Central Ontario is the greatest dairying district in the Province the innovation shall be introduced here. There are 145 factories in this district owned by the farmers, and as many of these as are favorably disposed towards the project will surrender their stock and purchase shares in the big corporation, which, when the movement reaches its climax in the Province, is expected to be capitalized at from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

The big company will take over and operate factories included in the movement in much the same way as does the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Creameries, which owns two-thirds of the plants of the province, the recorded profits last year amounting to $75,000.

On Wednesday and Thursday last meetings were held in Picton and Belleville for the purpose of organizing in that locality. At the Belleville meeting over fifty factories were represented and the proposition met with great favor except from the cheese buyers, who appeared before the meeting and cited what they considered a formidable list of objections to the feasibility of the scheme but which only encouraged the farmers and strengthened them in their purpose, as they agreed that the buyers were attempting to pull the wire in their own interests and were viewing the proposition from the standpoint of the middleman and not that of the producer.

It is expected that if the movement in this district proves successful it will spread to the entire Province, as it now has the endorsation of the Eastern and Western Dairymens' Associations and that of the United Farmers of Ontario.

Mr. H. B. Cowan, manager of the Rural Publishing Company of this city, is the chairman of the provincial committee that is looking after the interests of the movement which is still in the embryonic stage, but shows every indication of becoming of the utmost importance in the very near future.

40 HOURS WORK FOR CARPENTERS

AND SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS AN HOUR AS ASKED FOR.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—The assembly hall at the Labor Temple was crowded with nearly 1,000 carpenters when a resolution was passed requesting a 40-hour week or eight hours a day for five days a week, and 75 cents per hour. This means $30 per week for forty hours. This decision was followed by an instruction to the District Council of Carpenters to take the matter up with international headquarters to get sanction for the "trade movement."

The action of the carpenters will probably bring other trades connected with the Building Trades League into the movement. It is a definite step taken by a big trades union toward a 40-hour week.

Will Help Unemployed

The organized labor movement generally in Toronto is moving towards a combined request for shorter hours. Much of the movement is based perhaps on the idea that a shorter work day will find employment for many of the unemployed. It is not by any means altogether based upon that. The unions are feeling the current of the wide agitation for shorters hours prevalent throughout the British Empire.

The mai nplank in the program is a request for a 40-hour working week and 25 per cent increase in wages. In addition there are a number of suggestions relating to public works that ought to be gone on with immediately.

The captains winning pins are Miss Kennedy of the House Team. Miss Macdonald of the "Y" Club. Miss Littlefield, of the Ladies' Class, Edna Sharpe, of the "Athena" Club. The result of the competition by sides is that the 'Yellow" side brought in one hundred and ninety-one, and the "Red" side one hundred and fifty-five.

Those who planned the campaign and carried it through are very much pleased with the result, which raises the total membership to over three hundred more than any former high water mark.

OVERSEAS DOMINIONS ARE RECOGNIZED AS NATIONS

British Papers Regard That as Most Significant Feature of Peace League Covenant—British Spirit Pervades the Document But President Wilson Helped to Draw It Up.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 15.—(Via Reuter's.)—The covenant of the League of Nations is hailed by the British newspapers as an historic document drafted in an atmosphere of good faith, postulating and foreshadowing better and wiser governments throughout the world. Though the personal triumph of President Wilson is acknowledged, it is pointed out in a modified form that the covenant indicates that he has learned a great deal since he came to Europe, and pride is expressed that so much of the work of the Britisher is visible in the League. The mandatory principle is based on the relations between Great Britain, India and the overseas dominions. The recognition of the dominions as nations is welcomed as not the least significant feature of the covenant.

Gas and Electric Plants Are Taken Over by Authorities and Will Be Operated—Strike Situation is Unchanged in England.

No Change in London.

London, Feb. 15. — The industrial situation is marking time, pending the meeting to be held on Tuesday of the consultative committee of the Laborite "Triple Alliance", the Miners' Federation, the Railway Men's Union and Transport Workers' Federation. At that meeting, it is understood, there will be a discussion of the question of common action. The Miners' Federation is thus far the only union that is committed to a definite course, negotiations regarding the demands of the railwaymen and the transport workers being still in progress.

Premier Lloyd George is anxiously interested in the situation, realizing that labor troubles may seriously retard national reconstruction and trade development. For this reason it is understood he will probably prolong his stay in England instead of returning almost immediately to Paris.

CANNOT FINE COMPANY

Vancouver Magistrate Says Law is Abominably Drawn Up.

Vancouver, Feb. 15.—Upon admission that the Western Canada Liquor Co. had imported a carload of intoxicating liquor in November, a fine of $1,000 was imposed on the company in Police Court. When it was rediscovered that there seemed to be no provision under the order-in-Council for imposing fines on such a company, Magistrate Shaw remarked that the order had been "abominably drawn up."

MR. MALLOTT TAKES AUDIENCE ON TRIP THROUGH LONDON

Interesting Lecture by the Pastor of Trinity Church on the Metropolis of the World

The cafeteria tea given by the Ladies' Aid of Trinity Church last evening was highly successful in every way. The audience exceeded that of last year and the supper was pronounced by all to be of first quality.

During the evening the following program was rendered:—Mr. Townsend gave two clarionette solos; Little Miss Ruby Ridyard gave a pleasing piano number and Mrs. Geo. H. King delighted the audience with two vocal selections.

The pastor of the church, Rev. F. E. Malott, gave his illustrated travel talk entitled "Here and There in Old London." Mr. Malott gave a brief history of the six Londons that have stood on the site of the present city, British London, Roman London, Saxon London, Norman London, the London of Queen Anne and the London of today. He spoke of the impression London has made upon the various types of travellers. Hine called it the greatest wonder of the world, but Madam De Stael called it the province of brick and Great Ailen called it a squalid village. It is, however, to most people the most delightfully interesting city on the face of the earth. It is a world itself. There are more Irishmen there than in Dublin, more Scotchmen than in Edinburgh, more Jews than ever lived in Jerusalem, ships from all quarters of the globe come to the port of London. It is the greatest centre of commerce, culture, statesmanship and historic interest in all the world. The speaker called attention to its population, the vast number of buildings, and its railway mileage. He said he had followed Mr. Gladstone's advice and "had seen London from the top of a bus." In connection with the lecture Mr. Malott showed sixty-eight beautiful lantern views.

The evening's program was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mr. Campbell made an excellent chairman.

ENGINEER BARBER'S ADDRESS.

THE ENGINEERS of the city invited Mr. Frank Barber of Toronto, one of the most distinguished members of the profession in Canada, to deliver an address here on matters of peculiar interest to those who follow the same line. The fact that Mr. Barber has been engaged by the City Council, that he has already designed and is to supervise the construction of the Hunter street bridge, was sufficient to arouse local interest in his appearance on a public platform.

True to their hospitable custom, the engineers extended an invitation to the public generally to hear Mr. Barber, but it was made clear that the address was to be largely technical in its nature, that the speaker was to deal with the subject of concrete bridges, giving limelight views of some of the greatest structures of that kind in the world. He was, naturally, to make some allusion to the new bridge contemplated here, and for which plans have been prepared.

The invitation was accepted by a large number of the non-elect, including city officials who are charged with the responsibility of paying for the new bridge, and taxpayers who will be called upon to pay for it. Some of these have expressed disappointment because Mr. Barber failed to treat the financial side of the problem and to show how, if possible, the Hunter street bridge could be built for less than the amount called for to put up the structure as designed by Mr. Barber, who in his work carried out the ideas of his employer.

If the city desires a cheaper structure, if the officials are willing to sacrifice anything like architectural beauty, Mr. Barber can no doubt remodel his plans so as to meet those economical views. But it should be remembered that his address was primarily intended for men of his own profession, not for those who had a mere monetary interest in the matter.

If the engineers had planked a vegetarian banquet and invited others to partake, announcing the nature of the bill-of-fare when they did so, it would hardly be in order for the outsiders to complain because they were not furnished with the meat which strong men crave.

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

A READER of The Review asks why the Bible should not be used as a textbook in the Public schools, to be read by the pupils without anything like comment or an attempt at explanation by the teacher.

That suggestion has been frequently made, and the idea has been rejected as impracticable. Pupils would receive no real benefit from reading a work like the Bible if they are left to form their own opinion as to the meaning. The Bible has been the subject of controversy ever since it was first translated into English. Learned college professors and profound theologians cannot come to an agreement as to its precepts. How, then, are the immature minds of children to be allowed to deal with it unaided? And, if the teacher assumes to direct them in this matter, trouble in the school section is certain to result.

When there is a universal church, then will it be possible to have religious instruction in the schools without running the risk of disrupting the harmony of the community.

THE SCALES OF JUSTICE.

There is something wrong with the scales of justice in Canada. They are out of gear, are not weighing fairly, and they ought to be set right. Under the operation of the Military Service Act a number of conscientious objectors were sent to prison. These men maintained that the law of Jesus Christ, as they interpreted it, forbade them to engage, under any circumstances, in the work of killing their fellow men, and so they refused to don the military uniform. They professed to be obeying a law which every Christian recognizes as higher than the law of the land.

No doubt they interpreted that law wrongly, but there is no reason to think that they were all insincere. In other respects the men were good citizens. One of them, who was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary, had given five months to patriotic work without pay. Another, who was sentenced to ten years, had more than once saved people from drowning at the peril of his own life.—The Presbyterian.

THERE IS SUPPOSED to be religious liberty in this country by which every citizen is allowed to worship his Maker as his conscience dictates. But does such liberty really exist?

Those who believe that the seventh day of the week, not the first, is the day set apart by Divine decree to be kept holy. The law of this country says otherwise, and the man who ignores the human enactment with regard to the Sabbath is punished, even if his course has the approval of his own conscience.

The case of the conscientious objector was one of the hardest problems the military authorities had to deal with when it came to enforcing the draft law. Certainly all of these objectors were not cowards. There is something little short of sublime in the courage of a man who accepts a ten-year sentence in the penitentiary for the sake of his faith, even as it required sublime courage on the part of the Christian martyrs of old to walk to the stake rather than deny their creed. But, unfortunately, the last place on earth to look for Christian spirit is in the judicial and legislative departments of Canada.

Men in Canada are still martyred for their faith. Many an excellent citizen has been kept out of office and otherwise prevented from advancement for no other reason than that his neighbors held up his religion as a reproach.

THE ENEMY ALIENS' ALLIES.

THE LIBERAL PARTY, or what is left of it, has only three journalistic supporters equal to the task of standing up for the leader, his following, and the principles, or rather lack of principles, which the remnant represents. One of these is our own neighbor over on George street, but as a political authority that journal is no longer taken seriously. The second is the London Advertiser, that all these months has been impotently kicking against the goads. The third is a Toronto weekly of recent birth that is bravely striving to fill the aching void in the economy of its constituents. And as to the ferocity with which the new recruit takes up the lost cause its disciples have nothing to ask.

The weekly in question champions the cause of the enemy alien in this country and maintains that inasmuch as he was invited to come to this country he has a right to remain as long as he pleases, no matter whether or not he becomes a citizen. They should, too, be allowed the franchise if they have complied with the conditions of the law governing such cases.

If a government has made a mistake in being too lenient with the aliens, if it is proved that they are likely to secure control of the affairs of the country, then it is only the part of wisdom to remedy former blunders. The Southern States did that in order to protect the white race from the domination of the blacks, and the negro was disfranchised by constitutional enactment. If the order-in-Council which deprives a percentage of the alien enemies of the vote is not sufficient, there are regular methods available to accomplish the same purpose. Almost any object on earth can be obtained by the employment of legal means.

No person who is really just will countenance violence in dealing with the foreigner. The law is strong enough to take care of them if they are offensive or to punish them if they are not. But the fact that they have been invited to come to Canada and assured of a home and protection here is no argument why they should be permitted to remain if they do not agree to live as Canadians do.

A man may invite a stranger to become a member of his family, and so long as his conduct warrants such treatment, may treat him as a member of his household. Let that stranger, however, insist on stirring up trouble in the home circle and plotting resistance to the head of the house, if he shows a disposition to wantonly wreck the furniture and work other material mischief, it would be perfectly in order to cast him out. This, too, could be accomplished without harsh physical measures. Self-preservation is the first law with individuals and nations alike. A man's first duty is to his own children and other dependents; a nation's chief responsibility is the protection of its own loyal and law-abiding citizens.

Coming back to the case of our own immediate contemporary, its attitude on the alien question is as inexplicable and illogical as its stand on the temperance issue, or any other of a score of public matters that could be mentioned. It would, for instance, deny the alien the right to work, but would invest him with the franchise. The starving man is never a safe citizen, even if he is assured of immunity from the mob. In his hands the vote becomes as uncertain and dangerous a weapon as a giant firecracker in the hands of a child. Allowing him to starve in peace affords him little real comfort.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

One Thing Sure.

(Chicago Tribune.)

Irish self-determination, resulting in an Irish republic, would mean that British trade routes to the west would have a hostile, or possibly hostile, state. If the Irish had the navy and the power they would have their republic. So long as the English have the navy and the power the Irish will not have their republic. They may have trouble, disaster, compromise, continued insurrection, a successful home government—they may have almost anything—but they will not have an independent republic.

Looks Are Typical.

(London Advertiser.)

The Toronto Telegram has a picture over a department called "Echoes of the Town." In it fifty Torontonians are shown. Eight of them wear top hats, one with a sack coat. How typical of muddy York! They have more silk-hatted loafers in that sunny village than in all the rest of Canada.

ENFORCING TERMS OF PEACE

(Mail Street Journal.)

Perhaps it may be said of the various plans for leagues of nations that Mr. Taft's League to Enforce Peace is the most logical. He has been a Federal judge as well as a President, and admits that he has small sympathy with a court which has not the power to enforce its decisions. If the courts of this country depended solely upon "good will", "public opinion", "ideals", and the like, a revolution would be in order.

Proposed leagues of nations as set forth in Paris, where there has been a blunt request that Presidential generalities shall be reduced to practicalities, are not having a hopeful time. Even the publicity bureau upon which this country has been dependent for what is somewhat euphemistically called "news" is balking at the arrogation over the German colonies, by fair conquest, demand to be shown specifically how these could be better governed by a regulating body international in scope but without power to enforce its will.

Germany's Ebert, with characteristic impudence, demands that international regulation shall be extended to all colonies, forgetting that his colonies have been conquered, won as legitimate stakes in a war wantonly provoked by Germany. But how should we like the Philippines internationalized, and how can we fail to understand the feelings of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa in the matter of the German colonies? League or no league, they will enforce what they consider suitable government; and who will attempt to coerce them? Certainly not the United States.

The subject is bristling with difficulties, and it almost seems better to accept the leagues we have than fly to others that we know not of. Congress alone has the constitutional right to declare war. If in enforcing peace we are called upon to take military action against a country like Brazil or Japan, only Congress can make our action possible, without a constitutional amendment. Would such an amendment have a chance of passing, and would the United States Senate ratify the necessary treaties, with such a contingency in view?

A league which cannot "enforce" peace is no league at all. It represents in fact, under a maze of generalities, fourteen or any other number, merely that state of international good feeling in conditions of peace which existed prior to August, 1914, safeguarded by the Monroe Doctrine, the British Navy, the potential wealth of the United States and the solidarity of the British Empire.

TODAY'S STORY

This is the story of the wooden gun that saved Hull and the shipping of England. The ancient mariners along the quays of Hull chuckle when they relate it. Month by month the story grows. When the last soldier is demobilized the story will have become one of the legends of the war. I have heard a Scotchman in a Yorkshire pub say to his cronies, with a solemn drag at his pipe:

"Mon, it was a wooden goon as saved England. If not for the wooden goon of Hull, we would all be Prussians t'day."

And when you ask a native of Hull to tell you something about the Zeppelin raids that terrorized the city for three years he will omit many details—the details of the women and children and old men who died of terror in the streets, of the scores who were blown to atoms while in their beds, of the thousands fleeing in the dead of night through the streets into the marshes and the fields. He will omit these things and with a smile tell you that the British government played a great joke on the people of Hull by placing a wooden gun on top of a building and making believe it would fight off the Zeppelins.

However, the joke wasn't so much on the people of Hull as it was on the Zeppelins, for when they came over the city in March, 1916, and for an hour hung above the defenseless port, which was the coaling center for the British fleet, the shipping base for the British army and the second greatest port in England, they suddenly turned tail, and flew away. One of the Zeps flying 800 feet above the roofs had located the wooden gun with its searchlift, and, instead of leisurely blowing Hull off the map as was entirely possible, had given the word to the Zep fleet that the quays were protected by a barrage and had taken flight, dropping bombs haphazardly as they sailed away. And the people of Hull, standing by thousands in the street, watched the soldiers on the roof go through many dialster motions beside the dummy gun with never a shot.

This part of the government's joke was on the people of Hull. For the munition workers had threatened to leave unless protection was given against the Zeps, and the dock workers had threatened to quit in a body and the population had stormed the house of the lord mayor threatening to abandon the city. This was after the raids of June and August, 1915. Whereupon there had come from London a train bearing a ferocious looking weapon and a company of soldiers to manipulate it. Amid cheers the weapon had been mounted on the roof, and content in the belief that the Zep raiders would get their money's worth, the frightened populace and workers had returned to their posts.

The Zeps came back again and again, but their great chance had passed. The admiralty had finally decided to arm Hull and give it searchlights. Each time the searchlights located the Zep and the barrage sent them scurrying away.

But these matters and the various tales of terror and escape belong to the already ancient chronicles of the war.

"It is a thing we'll wonder about all our lives," said a city official, "why Hull wasn't wiped out in June and August of 1915, and March of the next year. Hull was the most shining target the Zeps could ask for.

"Finally the terror grew so that it became dangerous. Then the wooden gun appeared. We cried with joy. And in March the Zeps came again. They had their bearings this time. They flew about leisurely for a hour, picking out the places to blow up. And then they saw the wooden gun.

This, omitting several thousand details, is the story of the wooden gun. As verification of the miracle the people of Hull point to their port. It, the war base for the British army and navy, exposed and defenseless for two years, stands intact.

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

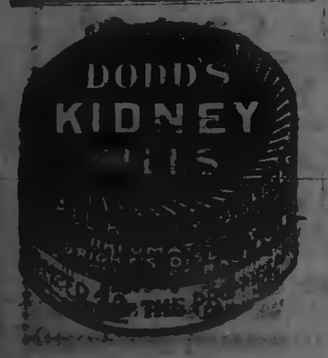
The cornea is the clear covering of the sight of the eye, that portion in front of the iris or colored ring and the pupil or black central spot of the eye, and surrounded by the white of the eye or sclerotic. It is perfectly transparent and contains no blood vessels, being nourished from neighboring structures of the eye. Injuries may cause a haze or blemish of this transparent membrane and so impair good eyesight if the injury happens to occur immediately over the pupil. Owing to the fact that the cornea itself contains no blood vessels and must absorb its nourishment from other structures slight injuries are very serious, because the healing process is necessarily slow.

Ulcer, in any situation, means merely loss or destruction of the surface covering, so that a raw place remains.

Inflammation of the cornea or injury of the cornea by foreign bodies (cinders, fragments of iron, emery, etc.) often cause minute breaks of the surface which must be considered small ulcers. If an ulcer of pinhead size develops it is always a serious matter. There is much pain, not mere irritation or smarting as in conjunctivitis or ordinary sore eyes, and also a marked sensitiveness to light, with consequent spasm of the lids to keep the eye tightly closed. When severe symptoms like these are present the patient should not procrastinate but promptly seek the services of physician or oculist. Remember, the ulcer itself is so small as to be overlooked by the amateur, or, if noticed at all, considered a trifle. The great danger in any such case is infection through uncleanly handling—as by holding an unclean handkerchief to the eye. It is best to apply a compress (many folds of clean cheesecloth or a clean, ironed handkerchief) to the eye, keep it wet with warm normal salt solution (rounded teaspoonful salt dissolved in pint of boiled water) or with saturated solution of boric acid (all will dissolve.) This should be held in place with a bandage about the head and affected eye, until medical care can be had.

Slight corneal ulceration, if unrecognized or neglected, is likely to lead to permanent damage to the sight through opacities which remain after the ulcer heals or through infection and damage to the internal mechanism of the eye.

Still another form of corneal inflammation in children who have inherited syphilis or contracted tuberculosis in infancy affects the deeper layers of the cornea and sometimes gravely damages the eye. The symptoms of both of these conditions are chiefly pain, sensitiveness to bright light, excessive tear secretion and impairment of clear vision. Prompt treatment by physician and oculist will generally save the sight.



Dimensions of Calves.

"I am anxious to get your formula for reducing legs that are too fat. I am 26 years old, 64 inches tall and weigh 130 pounds. My calves are ungainly, the tape tells the story—14 inches. MRS. L. E. C."

The ideal woman is 64 inches tall and weighs, at the age of 30 years, 130 to 125 pounds. Her calf, too, measures 14½ inches and she certainly should not try to reduce that. You ladies should not allow the emaciated, long waisted, spindle shanked frights they hang the rags of fashion on these days in the fashion magazines to mislead you. Hereafter I shall give no suggestions about reducing unless the correspondent requesting them mentions age, height and weight, together, with any special dimensions concerned. I find that the credulous sex is not content to be normal, but wishes to look sick.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely.

No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling at for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

London's Bridges.

When the population of London was well over a million and its houses lay for miles on each side of the river it was apparently well content with the one London Bridge. At length, in 1734, Westminster was seized with the desire to have a bridge of its own. Application was made to Parliament for powers, only to encounter the fiercest opposition from the city, the forty thousand watermen, the inhabitants of Southwark, and the West Country bargemen, all of whom implored the Commons to protect them against this new enemy. The result was that the bridge was not built till 1750. Blackfriars, at first called Pitt's Bridge, was finished in 1769, at a cost of two hundred and sixty thousand pounds, defrayed by tolls. Waterloo was opened on the second anniversary of the famous battle with great pomp by the Prince Regent in person, accompanied by his royal brother, the Duke of York, the Duke of Wellington, and many other distinguished persons. — Family Herald.

Poison Gas.

Ages before poison gas was used in warfare, a tiny British beetle, known as the brachinus crepitans, used a similar device to confound its enemies. When pursued by bigger beetles this little creature ejects a peculiar fluid which, on coming in contact with the atmosphere, burst into a pale blue-green flame, following a kind of smoke, intensely irritating and poisonous. The common name of this poison, gas-emitting insect is the bombardier beetle, and it is plentiful about Gravesend, England.

A Pacifist.

Two Aucklanders were talking about a mutual friend. Said one: "So Jim has gone into the navy and is now on a destroyer. I thought he was a pacifist." "He is; a naval pacifist." "And what is a naval pacifist?" "One who plants depth bombs for the purpose of spreading oil on the troubled waters."

FRANCE HAS A CLAIM.

Relations With Syria Dates Back to Crusaders.

The first statement since the armistice regarding European intentions in Turkey which may be considered as bearing the marks of official authority, says the New York Sun, was the recent declaration of France's interests by Stephen Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, in the Chamber of Deputies. He said that the French rights in Armenia, Syria, Lebanon and Palestine were incontestable, that while the subject was one with which the Peace Conference was at liberty to deal, "we consider our rights are fully established by our agreements with Great Britain."

While the existence of an agreement between the two nations most keenly interested in the Ottoman empire is thus acknowledged there is nothing that clearly defines the character of the interests which France and Great Britain will seek. There is apparently a careful avoidance of such words as colonization, spheres of influence or even protectorate except as it is used regarding a demand for protection made by the Armenians themselves.

The basis of the French claims in Syria is unquestionably the oldest of any made by a European nation. The title of Protector of Oriental Christians was conferred upon the French kings by the Pope, on account of France's activity in the Crusades. Small states were founded by French nobles who took part in the crusades; there were, in fact, four French States in Syria at the time of the Crusaders, the Kingdom of Jerusalem, the County of Edessa and the principalities or counties of Antioch and Tripoli. For many years the Porte bestowed the name Frank upon all Europeans, whatever was their nationality. It was to these conditions that M. Pichon referred when he spoke of the French claim as based upon "historic conventions."

But France has a modern claim upon Turkey. Perhaps fully half of the great national debt of the Ottoman empire before the beginning of the war, a debt estimated then at $1,000,000,000, represented money advanced by French financiers. Excepting the pilgrimage road to Medina, the Hedjas line, all the railroads of Syria had been financed by the French. France furnished the capital to establish most of the successful industries, notably the Lebanon silk factories, and the products of these industries were sent to France.

It is these very evident and important considerations that make the future of Syria a matter of such deep concern to France. They represent to her the leading factors in the Near East question and the reasons for her strong insistence upon a paramount interest in this portion of the Turkish empire.

The Reporter's Terror.

A recent attempt by Mr. Justice Darling to set a shorthand speed test illustrated the failure of the most experienced public speakers to arrive at an accurate idea of the pace of their own utterances. The judge was trying to read at about 30 words a minute, but his first attempt was at a speed of at least 80, and his second, round about 60.

Judges are the most rapid speakers whom shorthand writers have to "take." Among platform speakers Mr. Asquith, with his clear-cut sentences and even delivery, is one of the easiest men to report, though his occasional use of an unfamiliar word is disconcerting.

Lord Haldane is the reporter's terror. He lulls the notetaker into a sense of false security with a few passages spoken at a deliberate pace, and then dashes on for two or three minutes at an overwhelming rate. But he is conscious of his error, and strives constantly to correct it.

He once confessed that he always had two words of notes in his hand, and those two words were "Go slowly."—Tit-Bits.

LINGERING WEAKNESS FOLLOWING DISEASE

BANISHED BY THE WONDERFUL TONIC POWERS OF DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

In almost every case the victims of la grippe, influenza, fevers or contagious troubles, are left weak, ailing and despondent after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought, and remain tired listless and discouraged. The one and only reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravage of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified by no other medicine as quickly and as surely as by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills, and thousands have found them beneficial in bringing strength and energy after disease had left them weak and run down. Miss Beatrice Cassidy, Vroomanton, Ont., says:—"From my own experience I can speak in the highest terms of praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I passed through a severe attack of scarlet fever, from which I did not regain my strength after the fever itself had passed. I was left very weak, pale and frail looking, and although I was continuing to take medicine, I did not improve. At this time a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and following the advise, I soon felt the pills were helping me, and after taking them for about a month I found myself fully restored to my old time health and strength. I therefore strongly advise anyone who feels weak or run down to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I feel sure they will not regret it."

Rich red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Shining Gold Stream.

Long ago Cicero said: "Love makes gold to shine." Never was there such an opportunity for gold as during the past four years. Call the roll of those who marched not in a triumphal procession, but in a procession of death and heartbreak, where refugees do walk. What homeless creatures these! What rags and what starvation! How ghastly the piles of dead! Gone all the cities and towns! Gone the cathedrals, the colleges, the banks and stores! Gone the woolen mills, the sugar mills, the iron and steel plants! Gone the farmhouses, the vineyards and orchards! But if bad men grew worse, good men grew more Christlike. They poured out money by the hundreds of millions for the Red Cross work, the hospitals, the wounded, the refugees, who needed food and clothing. Protestants and Roman Catholics, Jews and Gentiles, gave their money in a golden stream.—Newell Dwight Hillis in the Christian Herald.

Genius of Lord Fisher Prepared British Navy To Win the Great War

LORD FISHER says that Nelson was the greatest man who ever lived; Harold Begbie informs readers of the London Chronicle that Lord Fisher is a greater man than Nelson, and perhaps it may occur to someone that the author of the slogan, "Business as Usual," has a slight edge on Lord Fisher, thus reducing Lord Nelson to his proper place. It is not necessary to take Begbie's view about Lord Fisher to appreciate the fact that he played a great part in this war, one that the public is inclined to forget just because Lord Fisher happened to be out of office when the final victory was won. He resigned as First Sea Lord after a quarrel with Winston Churchill, the merits of which have not been disclosed; but it is not what Fisher did when at the Admiralty that entitles him to the undying gratitude of his fellow-countrymen. Once the fighting began the success of the navy depends upon the captains and the commander of the Grand Fleet.

This is what he did: He revolutionized British methods of naval warfare; he produced the first Dreadnought; he trained the navy for fighting in the North Sea. If ever there was a British sailor steeped in the Nelson tradition it was Fisher. His remark that Nelson was the greatest man who ever lived suggests this. No one ever studied Nelson's strategy like Fisher, unless it was Mahan, and despite the fact that one of the smallest ships in the modern British fleet could easily destroy any fleet that Nelson ever commanded, Fisher found that the great principles of naval warfare were better understood by Nelson than by any other man before or since. It would be too much to say, perhaps, that Fisher got his ideas of the Dreadnought from Nelson, but he did get his idea of training the British navy in the North Sea from Nelson. "Your battle ground should be your drilling ground," was a saying of Nelson's that struck home to Fisher, and when he was chief of the British navy some years ago he began to put the precept into practice.

He called home on one excuse or another and at different times every British man-o'-war that was cruising in the Mediterranean or other waters, and put it patrolling in the North Sea. He wanted the fleet to drill on what he knew would be the battleground of the future. He said: "I wanted it to nose about in the fogs, smelling different patches of peasoupiness, sniffing and peering until it could say, 'Hullo, here; the Dogger bank' and feel it had met a friend." He added: "What hope would the fleet have had of victory called from the bright sunshine and the blue air of the Mediterranean to fight a battle in the fogs of the North Sea? There they were with white-topped caps and linen trousers, with beautiful polished decks and shining brass work, living in a yatchsman's paradise, and God was saying every hour as loud as Sinai's thunders that Armageddon would be fought in the pea-soup of the North Sea." In Fisher's ears must have sounded those "ancestral voices prophesying war," for in 1908 he put into writing his firm conviction that Germany and Great Britain would be at war in 1914—when the Kiel Canal improvements were complete.

So this is one of the things that Fisher did, which helped the British navy to win the war. He told Begbie that in those days when he was trying to put his theories into effect he had only one friend, King Edward. The King told him to stick to it, that he was on the right track, and there can be no doubt that the King's influence, which was so largely responsible for the Entente with France, made it possible for British warships to be withdrawn from the Mediterranean and stationed in the cold mists of the North Sea.

Von.

Von, in the German, is a part of the family name, like the Mac in MacDonald or the O in O'Brien. Von is German for "of," and was originally used to differentiate a person of some particular locality from all other persons. From being a mark of distinction or badge of honor it gradually became part of the family name.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little Bras d'Or, C.B.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight—going from 185 pounds to 146 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'.

In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

The "Young Turks."

Turkey's Hamidian regime, of thirty-three years' duration, ended ten years ago. The death of the Ottoman empire in the spring of 1908 need only have brought out the comment that the Sick Man of Europe had been an unconscionable time a-dying. But in July, 1908, came the supposed miracle of the Young Turk revolution. There was practically no bloodshed. Vengeance for the horrors perpetrated by Abdul Hamid seemed swallowed up in an intoxication of joy. Out of the universal intrigue, suspicion, corruption, and cruelty sprang full-blown a new government based on all the virtues. The slogan was "Liberty, Fraternity, Equality, Justice." Turk and Armenian wept on each other's neck as they embraced over the graves of massacred Armenians who for thirteen years had not been publicly mourned. Turk, Greek, Bulgar, Albanian and Jew all fraternized as not in a thousand years. Within the Empire the millenium seemed to have come. But the revolution was not so acceptable to Turkey's neighbors, at least not without a chance to even up old scores and liquidate Hamidian debts. All in a heap, in the early days of October, vigorous Bulgaria declared her independence of the decrepit concern to which she was tributary, and became a full-fledged kingdom instead of a "principality." Austria-Hungary declared the annexation of Bosnia and the Herzegovinia, Turkish provinces which for thirty years the Dual Monarchy had been administering "in behalf of Turkey." Crete, albeit unsuccessfully, declared for union with her natural motherhood, Greece. The Young Turks, looking at all these violations from a very academic standpoint, had not the sense to bow gracefully before the inevitable. Untrained idealists and a few old foxes insisted on their "rights" apparently thinking that by abolishing the rule which had so cruelly oppressed Turkey from within they could thereby erase the external consequences. Young Turkey had her defenders. She seemed in almost every way to commend herself to the sympathies of the noble-minded.—Asia Magazine.

Patti In Retirement.

According to Phyllis Phillips, in Everybody's, "Patti lives, not only in our hearts, but really, in the flesh, at the age of 76, in her magnificent castle of Craig-y-Nos, ten miles north of Swansea, in South Wales, on which she has spent quite half a million. She lives there with her third husband, Baron Cederstrom, and sometimes, when they feel inclined, they throw open their theatre, a replica of the Baireuth Theatre, to the countryside and give one of the operas in which Patti once thrilled the world. Until recently Patti was even sometimes prevailed upon to appear at Albert Hall in London for the benefit of some charity, but her beauty is quite gone—it vanished far earlier than her voice—and so, for the most part, she is happiest in her Welsh fastnesses among the neighbors who will always call her the 'Queen of Wales'."

The Life of a File.

Efficiency experts have been studying files and find that the life of one of these tools, on the average, is 25,000 strokes. To employ a file for more than its normal period of usefulness, it is claimed, more than doubles the cost of the work.

Bisecting Boats.

Bisecting long boats so that they could be taken through the Welland Canal was considered an interesting feat a short time ago, but this has been surpassed, according to the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The Charles R. Van Hise, a 10,00-ton boat, was wanted for Atlantic service. It had a fifty-foot beam, whereas the canal is only forty-four feet wide. The boat was cut in two and each half was turned on its side in order to be taken through the locks. Floating in this position each section clears the lock sides by just eight inches.

WANT STATE CHURCH.

Action Take by Roman Catholics In Poland.

Sixteen archbishops, nine bishops of the diocese and eight suffragan bishops of the Roman Catholic church of Poland have issued a general appeal to the people that the unreligious new Polish state shall be formed, that none be formed without the Roman Catholic faith as the state religion. In an open letter spread broadcast in pamphlets and in newspapers and read in the pulpits they warn the people not to vote for candidates to seats in the constitutional congress who seek to limit the rights of the church, to keep religion out of the governmental life and to oppose the Roman Catholic as the state religion or religious schools and men who are Socialists.

This followed the united action of the entire hierarchy in all parts of Poland which met in Warsaw. The latter declares that the original constitution of May 3, 1793, when Russia, Germany and Austria partitioned Poland recognized Roman Catholicism as the state religion, guaranteed the freedom and protection of other faiths. It declares that the Russian anarchy is the fruit of Socialism which is bound to bring every community to similar anarchy and chaos. It warns the employers and the wealthy that this is the time to make sacrifices. Regarding the demand that the extended tracts owned by the church be turned over to the state for the use of the people the churchmen say that the church is willing to co-operate to the fullest extent and will make concessions where the necessity of agricultural reforms require but that the trust for which the property is held must neither be forgotten nor ignored. It warns against the adoption of hasty and temporary measures through dangerous, radical steps. It protests against the charge that the Polish people are responsible for pogroms. However, it points to usury and increasing prices and impositions on the people, and also to the fact that a number of Jewish agents in the Bolshevik service are responsible for the storm which is breaking over them. This, however, says the clergy, does not justify violence against the Jews. They say that the attack was committed by convicts freed from prisons and Russia war prisoners. Women are told that non-religious schools injure children and endanger marriage.

The letter thanks the Pope and the Polish leaders for their activities in Washington and Paris and each of the allies. The archbishops are: Edmond Dalbor, Joseph Bilczwicks, Josepr Teodorowicz, Alexander Kakowski, Charles Hrynlewicki, Casimir Hrynlewicki, Casimir Rusokiewicz, Prince Bishop Adam and Stephen Sapieha.

Revolution Not a Surprise.

While "the man in the street," impressed by the disciplined docility of the German people, scarcely anticipated revolution as an immediate event, says the Edinburgh Scotsman, historians had such a contingency in their minds. In "The History of Germany" the following passage occurs:

"After all, Bismarck's reforms did little but protect the German workman against exceptional misfortune. He still works long hours, still gets low wages, and still often has to pay high rent for a wretched room in one of the barrack-like buildings which, with their imposing exteriors, often leave on hasty travelers the false impression that German towns have no slums. Thus, the Social Democrats have still much to offer to the lower classes in Germany.

"The Social Democrats are the strongest party in the Reichstag, and the best organized party in the country. Yet their strength is often overestimated. Many of those who vote Socialist are notoriously not Socialists at all, but persons who wish to see in the Reichstag a strong body that may be trusted to criticise the Ministry. And it cannot be denied that the Social Democrats have hitherto been mightier in words than in deeds, and have never shown much instinct for practical politics.

"Still they are a formidable force; and if some great disaster were to befall the nation they might perhaps be able to lead a successful revolution."

It is the Social Democrat party that has taken the lead in the present revolution in Germany.

RETURNED MEN HELPING EACH OTHER TO FIND EMPLOYMENT

The Man Who Has Been Placed Knows the Ropes and Can Direct His Worklesa Comrade in His Quest.

In every department of repatriation, touching the intimate placement and adjustment of returned men, an ex-soldier will be found. On his way back to the old pathways of civilian life the returned man is met by one of like sympathies—a comrade who knows what it means to find the way back to take up work to which one has long been unaccustomed.

The fact that a man has been to the front does not always mean that given an official position he will know exactly how to work for the best interest of his comrades, as it is not every man who is adapted for the work of placing others either by previous training or aptitude.

Those who were successful in the army and in their pre-war business, however, are the more likely to guide other returned soldiers to success. It does not always follow that the men chosen to interview have been used to handling and placing others before the war but they are chosen as possessing various qualification of intuition, sympathy, business sense, etc., all of which are essential to the man who would guide others, and the very adaptibility of some of those ex-soldier interviewers provides an interesting suggestion to other men as to how they may make good by utilizing all knowledge gained in previous positions and trades for their new life.

A striking instance of this is found in the Toronto branch of the Ontario Government Employment Bureau. Here, as in all other bureaus run by the Government, the department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment cooperates with the bureau by having an ex-soldier on the spot to look after the returned men exclusively.

E. Stalford, who is in charge of the department where able-bodied ex-service men are interviewed, was a salesman before the war, and in his present position he has carried all the principles of good salesmanship.

Keenly interested in his fellows and their successful placement, he is alert, and right on the job every minute, with the same max ms and methods of attack and other tactics with which he carried on his business successfully.

"When I was in the business of selling goods it was necessary to size up a man's characteristics in order to be able to get at the right angle. To make a good appeal to any man one must know his weak points as well as his strong and I endeavour to apply the same ideas of salesmanship to the men who comes here looking for jobs. I am still a salesman My job is to sell work on the one hand, human material on the other.

Comrade Tattersall is the man in charge of the re-education department. It is his business to meet every returned man suffering from disability who is in need of a re-educational course. As they come into the employment bureau looking for positions, men who are minus an arm or a leg, or who have lost the complete use of some faculty, or are in need of retraining on any form or degree, are sympathetically met by Mr. Tattersall, who takes all particulars of their previous work and training and directs them to the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, where they will be sent to classes for training in some line suitable to their abilities.

When the returned men is through with his course of training he again applies to Mr. Tattersall for a job and by co-operation with the employment bureau he is sent out to a prospective employer.

Mr. Tattersall was, in pre-war days, a surveyor, and he also has applied the principles of his former occupation intimately to the situation of employment. It has been his hobby during the time he has been with the Government to make a survey of various industrial plants, the result of which, prepared in the form of a chart give a valuable indication of the field of labour in certain lines, with the attitude of the heads of various departments from the owner, manager, superintendent and downwards, with regard to the disabled men: working conditions in such plants, rate of pay, sanitary and other conditions affecting the health of the men, possible openings at the present time and the future outlook.

Such ex-service men duplicated in deals and adaptability are to be found in every part of the country where returned soldiers are to be placed.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today save a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Masquerade Dance In Victoria Hall

Last night the L.O.B.A. Lodge, No. 244, held a successful masquerade dance in the Victoria Hall. There were three hundred and sixty-five people dancing to the music provided in excellent form by Mr. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Fenwick and Mr. Tucker.

Mrs. Wright, mistress of the lodge, and the Committee in charge are to be congratulated upon their efforts to make the event such a success. The costumes were numerous and in great variety. The feature of the evening was a comedy act staged by Misses Goodfellow and White and two young ladies masquerading as French cooks, who would not let their identity be known. Luncheon was served about 12.30 and after luncheon dancing continued until a late hour when all guests departed with the feeling that the affair had been a success.

OFFERS TO MAKE FUEL OUT OF THE CITY'S GARBAGE

Property Committee Will Look into Matter Brought to Their Notice by a Toronto Firm —Increased Salary For Inspector Stapleton

Recognizing the importance of advertising the members of the Corporation advertising the members of the city property committee at its session last night after thorough consideration of the matter passed a motion recommending that J. J. Turner and Sons be permitted to maintain the bulletin boards on the island facing the C.P.R. bridge for a term of three years for a rental of $50 and recommended to the Manufacturers' Committee that they offer the firm $2000 for the use of the boards to advertise the city for a three year's term upon condition that foreign advertising be excluded. Turned and Sons will attend to the lettering and should the offer prove acceptable an agreement is to be drawn up setting forth its terms.

Fuel From Garbage

A Toronto firm requested by letter an opportunity of demonstrating their process of making fuel from the garbage of the city. Mayor Duncan thought the matter sufficiently important to warrant a deputation visiting the plant if one should be in Toronto upon other business in the near future and had a few hours to spare. It was decided to leave this question in the hands of Chairman Hamilton.

Health Matters

Copies of several motions passed at a recent meeting of the Board of Health, making recommendations to the Council were read before the committee. The first suggested the advisability of having the Medical Officer of Health meet the Council and in the interests of sanitation discuss with them the pending by-law.

The Board of Health also suggested the advisability of having a road constructed from the Queen Mary Hospital to the Protestant Home. This matter was referred to the Board of Works.

A suggestion from the same source that the butter-fat in milk delivered in the city be maintained at 3 or 3.25 per cent and that a standardization be set for cream with the committee's approval.

In discussing this question, Chairman Hamilton stated that he had been in conversation with one authority upon the subject, in the city and that he had approved of it. It was stated that the Peterborough Dairy Company's milk measured up to the proposed standard and that there was no apparent reason why the other dealers could not deliver a product of equal quality.

Alderman Edgar did not see how the milk dealers could effect an increase such as would be demanded in milk which was lower than the percentage suggested. It was stated in reply that they fed straw in many cases and that this accounted for the difference. The change was recommended and if the council considers the move favorably a by-law will be passed giving effect to it.

Another recommendation from the Board of Health advised against allowing fish vendors to carry on business in the market building or to obstruct the entrance and suggested that the market be kept in a more sanitary condition.

This met with the approval of the members of the committee who felt that meat should not be sold in the building and a motion was passed recommending that no vendors be allowed to carry on business in the entrance to the market hall; that the sanitary inspector be instructed to see that the square is kept clean and the sidewalk from Simcoe to Charlotte streets in the rear of the stores free from obstructions. The City Trust will be requested to replace the pavement around the city lavatory and no fish or meat will be allowed to be sold in the market building.

Instructions were issued to advertise for tenders for market tolls the highest one to be accepted and the contract awarded.

No Tent in the Park

Mr Mulligan's request for permission to erect a tent in Central Park in which to conduct religious meetings was considered. It was decided that the effect would be most unsightly and as Mr. Mulligan desired to have the tent, which would be a large one capable of accommodating 500 people in the park from the middle of June until the middle of July a time when tourists are visiting the city in great numbers the committee did not approve of the idea and after some consideration a motion was passed giving him the usual permission to use the park in which to conduct his meetings but refusing to sanction the erection of the tent.

Sanitary Inspector's Pay

Inspector Stapleton's complaint in regard to the carelessness of citizens in not removing their garbage cans from the curb after the collection had been made came before the meeting for consideration Mayor Duncan stated that while the people were required to have the garbage on the street at 8 o'clock in the morning it would be a difficult matter to set an exact time for the removal of the cans as the householder would be under the necessity of keeping on the lookout for the collectors who were liable to come at any time. No action was taken in the matter.

Alderman Phelan brought up the question of making a recommendation to the Finance Committee for a raise in the salary of the Sanitary Inspector. Alderman Edgar was dubious as to the wisdom of a suggestion from the property committee. He felt that it was not a proper source for such a suggestion and argued that it would be interfering with the work of the Finance Committee

Alderman Phelan was not to be dissuaded upon such grounds, however, and contended that the Property Committee would be quite within its right in making a recommendation of such a nature to the Finance Committee of which he was himself a member. He embodied his idea in a motion which Alderman Garside seconded and it was carried.

Alderman Edgar drew the attention of the committee to the desirability of having a committee visit the incinerator plant and determine its condition. Chairman Hamilton, Mayor Duncan, Alderman Phelan, Alderman Garside and the city engineer were appointed to look after this matter.

Alderman Garside drew attention to the fact that on the property surrounding the incinerator, cans are being piled up to such an extent as to prove a nuisance to the owner of the adjoining lot. The advisability of procuring a machine to press this tin into shape which would make it saleable was discussed but while it was agreed that something should be done to remedy the condition described by Alderman Garside no definite action was decided upon at last night's meeting."

Acceptance of the tender of Mr. P. Stinson of $221 for the ashes from the incinerator plant was recommended after which the committee discussed the necessary repairs upon the exterior and interior of the city buildings.

Chairman Hamilton outlined these He stated that the wood-work on the outside of the building had become exposed for the lack of paint and that the interior of the offices, committee room and council chamber needed to be redecorated. Assessor Henry desired a vault installed and the city treasurer required some changes to be made upon the one in his office.

A motion was passed authorizing Chairman Hamilton to interview the City Trust Commission in connection with this matter and ask them to undertake the task of making the necessary repairs and redecorating of the interior of the building where required.

WHEN BABY IS CROSS

Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him up—something is the matter. It is not the nature of the little ones to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. They are a mild but thorough laxative; regulate the bowels and stomach; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; in fact they cure all the minor ailments of the little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Alphonse Lachance, St. Apolline, Que., writes: "My baby cried continually but Baby's Own Tablets soon set her right and now she is fat and happy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RETURNED MEN ENJOY EVENING

PLEASANT TIME SPEND BY VETERANS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

On Thursday evening a large number of the returned men spent an enjoyable time at the Y.M.C.A. building. During the early part of the evening the number present was somewhat small but quite a number of men came later. The bowling alleys and billiard rooms were occupied constantly and many of the men of the men who not played five pins before enjoyed the game. A game of basketball was a feature of the evening and the returned men showed that they hadn't forgotten the game although they were somewhat handicapped through lack of condition. Incidentally a number of the men got a taste of the excitement of the game and determined to come back for more of their old favorite pastime. Col. Johnston dropped in during the evening.

The 57th Chapter of the I.O.D.E. very kindly made ample arrangements for the refreshments. These were served by Mrs. Clegg and Mrs. V. Eastwood, assisted by Mrs. Roper and Mrs. Raynor. The Association takes this opportunity of thanking the ladies who kindly provided cakes for the occasion.

Do A Good Turn For The Other Fellow

It is a very unusual thing for a newspaper to comment on an announcement to be found in its advertising columns, but in this issue today there is a very unusual advertisement—unusual because the advertiser uses most of his space to do a good turn for the "other fellow."

The advertiser—The T. H. Estabrooks Company the proprietors of Red Rose Tea—have used a large space to pay a tribute to the grocery trade. This indicates a generous, broad-minded spirit and shows that there is a great deal more sentiment in business than one would generally think. It shows that advertising is progressing and that it can be used to do other things than to sell goods.

CANADIAN BACON WILL BE REQUIRED IN GERMANY

One Fifth of Supplies Sent There by England Will Be Re-Placed by Stock From This Country.

Paris, Feb. 15.—The final difficulty which had to be met in completing the draft of the League of Nations arose from France's deep-rooted scepticism about the effectiveness of the proposed league as a guarantee of the security of her eastern frontier. Just as Great Britain was not prepared to forego her naval protection on the chance that the league will provide an efficient substitute, so France is reluctant to accept the risk of sudden attack by a still powerful and revengeful Germany by imposing implicit reliance in the assurances of protecton by the league. France wants a strong strategic frontier or some underwriting of engagements of the league by her present allies, or the creation of something akin to a permanent standing army.

Shouldn't Take Chances.

It is said that the maintenance of a force of this character in France has been suggested. France's view that after her experience she should not be asked to take chances there is general agreement, but none of these proposals have been regarded as practicable.

The middle course, favored by the British, has been adopted in relation to the renewal of the armistice. In brief, the proposal is that the armistice shall continue for a further short period contingent upon the strict fulfilment of the original terms and that there shall thereafter be submitted with the least possible delay a draft of the essential terms of peace as they will apply to Germany.

What Acceptance Would Mean.

The acceptance by Germany of these will mean the extension of the armistice until the signing of the definite treaty and a mitigation of the severity of the blockade. It is certain that one of the preliminary terms of peace to which Germany must subscribe will definitely limit the extent of Germany's military power, thus enabling the entente power to carry out programs of partial reduction in fighting strength pending the signing of peace.

Says Must Have Corn.

Germany wants immediately 30,000 tons of pork stuffs and a quarter of a million cases of condensed milk. Following this there will be a second order for 200,000 tons of wheat and 25,000 tons of pork products. In addition, Germany will require between March and August 400,000 tons of wheat, with large quantities of other grains, maize and forage. Germany's urgent food requirements is an inducement which will compel her peaceful acceptance to the new terms to be submitted.

Canada has a direct commercial interest in the impending settlement, because there is an understanding that 20 per cent. of the meat products shipped to Germany from the reserves in Great Britain are to be replaced by purchases in Canada. Thus the expected submission by Germany as to the conditions will mean the shipment in the couple of months of the bacon surplus which has accumulated in Canada.

Represents Soldiers.

Sir Arthur Currie, was petitioned by representatives of the soldiers to appoint to the Canadian body in attendance at the peace gathering of some person specially concerned with their interests, in reply the promise was given that an appointment satisfactory to them would be made. The choice of Sir Arthur was the fulfilment of this plea, but up to the present his duties as commander of the Canadian forces in the field have prevented his attendance in Paris.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps an look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brainfags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal cleanliness. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important that outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the bowels in the thirty feet of hollow tube

A Tribute to the Hardest Worked Merchants in Our Country

HAVE you ever considered the important part played by the grocer in our daily life?

From early morn and often until late at night the grocer keeps open for our convenience.

Whether we want a 5-cent bar of soap, a package of tea or a sack of potatoes he is there to serve us—and with a cheerful "thank you".

You trade with him almost every day. You look upon him as a friend. He treats your children kindly when you send them to the store.

When sickness, accident or unemployment occurs, it is the big-hearted grocer who supplies the home with the necessities of life and often waits a long time for his money.

He has had many trials during the past four years. Government regulations have hampered his business. Goods have been difficult to procure. Help scarce. Profits small. He sells on a closer margin of profit than probably any other line of retail trade.

For nearly twenty-five years, the T. H. Estabrooks Company has been distributing millions of pounds of Red Rose Tea through the grocers of Canada. Our relations with them have been very intimate and very friendly. We, therefore, know something of their difficulties and something of the services they are rendefing, which we think deserve recognition and appreciation.

Big Gains Made By The Dominion Life

The thirtieth annual general meeting of the shareholders and policyholders of the Dominion Life Assurance Company was held at its head office in Waterloo, Ontario, on Friday, the 14th of February. The outstanding merit of this soundly established Company was again attested by the splendid gains shown in every department of its business. The business in force increased by 19 per cent., and now stands at $26,543,570.00 The income increased by 25 per cent. to $1,246,529.57. Assets and reserves also registered good advances, 18 per cent. and 11 per cent. respectively. "The Dominion" has long held the reputation of being one of the strongest and best profit-paying Companies in Canada, and its latest figures show every indication of its intention to maintain this reputation.

Mr. P. A. Ferguson, the Company's manager for Central Ontario has during his 15 years' connection with the Dominion Life, been favored with gratifying business expansion.

"JIMMY" SIMPSON HOME.

Predicts Prohibition in New Zealand in April.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 15.—That prohibition will carry in New Zealand when the referendum is placed before the people of that country in April is the conviction of James Simpson, former chairman of the Toronto Board of Control, member of the Royal Commission on Industrial and Technical Education, and a representative of Labor, who returned from New Zealand yesterday on the liner Makura.

Mr. Simpson states that the possibilities of trade development between Canada and New Zealand are particularly bright. Two leading Canadian bankers at present are in New Zealand in the interests of increased trade between the two countries. There are a number of Canadian business men who are great boosters for increased trade with New Zealand, one of the chief being George H. Wilson of Toronto.

TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS

Will Cover Damage Caused by Fire Last Night

Thursday night at 9.15 the fire brigade were called to a blaze in a shop operated by R. J. Soden over Brown's garage on Water street.

Little damage resulted as the chemical engine was used and no water was required. The firemen found it necessary to cut a hole in the floor to get at the fire which was smouldering beneath, but $25 it is thought will make the required repairs.

Ashes placed in a wooden box burned a hole in the floor and caused the blaze. The men in charge of the garage below were alarmed at the appearance of the fire at first and set about moving out their cars and stock but were informed by Chief Grange that this precaution was unnecessary as there was no danger whatever.

Praises Poems By Canadian Author

TORONTO STAR SAYS CRITICS ARE SEVERE WITH WILSON MacDONALD'S WORKS.

Speaking of the new book of poems issued by Mr. Wilson MacDonald, who recently staged his own comic opera, "In Sunny France," in this city, the Toronto Star says editorially:

"Wilson MacDonald, a Canadian poet, has brought out a book of verse, 'The Song of the Prairie Land and Other Poems,' and some of the book reviewers of the Toronto press have been quite critical of it.

"It reminds us of the complaint once made by a theatrical manager about the attitude of the Toronto press towards a play then running in one of the local houses. He said that he had a fine company of good actors, a new play by a good author; it was staged excellently and without regard to expense—yet the would suppose, from reading the reports in the newspapers, that his was the poorest show at any theatre in town, because each newspaper sent a critic of the drama to see it and discuss it up and down, while the performances at the other houses received notices containing nothing but praise. Wilson MacDonald's book of verse seems to have been met in much the same critical attitude.

"Perhaps there was another reason. There is an introduction to the volume written by Albert E. S. Smythe, editors of the World, in which the contents are highly praised throughout. It is possible that the attitude of some of the local critics was more or less influenced by this—they did not want anybody to assume that somebody had written something to which they must necessarily speak well. They would see about that. Why be a critic at all if one's verdict is to be forestalled by an introduction, written, too, by the editor of one of the city papers. Had it been written by an editor over in London or New York that would have been different—but, right here in the village! !

"Wilson MacDonald's poems may not impress everyone as much as they do Mr. Smythe, but we incline more to his estimate of them than to that of any critic who would dismiss them with slighting references."

WILL SCHOOL TEACHERS ORGANIZE LABOR UNIONS?

President Moore of the Dominion Trades Congress Advises Them to do as Pedagogues in the United States.

(Ottawa Journal-Press.)

President Tom Moore, of the Trades and Labor Congress, advises Canadian school teachers to follow the advice of the profession in the United States and become affiliated with organized labor. This may appear to some as a rather radical suggestion, but after all, what is there in it to call for serious objection? In the United States teachers are to be unionized from the lowest grade rural teacher to the highest professor in a university. At the present time the average wage paid to American public school teachers, men and women, city and rural, is $475, which, it is pointed out, is less than is paid to the average competent boy. The proposed teachers' union, which is being extended to every school, rural and city, in the country and which has become affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, is making the following demands:

(1) That there be established a minimum salary of $1,000 for all teachers, rural, city or Federal.

(2) That there be a teacher member on all boards of educaton, because none other has the first-hand knowledge of the needs of the pupils and of the teachers.

(3) That there be a council of teachers in each town or city elected by the body of teachers, the duty of which shall be to meet with the various superintendents and administrative officers and advise with them as to the curricula, methods and policies to be carried out in the schools.

(4) That there be a similar advisory committee in each school

(5) That such democratic procedure be urged upon each teacher in his or her work as will tend to establish the mental habit of feeling and accepting the responsibility laid upon each individual in a true democracy.

(6) That the school become in spirit and actuality a part of the community, co-operating with civic organizations, not only in affording places for public meetings, but also by providing, in the course of study the means of becoming acquainted with the economic environment of human beings.

There is nothing so very unreasonable or revolutionary about this platform. Indeed, the teachers are careful to allay public anxiety by emphatically declaring that there will not be a strike at any time to enforce their demands. "We are opposed to the strike as a weapon for teachers," says their organizer. "Teachers are public servants; they owe a duty to the public. A strike would interfere with the children's educational progress; and that, at all hazards, must be avoided."

Against such an organization, relying upon organization, publicity, the support, of labor organizations, and political action to secure what they consider a fair wage and proper working conditions, there can be put little just opposition. Canadian teachers might easily adopt less wise and effective measures to redress their own just grievances.

That there were ninety-one cases of Spanish influenza throughout the township of Brantford was the announcement made at the office of the township clerk at the court house.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature in connection with the building of a new bridge over the Niagara River between Buffalo and Bridgeburg.

"Now, you all understand that the trunk is the middle part of the body, don't you?"

"Yes, ma'am," chorused the class, with one exception.

"You understand it, too?" asked the teacher of the boy who had not answered.

"No, ma'am, because it isn't so."

"Why, my boy, what do you mean?"

"Well," replied the boy, "you ought to go to the circus and see the elephant!"

JIM CORBETT IS LIKELY TO BE REFEREE OF BIG BOUT

"Gentleman Jim" is First to be Considered by Tex Richard for Position.

The possibility of having Jim Corbett, former heavyweight champion, referee the proposed championship bout between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey is being considered by Promoter Tex Rickard. This question and the site for the bout are the only details remaining to be arranged.

To Promoter Rickard is left the final choice of a referee. The participants will have an opportunity to agree mutually upon an arbiter, but in the event that the boxers are unable to reach an understanding Rickard will do the choosing. The promoter yesterday declared he was considering the advisability of having Jim Jeffries officiate.

In favor of Corbett, it was pointed he had kept in close touch with ring competitions. Bill Brown, the western promoter, was another referee suggested.

Promoter Rickard will leave here Sunday. He expects to go to Chicago and subsequently to Kansas city, where he will discuss final details for the bout with Willard.

No intimation has been given where Rickard intends holding the contest. It is known, however, that the western promoter is awaiting the outcome of legislation on boxing bills now before the lawmaking bodies of New York state and Illinois.

Jack Dempsey's easy-going, just-glad-to-get-the-chance, matter-of-fact way of getting down to signing the articles of agreement to meet Jess Willard for the heavyweight championship of the world made a tremendous hit with Tex Rickard on Monday afternoon.

"As a matter of fact, Rickard did not expect to encounter such smooth sailing from either Dempsey or Kearns. He frankly admitted that right after the papers had been signed in the old ferry house at the Weehawken terminal.

"I'm willing to admit that I had less trouble getting Dempsey and Kearns to sign than I've ever had with any men I've ever done business with," said Rickard on the boat after he had pocketed the previous articles, all signed and delivered.

"They told me that I would have a million all kinds of troubles and delays, but those youngsters are fair and they'll not lose anything by it, now mark me."

Dempsey Ready Any Time.

As if to impress Rickard with his willingness to go through with anything that had been arranged for him, Dempsey approached Tex before the party left the Claridge and said:

"I'll do anything you say, Mr. Rickard. The matter is entirely in your hands. Kearns and I will give you no trouble, you can depend on that. I'm tickled to death to get the chance that you've made for me, and I'd be a fool to overlook it or hold it cheaply."

"That's fine," said Rickard by way of reply.

"And let me tell you, Dempsey," he added, "you'll not lose anything because of the way you and Kearns have acted toward me in the matter. If you win this fight, Jack, I'll cook up something big for you. You're fighting for the short end this time, but if you win it will be the last time. I promise you that. I'll make a lot of money for you. I think I know how. I'll get Carpentier for you as sure as you're standing in your boots, and you get the long end for fighting him. You just whip Willard if you can and leave the rest to me."

The Empire's Effort.

Maj.-Gen. Sir George Aston, in a paper on "The British Empire at War," read before the Royal Colonial Institute, said that up to the present date over 8,000,000 of the men of the Empire were, or had been, under arms. Some time ago they were told that about 8,000,000 tons of merchant shipping had been sunk by our enemies. The value of munitions of war made in the Empire since the same date had probably reached about £2,000,000,000. The amount raised by loans and taxation up to the present date must amount to about £8,000,000. We began the war with about 60 airplanes fit for war service. During last year he was told that our aircraft and their pilots, provided by the combined effort of all parts of the Empire, had brought down nearly 5,000 enemy machines, of which 3,500 had undoubtedly been smashed up. Foreign allied countries had been financed by the United Kingdom to the extent of £3,370,000,000, and 100,000,000 tons of coal had been supplied to them.

CAN A BASEBALL PLAYER MAKE GOOD IN BUSINESS?

Ray Schalk Proves He Can by Scoring a Success in an Industrial Plant in Chicago

(By George S. Robins.)

Can a confirmed baseball player make good as a business man, also a fan.

Let an official of a Chicago smelter company, who says he knows, one of the hardest working players who ever donned a mask, has been toiling at essential labor in his plant. Recently he began to dabble in the salesmanship end of the game.

"Ray Schalk has made good with our firm," said the official. "In fact he has exceeded our most exact expectations. If he's a sample of what a ball player can do, they may send us some more just like him."

This tribute to Schalk's business ability will come as no surprise to those who know this catching phenomenon at close range.

Has Even Covered Second Base

Fans have often seen Schalk sprint back to the screen guarding the front rows of seats in the grand stand at Comiskey park and pick off a high foul that seemed an impossible chance. They have watched this diminutive catcher foot it over to a box seat and pick the pill off a man's dome saving him much chagrin, not to say pain. They have seen Schalk dash down and cover third base and go over and tag out a runner at first. Even Eddie Collins, far removed from Schalk's field of operation, has suffered chagrin over this little fellow's coming down in his territory and covering second base for a putout.

In the business world Schalk has revealed the same intrepid dash and resourcefulness shown on the ball field. He went after business in the same spirited style that characterized his dash after a foul fly with 30,000 spectators breathlessly looking on. It may be said, and we have Mr. Sale's word for it, that Schalk has been as eminently successful in catching customers as in bagging flies.

Makes Good in Business

The same ingenuity displayed in directing a pennant contending team from his vantage point, back of the old home pan, has been revealed by this smart young athlete in his business operation, both in Litchfield, Ill., and Chicago.

Schalk wanted to learn the smelting business from the ground up and, although he's considered the greatest catcher that ever came down the pike, he wasn't too big to don a pair of greasy overalls and toil at an essential occupation to help win the world war. In his work Schalk was just as peppery, breezy and cheerful as when directing plays back of the plate. For several months Ray worked around the blast furnace and learned the smelter end of the game thoroughly. He superintended the pouring out of the molten mass ran a small motor truck and kept his eyes open for tips on everything.

Schalk was a good student in baseball, always ready to learn. He often sat for hours fanning with Manager Rowland, swapping ideas and learning something about the game. Perhaps that spirit has made him successful in business.

Interested in Several Concerns

Besides being in good with his firm in Chicago, Ray is the principal stockholder in the Litchfield Foundry and Machine Company, is a stockholder in the Litchfield Creamery Company and is interested in the Litchfield Bank and Trust Company.

The love story in Schalk's life is one of the pretty romances of baseball. Ray married his childhood sweetheart, one of the belles of his home town. The world's greatest catcher is now a resident of Chicago, has a bouncing baby nearly 2 year old, and has become one of the most daring chauffeurs, who hazards frequent dashes through the crowded loop at rush hours.

Schalk learned the trick of working industriously in baseball. "Tracker" caught more than 100 games in each of the seven seasons in this regard. Applying the same industrious methods in laboring for a Chicago firm, he has been pronounced a success by his enthused employer. He is under contract to catch for the White Sox in 1919.

New York Giants Rely on Veterans

It is necessary to have an infield of young ball players to be in shape to fight for a big league championship?

Vice-President and Manager Johnny McGraw of the New York Giants apparently does not think so judging from the men he is counting on to be the guardians of the inner defense this season. The players he has on the list are Hal Chase, Larry Doyle, Arthur Fletcher and Heinie Zimmerman. This disproves the idea that a player's days of real activity are nearly at an end when he reaches the age of 32. The fact is all four of the players mentioned are over 32 and are veterans in the game.

If McGraw goes to the post with Chase on first, Doyle on second, Fletcher at short and Zimmerman at third he will have the oldest infield in the National league in age and in the point of service. Zimmerman, Fletcher and Doyle were born the same year, 1886, according to the records. That makes each 33 years old. Chase was born in 1883, making him 36. Although he is older than the three other members of the veteran infield, he has not been in the game much longer. He began in 1905. Doyle started the same year, while Zimmerman started in 1906 and Fletcher a year later.

Chase has not yet agreed to terms with McGraw, although it is predicted he will be signed soon. Certain difficulties must be removed before McGraw can get Chase's name to a contract. It is thought an outfielder infielder and cash will be given to the Reds in exchange for the star first baseman.

Three men, George Watts, F. A. Giroux and L. Cooler, were committed for trial by Magistrate Atkinson at Cobalt on a charge of having illegal possession of silver ore.

Luxemburgers Divided Into Six Distinct Parties.

Grand Duchess Unpopular

LUXEMBURG'S future is as difficult to forecast as the state of the weather the middle of next week. Just six parties have formed in the little grand duchy since peace negotiations began, says a Luxemburg letter in the Baltimore Evening Sun. They stand as follows:

For unqualified independence and the abdication of Marie Adelaide, the 23-year-old Grand Duchess.

For independence with the Grand Duchess ruling.

For a Belgian protectorate without the duchess.

For a Belgian protectorate with the duchess.

For a French protectorate without the duchess.

For a French protectorate with the duchess.

The strength of the Grand Duchess lies in the support of the Clerical party, for 250,000 of the 256,000 people in the grand duchy are Roman Catholics.

Her weakness lies in the unconcealed sympathy with Germany.

Concerning the German invasion of 1914, a poster seen throughout the country reads: "The Government when in power did nothing but protest against the violation of our territory, whereas the people wanted to break all relations with the invaders."

Fanning the flame of resentment Marie received the Kaiser at her palace in Luxemburg in the autumn of that same year. In the winter of 1915 she sent a telegram to the Kaiser, it is alleged, "praying God" for the triumph of Germany. In the immediate entourage of the Grand Duchess all are Germans.

In view of all these facts, and the fact that the Clerical party commands but 21 out of 40 votes in the House of Deputies, there is every prospect of revolutionary proceedings in Luxemburg. Whatever its outcome it seems unlikely that Marie Adelaide will retain her power.

Demonstrations have already taken place for her abdication, and threats have been made that, if she does not gracefully retire, she will be removed forcibly.

Luxemburg covers an area of 988 square miles and has a population of 256,000. Its northern part is mountainous, the south extremely fertile. Its iron mines afford its greatest wealth. There are 83 of them, and they employ 8,000 people, while the steel mills and foundries of the country produce goods to the value of $28,000,000 each year.

In peace times Luxemburg has an army of 150 members and a gendarmerie of like strength. French is the language of the educated; German, mixed with French, that of the peasants.

Luxemburg was one of the petty principalities of the Holy Roman Empire of the Germans. In 1443 it fell into the hands of Spain, and in 1713 was transferred to Austria. It was ceded to France in 1797. It was raised to a grand duchy in 1815 by the Council of Vienna, and was under the sovereignty of the King of the Netherlands. When Belgium became an independent kingdom, in 1831, Luxemburg was divided between Belgium and Holland, the latter country holding little more than the city of Luxemburg.

In 1839, by the treaty of London, another part was taken from Belgium and added to form the present grand duchy. In 1867, Luxemburg was made a sovereign state by action of an international conference at London.

German plots to gain control of the country through the marriage of Princess Antonia, third sister of the Grand Duchess, and Rupprecht of Bavaria have, of course, gone for naught.

Skating.

The art of skating was invented by the Dutch, and was popular in Holland centuries before it spread to England and France. The first bladeskates used in England were introduced from Holland about 1660, and are first mentioned in a diary bearing this date, January 20, 1661. Prior to the use of skates by the Dutch, a sort of skate made of the bones of animals was used by the northern peoples, dating back to prehistoric times. Several of these primitive bone-skates have been found in the marshy fields near London, and are preserved in the British Museum. The period when skating, as it is known now, originated in Holland, is not known to historians.

Some women are so much interested in fashion plates that they would like to have their meals served on them.

Secret of the Czech.

If you ask the Czech himself, he will tell you that the secret of his life is perhaps what President Wilson calls enthusiasm. He calls it love—love of country, which lays down life without question or stint; love of beauty, without which he considers life stupid, neither to be lived through with joy nor departed from with dignity. In this esthetic apprehension which we call by the thin and unsatisfactory word "taste" the Czech is like the French—surely he must be likened sooner or later to the French!—bearing the mark of a race old in living, rich in tradition, discerning in its appreciations. He is, too, a lover of love, worshipping women; a lover of life, more joyous than the Russian, less light-minded than the Gaul. A lover not of the form, but of the substance. Life is short; youth is short. It is to laugh, to work, to weep, to think, to love, to be aware of that complex and ever-changing stream of consciousness. When a Czech dies, somehow one feels that one may say of him what may not be said of every man, "He is dead, but he has lived."

If you ask the American he will tell you that the Czech's secret is "Allied Ideals with Teuton training." It is his efficiency that endears him to the American, especially if he is recuperating from the Russian army. —Olive Gilbreath in Harper's Magazine.

Women Suffrage in Switzerland.

When a suffrage petition signed by ten thousand Swiss women was sent up to the Grand Council at Geneva, the President of that body received it with the remark that it was unnecessary to pay attention to the signatures, as the women to whom they belonged did not know what they were doing.

Rabbit Cannery.

In Argentina a rabbit cannery has been established in the hope of ridding some sections of the country of a pest in a profitable way.

For keeping typists' fingers clean and protecting their nails, rubber thimbles have been invented.

AFTER THE WAR PROBLEMS

UNEMPLOYMENT WITH ITS INEVITABLE HUNGER AND WANT ONE CAUSE OF BOLSHEVISM.

(By Estelle Caffe.)

In pre-war days legislators often became grave over the questions which arose from day to day, and each problem loomed up with as much importance as its predecessor,—questions of public health, housing, unemployment, unmerited poverty. Then the war clouds broke, and the wisdom of our law-makers was given the most severe of tests. Thanks to their foresight and ability to cope with the situation, coupled with the spirit of our soldiers, the struggle between World Freedom and German Tyranny is at an end.

The importance of patience, diligence and capability as attributes of legislators has by no means diminished with the coming of peace. As a matter of fact, when we view the universal unrest, we are led to believe that only the most skilful and timely administration on the part of "the powers that be" will make it possible to safeguard the peace and well-being of the world, and to produce an improved and acceptable social order for which the experience of war has paved the way. The same spirit of determination, willingness to serve, perseverance and loyalty which existed during the war, must still stand unshaken to carry us through this very grave period of readjustment and reconstruction.

The problems of war were steeped in difficulty, but those of peace are in no way second. Now that militarism is defeated, we are confronted with a very tyrannical, ambitious and menacing power—Bolshevism. It ravages Europe at present, and seems to be slowly gaining a foothold on our continent. Of it we know very little, but we do know that its progress is helped by the presence of hunger, poverty and distress. If the masses are hungry, unemployed and discouraged, they will only too readily give an ear to Bolshevik propaganda or shoulder a club and join a Bolshevik parade. The great power in stemming the tide of Bolshevism is the employment of men and women—employment which will result in a satisfactory, decent living.

The question of "jobs," then, is one of vital importance at the present time, and it must be tackled and solved immediately and correctly. A few weeks after the signing of the armistice industrial conditons were absolutely reversed; from the previous state of labor scarcity to one of more labor than positions. All large cities are now confronted with a scarcity of labor. Day by day more war workers and soldiers are being dumped on the labor market. And the real demobilisation has not started as yet. A mere fraction of our soldiers have returned, and a large number of those who have come back and war workers who have saved some of their war-time wages, are taking a little holiday before hunting a new job. That there is an increase of labor is only too evident, as is also the fact that timely industrial adjustment is imperative. If the matter is not seen to, one paper remarks that the soldier will come out of the firing line to get into the bread else in who backed him in a factory line, or else he will shove someone

Several remedies have been suggested as a solution for the problem. Of course, the "first way out" lies in a rapid increase in industrial activity. Suggestions have been thrown out that municipalities hasten to continue public improvements abandoned during the war, and that the demobilisation of soldiers take place in the order in which industry demands it. A very practical hint is suggested in the Machinists' Journal, where they say that the ten hours per day might be reduced to eight, seven or six, in order that the maximum number may be employed during this period of reconstruction.

In connection with positons for women, some action seems necessary. During the war, women of society and wealth, and those to whom the war was a blessing because it conventionalised working for a living—all these women occupied war positions or otherwise. Now some of these same women, who themselves admit that they do not need to work, continue to hold positions while those who are in absolute need of employment find difficulty in securing it. It would seem that some registration of women with respect to the real necessity of it, would be a most practical way of providing women with positions. What treatment the whole situations will receive remains to be seen.

The gravity of the situation is plain, and this problem, along with many others, must be successfully solved by our Government if we are to successfully garner in the fruits of our hard-won victory. War surely leaves troubles in its trail, and it is the duty of legislators, backed by the people, to permanently stamp out resultant evils, in order that, as a result of it, the world may be a much better place for all than ever before.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, morning acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatuence, water brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relife follows the first dose. It is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

MRS. M. H. HARRINGTON.

The death occurred this morning of Mrs. Michael Harrington of Downeyville, aged 31 years. Deceased was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital two weeks ago, and died in that institution.

The funeral will take place Monday morning to Downeyville church and cemetery.

Sunday Services At St. John's

Tomorrow will be an important day at St. John's and large congregations are expected. The morning service at 11 a.m. will be of a special character and will be in tune with the "Forward Parochial Movement," through which St. John's, it is expected, will make a strong advance both financially and in the other departments of Church life. All Anglican congregations are uniting in this effort.

An address will be given by Mr. R. W. Allin of Toronto, one of the foremost Laymen of the Church of England in Canada.

In the evening at 7 p.m. the service will have special reference to the National Intercession for the Peace Congress called for by the Government and the general subject of what can be done by the Church to help forward world-wide peace.

Canadian Painting To Be On Exhibition

Peterborough art lovers will have an opportunity to study a considerable collection of paintings by various well-known Canadian artists in an Exhibition to be held in the Lecture Hall of the Public Library Building under the auspices of the local branch of the Women's Art Association of Canada. The pictures will be on view during the afternoons and evenings of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and members of the Association will act as hostesses at the tea hour. Admission 25 cents. GERMAN TROOPS CANNOT CROSS RUSSIAN BORDER

And Must Cease Hostilities Against Poles According to Terms of New Armistice

Paris, Feb. 18.—Marshal Foch has informed the Supreme Council of the acceptance by the Germans of the conditions for a renewal of the armistice.

The renewal of the armistice was signed at 6.30 o'clock Sunday evening in Marshal Foch's private car, according to a despatch received here from Treves.

This averts what promised to be a rather critical situation as it had been reported that the Germans might persist in carrying out their intimations of a refusal to sign.

More important results will take form shortly when Marshal Foch returns to Treves for submission of the details of the disarmament and demobilization of the German forces which are being formulated by the military, naval and economic advisers of Marshal Foch. There are of a nature amounting in fact to a preliminary peace agreement.

Disarmament is understood to include both the naval and military branches and the naval authorities expect the ultimate naval terms will provide for the dismantling of the fortifications of Heligoland and the Kiel Canal, the canal being opened for commercial navigation.

While the blockade is not raised by the present terms yet, it is expected that the disarmament under later and more complete terms will obviate the necessity of a further blockade and permit such economic and food relief as is determined upon.

Two notes were handed to Marshal Foch by Mathias Erzberger when the renewal was taken up at Treves. One note concerned the employment of the German mercantile marine for various purposes while the other was longer and contained several requests including the release of German prisoners and the maintenance of economic intercourse between Germany and occupied German territories.

The New Terms

Under the new terms, as presented by Marshal Foch, Germany must abandon all offensive movements against the Poles and also must prohibit her troops from crossing the Russian frontier at a certain line.

The line of demarkation between Germany and Paland is outlined as follows: East of Grosser Neudorf (south-east of Bromberg) south of Labischin (south of Schodziesen) north of Exin)southwest of Bromberg), south of Sann, north of Czarnikau (east of Kreau) west of Birnbaum and Bentschen (west of Posen) Wallstein, Lissa and north of Wiernsow and thence along the frontier between Silesia and Poland (this line of demarkation gives to Poland a considerable part of the German Government of Posen.)

It was provided by the allied terms that the armistice must be renewed for an indeterminate period with a fixed delay of three days for the denunciation of it. The old terms of the armistice are to be carried out completely by Germany.

VETERANS PROTEST AGAINST IMPORTING MACHINERY WHILE CANADIANS ARE IDLE

Secretary Whatley Draws Up Resolution Which Voices Objections to Buying Hydro Supplies in Sweden to the Detriment of Local Plants

The Peterborough Branch of the Great War Veterans Association in session last night resolved that the attention of the Provincial Government be drawn to an article in the Canadian Engineer of February 6th, 1919, as follows:

The Article in Question

"Next week, E. T. Brandon, electrical engineer of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, accompanied by E. V. Buchanan, local manager of the system at London, Ont., will leave for England to interview British manufacturers, to study their methods to let them know just what class of electrical material is required in Ontario, and to find out to what extent the British manufacturers are prepared to compete in that province.

Mr. Buchanan will represent the municipalities in a business way, while Mr. Brandon will be his technical adviser, handling all engineering matters.

While on the other side of the Atlantic they will also visit certain European countries to investigate the latest practice in hydro-electric work and to review manufacturing conditions in those countries. Among other countries that will be visited will be Sweden and Holland.

It has been rumored that one of the principal objects of the trip is to induce the Swedish General Electric Co., to bid on any additional generators that may be required for the Queenston plant besides the two for which contract was let last Saturday, but this is denied by the officials of the commission, who state that no undue importance is to be attached to the trip to Sweden and that the principal object of the trip is entirely in relation to conference with British manufacturers and in connection with the supply of small machineryand apparatus of every description as well as of the larger equipment."

The Resolution

To Secretary Whatley was left the task of drawing up a resolution of protest to be forwarded to the Provincial Government and in accordance with his instructions Secretary Whatley has drawn up the following explicit statement:

"Inasmuch as the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario has in the past purchased a large amount of German made meters, electric lamps and other electric supplies and have also purchased from the Swedish General Electric Company large generators, one of which, for the Healey Falls, is supposed to lie at the bottom of the Atlantic, that he request the assurance from the Provincial Government that under no conditions whatever will any material be purchased outside of Canada by the Hydro Electric Power Commission or any other government controlled departments or public works, unless the time may arrive that all factories in Canada are fully employed and cannot produce such materials. The employes of these electric works, a large number of whom are returned soldiers and also there are a large number of returned soldiers who should be employes of these works, but on account of the prevailing slackness cannot be placed; claim that inasmuch as they subscribed to the Victory Loan that some of its money should be diverted for the purchase of materials outside of Canada when they can be manufactured here. It is further requested that the Provincial and Dominion Governments will receive a deputation from the Great War Veterans Association to protest it. It is further resolved that this resolution be forwarded to the branches in Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Windsor and Montreal, and that the comrades in these branches take immediate action with their provincial executive.

RUSSIA IN WORSE CASE THAN EVER

BOLSHEVISM MORE TO BE DREADED THAN ANY FORM OF AUTOCRACY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Feb. 18.—Russia is more down-trodden under the Bolsheviki than she ever was under a Czar, the Senate Propoganda Investing Committee was told today by Herman Bernstein, an American writer, who spent some time in Russia. He said this new slavery actually was brought about by the Germans. Bernstein said it was not true as some witnesses had intimated that that Bolshevik were led by Jews. Bolshevism, he declared, had no connection with any religion and confessed no creed.

EBERT WILL LIVE IN ROYAL PALACE

HOME HAS BEEN SELECTED FOR PRESIDENT OF GERMAN REPUBLIC

Berlin, Feb. 18.—The former ministry of the Prussian court in Wilhelmstrasse, according to the Tageblatt, has been selected as the future official residence of the president of Germany. The building stands in a solid row of government edifices, extending through Wilhelmstrasse from the former British embassy to the chancellor's palace. It is outwardly of undistinguished appearance and faces on a square court in front. To the rear is a court with a garden extending through to the Tiergarten.

The future residence of the president adjoins the palace of former Prince August Wilhelm and was for long years the residence of Prince Eulenburg, when he was minister of the court. The building requires extensive alterations and repairs before the president and Mrs. Ebert can occupy it.

Temporarily, the president and his family will be lodged in the Bellevue Palace, in the Tiergarten, when he comes to Berlin this week to make his debut as president in the city which undoubtedly will soon regain its status as the capital of Germany, despite its temporary eclipse by Weimar.

President Ebert, following the German practice for a new head of the state, will, it is reported, soon leave Berlin on a series of state visits to the capitals of the various federated states. It is said that he will also go to Vienna.

MAY SELECT NEW LEADER AT LIBERAL COVENTION

Temporary Man Likely to be Chosen For the Coming Session of the House.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's demise will leave a very noticeable gap in the membership of the House of Commons. His oratorical gift will be missed in the debates of the Assembly. His dignified presence and courtly manner will not soon be forgotten. To his own party in the House the loss of Sir Wilfrid will be a stunning blow, for in its ranks there appears to be no logical successor to the leader who is gone. The question of leadership at the coming session will be discussed at a caucus of Opposition Senators and Commoners which will be called by J. A. Robb, of Huntingdon, the chief party whip. It is unlikely however, that a permanent leader will then be selected. The choice will more probably be left to the national convention of the party, preparations for which are already being made. Sir Wilfrid proposed that such a gathering be held after the Peace Conference had completed its labors in order to promulgate a political platform. For the position of Leader of the Opposition so far only three men have been talked of here. They are Hon. William Martin formerly member of the Commons and now Premier of Saskatchewan; Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, formerly Minister of Labor in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Government, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, ex-Minister of Finance. Mr. Martin is a young and energetic politician and a Westerner.

Prior to the last Federal general election Mr. Martin declared himself in favor of compulsory military service. In other respects, however, he is and has been a follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Furthermore, it is said his expressed views upon the attitude of French-Canadians during the war commended themselves to the majority of the people of Quebec. Hon. Mackenzie King is recognised as possessing ability in his own particular department. His parliamentary experience, however, was brief, and he is untried as a leader. Some significance however, was recently attached to certain commendatory utterances of Sir Wilfrid Laurier regarding his former colleague and to his references to "the democratization of industry." Mr. Fielding is an experienced Parliamentarian and a skilled and resourceful debater. He is, however, no longer a young man. It seems probable that an arrangement will be made whereby the leadership will be entrusted temporarily to one of the present members of the House. During the interregnum the effort will be made to find a permanent chief who can hope to win back the Liberal party members who were estranged by the attitude of his predecessor on the conscription issue.

GIFT TO CANADA TWO SUBMARINES

PREMIER BORDEN HAS ACCEPTED OFFER OF BRITISH ADMIRALTY

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The British admiralty have offered as a gift to the Canadian naval forces two submarines now at Bermuda. Sir Robert Borden, on behalf of the Dominion has accepted the offer.

The admiralty's desire to recognize in this generous manner the work of the Canadian naval forces in the war is expressed in a despatch bearing date of January 28, from Viscount Milner, secretary of state for the colonies, to His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, as follows:

"I have the honor to request your excellency to inform your ministers that the lords commissioners of the admiralty have offered as a gift to the Canadian naval forces two submarines now at Bermuda.

"The lords commissioners trust that this gift will be accepted as some recognition of the great contribution made to the defence of the empire by the Canadian naval forces in the course of the war.

"I am asking Sir Robert Borden whether he wishes to accept the offer on behalf of the Canadian Government."

VETERANS DISCUSS QUESTION OF SECURING OTHER QUARTERS

Chance is Divided Between the Old Baptist Church on Murray Street and the White House Hotel Property—Special Meeting Thursday.

At the regular meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association last night the report of the Building Committee submitted by Comrade R. E. Layfield, precipitates an interesting discussion of the question of new and more suitable quarters for the organization.

A list of prospective properties, which had been examined and considered by the members of the committee, tabled by the chairman last night, was as follows:—Ennis property, Old Murray Street Baptist Church, the White House, the old opera house, the Windsor Hotel, the Peterborough Club appartments, third floor of the Barrie building, Bank of Montreal building, two buildings on Hunter street over stores, the Green property, the Brown property, and an additional story on the Duffus garage building, which was built upon lines which would enable it to accommodate eight flats if necessary.

Chairman Layfield reported upon the details of each proposition. He quoted figures which went to show the amount of money which would have to be expended upon each location before it would be suitable to the requirements of the Veterans. He gave the good points in connection with each and then recounted the drawbacks in order that the meeting might be in a position to form an intelligent opinion in the matter.

He stated that with the ten thousand dollar municipal grant to the organization and other available funds the financial resources of the organization could be safely placed at twelve thousand dollars. Many people had approached him upon the subject of a subscription campaign in the interests of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. and he was sure there would be no trouble experienced in adding substantially to the figure already available.

A discussion followed in which it was quite evident that in the opinion of the meeting the White House or the Old Murray Street Baptist Church property are the two buildings which would best fill their requirements.

The figure asked for the White House is such that with the improvements necessary it would cost in the neighborhood of forty thousand dollars, when everything was considered, to make the building suitable for the purpose designed.

The idea would be to continue the room accommodation for the public and in this way a good revenue might be obtained which would go a long way towards meeting the heavy expense entailed in the carrying out of such a project.

Secretary Whatley did not let the meeting forget the gravity of the financial burden which would be assumed should they decide to take over the White House property. Without in any way showing his own feelings in the matter he stated the arguments pro and con in a most non-committal manner, which impressed the members considerably.

URGE HASTE IN MAKING PEACE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 18.—Some of the Entente powers are planning as soon as the Russian problem now before the Supreme Council of the peace conference is disposed of and a few more hearings are accorded the representatives of the small nations, to take up the larger problems of the treaty of peace. The state of public sentiment in America, England, Australia and Canada has impressed their representatives here of the necessity of taking steps to return the soldiers home, which cannot be accomplished entirely in advance of the conclusion of the peace treaty. The French Government is fully aware of the feeling and expresses its sympathy with the motives that underly it, but there are fears of dangerous complications and failure to realize the necessary fruits of victory if there is undue haste in the conclusion of the treaty of peace.

France is insisting upon compliance with the armistice demands for the return of much property taken by the Germans, principally industrial machinery. This will take a long time, and some of the Entente countries believe it should not be permitted to delay the signing of the treaty.

WILL SINK ALL HUN WARSHIPS

THAT COURSE HAS FINALLY BEEN DECIDED UPON BY ALLIES.

London, Feb. 18.—The terms of the new military treaty to be imposed on Germany in lieu of the monthly armistice, and as a part of the final peace conditions, will, according to the Daily Mail's Paris correspondent, include the immediate surrender of certain warships which have not yet been given up as required, and the conversion of the status of the German fleet in the Scapa Flow from that of internment to surrender. It may be taken, the correspondent adds, that these surrendered ships eventually will be destroyed, the idea of dividing them among the Allies having been abandoned.

The portfolios in the Saskatchewan cabinet have been rearranged.

BRIEF BLAZE IN DOBBIN'S STORE

PROMPT WORK BY FIREMEN PREVENTED SERIOUS DAMAGE TO BUILDING

Last night at 9.47 the fire brigade was called to H. M. Dobbin's grocery store at 279 Bethune street where what would have grown to be a most serious fire had it not been for its timely discovery had broken out as a result of over heated stove-pipes.

In the main part of the store the blaze had made considerable headway but the firemen were successful in confining the fire to this part of the building and after using a 45 gallon tank of the chemical solution, they succeeded in extinguishing the blaze.

Fire Chief Grange states that judging from his cursory inspection last night a curtain, which was hanging in the doorway at the rear of the shop, must have passed too close to the stove-pipes and caught fire.

Boy Drowned While On Way To School

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Kingston, Feb. 18—Borden Friend, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Friend, Wolfe Island, was drowned while crossing the ice on his way to school. He was missed at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the body was recovered at 9 last evening.

Coalition Likely In Austria Now

London, Feb. 18.—The elections on Sunday in German Austria were favorable to the Social Democrats, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Vienna. The elections were held without disorder.

The Social Democrats, the despatch adds, elected all their leaders in Vienna. Most of the other cities gave a large Socialist vote, including Innsbruck and other strongholds of the Clericals. The Tyrol was carried by the Social Democrats, while the other agrarian districts remained Christian Socialist.

The result of the election probably will be the formation of a coalition Government, no party having secured an absolute majority.

REFUSES TO USE HARSH MEASURES

GERMAN MINISTER ANXIOUS TO SETTLE ALL MATTERS BY NEGOTIATION.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Weimar, Feb. 18.—Gustav Noske, the German minister of defence, in addressing the German National Assembly today on the unrest in various districts, declared that he desired to put an end to the discontent by negotiations. The minister added that he would accept no responsibility if he was obliged to resort to force. Herr Reiser, of the German People's Party, said he was in favor of a republican form of government, but would always be grateful to the monarchy which had united the German empire and made it powerful.

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD FEB. 27

GOVERNMENT AND LABOR TO GET TOGETHER IN CONSULTATION

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 18.—The Ministery of Labor announced that the National Industrial Conference planned last week will be convened on Feb. 27 at Westminister and that it is decided that the Conference will be as fully representative of British Labor as possible. According to an unofficial statement, five hundred invitations have been issued and Sir Robert S. Horn, Labor Minister, will preside. The Conference is expected to make its report by the end of March.

At an emergency meeting of the Consultative Committee of Labor's Triple Alliance, it has been agreed that in view of the Government's action in calling a conference, "nothing should be done precipitately to bring the Trades Union movement into disrepute."

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

THE CANADIAN HISTORIAN of the future will reserve a high place in his annals for the name and memory of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who died yesterday. His life work has already been judged by those who lived with him, and it is not necessary to wait for the unbiased verdict of posterity to take the measure of his greatness. Of the dead it is customary to speak only good, and of Sir Wilfrid Laurier there is little else to be said. Mortal man that he was, he made mistakes, as every public man has done, but his sincerity has never been doubted by the fair-minded, even though his judgment may at times have been questioned. Certain it is that his integrity was never suspected, and the late Liberal leader goes down to the grave with his personal reputation unsmirched and his private life clear of anything like a stain. The searchlight that pries into the inner lives of men in public place found in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's career not one shadow of wrongdoing.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had a personal charm that drew his followers close to him. He was a master orator in two languages, skilled in every weapon of debate, one of the few men in the Canadian Parliament whose speeches would bear verbatim reporting.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier was appointed leader of the Liberal party to succeed the late Edward Blake, there were some who feared that he would be influenced by th denomination to which he belonged. No man can truthfully say that this fear was ever justified. Sir Wilfrid Laurier never attempted to commercialize his creed. During the Manitoba seperate school debate in 1906 he opposed the hierarchy of his own province, and he carried Quebec in the election of that year by an unprecedented majority. Sir Wilfrid always was a stalwart champion of provincial autonomy. Probably it was his devotion to this principle which led him into what even his friends regard as the chief mistake in his career.

It must be conceded that Sir Wilfrid Laurier during his premiership and on his various official trips to England, elevated the prestige of Canada in the esteem of the British Court. Honors were showered upon him, and in parade and council he was given first place. He has been accused of a lukewarm regard for the Empire, but surely such a charge cannot justly be made against a Canadian premier one of whose first official acts of note was the establishing of the British preference, which he defended to the end of his days.

On the war record of Sir Wilfrid Laurier the Canadian people have already set its judgment. The late leader, whose death is mourned by all classes, had he been a younger man, would beyond a doubt have made a different record for himself and his people. He had beyond question reasonable grounds for objection to some of the methods applied to his own province by the military authorities in the early days of the war, but, experienced as he was in politics, Sir Wilfrid should have been able to overlook what he rightly or wrongly considered an injustice to his race. Sir Wilfrid Laurier could have held the people of Quebec in rein, but the task was a strenuous one, and the vigor of youth had departed. Ties of kindred prevailed. Sir Wilfrid refused to enter the Union Government. Had he done so he might have become a power for good in the nation as he was in former times, and would have died with his hand helping to guide the ship of state, instead of being the still revered leader of a mere remnant of his once powerful following.

NO REASON TO REJOICE.

THERE IS NOT a candidate for the Legislature, no matter under what flag he marches or what name he bears, who can bring one serious charge against the Hearst Government. The Opposition newspapers find themselves in the same position. The Administration since the death of Sir James Whitney have faithfully carried out the program that great statesman had planned. It is an Administration that has many achievements to its credit, and no government can institute so many changes as the Hearst Government has without running counter to the views and exciting the opposition of certain sections of the community.

One of the objections to the Hearst Government voiced in the election of Saturday came from the anti-prohibitionists. St. Catharines is the centre of the grape-growing district, and this industry is affected by the Ontario Temperance Act. But the Government has been sustained in spite of the united opposition of every element that harbors a grievance.

It ill becomes a local contemporary to comfort itself with the fact that the majority of four years ago has been reduced, seeing that the election of Saturday was a triumph for the principle our contemporary professes to cherish.

THE PUBLIC IS STILL BUYING.

(New York Commercial.)

RETAILERS throughout the country find that the demand for merchandise remains good in spite of pessimistic talk. The momentum of three years of prosperity represented by high wages and good prices for agricultural products is carrying business through the transition period. Retail merchants who meet the requirements of ultimate consumers are making money and can afford to keep their shelves stocked on a declining market so long as they do not speculate in merchandise. The fur trade evidently expects the public to have money and to spend it freely in the next season, otherwise raw furs would not have sold so well at the auctions in New York and St. Louis.

Merchants and manufacturers are aging the people to buy freely in order to keep the wheels turning in the mills. For their own part, they should display more courage and enterprise. When they give employment to workpeople at fair wages they create demand for goods and stimulate consumption. They should not seek excessive profits, but should put prices on a basis that will encourage buying. Some manufacturers of shirts are pricing these garments at figures that seem out of proportion to factory costs, and retailers hesitate to place orders, fearing cuts toward the end of the year. This is one of many instances of attempts to reap war profits in time of peace.

We have seen a vital increase in the consumption of butter and eggs within the past month caused by the fall in prices. Some speculators are losing money, but the prices are still high enough to remunerate the farmers. City dwellers are eating more of these products and the farmers will keep on spending what they receive. This illustrates the advantage of scaling down prices and profits to a reasonable basis so as to give more value to the wages of the workmen. If the cost of living is reduced 20 per cent., as it should be, little will be heard of Labor's demand for still higher wages. It is the real wage, the necessaries of life that can be bought with a day's pay, that counts.

DIFFICULTY IN LEADERSHIP.

(Mail and Empire.)

SIR WILFRID LAURIER made his mistakes. The National Transcontinental Railway we consider one of them. Like most of his plans, it had its Quebec politics phase. His measures and projects were usually so devised as to have a French-Canadian aspect and an English-Canadian aspect. This is doubtless owing, not to duplicity of character, but to his view of the peculiarity of the problem of political leadership in this country. The British preference, for which Sir Wilfrid received well-deserved praise, could be commended to the friends of British connection as an offering of loyalty to the Mother Country, and to French-Canadians and tariff reformers as a step towards free trade. In estimating Sir Wilfrid's work as a Canadian statesman large allowance must always be made for the difficulties of his position and for conviction that for a French-Canadian leader in Dominion politics it is necessary to be strong in Quebec. Sir Wilfrid Laurier will stand out as a brilliant figure on the page of Canadian history. Among those who followed him there is none with gifts of leadership comparable to his. He was a strenuous worker, a courteous opponent, and, though a lovable leader, he could be a stiff disciplinarian. If he had been as sound on the side of national and imperial policy as he was strong in the personal qualities of leadership he would have been one of the greatest party chiefs of his time.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

Tell Us, Henry!

(Brockville Recorder-Times.)

Henry Ford is running a newspaper, and it says that its purpose is to enlighten the people on the big things of the day. All right. Just how can the ordinary business be made to declare as big dividends as the Ford industries are paying.

Partyism.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

The chief enemy of partyism is the party spirit, which is constantly tending to bring partyism into disrepute by according to the party the devotion that belongs to the State, and by treating party success as an end in itself, instead of a means to an end.

Embargoes.

(New York Evening Sun.)

Embargo under any name is a two-edged sword. Formerly Germany made us feel both edges of it while Britain's free trade policy seems to have created in some minds the notion that we had of right the same hold on her markets as her own people, regardless of reciprocity.

A Fine Tribute.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

It is a fine tribute that the Manitoba Free Press pays to the late General Steele. "No one," it says, "ever knew him to use any more force than was obviously necessary, and no one ever knew him to use less." He must have been a remarkable man indeed of whom this could be truly said.

Almost Speechless.

(Regina Post.)

Money talks, but it is pretty hoarse at present from arguing with the butcher and grocer.

Can't Be Done.

(Toronto Star.)

Houses cannot be built at cheap and reasonable prices on dear land with expensive materials. The causes that make houses scarce have to be removed or the scarcity will continue.

Oleomargarine.

(Kingston Standard.)

The question of continuing the manufacture of oleomargarine is to be considered by the Dominion Parliament. For our part, we believe that it should be continued, permanently.

Snobby Spookville.

(Guelph Mercury.)

Councillor Peter Wright tells the people of Great Britain that caste prejudice in Canada is as strong as in India, and Peter was only in Canada about a month, and most of that time in Toronto. It took him a long time to find it out, but he did, as everybody else does that stops too long in Spookville.

The School's First Aim.

(Montreal Herald-Telegraph.)

It must be the aim of the school to instil into the minds of the young the feelings of reverence, loyalty and brotherly love, and to insist upon the practice of honesty, industry and all other virtues, to the end that the manhood of the next generation may be even more worthy than that of today. Compared with this, all other aims of the school are comparatively insignificant.

Expropriate Them All.

(Montreal Herald-Telegraph.)

The expropriation of the lands held by speculators, at cost price, will apparently be confined to the Soldiers' Settlement Board. This is a pity. There ought to be machinery for the expropriation of all farm lands speculatively held, so that they may be thrown over to cultivation by every bonafide farmer immigrant, as well as by all soldiers desirous of settling on the land.

TWO THINGS IN BOLSHEVISM

(Chicago News)

In the minds of certain strikers at Seattle there are two ideas. The first is that shipyards and other industries should be operated by the people who are putting their labor into them without any regard whatsoever for the people who are putting their money into them. The second is that this end should be reached by paralyzing the community through strikes and other methods of coercian until it surrenders itself and its government to the organized wage earners. These two ideas together are commonly called Bolshevism. But, for the safety of the republic, they should be treated differently.

The first idea may possibly be tried out, lawfully and peacefully, in some parts of the world. In Germany we may see certain industries handed over to a partnership between a socialist government and a socialist working class. In Britain, where the wage earners are a majority, they can gain control of the industries of the country at any time by going unitedly to the polls. In both Germany and Britain the political rule of the majority may develop, lawfully and peacefully, into the industrial rule of the proletariat. It cannot be prevented by force. The only way to prevent it is by argument and reason and sense.

And this is true likewise, in the long run, in America. We have just heard the representatives of the all-way unions propose that American railways be operated by a corporation composed exclusively of railway employes. It is a proposal of incipient bolshevism. But it cannot be answered, and it will not be answered by hanging the representatives of the railway unions. It is an idea of the mind. It will have to be answered by the mind.

The second idea is not an idea of the mind at all. It is savagery. It means that certain people, having taken a certain idea to the polls, and having been defeated and having found themselves in a minority, say they will gain their end by force. The answer should be immediate and implacable counterforce. Every person and every group of persons announcing the intention of destroying the will of the majority by the violence of the minority must be broken to dust among us even if, in order to do it, we have to summon the whole manhood of America once more to the field. In the fight against the second idea, argument is cowardice and hesitation is treason.

But the two fights must be fought together. Today, for instance, certain wage earners have a just complaint against the United States government. The government, by its methods in demobilization, in the cancelling of contracts and in many other matters, has produced a large amount of unnecessary and stupid and cruel unemployment. Thereupon certain unemployed wage earners hold meetings in which strong language is used. And what does congress do? For every five minutes devoted to a serious discussion of unemployment and of human suffering it devotes hours to idle rants against "bolshevism" in general and at large. This is no way to convince the country that the government is genuinely interested in the country's human welfare. The country may well say to the government:

Against rebellion use force, but against misery use your heart and brain.

Now Who Wins In Making Peace?

One authority at least says the women won the war. Some of our politicians, defeatists, and pacifists at that, say that America won the war. Let us suppose that two of our self-advertising prize-fighters, who never fight but waste good newspaper space, were put in the ring to fight to a finish. Suppose they were nearly exhausted, one rather less than the other, and that another prize-fighter were allowed to step into the ring and engage the less exhausted one, on the grounds of his foul fighting. This would easily decide the result. But would public opinion award him the championship?

No doubt our intervention swung the balance decisively to the Allies' side, and there are many of us who hold that it could have done so and should have done so long before we intervened and long before nine months after we intervened, when the Administration came out of the clouds of rhetoric and grasped the problem before us. The margin was desperately close; and until the tide turned in July, 1918, the Germans had considerable grounds for betting that our intervention would not save France, to say nothing of Belgium.

There is a certain note of patronage and arrogance about our preasgented messages from the seat of peace negotiations which is disquieting. If these negotiations meant anything at all, it was to settle the inevitable problems of war. But for any results that can be shown, Mr. Wilson, received with great enthusiasm in England, France and Italy, has imported a number of new problems into the situation, not demonstrebly relavant to the war, while he has settled none.

It is instructive but not hopeful to read that there are forty suggested schemes for a League of Nations already before the Peace Conference. The twenty-three nations which fought the Central Powers to a standstill were in themselves a "league to enforce peace" the most effective the world has ever seen. As a league to maintain peace and avoid war, the British Empire, especially with its three thousand miles of undefended frontier on our north, bringing us morally in the same partnership, has been for many years operating; as has the Monroe Doctrine itself, with the guaranty of the British navy.

Are not our statesmen in Paris mistaking politeness, cordiality, good feeling, for acquiescence on definite and vital points? The Allies listen courteously to our sermons. But it by no means follows that they endorse every doctrine of the preacher, or that the preacher should not remember that the pulpit does not confer infallibility.

TODAY'S STORY

"Let us suppose a railway to have been built between the earth and the fixed star Centaurus," said a lecturer. "By consideration of this railway's working we can get some idea of the enormous distance that intervenes between Centaurus and us."

"Suppose that I should decide to take a trip on this new aerial line to the fixed star. I ask the ticket agent what the fare is and he answers:

"The fare is very low, sir. It is only a cent each hundred miles."

"And what at that rate, will the through ticket one way cost?' I ask.

"'It will cost you $2,750,000,000,' he answers.

"I pay for my ticket and board the train. We set off at a tremendous rate.

"'How fast,' I ask the brakeman 'are we going?'

"'Sixty miles an hour, sir, and it's a through train. There are no stoppages.'

"'We'll soon be there, then, won't we?' I resume.

"'We'll make good time, sir,' says the brakeman.

"'And when will we arrive?'

"'In just 48,663,000 years,'"

Getting off Easy

Discussing wedding fees a popular Philadelphia pastor recited the experience of a friend of the cloth who was asked, "How much?" in a rather peremptory and business-like tone by a bridegroom after the ceremony.

The clergyman responded somewhat stiffly, meaning the shaft of his sarcasm to take effect: "The law allows me twenty-five cents."

"Very well, then," said the newly made benedict. "Here's the other quarter, so's to make it a dollar."

LESSONS IN RIGHT LIVING

(By Dr. W. A. Brady.)

It may seem severe to say that neurasthenia is a battle between the individual and his conscience, in which conscience loses only about once out of fifty times. But be that as it may, if I were to put down here the more characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia, I dare say nearly every healthy reader would find the description more or less applicable to his or her "case." The dividing line between normality and neurasthenia is just as vague and indefinite as is the line beween sanity and insanity, from the medical point of view. That the latter line is a wide and wavering one is evident enough in the every-day court proceedings in cases of alleged insanity.

Neurasthenia is no more akin to insanity than a flabbiness of muscles is to paralysis. We are all more or less sane. Sanity is the average of mental competence which is accepted as standard. One must fall far below the standard before he is called insane.

We all have a certain amount of dynamic force or energy to draw on. Some of us squander energy in various useless ways, intentionally or unconsciously, and when we become bankrupt we are neurasthenic.

An athlete who overtrains is apt to suffer with all the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia for several weeks or months as a result of his unwise spending. A student who devotes too much time to books and not enough to pleasure, recreation, physical education, is likley to become neurasthenic. A woman who plays the social game too hard and too fast, expends too much energy in the society gam of mak believe, is on the road to neurasthenia. Competition, you see, breeds neurasthenia. Competition implies selfishness, envy, jealousy, unfair tactics, legitimate tricks of the trade, rivalry, anxiety, worry, fear, bad conscience. These emotional extravagances exhaust the vital energy precisely as much as does the excessive effort of the athlete. Pride keeps the bankruptcy in force, once it has been achieved. Who wants to fall behind the pace set by the swiftest in the strenuous race? Certainly not the neurasthenic, for he or she hasn't the moral courage to confess, the nerve to say, "I can't do it—I'll slip back into second speed—my machine hasn't the power to get over."

Neurasthenia is the natural fatigue resulting from trying to be what you are not.

Sunlight Versus Tuberculosis.

"Several friends have advised me to try the sunlight treatment for tuberculosis of the throat. I am told that there are a large number of persons here (Colorado Springs, Col.) who have been greatly benefited by the treatment. Would the sunlight treatment be harmless, and is it really beneficial to tuberculosis?

"S. A. W."

It is not wholly harmless, but under medical supervision it is harmless, and often of great value in the treatment of tuberculosis of any part of the body.

Ouch, Have a Heart.

"1. What are the early symptoms of cancer of the stomach, and how long does it take stomach cancer to develop. 2. What would you do if you had cancer of the stomach?

"W. K. N."

There are no characteristic symptoms. Any person over 35 or 40 years of age who begins to have obstinate stomach trouble which fails to respond to diet and medication, may well think of the possibility of cancer, since the disease is so very common and occurs in every family now and then. Vomiting of blood-stained material and loss of weight are also suggestive. As to what I should do if I had cancer of the stomach, why raise such unpleasant points in a discussion like this? Having taken a whirl at the ether and the knife recently, I think that I should not hesitate a single day about getting a surgeon get in there and try his luck. It is a Hobson's choice.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Facts About Hun Empire

THE late German empire, composed of twenty-five states and one territory, comprising an area of 208,825 square miles in the heart of Europe and having 65,000,000 people, was the greatest industrial state on the vast double continent of the Old World.

It had won and held by the arts of peace an enviable place in the world before the war fever seized it. It had such a "place in the sun" as few of the empires of any age have attained. But unfortunately for it Germany's "place in the sun" was exchanged for a place in the shadow because of the vain pursuit of a mirage.

Prussia was the largest, the directing state of the German empire, and it imposed by virtue of its material power its spirit and instincts upon the other states. It possessed more than half of the area of Germany, 134,664 square miles, and more than half of the population, 38,000,000.

Grown from the Mark of Brandenburg it had joined to its fortunes many provinces in Germany, among these the industrial heart of the empire, Westphalia. Here the great German steel and iron industry made its home, and from here German steel products were sent to flood the principal markets of the world.

Sterile in soil, filled with great dreary sand wastes and stretches of unfruitful swamp, most of the original land of Prussia was of the sort that mothers dour, hardy, pessimistic men. The Prussian race was a fighting, fatalistic race, which turned from its own cheerless country to bring the sunnier and richer lands of its neighbors under its sway.

Bavaria, the second state in the empire, with an area of 29,293 square miles and a population of 6,500,000, held certain privileges after Prussia in the empire. Thus it managed its own railroad system and nominally its own army.

Good humored, boisterous, somewhat backward in educational matters, the famed land of beat beer and of Rhine wine production, Bavaria, and Munich, its capital, were popular with pleasure excursionists from all parts of the world.

Saxony, the third state by rank, was an industrial country par excellence. It was one of the most thickly populated states in the world, and was as much sown with mills as Prussia proper is sown with sand wastes. It had a wonderful textile industry, whose products were distributed throughout the length and breadth of the world. It had iron, steel, machinery industries.

It manufactured world famous pottery. It produced a thousand and one articles of export, and its largest city, Leipsic, was the book centre of Germany, a leading fur market, a great products' fair centre and one of the busiest commercial towns on the continent.

The free cities, Luebeck, Hamburg and Bremen, were separate elements in the empire's composition. They were survivals as states of the old Hansa Bund, and Hamburg and Bremen, the twin cities of Germany's merchant marine renown, were enormously wealthy.

There were four kingdoms in the German Federation, and Wurttemburg, the fourth, with 5,818 square miles and 2,000,000 population, whose influence in German affairs ranks as here mentioned, was one of the smaller state forces in the empire to react upon its larger policies. The smaller states, six grand duchies, five duchies and seven principalities, were important only as names perpetuate the memories of small old-time despotics.

Germany is subdivided naturally into many elements. The southern two-thirds are within a highland and mountainous European belt. Here are the German mines and much of Germany's manufacturing industry. The northern third is a flat, dreary country, in parts highly and scientifically cultivated and largely used as pasture land. The German sugar beet fields reach up into this country, one of the empire's great sources of income. Germany supplied more than 30 per cent. of the world's entire output of beet sugar before the war. This industry was divided between Prussia, Brunswick and Auhalt.

Westphalia and Lorraine formed the Pennsylvania of Germany, the marvelous steel industrial centre of the empire. And the greatest part of the ore was obtained from Lorraine.

Germany was the third largest coal and the second largest iron producer in the world, the United States standing first in both cases. Iron production statistics of 1911 showed the United States with 23,600,000 tons of iron, Germany with 15,200,000 tons and Great Britain with 9,500,000 tons.

The outbreak of the war found this state one of growing prosperity in industrial fields, one of steadily increasing prosperity and development in agricultural fields, and, with every reason to avoid hazarding its good fortune upon a gigantic gamble.

As the Germans sit in the ruined midst of what might have been one of the most splendid structures of civilization they must fling many a black and helpless curse after the Kaiser's fled party.

GERMANY AN INSOLVENT DEBTOR; MUST PAY ALLIES ALL SHE CAN

(New York Commercial)

Germany probably cannot pay all that she should in the form of damages and indemnities, but she should be forced to pay all that she can. The peace conference should determine what she owes and then consider how much can be collected. In a case of involuntary bankruptcy all claims are filed and proved in full and then the creditors receive all that the estate of the debtor can yield. Preferred creditors come first and then the residue is divided among the unsecured and deferred class.

Germany stands as an insolvent debtor before an international bankruptcy court. The preferred claims against her consist of damages to life and property inflicted by her on land and on sea in violation of the rules of war and international law. Certain creditors have in their possession German territory, and property, money and other assets formerly owned by German citizens and corporations, including some removable assets of the former Imperial German Government. The British Empire now holds both government and private property of the enemy of great value and vast extent. The United States has in its possession ships, factories, land and personal property formerly belonging to German citizens and corporations of sufficient value to liquidate its preferred claims for damages without including war indemnities. France, Belgium and other ravaged countries hold little German property as compared with the damages to which they are entitled for France does not regard Alsace-Lorraine as spoils of the war.

Before a satisfactory treaty of peace can be signed these claims must be adjusted and the approximate amount that Germany can be made to pay must be estimated. The next step should be to determine the security for payment that Germany and her allies are to furnish. Turkey, Bulgaria and Austria-Hungary will be dismembered to an extent that will impair their ability to pay cash, but Germany will lose no territory in Europe that was hers by right, for she never had a good title to Poland and Alsace-Lorraine. It is therefore with Germany that the peace conference must deal when payments in cash or raw materials, such as potash salts, are to be collected.

After the peace of Frankfort terminated the Franco-Prussian German armies retained possession of a large part of northeastern France as security for the payment of the war indemnity of five billions francs, and did not retire from French soil until it was paid in gold. This sets a precedent which the Entente Allies are justly entitled to follow. The American plenipotentiaries cannot object to this. If they do they will find America in the position of a secured creditor in bankruptcy proceedings who pays himself part of the securities and merchandise in his physical possession and then asks the unsecured creditors to forego their liens on the residue of the insolvent's estate. It is easy to be charitable at the other fellow's expense. In this case Germany is entitled to no consideration, but active propaganda to let her off easy is already on foot in America.

This peace conference should first settle the terms of peace with Germany and her former allies. It is discussing too many side issues instead of sticking to the main point, and its difficulties multiply as the days go by. Instead of a consummated treaty of peace, President Wilson will bring back a report on a barely conceived plan for a League of Nations which may never come to fruition. It is like asking for bread and getting a stone.

Insects and Their Young

IN some wasps' nests the cells will sometimes contain five caterpillars and sometimes ten. Why the disproportion? Because the female is twice as large as the male and nests containing eggs which will hatch females contain twice as much food. But the egg is laid when the larder is stocked. The mother knows beforehand the sex of the egg she is about to lay.

This occurs more strikingly among the osmiae, solitary bees. The female here also is twice as large as the male. The mother places her egg in almost any cavity of suitable size to accommodate the offspring in its larval stages. In captivity, if she is given nooks large enough, half of her eggs will be male, and half female. But if the receptacle is only large enough to accommodate the small male larva, she will lay eggs from which males will issue. Her anatomy is such that only one egg at a time is fully formed, and only that one can be deposited. In a roomy receptable the egg may be either male or female, but if the mother be given a space restricted to the size of the male larva, the egg which she immediately lays will develop a male. To the last moment the egg has not yet a fixed sex. To meet the condition of building, which is often the work of another, or else a natural retreat that admits of little or no alteration, she lays either a male or a female egg as she pleases! The distribution of sexes depends upon herself.

While with the bees, let us have a scene of insect love-making. The newly-hatched osmiae come out into the light. The males emerge first, and they skirmish around awaiting the females, one of which presently appears. "She is covered with dust and has disordered toilet that is inseparable from the hard work of deliverance. A lover has seen her, so has a second, likewise a third. All crowd around her. The lady responds to their advances by clashing her mandibles, which open and shut several times in succession. The suitors forthwith fall back! and they also, no doubt to keep up their dignity, execute savage mandibular grimaces. Then the beauty retires into the arbor and her wooers resume their place on the threshold. A fresh appearance of the female, who repeats the play with her jaws; a fresh retreat of the males, who do the best they can to flourish their own pincers.

"The suitors have a strange way of declaring their passion. With that fearsome gnashing of their mandibles, the lovers look as though they meant to devour each other. It suggests the thumps affected by cut-yokels in their moments of gallantry.

The fly deposits her newly-born grubs on some bit of animal matter, whence come the infamous maggots, the larvae of the fly. In this unpleasant business may be found a strange development through maternal instinct. The flesh fly will drop her eggs from a height on to meat; the uselessness of wire screens to cover meats is apparent. In an experiment a flesh fly dropped her grubs into a meat-containing test tube, opening covered with screen, for a twenty-five inch fall. How great a drop will she make? A tube of forty-six inches is set up in company with shorter tubes, in such a way that their relative depths are not apparent. It is dark, and one tube is like another, all emitting the odor of meat. The fly persistently drops her offspring into every tube except the deep one. She seems to make no exploration as to the depths of tubes except to hover over them.

Can she be apprised of the depth of the chasm by the comparative faintness of the odors that arise from it? Can the sense of smell measure the distance and judge whether it be acceptable or not? Perhaps.

The mother passion is the source par excellence of striking insect life pictures. The Black Bellied Tarantula has wrapped her eggs in a silken cloth. She attaches the precious burden to her body, and goes about her business dragging it at her heels.

The tarantula's usual habit is to sun herself, the front half of her body outside the lair; but in fulfilling her maternal duties she reverses this posture. With her hind legs she holds the bag of eggs to the sun, turning it over and over to warm it evenly. This is repeated daily with exquisite patience for three or four weeks.

The tarantula then carries her swarm of youngsters on her back; they form a veritable mantle. Nowhere can we hope to see a more edifying domestic picture than the Lycasa clothed with her young.

But according to all seeming the young spiders while at this stage eat nothing. No feeding on their part can be observed. How can this be? It is true that during this stage they do not grow, and so need no building materials. But they skip about quite actively, and must have food to burn for energy. It must be that these little creatures are able to derive heat energy directly from sunlight, instead of through the usual combustion of food. The mother tarantula spends long hours basking in the sunlight with her young. Well, this bath of life which awakened the germs, is prolonged to keep the tender babes alive. The spider's infants are dining on sunlight!

East Africa.

"When elephants fight it is the grass that suffers," runs a proverb among the natives of East Africa, or that portion of it which will now cease to be known as German, and quoted in a recent official publication of the British Government. There is what the French call an "odeur du terroir" in the saying, and the "terroir" is that of Africa, the mysterious and immense, the land of the jungle, the "dark continent." The elephants have fought, and the outcome is an Africa freed from German power, and its "grass" will find that the bitterness of the trampling was not for nothing. As a young Herero puts it: "We often prayed and wished for the flag that was at Walfish Bay to come here and fly over us, as we knew the British officials and the British soldiers were humane and just. God has heard our prayers, and we are contented and happy. Before, the future was dark; but now our people have hope again."

Candy not a Luxury

IT would be folly indeed if a belief detrimental to the public welfare—and proven false—was allowed to last any longer. That false belief is that candy is a luxury.

Candy is food in one of its most useful and attractive forms.

All elements used in the composition of Candy are recognized useful foods.

Candy contains large quantities of sugar, some fats such as butter; also nuts, fruits, corn syrup, chocolate and flavoring.

Combine these ingredients in proper proportions and you have a balanced ration—the high food value of which is recognized by all leading food and medical authorities.

Sugar supplies the bodily demand for fuel. Fruits and nuts produce essential nutriment; chocolate is a most nourishing fat food and delightful stimulant. The flavorings stimulate the digestive organs and increase the flow of saliva and gastric fluid.

Eat more candy!

Medical science has established its value as an energy-producing food.

Serve Candy as a Dessert. It is a Splendid Food.

FIELDING MAY BE THE NEW LEADER

MACKENZIE KING AND PREMIER MARTIN ALSO MENTIONED TO SUCCEED LAURIER

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The question of a successor to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as leader of the Liberal party has been tentatively discussed. It had been fairly generally realized that before another election came there should be a new leader, but on no on ehas the mantle been actually placed. In the event of his recovery it is quite improbable that he will this session again lead the Opposition, and some one else will have to perform the duties. Who that will be is problematical, and depends on the will of caucus after the session meets.

Fielding First Choice.

The name of Hon. W. S. Fielding, former Finance Minister in Sir Wilfrid's Cabinet, has been mentioned, as has also that of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and of Hon. William Martin, Premier of Saskatchewan. For either of the two latter a seat would have to be found. For Mr. King one of the Ontario vacant seats might be thrown open. For Mr. Martin the constituency of Assiniboia might be found. In view of the fact that he already holds a seat in the House and that he is well liked in all branches of Liberalism, it is thought here that Mr. Fielding may be the first choice.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, while giving certain support to union last session, was not really elected on the union ticket, and several times voted against the Government last session. He is over seventy years of age.

Hon. MacKenzie King is a young man with his future ahead of him. He was a straight Laurier candidate at the last election, but was defeated. There has been talk of running him in Glengarry or North Toronto in the event of bye-elections being decided upon.

It is stated that Premier Martin is even now on his way to the East, and there are indications that the question of new leadership was to be one of the first topics of Opposition caucus discussion at the coming session.

West Not Excited

Regina, Feb. 18.—Premier Martin of Saskatchewan is going East some time towards end of the week to confer with the Government on the question of natural resources and railway extensions along with other Western Premiers. The reports in Eastern papers regarding probability of him succeeding the Liberal leadership have reached the West but have aroused no particular excitement and are not regarded as probable.

There is a decline of 72 cents for a Sunday dinner in Toronto against prices for the same foods a month ago. The above table shows that meat has probably taken the greatest tumble of all, though eggs, which were selling at $1 a dozen then, are now down to 60 and 65 cents. Potatoes have also taken a considerable slump, for a bag containing a bushel and a half then cost $1.85 while the same quantity is being sold now for $1.40. White flour is the same price, though housewives say that is of a much better quality

MAJOR HAMILTON TO VISIT CITY

WILL TODAY TO LOOK INTO WORK OF UNEMPLOYMENT BUREAU

President Moodson of the G.W.V.A. at the meeting of the society last night announced that Major Hamilton would be in the city today to discuss with representatives of the different interested organizations of Peterboro the scope and object of the Employment Bureau which is to be established here in the course of the next few days.

Mr. Hugh Robertson, a member of the association, is to be in charge of the work of the bureau and he will have associated with him a representative from the G.W.V.A.

but before, and that now one can make the old time pre-war pies. Oranges have been just cut in half in price those that used to be 80 cents and a dollar a dozen now being reduced to 50 cents and 75 cents a dozen. Bread, of course, is cut in half on account of the bread war. Butter has not yet taken a drop, as it is still selling for 65 cents a pound, much to the discouragement of the housewives. That food prices are once more regulating themselves and that some commodities will take a further decrease is the hope of the economical housewife.

All the Veterans Need is a Chance

"There is a saying abroad regarding the returned men that needs to be readjusted and turned about," says E. Stalford, an ex-soldier interviewer connected with the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

"Many have the idea that those who return after a certain period in the army have lost their initiative and will need a great deal of pushing and encouraging to enable them to face up to their responsibilities and to take a man-size job again. Now in the majority of cases such an impression is entirely misleading."

"I feel safe in saying that a large percentage of the men who return will have rather gained in initiative. They are coming back with a higher vision of life. Their close contact with fellows of every shade and opinion has broken down all the petty ideas of pre-war days and they will no longer be satisfied with anything but the best."

"Give them the opportunity to take the best and to make the best of themselves and they will grasp it.

"Those who have lost initiative will be comparatively few. Some are different on account of disability and weakness left through illness, but outside of such the very few cases of real lack of grip may be traced back to the fact that the man was never very keen or bright before going overseas.

"The men who were worth while before the war have only gained through their discipline and contact with others. They have been up against the biggest things in life. They know what the best and worst is in life. Never fear, they will want to climb and gain the highest.

"Let us see that everyone gets the opportunity."

FOOD STOCKS SHOW DECLINE

LESS BUTTER, FEWER EGGS IN SIGHT THAN MONTH AGO

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The cost of living commissioner is reporting to the Minister of Labor concerning the stocks of food in storage on February 1st describes the situation as regards dairy products and eggs as quite satisfactory. The situation regarding meats is not so satisfactory. Beef and lamb quantities are decreasing, but pork products are increasing with unchanging retail prices, while the price of live hogs is declining. The report says.

"The eggs put into storage last summer are nearly all gone, only 414,637 dozen remaining on the first of the month. In addition we had 276,439 dozen eggs on hand other than cold storage and 1,351,204 pounds of bulk frozen eggs. Since our monthly domestic consumption of eggs is about three and a half million dozens it is evident that the market is not over stocked. Fortunately, new supplies are now coming on the market.

"We have 6,400,000 pounds creamery butter which is 29 per cent less than last month, and 698,703 pounds dairy butter which is only about half of the stock of last month.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Legal Experts On League Of Nations

London, Feb. 18.—Two leading British legal authorities, Lord Buckmaster and Baron Parmoor, who have taken a prominent part in advancing the cause of a League of Nations, expressed satisfaction with the convenant of the League of Nations as laid before the Peace Conference. Lord Buckmaster is a former Lord Chancellor, ann Lord Parmoor is the judicial member of the Privy Council.

Lord Buckmaster says that the scheme is sufficient and that he believes it will endure. He added:

"Had all diplomatic documents that preceded this war been published in Germany, and had there been six months' time for reflection, I doubt if even the German Government could have forced its people to fight. Lies may live through a night and a day as well, but truth and justice must in the end prevail. I believe in a League of Nations and regard its establishment as one of the great accomplishments in the history of the world."

Lord Parmoor said that the chief points of the draft, apart from the organization of the League, are the proposals for disarmament and publicity.

Niagara Falls is suggested as a permanet seat for the League of Nations.

HOW SIR WILFRID GAINED OFFICE

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION WRECKED THE TUPPER GOVT. IN 1896

The Liberal party came into power in 1896 upon an issue which has been confused in the minds of the electors to some extent ever since. In 1890 Manitoba abolished Separate schools in that Province by an Act of Legislature. Agitation arose in certain circles seeking Federal veto of the Provincial Act as unconstitutional and depriving Catholics of a right they had enjoyed of having the Catholic religion taught in the publicly supported schools. Sir John Thompson, who had followed Sir John MacDonald as Premier, suddenly died in England, Sir John was a Roman Catholic, but he was not favorably disposed to interference with the Provincial rights in the matter of the regulation of education which is unquestionably a Provincial matter. It fell to an Orangeman to succeed to the problem, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, and, acting as he thought advisedly, he introduced the Remedial bill by which Separate schools were to be restored in Manitoba. Seven Ministers of the Cabinet resigned the "nest of traitors" amidst which the Premier said he had been living for weeks.

Meanwhile manitoba confirmed the action of the Provincial Government. Administration came back to power in an election from which the with thirty-six seats out of forty. The Federal Parliament met in January 1896, and the Remedial bill to coerce Manitoba in the matter of its national schools became the one crowning matter of controversy in the House. In this great debate Sir Wilfrid Laurier, as leader of the Opposition and a staunch upholder of Provincial right under the Canadian Constitution, took a leading part. On March 3 at the second reading of the bill, Laurier said:

"So long as I have a seat in this House, so long as I occupy the position I do now, whenever it shall become my duty to take a stand upon any question whatever, that stand I will take, not from the point of view of Protestantism but from a point of view which can appeal to the conscience of all men, irrespective of their particular faith, upon ground which can be occupied by all men who love justice, freedom, and toleration."

The debate ended in vigorous obstruction and the last sitting in committee lasted from 3 p.m. Monday until 2 a.m. Thursday.

Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner in London, and an influential member of the Macdonald Administration, had been brought back from England to lead the Conservative side of the House upon the defection of support from Hon. Mackenzie Bowell. He and his Government went to the country, and after one of the hottest campaigns in the history of Canada, in which the issue became one of Separate or Provincial autonomy, the Liberals were returned with a big majority. The campaign of 1896 made the names of Dalton McCarthy, N. Clarke Wallace and Joe Martin household words throughout the Dominion.

WAS THE C. & W. WHISKEY SMUGGLED INTO HOMER?

St. Catharines, Feb. 18.—The labor party here are bound to clear up the whole of the mystery surrounding the liquor seizure at Homer. Did the stuff come from Montreal or Toronto or was it brought into the St. Catharine's district direct from the United States? There is a story that it was smuggled over at some unprotected point on the line. If this is so the customs authorities should be able to clear it up.

COST OF LIVING COMMISSIONER URGES ACTION TO REGULATE PRICES

Dr. J. McFall, cost of living commissioner, in his report on stocks of produce in cold storage on Feb. 1st, recommends that the order limiting profits be immediately restored by order-in-council and rigidly enforced, and that additional measures scould be passed "for the protection of all Canadians for the period of reconstruction." He believes that a very special effort should be made at this time to diminish the price of essential food products.

The report describes the butter situation as satisfactory, there being 8,400,000 of creamery butter in cold storage, which is twenty-nine per cent less than last month, and 698,703 pounds of dairy butter which is only about one half the stock of last month.

Oleomargerine stocks in cold storage have fallen off 21 per cent., and cheese stocks by twenty-four per cent. Pork stocks are greater than last month and over thirty-eight per cent greater than last year. Beef stocks have declined somewhat but are still 44 per cent more than a year ago.

Mutton and lamb stocks have declined by about ten per cent, from last month, but are still double what they were a year ago. Fish stocks are nearly fifty per cent, greater than last year. Poultry in cold storage also exceeds the quantities of last year by one hundred per cent.

"The truth is," says the report "that these stocks are being held largely in the hope of the revival of the export market."

Bringing Home Foreign Orders

The Dominion Government has offered a $50,000,000 credit to Great Britain for lumber; another $25,000,000 has been arranged for France to finance manufactured and agricultural exports; while another is being arranged to finance other exports to Roumania. This money must be advanced by the people of Canada. In other words it must come from their savings.

Herein is to be seen one of the purposes of the War Savings Plan, namely to provide the funds to finance orders from abroad. Many countries need Canada's products, and, while solvent, can only, for the present buy on time. By lending to the Government through the War Savings Plan, Canadians make these foreign credits possible, bring home large orders and ensure employment at good wages.

The wind has a great deal to do with making the weather-vane.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

VETERANS DISCUSS

Comrade Layfield did not express any opinion which would show favoritism for any of the propositions outlined by his committee, but he did remind the members that the White House opportunity although most enticing, was a big deal, and if entered into would have to receive the whole-hearted support of the members of the society in Peterborough.

They would have to get behind the project and boost it to the best of their ability in order to make it a success and they would have to continue in the good work after the deal had been swung if the operation of such an extensive building was to prove successful.

One member expressed the view that the taxes on such an establishment would be extremely heavy and thought that it should enjoy an equal exemption with the Y.M.C.A. and other such buildings.

Mr. Layfield replied that in making the grant the city council had stated that the building of the Veterans would be exempt from such taxation as was imposed by the municipality except the frontage tax, which the Y.M.C.A. had to meet.

President Morrison harked back to the hard cold aspect of the affair when he re-introduced figures into the controversey. While admitting the advantages offered by the hotel building, he thought there was nothing to be gained in losing sight of the gravity of the financial aspect of the deal.

Ex-President Harvey Staunton was of the opinion that a big money raising campaign should be instituted at once which would he was sure result most satisfactorily as the sentiment of the people of the city was behind any movement of such a nature. He favored the White House proposition and backed it up strongly.

Comrade Coleman of the executive of the G.W.V.A. had not expressed an opinion in connection with the question up to this time, but at this point in the proceedings he enquired as to the size of a staff which would be required to carry on such a large establishment as was proposed.

Comrade Layfield thought it might take four or five to handle the work properly.

Dr. Wood counseled caution. He felt that they should not go into a deal of this nature without possessing information of the most detailed variety. They should consider the expense carefully and then compute the possible revenue and come to an understanding which would plainly show whether or not the scheme was as feasible as it appeared. The committee, he thought, should gather more information and submit it to the next meeting of the Association.

The Old Baptist Church property also had its warm advocates. Comrade Mann, who favored this proposition, thought that the White House would be much too large and the undertaking beyond the pale of possibility. He argued that as an assembly hall would have to be built at the rear of the hotel it would be equally easy to construct one on the church property. It was agreed that the appearance of the edifice would have to be altered materialy and the windows with their arched tops should be squared. Rooms could be built, here, and a revenue from this source made possible such as would be the case should the other proposition be adopted.

Comrade Dunsford asserted that in his opinion it would be quite easy to obtain substantial revenue from the rooms and gave as an instance to bear out his contention the success of the big establishment operated by the Salvation Army in Kingston.

Comrade Stanley disagreed with him and stated that there was no similarity whatever between the two cases.

A motion instructing the Building Committee to prepare more detailed information in connection with the matter and submit it at the next meeting of the Association was introduced by Comrades Staunton and Merley and passed thus disposing of this very important question for the time being.

A motion of Comrades Layfield and Dr. Wood was carried calling a special meeting for the resumption of the building question for Thursday night and stipulating that a notice to this affect appear in the press every evening until that of the day of the meeting.

Secretary Whatley read the report of the Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with relief work.

Dr. Wood paid the members of the Auxiliary a glowing tribute for the efficient manner in which they were aiding the unfortunate ones in the community with whom his practice at times brought him in contact.

He cited several instances of the services of the ladies and concluded by submitting a motion instructing the secretary to write a letter to the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary thanking them for their unselfish endeavors in connection with relief activities. A seconder for the resolution was forthcoming at once in ex-President Staunton, and it was carried unanimously.

Comrade LeBarr was appointed representative of the G.W.V.A. to attend the meetings of the Children's Aid Society, Comrade Hughes, who had been selected for this duty having tendered his resignation on account of his inability to attend an event held in the afternoon.

Comrade Layfield submitted a motion expressive of the Association's appreciation of the efficient work of the Entertainment Committee in connection with the recent function in Victoria Hall. President Morrison added a tribute to the excellence of the arrangements made and carried out upon that occasion and the resolution was carried.

Secretary Whatley stated that it would be advisable in view of the difficulty experienced by many returned soldiers in obtaining employment to have a committee composed of the Mayor of the city, a representative from the Board of Trade one from the Trades and Labor Council and a fourth from the G.W.V.A. to look after matters of this nature. He submitted a motion giving effect to the sentiments expressed and Comrade Mann seconded it. The meeting favored the idea and the resolution was adopted.

President Morrison had by virtue of the motion the power to select the representative from the G.W.V.A. and he chose Secretary Whatley for the position, a move which was not hailed with any outburst of joy by that official who already has plenty of work upon his hands, a fact of which the president was cognizant, but while acknowledging it, he maintained that Mr. Whatley was best qualified to serve in such a capacity as he was in touch with matters relating to unemployment among the returned soldiers.

The membership of the local branch of the Great War Veterans is growing rapidly. Last night there were over twenty applications for admission into the society and five new members were initiated.

OBJECT TO HYDRO BUYING ANY SUPPLIES IN SWEDEN

Members of G. W. V. A. Say That Enemy Countries or Those Who Were Unfriendly During the War Should Receive no Trade Favors Now.

A matter of vital interest was brought to the attention of the members of the Great War Veterans' Association last night by one of their members in connection with the disposition shown by Canadians to patronize enemy or other foreign manufacturers.

He drew attention to an article that appeared in the local papers a few days ago, and which was taken from a Canadian Engineering publication. It stated that the Hydro were sending agents to Sweden to purchase several large and expensive electrical machines and in giving the business to a country which had been inimicable to the Allies during the war was discriminating against home industries such as the C. G. E. in our own city.

These machines could be built here, just as well as in Sweden. The workmanship would be just as satisfactory and the only reason advanced in defence of foreign purchase was that they could obtain them in Sweden for less money.

This was because labor there was being paid just about a quarter the wage of the Canadian machinist and if the latter were going to allow the Hydro Commission to set such an example of unpatriotic selfishness and disregard of Canadian interests they could not expect the private individual to be more thoughtful. Canadians could not compete against the cheap labor of such European countries and as everyone here reaped the benefit of the money spent at home the action of the Commission should receive attention from a loyal organization such as the G. W. V. A.

Several employees of the C. G. E. expressed opinions similar to those quoted above and the meeting decided that action should be taken at once in the matter. Secretary Whatley strongly recommended such a course and thought that the Central Organization should be notified and they could arrange for deputations to wait upon the Provincial Government from branches in other cities of the Province to protest against the pernicious intentions of the Hydro Commission as reported in the Engineering Journal.

Comrade Harvey Staunton, who is a member of the Provincial Organization of the G.W.V.A., informed the meeting that their secretary would have to take the matter up with the branches in the other cities and arrange for the deputations and have them send in their protests to the central organization which if it favored the move would lend its prestige to furthering the objective sought.

The following is a summary of reports made by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The comparatively mild winter has been favorable to stock raising and already a considerable saving of feed has been effected. Elgin reports that sheep have been on pasture much of the season.

While good progress generally has been made in fattening cattle, butchers are complaining of difficulty in procuring animals for killing. Veal calves are selling at about 14 cents a pound.

Dairy cows are still commanding good figures, bringing from -130 to $175 at auction sales. The milk flow is keeping up well for the time of year, and there is a good demand for all kinds of dairy produce.

Horse sales are rather slow, but good heavy animals are changing hands at from $150 to $175.

The hog market has recovered slightly, prices now being about $15.75 a cwt.

Hay ranges in value at from $18 to $24 a ton, according to location and quality. Beans are moving slowly at $4 a bushel. Red clover seed is selling at from $25 to $30 a bushel.

Nine carloads of seed oats were shipped from Brant to the West recently at 80 cents a bushel.

Farm supplies on hand are most encouraging. There is more than a sufficiency of oats, barley and rough feed.

Although fall wheat has been without cover for some weeks in many localities, there is little or no complaint of injury to the crop, although some fields are beginning to turn somewhat brown in color.

PROPOSED MANY CHANGES IN GOVERNMENT HOUSING PLAN

Scheme to be Revised to Meet Objections Made to It by Various Municipalities.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The Ontario Government's revised housing scheme will be embraced in legislation to be submitted to the House immediately after the opening of the session, and carried through the various stages and given formal approval by the Lieutenant-Governor without delay. An announcement to this effect was made by Sir William Hearst last night in making public the details of the scheme in its revised form. The Government's plans, it was stated, had received the approval of the Dominion Government, from which, of course, the greater proportion of the money to be loaned will be received. The proposed bill and the changes made in the original scheme were fully considered yesterday at a conference between the Prime Minister and Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., representing the Federal Government.

The changes made in the policy, some of which have already been indicated, are intended to meet objections raised in various quarters, chiefly in the city of Toronto. One of the most important of the new clauses is that providing for expropriation of land for home sites. The Act will give power of expropriation to either a municipal commission or a housing company, the compensation to be paid being a matter for decision by a board of arbitrators composed of three persons appointed by the Government, of whom the Director of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs—now J. A. Ellis, ex-M.P.—shall be one. This board will determine compensation in a summary manner upon seven days' notice after hearing the parties. The award will be final and not subject to appeal. The compensation will be determined by the fair market value of the land without allowance for any instruction of houses upon it being contemplated, or because better means of access or transportation to the land is to be afforded.

Loans Direct to Farmers.

Other changes in the scheme may summarized as follows:

Authority for the Government to borrow any further amount as is deemed advisable for loaning for housing purposes, in addition to the sum provided by the Dominion. The original scheme limited the amount the Province was to loan to $2,000,000.

Loans to farmers for houses for their help to be made by the Province direct to the farmers. The Dominion loan does not cover loans of this character.

Provision for appointment by the municipality of a Housing Commission composed of the head of the Council and two or four residents who are not members of the Council. This commission will have all the powers the Council otherwise would have had.

Provision made for larger loans in particular municipalities with the approval of the Director of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, the cost of a house, however, not to exceed $3,000 (instead of $2,500), and the house and land together not to exceed $3,600.

Authority to Commission to loan, up to the full cost of the house, to a private person who may desire to erect a house for his own occupation on the Commission's land, provided the person pays in cash the value of the land or 10 per cent. of the cost of the land and the house, or gives acceptable security for such cash payment. This security might be given by a responsible citizen guaranteeing the borrower's payments, or by a number of persons each guaranteeing the other.

Authority to make a loan to the full value of the house to a returned soldier, or widow, or dependents of a deceased soldier where the house is built on the Commission's land without a cash payment.

Where houses are built by the Housing Commission or Company they must be sold at actual cost as determined by the Director.

Loans only to be made to British subjects.

OBITUARY

MARGARET HAFFEY

The death occurred at her residence, 537 Waterford street, this morning of Margaret Haffey, after an illnes of five months.

She was born at Mewry, County Armeagh, Ireland, on Nov. 27th, 1832, and came with her parents to Peterborough in 1845, and had been a constant resident ever since.

In 1853 she married Jelmiah Carew and of this marriage two children survive—Robert, of Salamanca, N.Y., and Emily, of the city. She was later married to Patrick O'Mara, who predeceased her 18 years. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Premier Hearst's Tribute To Dead

Toronto, Feb. 18. — Sir William Hearst, Premier of Ontario, speaking at the Parliament Buildings yesterday afternoon with reference to the death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, said:

"I sincerely regret to learn of the death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who has been so long a distinguished figure in the affairs of this country. In very many respects he was an unusual man with remarkable talents and culture. He had a very strong hold on the affections of his own province and people and was in every sense an outstanding Canadian of undoubted purity of life and character, brilliant as an orator and the idol of his friends."

WHAT IS MEDICINE

Kitchener Druggists Object to Stamp Act in Court

Kitchener, Feb. 18.—After hearing the evidence of eight druggists and storekeepers of Kitchener, Waterloo, Elmira and Linwood, charged with having sold drugs without affixing the war revenue stamps, Police Magistrate Weir deferred judgment and intimated that he would communicate with the Revenue Department to ascertain what action should be taken.

It was maintained by the defendants that camphorated chalk which was purchased is not a medicine, and is not sold for any particular disease or affection of the human system. The Revenue Department maintained that the article was included in the prohibited list.

Mr. Frank S. Mearns, Toronto, appeared for the druggists, and Millar, Sims & Bray, Kitchener, for the Revenue Department.

TO TAKE BODIES FROM GERMANY

CANADIANS WHO DIED THERE TO BE GIVEN DECENT BURIAL.

Ottawa, Feb. 18. — A recently published despatch from Fred James, official correspondent with the Canadian Corps overseas, to the effect that Canadian soldiers who have died in Germany would be buried in a special cemetry at Bonn, a policy which has caused some adverse comment in the press, has been made the subject of enquiry by the director of public information here.

In reply to a cable, the overseas authorities point out that the article was not intended to indicate that bodies of Canadian soldiers buried in Germany would remain there permanently, but simply to illustrate the care taken by the army of Canadian dead in enemy territory. The permanent interment of the bodies of prisoners of war who died in Germany is a question which affects all the Allies, and is a matter down for discussion at the Peace Conference.

Buried with Comrades.

It has been announced recently that the bodies of Canadians who laid down their lives in the service of their country on the Western front will be reverently collected and be buried together in cemeteries specially set aside by the French and Belgian governments. Comrades in life, the announcement stated, these heroic Canadians should be comrades in death and should lie side by side, facing the line they died to hold. It is probable that the bodies of those who died in Germany, either during the period of occupation or as prisoners of war, will be collected and laid beside their comrades who fell behind the Western lines. As pointed out, however, the matter is for arrangement at the Peace Conference, so far as those who died as prisoners of war are concerned.

TO BRING U. S. TROOPS

Washington, Feb. 18.—Negotiations have been completed, it was announced today at the War Department, for having Holland American liners bring home American troops from France on their westward voyages between the United States and Dutch ports.

Dr. W. A. Riddell has been appointed commissioner to report on the advisability of mothers' pensions for Ontario.

How Sir Wilfrid Got His Title

After Sir Wilfrid stepped the premiership in the summer of 1896, it seemed to be the natural thing for the country to expect that he would be almost immediately given a title, and there was considerable surprise when, following the announcement of the 1897 New Year's honors, his name was not included. The explanation was that the honor had been offered, but that the Liberal leader respectfully but firmly declined it.

Six months later, however, Sir Wilfrid (then plain Mr. Laurier), went to England to attend the Jubilee of Queen Victoria. The reception accorded him by the British people was remarkable for its warmth. The handsome, distinguished young French-Canadian statesman took London by storm, the press and public acclaiming his talents, and Queen Victoria bestowing upon him particular attention and respect. One evening the Queen gave a dinner for the overseas prime ministers. When the young Canadian premier, who was again honored by being seated next her majesty, took his seat at the banquet table, he found a card upon which Queen Victoria herself had written, "Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier." There was no way out of such a situation. The aged Queen had taken this means of honoring him, and Sir Wilfrid's chivalry and gallantry, as well as his genuine affection for the great good Monarch, triumphed over his democratic views.

CHICK GAUDIL WILL PLAY AGAIN WITH WHITE SOX

Crack First Baseman Has not Refused to to Sign a Contract 1919—Other Players Fall in Line

Chick Gandil, the veteran first sacker, who is hibernating in California, will be back with the White Sox, according to officials of the club who ought to know something about it. A report from the Pacific coast painted Chick as a holdout. It was said he had finally asked and been granted permission to deal with a semipro club. This rumor is denied here and Gandil will be held on Kid Gleason's roster of regulars when the bell rings for a resumption of hostilities unless this ball player experiences a sudden change of heart.

"Gandil will be with us," said Harry Grabiner, secretary of the Sox today. "I can't understand where some of these stories come from about the Sox players. It is one sample and you can say for me there is nothing in it. Gandil will be with us in 1919."

Wants the 1917 Team

Kid Gleason has let the world in on the secret that he wants about the same team with which he and Rowland captured a world's flag in 1917. That means he wants Gandil, Jackson, Lynn, Williams and the rest, with few exceptions.

The word "about" leaves a loophole for the Kid to trade some of the minor players on the club. Soon after being appointed Gleason made a bee line for Wilmington, Del., to see Jackson, Lynn and Williams, but, according to latest reports, with little success. Jackson was not at home and Williams divulged a salary grievance.

If President Comiskey contemplates a swap of players involving Jackson he probably will bump into a hot argument with the scrappy Kid when he arrives on the scene next week. It is a cinch Gleason wants to retain his batting strength. He knows that the Sox of 1917 had a "punch" that sent them over the top to success. Gleason would be much averse to extracting a portion of that wallop from the attack of the club unless stress of circumstances prompted the move.

Big Task Ahead of Him

Gleason wants Buck Weaver, an honest to goodness holdout, on his club, and the Kid will be much chagrined to learn that Buck contemplates hooking up with a semipro organization a la Frank Baker. To rattle his temperamental widely scattered and heterogeneous flock into the fold of the south side is quite a task for this veteran shepherd. The Kid has been ordered to round up the flock. His task has been lightened by the appearance of Happy Felsch, one of the wandering sheep of the Comiskey fold. Hap's elimination from the holdout class enables Gleason to concentrate on Weaver and Jackson.

The following veteran members of the White Sox have signed contracts to play for Comiskey and Gleason this year: Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk, Eddie Cicotte, Urban Faber, Joe Benz, Happy Felsch, Mel Wolfgang, Nemo Leibold and several rookies. Schalk, Felsch and Collins were supposed to have "holdover" contracts.

Eager to Sign Contracts

Most of the remaining members of the Sox, including Gandil expect to play with the team this year and are eager to sign their names to contracts with President Comiskey. The principal worry for Gleason centers in Weaver and Jackson. There is little doubt that Kid would like to keep them both. He may find them obdurate and for different reasons. Weaver's grievance is purely monetary in character. Jackson may want assurances of receiving the glad hand before signing for the reconstruction period of baseball.

Jeremiah Sullivan, southpaw rookie,, a Chicago boy signed by the White Sox this week, was one of the best pitchers on the Camp Grant team that defeated the Great Lakes and other clubs. Manager Gleason needs pitchers and the foxy Kid will give this southpaw the once over with glee provided he is half as good as Capt. Lewis Omer says he is.

Pension Plan For Windsor Police

Windsor, Feb. 18.—Efforts to interest a majority of the Windsor police force in a pension plan, which the Police Commission is willing to initiate, were resumed this afternoon at a mass meeting of officers. Much of the opposition that developed two weeks ago, when attempts were made to hold a meeting, was broken dokn. Some of the younger men, who signed a petition against the plan, are now said to favor it if it can me introduced without any extravagant cost to the men.

A committee composed of Chief Elias Wills, Patrolman Richard Wooney and Motorcycle Officer Willis Brompton, was selected to investigate the possibilities and cost of the scheme.

Willard To Start Light Training

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, was "officially" advised by Tex Rickard that Jack Dampsey would be his opponent in the championship fight on July 4th.

"There was no significance to our meeting," Richard said. "I was in Chicago on the way west on some personal business. Willard came on some other business, and decided to talk things over with me. There is a stipulation in our contract that I am personally to advise him who the opponent is to be. I did that yesterday."

Rickard started for Fort Worth, Texas, in connection with some oil business. He said his trip had no connection with the selection of a site for the fight. He declared he had received many bids, some of which were favorable beyond expectations, but that the arena would not be chosen until every consideration had been given all bids, which probably will be several weeks.

Willard came to Chicago from Kansas City, where he disposed of his remaining circus equipment for $47,000. The champion is now free to prepare for the contest.

"I expect to start light training within a couple of weeks," Willard said. "That may seem a little early, but I have not taken much strenuous exercise for so long that I plan to start easily."

Twenty-seven head of cattle, several horses, implements and the season's crop were burned. The family had retired for the night and were not aware of the fire until informed by neighbors and automobile parties from town, who saw the blaze and motored out. Mr. Nelson's loss is heavy. It is stated that the buildings were insured but there was no insurance on the stock or other contents.

A young lady of Smith was honored by an address and presentation on the eve of her departure to reside in the city of Peterboro.

The address was read by Miss Jean Bullock, the presentation made by Miss Beattie Deck.

The address was as follows:

To Miss Alice Stephens:

Dear Alice.

It is with deep regret that we learn of your intention to depart from our midst. We who have been associated with you in the work of the church, have realised your many good qualities both as a friend and a co-worker, in the Sabbath School, Epworth League and the choir. So we ask you to accept this bible and hymn book as a small token of our esteem and good wishes.

The wish we would send you is that God may abide with you, giving you wisdom to grace the sphere of life into which He may place you in the future.

Signed by
FRED F. BELL, S. S. Supt.
BRADEN BELL, Pres. of Epworth League
JEAN BULLOCK, Organist.

EXTRA GOOD BILL AT THE GRAND

"A SUCCESSFUL ADVENTURE" AN INTERESTING STORY OF LOVE AND INTRIGUE.

The Grand Opera House is offering an especially interesting bill this week and the opening performance yesterday drew large crowds. The feature of the program is a "Successful Adventure," in which May Allison stars, an interesting story of life in the south, of a family feud, that was straightened out by the skill of a young girl.

There is no lack of comedy on the bill, Fatty Arbuckle and Mabel Normand being the stars in this department.

Billy S. Gourley sings, dances and exhibits his wonderful trained dogs, animals that seem almost uncannily gifted with intelligence, and are able to do about everything except talk.

There will be a complete change of bill at the Grand Thursday night.

WHY ALL SHOULD PRAY FOR THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Major (Rev.) Frost Preaches Eloquent Discourse at Intercessory Services in Lakefield Methodist Church.

Lakefield, Feb. 18.—On Sunday evening a very interesting intercessary service was held in the Methodist Church. The church was artiscally decorated with flags, and the choir rendered suitable selections. The sermon was very eloquent and the church full of people, listened with great interest. During the service the roll of honor of the members of the Methodist Church was read, which are as follows(after which "The Last Post" was sounded:

Albert, Ball, Harry Blewett, Fred Baisdon, C. S. Carter, Irwin Chittick, Wm. Crowe, Percy Davis, Russell Dunsford, Albert Frankisk, Sam Grylls, Joe Hill, Sherman Hill, Stanley Hill, Norman Hurl, Cephas Lemay, Joe Lemay, Wm. Lemay, Roy Macdonald, Morley Macdonald, Glen Madill, Holton Madill, Theodore Manning, Cecil Mounce, Arthur Murduff, Elmer Northey, Roy Robinson, Wm. Robinson, Geo. Rowe, Albert Rowe, Edward Tighe, Robert Webster, Bert Watley, Bruce Edwards (missing).

Dead.

Arthur Frankish, Wilfred Hull, Percy Lemay, Noble Milburn, Herbert Nichols, Howard Rowe, Wm. Rowe.

Major Frost spoke from text 1, Timothy 2, "I exhort, therefore, that first of all supplication, prayers, intercession and giving of thanks, be made for all men, for kings, and for all that are in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life, in all Godliness and honesty." He reminded the audience that this instruction was given when every king and man in authority was not Christian, but the enemy of all Christians. He compared them with our king, who acknowledge God at the signing of the armistice as also did the House of Commons. The Governor-General called for this day of intercession because these are the momentuous days, and the decision of a few may have potential possibilities for mankind. And because intercessary prayer is the means of bringing the divine wisdom and aid to those who are settling problems too great for human mind to settle itself.

Prayer should be made for the British Empire; first, because it did more to make this Peace Conference possible than any other nation. In these days of reaction, certain parties in the Old Land were trying to set aside law and order, and to introduce Bolshevism. Labor is the bulwark of the nation and the British Labor party have a sane policy, but those that stir up strife are Anarchists. Britain is the "champion of liberty." the "bulwark of freedom." Prayer should be made for Britain because without Britain no League of Nations could exist.

Prayer should be made for the Peace Conference. Major Frost eulogised the constitution of the League of Nations. What the idealists dream now becomes the deliberate and practical plan of the world's greatest statesman. It is the Magna Charta of the world, the Bill of Rights for small nations. The declaration of Independence the old forms of secret diplomacy to act of confederation for nations of the earth. The executive becomes the parliament of man. Its policy the federation of the world.

The deliberations of the Peace Conference have only passed the first stage. Complex questions remain to be solved. Today, civilization is in a postic mould. Tomorrow it will be fixing itself.

Then prayer should be made for all mankind, because all the world is affected by this Peace Conference. Unless they are prepared for the advancement, the work of the Conferences will be nullified. Let men respond to the challenge, to this new citizenship and the future is full of hope.

Scene from Wm. A. Brady's New York success, "THE MAN WHO CAME BACK," which will be seen at the Grand next Saturday with the New York Company and production in tact.

"The Man Who Came Back," which comes from a run of over one year (483 performances) in New York and eight months in Boston, will be seen at the Grand, on Saturday next, for matinee and evening performances. This production of William A. Brady's, written by Jules Eckert Goodman and founded on a short story of the same name by John Fleming Wilson, was the most remarkable success in contemporary New York theatrical annals. It seemed as if New York would never let it go, and when it did finally after fifty-seven weeks, it was only because Miss Grace George had to have the Playhouse.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MATILDA DOLBY

The death occurred in Toronto on Friday, Feb. 14th, of Miss Matilda Dolby. The deceased, a daughter of the late Harry Dolby, was born in Lindsay where her school days were spent. Her father died in 1910 and her mother eleven months later. For sometime she lived with her aunt in Millbrook where she was popular with a large circle of friends. During part of her stay there, she acted as bookkeeper for Mr. Geo. Burnham. Later she secured a position in Cressman's store, Peterboro, and while there, suffered much from rheumatism, which eventually confined her to bed for some time. While convalescing at her brother's home in Toronto, she succumbed to an attack of influenza, passing away on the morning of Feb. 14.

Always popular, with a sunny disposition, she is deeply mourned by her numerous friends. The remains were taken to Lindsay and interred in Riverside Cemetery on Monday, Feb. 17. The pall-bearers were Mr. Will Cameron and Mr. Earle Sutherland, Toronto; Mr. Geo. Burnham, Millbrook; Mr. W. Tully and F. Franks, Peterboro; and J. Wettlaufher, Lindsay.

It has been discovered that bars of pure silver, heated and left in a magnetic field a few hours, become permanently magnetized.

PRINCE MAX WAS FIRST HUN TO MOVE FOR AN ARMISTICE

Erzerberger in National Assembly Gives Interesting History of Negotiations

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Weimar, Feb. 19.—Mathias Erzerberger, of the German armistice commission, again held the centre of the stage at this afternoons' session of the National Assembly, outlining the entire history of the armistice negotiations from the time they were begun last fall. Herr Erzerberger told the House many things about the armistice which were either unknown to, or had only been suspected by, his hearers. One of these was his unqualified statement that it was Prince Maximilian of Baden who had approached the Entente because of the "iron compulsion" of the high military command, for peace.

It was Field Marshal von Hindenburg who demanded and authorized the signing of the first terms, Herr Erzerberger said. Herr Erzerberger, who, seemingly, he been unpopular because of his work in the armistice negotiations, re-established himself by his speech. The House cheered him, breaking the rules, and applauded as well as cheered for several minutes until it was called to order by President Fehrenbach.

WOULD BE ASSASSIN FIRES UPON PREMIER CLEMENCEAU

One of Five Shots Takes Effect but Premier is Only Slightly Wounded—Man Who Made Attack, Believed to be Russian, is Under Arrest.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 19.—Premier Clemenceau was fired upon five times this morning while entering his automobile. He was hit in the back and shoulder, but is seemingly not dangerously hurt.

The shooting took place at 8:55 this morning as the Premier was leaving his home in Rue Franklin to go to the war office. The assassin was an ordinary looking man, dressed as a workman. Five shots were fired, of which one took effect in the Premier's shoulder. The assassin was arrested.

GRAPPLED WITH ASSAILANT.

Policeman Gourlat, who was wounded in the right eye, although not seriously, by one of the shots, said that Premier Clemenceau rushed up to his would-be assassin and grappled with him. The Premier's wound is not regarded as dangerous in itself, but it is felt that there might be serious consequences. About 11 o'clock this morning, however, it was officially announced that M. Clemenceau was not seriously wounded. An enormous crowd, which observed respectful quiet, gathered near Clemenceau's residence after the occurrence. Within half an hour President Poincare arrived. He was quickly followed by varibus members of the cabinet, high officials of the government, and representatives of the army and navy, as well as of the diplomatic corps. It was learned at the city hall that the would-be assassin of Premier Clemenceau was a man named Emile Cottin, 25 years old, and born at Creil. The man said his home was in the Montroux quarter of Paris, but the police believe he is a Russian.

A LEADING STATESMAN.

Georges Clemenceau has been one of the leading statesmen of France for decades, but it was not until the critical stages of the great war came and he took the reins and guided the country through the end of the struggle that he became the world-renowned figure that he is today. With the war ended, Clemenceau has continued at the head of the French Government during the trying peace-making period. He presided at the Peace Conference. Of an extremely vigorous and aggressive personality, Premier Clemenceau, while attracting to himself a large and warmly loyal following, has as well determined and outspoken opponents.

Premier Clemenceau, while formally classed as a radical, has come to be known in later years as the representative of the rather more moderate elements. Extremists have accused him of giving his policies too much of an imperialistic trend.

Clemenceau was credited at first with being opposed to the plan for a League of Nations in its broader phases, expressing preference for a balance of power secured by France, Great Britain, the United States and Italy. His representatives, however, have joined freely in the work of framing the covenant of the League, and with some references express approval of it as it was laid before the Peace Conference. Despite his advanced years—he is 76 years of age—Clemenceau has continued in recent months to justify the sobriquet of "The Tiger," which long has been applied to him, going through the trying work of the Peace Conference with its many long consultations without often showing signs of fatigue.

FARMER WINS IN NORTH ONTARIO

J. W. WIDDIFIELD BEATS OUT MAJOR CAMERON BY MAJORITY OF 284.

Beaverton, Feb. 19.—North Ontario will be represented in the Legislature at the coming session by a farmer. After one of the most rigorously fought campaigns in the history of the riding the U. F. O. standard bearer, J. W. Widdifield was returned by a majority of 284 (with one or two polls to hear from) over his Conservative opponent, Major Harry Cameron.

The election of J. W. Widdifield raises an interesting question as to the attitude he and his runningmate, Bowman of Manitoulin, will tacitly ally themselves with the Liberal opposition seems likely, for though both made claims to independence, their election was made possible by the united support of Liberals assisted by farmer Conservatives.

The vote showed that while the towns and villages with the exception of Mr. Widdifield's home village of Brechin went strongly for Cameron the rural districts went heavily against him. Major Cameron polled a majority of 217 in Beaverton and 144 in Cannington.

With one poll out Widdifield had a total of 2,665 and Cameron 2,381, a majority of 284.

WOUNDING OF CLEMENCEAU DELAYS WORK OF COUNCIL

Had Personal Charge of Matters Having to do With Early Peace Treaty.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 19.—The bullet which entered Clemenceau's left shoulder has been found near the right shoulder, but has not yet been extracted. The patient coughs considerably but no complications are expected. The Premier's chauffeur, Drabant, was slightly wounded.

Delegates to the Peace Conference when they learned of the attempt upon Premier Clemenceau's life today, began to consider the effect of the event upon their own plans in connection with the Conference. Belief was expressed that there would not be any great delay in the executing of the comprehensive plans laid out for the proceedings of the Peace Conference during the absence of Premier Lloyd George and President Wilson. Premier Clemenceau, when he was shot, was on his way to a conference with Arthur J. Balfour, the British Foreign Secretary, concerning more rapid procedure before the Supreme Council. Owing to the fact that Clemenceau had in hand personally certain subjects now under negotiation, it follows that so far as these are concerned there must be a suspension of activity for the time being as they refer to the consummation of an early treaty of peace.

Canada Gets Trade Worth $50,000,000

Paris, Feb. 19.—Contracts have just been concluded by which Canada will furnish credits of $25,000,000 each to France and Roumania, the credits to be expended in the purchase of important necessities in Canada.

Negotiations for a similar loan, it is said, are under way between Belgium and Canada.

The French and Roumanian credits will be expended aproximately as follows:—One-fifth for raw materials, one-fifth for foodstuffs, and three-fifths for manufactured materials.

Roumania, among other things, plans to replenish her badly depleted herds of cattle.

The arrangements for the loan have been made by Canadian Government officials who are attending the Peace Conference here.

The Canadian loans are the first of what are expected to be a series of similar transactions by which the Entente Allies will replenish their grain stocks by purchases in countries which have large reserves. The possibilities of making contracts with South American countries are being discussed. It is known that discussions have been in progress for some time between England and Argentina. Australia, which has vast supplies of wheat and hides, also is mentioned as a possibility for trade, but it is doubtful whether she would be able to stand the financial strain of granting credits.

Protest Signing Of New Armistice

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Weimar, Feb. 19.—Telegrams of protest against the signing of the new armistice are pouring into the National Assembly and one from Berlin demands that a period of national mourning be ordered.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Port Arthur, Feb. 19.—The world's largest grain elevator, with thousands of bushels of wheat, was seriously threatened by fire this morning when an old work house nearby was destroyed by flames. The damage was trifling.

Russians Decline Offer To Confer

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Feb. 19.—The formal rejection of the proposal that they meet with the delegates of the Bolshevik and other Russian governments at Prinkipo Islands was handed to the Peace Conference at Paris today by representatives of the governments of Siberia, Archangel, and Southern Russia.

ELEVEN MORE ON TRAIN FOR HOME

ANOTHER SQUAD OF VETERANS MAY REACH CITY THIS EVENING.

Eleven soldiers left Montreal for Peterborough this morning at 9:40 o'clock, according to word received at the office of the city clerk from Kingston this afternoon.

Names are not furnished, and the train upon which they are travelling is not indicated, although it is thought that it is the International Limited, which is due to leave Montreal at 9:30, but which may have been ten minutes late.

There is a local train which leaves by the Grand Trunk at 9:40, but it is thought that with only ten minutes' difference in the time of departure the boys would be sent via the International, which will get them to Port Hope in time to catch the 5:30 train to the city this evening.

Are Battling For The Franchise

Kitchener, Feb. 19.—"Knotty" Lee, who is completing the organization of the Ontario-Michigan League, was in the city Tuesday and conferred with some of the backers of the proposed Kitchener franchise respecting the organization meeting to be held in Saginaw next Monday. It was learned that Guelph intends sending a delegation to the organization meeting with a view to making a bid for the franchise, but there will be very little chance if the determination of the local backers is any criterion.

"Knotty" Lee stated that no city in the circuit is more favorably situated for the operation of a baseball franchise than Kitchener, and with a fast team of ball players should be a winner. The baseball fans of Waterloo are also interested in securing the franchise for this city and will be represented on the directorate.

A meeting of the baseball enthusiasts of the city will be held on Friday evening to organize and appoint delegates to the organization meeting in Saginaw.

MR. MEHARRY WINS CASE IN COURT

HALL AND BIRNIE SCORE EVERY POINT IN THEIR CONTENTION

At todays' sitting of the Supreme Court, which opened yesterday, Mr. Justice Rose gave his decision in regard to the action of John Meharry against the Auburn Woollen Mills to compel the defendants to fulfill the terms of a contract into which they had entered when he purchased from the Auburn Company a gravel pit on September 8, 1915.

His Lordship upheld the contention of the plaintiff and ordered the specific performance of the contract as well as the payment of damages covering the loss sustained by Mr. Meharry by the removal of gravel from the pit in the meantime.

Mr. E. R. Hall and his partner, Mr. J. T. Birnie, represented the interests of Mr. Meharry, the plaintiff, who was successful in the suit. Mr. Strachan Johnston of Toronto and Mr. Fordyce Strickland were solicitors for the defendants. Argument was heard in the case yesterday, and decision was withheld until today.

This afternoon the action of Kearns vs. Hall is engaging the attention of the court. This case concerns the ownership and conduct of a mine and Mr. G. N. Gordon and Mr. Birnie are retained by Mr. E. R. Hall, while Mr. J. Guise-Bagley is presenting the claim of the plaintiff.

ASSOCIATION ASKS FOR A STATE OWNED PHONE SYSTEM

Also Insist Upon Right to Elect Representative to the Hydro Commission.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—The executive of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association, minus the president, Mayor T. L. Church, called upon Sir William Hearst yesterday for a heart to heart talk. The ostensible purpose of the visit was to submit to the Prime Minister the resolutions, at the annual meeting of the association last November, but the real reason was to reiterate the demand of the Hydro Municipalities that they be given a representative upon the provincial Hydro-Electric Commission.

At the annual meeting one of the resolutions passed asked for legislation to permit the municipalities to elect one member of the commission. A similar resolution had been passed at other meetings, but the recent death of W. K. McNaught, C.M.G., which left a vacancy on the commission has changed the situation materially and the municipal representatives believe that the time is now opportune to press their claim upon the Government.

The resolutions submitted to the Prime Minister called for an investigation of the feasibility of a publicly-owned telephone system, repeal of the Federal Act giving the Toronto-Niagara Power Company extraordinary rights on the streets, repayment to the Hydro of expenditures made to supply emergency power for munitions, provincial representation of the International Waterways Commission, a petition to the Federal Government, against alienating surplus waterpowers of the province, the appointment of J. W. Lyon, president of the Hydro-Electric Railway Association, to the Senate and declared in favor of all municipalities, commissions, etc., giving preference in employment to returned soldiers.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Was Gifted Orator

BISHOP OF TORONTO PAYS A GRACEFUL TRIBUTE TO DEAD STATESMAN.

The Bishop of Toronto gave out the following statement yesterday:

"In the sudden and unexpected passing of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, which came as a great shock to the whole community, the Dominion of Canada loses one of its most outstanding sons, and the political party to which he belonged its most eminent leader and exponent. Of high intellectual attainments, of splendid oratorical gifts, and a fascinating presence and address, his power to sway vast audiences was admitted on all hands. Of his prominent position and the honors conferred upon him by King and country, his French-Canadian compatriots were justly proud, and no man wielded a greater influence in the Province of Quebec than did its most distinguished native, Wilfrid Laurier. The State, the Church and people to which he belonged, and the capital of the Dominion, where he was so long a familiar figure, with multitudes of friends and admirers, have sustained a great and irreparable loss by his death."

At a meeting of the Third Battalion Association Mayor Ward Wright stated that it was expected the 3rd Battalion would arrive in Toronto in May.

LABOR BUREAU IS NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS IN THIS CITY

Two Veterans in Charge of the Office in Basement of Charlbond Apartments.

Peterborough's branch of the Provincial Labor Bureau, the offices of which are situated in the basement of the Charlbond building on Charlotte street, is now ready for business, with Mr. Hugh Robertson, a returned man, of this city, as superintendent in charge, and Capt. Morrison, representing the Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment Commission of the Dominion Government, on duty to look after the interests of the soldier and his dependents.

The office has not been completely furnished as yet, nor have stenographers been engaged, but nevertheless the representatives are ready to take care of any applications from employers or employes and have already placed quite a number of men in positions and have the names and particulars of others on file.

Employers of the city have assured the representatives of their co-operation, and the attention of the public should be drawn to the fact that this bureau eliminates the work of the G. W. V. A. and other organizations which have been assisting heretofore along these lines.

It takes charge of the unemployment problems of the city and contracts to look after the interests of men seeking work and employers on the lookout for labor.

The departmental stores of the city are reminded that their needs can be filled at the Bureau as well as that of other establishments looking for help.

There are four cards upon which data concerning the applicant's qualifications can be filled. The first is a general card to cover ordinary cases, the second is for farm help, another for women's work and the last for special callings such as clerical work, etc.

Employers who are looking for men are reminded that the Employment Bureau on Charlotte street is now the only agency through which they can secure assistance in getting the right man for the right place. The two representatives are there as an intermediary between the employer and the man who is looking for work and their duty is to collect all particulars concerning the man and after considering his case thoroughly send him to a position suitable to his qualifications.

Mr. Robertson is the superintendent and is the appointee of the Provincial Government and as such looks after the interests of all men seeking employment and of the employers. Capt. Morrison, who is the president of the local branch of the G. W. V. A. is the representative of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Commission and his duties will consist chiefly of looking after the interests of the returned soldier, seeing that he gets employment and giving him information regarding his back pay, pensions and other gratuity funds.

Both representatives are veterans and are well qualified for the positions to which they have been appointed. They are optimistic in their outlook as regards the valuable services they will be able to render in their present capacities, and the earnestness with which they regard the task confronting them augurs well for success and claims for them the consideration and co-operation of the citizens of this city who are employers of labor and who have it in their power to assist them materially in the solution of the local unemployment problem.

Men out of work should file their names and all particulars at the office of the bureau at once. It is on Charlotte street and can be easily identified by the gilt letters upon the window announcing its purpose. It is situated in the basement of the Charlbond apartments, which stand on the former location of the old Snowdon House.

Canon Tucker, London, Ont., speaking to the Anglican Laymen's banquet in Toronto, urged that aliens be barred from Canada.

LABOR AND THE TARIFF.

ONE OF THE PLANKS of the platform of the Independent Labor Party deals with the question of the tariff in a manner which appears to commit the new organization to the principle of free trade. Local labor unions have adopted resolutions of protest recently against the action of the Government in suspending by order-in-Council the customs duty on certain articles of American manufacture, articles that could have been made here by Peterborough workmen. As a result of this administrative relaxation, most in this city were thrown out of work and several millions of Canadian money found its way to the coffers of the American manufacturers.

The Great War Veterans, at their meeting on Monday night, protested against the proposed action of the Hydro Commission in sending to Sweden for electric machinery that could be made right in this city, where so many electrical workers are now out of employment, and where one of the greatest plants of the kind in America is running with its working staff reduced. The supplies in question will be brought from Sweden because, on account of the cheaper labor in that country, they can be produced for less money. The cost to the Hydro Commission will be further cut by the admission of these articles free of duty, because they are required for public use.

There is scarcely a resident of Peterborough who is interested in the welfare of the city who will fail to back up the protest of Organized Labor and the Veterans. It is an insane policy that imports cheap products of foreign labor while CCnadian workingmen are on the verge of want and Canadian factories lack orders.

What further proof do the workingmen of the city, the members of the new Labor party included, require, to demonstrate the value of the tariff to their own interests? Free trade means their idleness, or, what is little better, the cheap scale of wages that prevails in Sweden and other European countries. The printers in this city and throughout Canada work with linotype machines that are made in the United States by American labor and are imported into this country duty free. No Canadian enterprise will ever undertake the manufacture of these machines at home until they are afforded protection against the foreign competitor. If Organized Labor's mission is to help the wage-earners of all classes, it cannot accomplish its purpose by advocating any policy that will interfere with the expansion of Canadian industry.

BYE-ELECTIONS AND PROHIBITION.

SOME YEARS AGO the question of the total prohibition of the liquor traffic was referred to the voters of Ontario, who declared for the abolition of the traffic by a majority of over ninety thousand. Three years ago over eighty per cent. of the electors of the Province signed a petition asking the Legislature to adopt war-time prohibition. There is no doubt as to the sentiment of the majority of Ontario with regard to the temperance question. That sentiment, as demonstrated on two notable occasions, cannot have undergone a marked change. How comes it, then, that the bye-elections of the past shows dwindling majorities for the Hearst Government, an administration against which no serious charge has ever been brought? To what extent does the temperance question account for these apparent expressions of lack of public confidence?

The people of Ontario are still in favor of prohibition. The figures of the majority show that it is unreasonable to conclude that there has been a reversal of public opinion. There is, however, a growing feeling of opposition to some of the provisions of the Ontario Temperance Act, a measure which has been in effect for two and a half years, long enough to have carried it beyond the experimental stage, and to have afforded the Administration an opportunity to amend its defects.

For one thing, the Ontario Temperance Act embodies too much of class legislation, something the democratic spirit of the age will not tolerate. It gives the rich man an unfair advantage over the one in less opulent circumstances. There is no limit as to the amount of liquor a man of means can keep in his cellar. Let the poor man show extravagance in this regard, and the officers of the law are allowed scope to celebrate that lapse of necessity by keeping the liquor for sale, and to penalize him accordingly. This feature of the law is a survival of the fallacy that the poor are more disposed to law-breaking than are the wealthy.

The people of the Province object to the almost autocratic powers that are given the officers in enforcing the Temperance Act. The right of search is practically unlimited. No man's home, supposed to be his castle, is free from the riot of a raid. A policeman or a license inspector can stop a citizen on the street, if the latter is carrying a suit case or a club bag, and search through his baggage for a hidden bottle of liquor. Any self-respecting member of a civilized community naturally objects to public humiliation.

The Ontario Temperance Act makes an invidious distinction, too, between the man who lives in a home of his own and the one who is under the necessity of dwelling in a boarding house. The former can keep liquor in his residence, the latter, provided there are three others under the same roof as himself, cannot do so. The inference is that he is selling the liquor to his fellow lodgers.
